Because it's one thing to make a few people laff, but when you have to make a big tentfull laff day after day, it begins to weigh you down, pop said. That's known as the law of diminishing returns. On the other hand, the most cheerful people in their off hours are undertakers and surgeons, he said, and I said, Then I'll be a surgeon. Every boy all those sharp knives being handed to me by trained nerses, and me wearing a white mask all the time so nobody can tell whether I'm lafing or not, I said.

And I started to do my homework feeling better instead of verse.

12-inch Snowfall Blankets District of Acorn Stratford

STRATFORD (CP) — A blizzard brought up to 12 inches of snow in less than 10 hours in this district Wednesday night, blocked secondary roads and disrupted bus and municipal services along highways and in the city.

Many district schools were closed while buses attempting to bring students from the district into Stratford Collegiate Institute were forced to turn back by deep drifts.

Another four inches of snow was expected today.

No serious accidents were attributed to the storm. No power or telephone line breaks were reported.

Reports from St. Marys indicated streets in that town were passable but many collegiate students from the country were unable to get to school.

MAIN ROADS PASSABLE

Every available piece of snow removal equipment was in action as Stratford Bus morning to clear blowing drifts on city streets.

Owen Sound reported main highways in a fair state of repair.

Some 30 snowplows were kept busy all night long in the Stratford division. Almost all highways in the area were reported passable today, although difficult in places, but many secondary roads were blocked.

Highway 78 west of Kitchener was heavily drifted.

Four cars were ditched between Stratford and St. Mary's.

Canada and Crop South Lines reported no difficulty. Early morning trains out of Stratford ran on schedule.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Wingham district high school and Lower Wingham public school were closed.

Schools in Shakespeare, five miles east of here, were also closed.

South of Gashill, off No. 19 highway, all roads were reported blocked. Most residents were snowed in.

$6,470,000 Bid Accepted For Canal and Lock

OTTAWA (CP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority has accepted the $6,470,000 bid of the two Montreal companies for the immediate construction of a canal and lock at Iroquois, Ont., on the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

Hon. Lionel Chevrier, seaway authority president, today announced that of 13 bids submitted, the one accepted was the lowest, that of Peridgeon Construction Co. Ltd., and Iroquois Constructors Ltd. The work is to be completed by Nov. 30, 1957.

The proposed lock will be of the Welland ship canal dimensions. It will be 765 feet long and 80 feet wide, with a depth of 30 feet and an approach channel depth of 27 feet at all river stages.

"Work is to start immediately and to be completed not later than Nov. 30, 1957," he said in a statement.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Bitter winds with snowsqualls and heavy drifting ushered in current cold snap into southern Ontario Wednesday night. In northern regions temperatures near 30 below were common, but winds were not as strong. On Friday, maximum temperatures will be a few degrees higher than today's afternoon readings and winds will be light in most forecast regions, but cold weather will remain over the province.

HULL, England (AP) — Forty British seamen aboard two trawlers are feared lost off Iceland today, victims of the dread "black Frost."

Twenty men were aboard each of the ships, the 810-ton Roderigo and the 538-ton Lorella, which sent out distress signals Wednesday night saying they were being overwhelmed in a hurricane and snowstorm.

"Black Frost" is the seaman's name for clouds of icy hare which skim along the surface and wrap ships in a cocoon of spray which freezes hard.

Unless the crew can hack this ice away, its weight can turn a ship over.

Highways Fraud Committee Ends Its Hearings

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's highways fraud committee today wound up its public hearings.

It immediately started drafting its report for presentation to the legislature at the session which starts Feb. 8.

Hearings started last summer and the committee toured the province.

Four witnesses were called in the closing hearing. They were W. A. Clarke, chief engineer of the highway department, who said "great strides" are being made in reorganization of the department; William Hamilton, an employe of the central audit office; A. F. Perry, a bookkeeping company official; and Hayward W. Hurrell, former assistant engineer in the Port William division.

COMMEND ENGINEERS

Mr. Clarke commended department engineers he said are working long hours without extra pay. He said they are earnest and sincere in their efforts to improve the department. The head office was being reinforced and young men were being trained in the field who could be groomed to department standards.

Attorney-General Porter, a member of the committee, said it is apparent from evidence given before the committee that the people of the province received good value for their money spent on road building. He said there was no evidence that there was defrauded of vast sums of money.

Mr. Hamilton said he was present at two interviews with W. I. Bredin, former instrument man in the highways division. He said Bredin told of burning some records dealing with highway contracts after being instructed to do so.

Mr. Bredin was charged in connection with the irregularities but the charges was withdrawn.

NOTHING TO ADD

Mr. Hurrell said he made oral and written statements during trials in connection with irregularities but had nothing to add to the statements.

Fuel Low, U.S. Plane Wins Its Race To Reach Rescue Ship in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — All hands aboard a United States Coast Guard cutter which raced to a radio-guided rendezvous with a disabled military plane forced to ditch into the stormy Atlantic more than 700 miles east of Bermuda.

Rescuers settled into a running sea a couple of hours before darkness Wednesday when the cutter Coos Bay made contact with a plane engined Military Air Transport Service craft with eight men aboard.

The pilot of the plane, based at Dover, Del., radioed Bermuda, shortly before had radioed the U. S. Air Force base in Bermuda that he was running out of fuel and effected a 12-minute rescue job.

HOUSE APPROVES NATO MEMBERSHIP FOR GERMANY

Near-Solid Vote Given in Favor

OTTAWA (CP)—Admission of a rearmed West Germany to the NATO defence alliance has won Commons approval by a near-solid vote of 213 to 12.

The vote Wednesday on ratification opposition only in CCF ranks as the 26-member group split three ways with five others approving and five abstaining. Two CCF members were absent.

The agreements, which would make West Germany the 15th NATO member, with to the Senate for approval by mid-April, members there expressed approval before the Upper Chamber's debate was adjourned to today.

PEARSON SPEECH

The Commons decision followed an hour-long speech by External Affairs Minister Pearson in which he said a stronger NATO would improve chances of world negotiation with Russia.

Rejection of ratification, he said, would be a rebuff to democratic forces in West Germany, stop the move toward European unity and fatally weaken NATO itself.

Liberal, Conservative and CCF members met Mr. Pearson's request for unanimity in approval, and there were scattered boos at the start of the opposing CCF members voted.

The Paris agreements provide for limitations on West German arms and manpower, including a 500,000-man army, and set out controls to ensure limitations are enforced.

NATO MUST APPROVE

They must be approved by all 14 NATO members, plus West Germany herself. To date, approval has been completed by Britain, Greece, Iceland and Norway.

Mr. Pearson was the only speaker in the debate Wednesday and he concentrated on replying to criticisms and questions raised during the four previous days of debate.

He denied Progressive Conservative charges that the government had kept the people "in a state of ignorance" about the Paris agreements, signed last fall. He rejected statements that the CCF opposition in last Parliament was being presented with a full appraisal about which it could do nothing.

Sheriff Sets Nomination Day

NAPANEE (CP)—Sheriff H. W. Webster Wednesday set Feb. 2 for nominations to fill the Hastings East seat in the Ontario legislature vacant after a county judge ruled an earlier election void.

All three members of the 1954 council, Reeve Ray Hicks, Deputy Reeves and Clare Kennedy, were unseated following hearing of an appeal by Deputy Reeve Raymond Alexander township clerk W. M. Lewis ruled his nomination papers out of order.

The 1954 council members were elected in the recount ordered by acclamation. All four said they will accept nominations. An election, if necessary, will be held Feb. 14.

Pilot Expected to Make Toronto Before Weather Became Worse

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The pilot of the ill-fated Ontario Hydro plane which left Windsor late Jan. 14 said Wednesday he expected to reach Toronto before the weather became critical.

Capt. Lambert Rogers testified at an inquest into the death of Ontario Hydro chairman Robert H. Saunders, fatally injured in a plane crash near here early Jan. 15 and said:

"If I were in doubt as to the safety of the trip, I would not have taken out."

The hearing goes into its third day today. More than 30 witnesses have been called to testify since the opening session.

Capt. Rogers said that although it was later reported that precipitation began in Windsor after 10 p.m., freezing rain had been forecast for midnight. He said there was more of a light freezing drizzle than a freezing rain at Windsor airport.

The twin-engined Hydro-owned amphibian took off at 11:40 p.m. Capt. Rogers said with a cruising speed of 180 miles an hour and a 35-knot head wind he figured he could fly through the precipitation safely.

The pilot agreed with Eric Silk, counsel for the attorney-general's department, that the flight recorders was a somewhat "forceful affair." Mr. Rogers replied that it did not urge him, forcefully, to make the trip.

Mr. Silk then asked Capt. Rogers:

"Have you ever refused to fly Mr. Saunders because of the weather?

"Many, many times, sir."

"Would he accept your decisions?"

"He had to, sir. I was captain of the aircraft."

Capt. Rogers described to a five-man coroner's jury what precautions he took prior to departure from the Windsor airfield. Before taking off he asked TCA employees at the airport to spray his plane with de-icing compound. The spraying process lasts 45 minutes.

There was no de-icing equipment on the wings of the plane.

"The spray was primarily used to remove the thin layer of ice on the plane and to prevent more ice from forming while it was on the ground," Capt. Rogers said. "We were not relying on the glycol spray in the air."

Capt. Rogers said he based his decision to fly on weather reports and information received from the TCA pilot who landed earlier at Windsor. He said he was unaware the TCA aircraft had been using de-icing equipment on its wings.

The pilot said he expected to be aboot of the freezing drizzle area and into a snow region within a matter of minutes.

The pilot said earlier he did not use the Instrument Landing System when he made a crash-landing just short of Malton Crumlin airport July 5, because he did not trust the equipment.

He said there was minor trouble with the instrument landing system during the flight but generally speaking well in landing approaches to certain airports but unreliable when he encountered it landing at other fields.

Capt. Rogers said he would not have used the ILS system in landing at London, even if it had been working properly.

Arthur Empey, inspector of air worthiness for the transport department, testified that he found ice buried in the snow at the first point of impact. The ice measured from five-eighths of an inch to half an inch thick. It had come from the plane's wings.

SOME SENATORS SEEK TO NARROW DEFENCE AREA

Want to Write in Curbs On Grant of Authority

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A small but determined band of senators gathered today to narrow the area in which President Eisenhower would have congressional approval to order United States forces to share in defence of Formosa.

The president's fight - for - Formosa resolution, passed by the House of Representatives Tuesday, is now in the Senate (at it is, in fact) today for official action and almost certain approval by the Republican majority before many days.

Contending that the resolution would authorize "preventive war" action against Communist China, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) Wednesday sought to write in curbs on the grant of authority.

Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, is backing the resolution, saying that if it were approved without changes there would be no "preventive war" and U. S. forces would fire only if fired upon.

AGREES TO VOTE

Knowland told the Senate Wednesday that amendments proposed by Senator Thye (R-Minn.) and Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) to prevent the use of U.S. forces in Formosa to defend the Chinese Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu, 20 miles and 200 miles off the China coast, guard main approach routes to Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

The two Democrats made it clear that they had little hope the Senate would approve their amendments.

Humphrey said he believes Congress has no choice to do anything but grant the power the president has asked." And Kefauver said in a separate interview that he knows "a great many senators in their hearts" might not vote for the amendments.

The question arose in preliminary debate Wednesday centred on that portion of the resolution which, as generally interpreted, would give the president authority to employ U.S. forces to order action on troop concentrations or staging areas on the China mainland.

Humphrey proposed to limit the defence area to Formosa and the Pescadores islands. Knowland said he would put Formosa under United Nations supervision.

In another development, Eisenhower has decided to restrict his travel for the next three months to trips of no more than two hours' flying time from Washington.

The president made the decision, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said reporters "it would be foolish for me to say" that the threat of a Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa was not a contributing factor.

"But I want it specifically understood this is not an emergency measure," Hagerty added.

He said the primary reason for the new travel policy is that the president feels he must be in close touch with Congress in an effort to win enactment of as much of the administration's legislative program as possible.

Little Likelihood of Major Raises in Farm Prices This Year

TORONTO (CP)—W. P. Watson, Ontario livestock commissioner, said Wednesday barring unforeseen developments, there is little likelihood of any major increases in Canadian farm prices this year.

"However, if the general economy of Canada and the United States remains strong, and there is every reason for believing that it will, there should be a keen demand for livestock products," he said in a talk at the annual convention of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

"With the exception of butter and perhaps some other products, no embarrassing surpluses should be created."

He said most Canadian farm prices are now closely geared to prevailing in any other country except the U. S.

His remarks were contained in a text released to the press in advance of delivery.

Mr. Watson said Canada entered 1955 with substantial reserves of feed.

"At the moment, all signs point to heavy cattle marketings in 1955. The cattle population appears to be close to the peak of the present cycle, hence more cattle will probably be on hand as of 1 in 1954 and may be higher.

"The record number of cattle on feed in Ontario will not affect the total marketings, since they have been moved from one part of Canada to another. However, since these cattle will be marketed in the east instead of in the west where they were produced, they could exert an influence over prices being paid for feeder cattle in the west. Also the increased number are not so great as to overload the eastern market, one way or another, if they are marketed in an orderly manner."

Recent surveys indicated hog marketing this year in Canada may total 3,800,000 head, 16 per cent more than last year, with the bulk coming from the eastern and western Canada. Milk production in Canada was expected to be slightly higher than last year.

"Even if consumer buying power remains at present high levels, Canadians will not be able to consume all of the livestock products that will be offered in 1955. The surplus over domestic demands will be sold in the most attractive market, which in the case of cattle, hogs and poultry products, will probably be the U. S. Under the circumstances, prices can be expected to approximate those prevailing there."

Transfer Is Made From Okinawa And Philippines

Seen as Move in Readiness For Evacuation of Tachens

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (CP)—Swift Sabre Jets, the deadly fighter planes of the Korean War, roared to landings on Formosa today in a surprise transfer which made clear American determination to defend this Chinese Nationalist stronghold and its key outpost islands against any Communist invasion.

Two high United States Air Force commanders arrived simultaneously.

The transfer added a powerful air force punch to the U. S. 7th Fleet warships and planes which the Communists say are "intensifying manoeuvres" off the east coast of mainland China.

The U. S. Far East Air Forces in Tokyo said the 18th Fighter-bomber wing of F-86 Sabrejets—probably about 75 planes—was moved to Formosa from Okinawa and the Philippines to provide "the power of readiness needed."

ORDERED TRANSFER

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, FEAF commander in Tokyo, and Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson ordered the transfer "to temporarily base planes in Formosa."

"Other FEAF offensive units are being redeployed to forward areas," Partridge added. He said the transfer "exemplifies the global capability of U. S. Air Force units to move at jet speeds to any trouble spot."

This could mean that long-range bombers are being moved closer to the troubled Formosa area, possibly Okinawa. In Guam, however, a spokesman for the U. S. strategic air command's 3rd Air Division said "not any of our aircraft here are involved" in the transfer redeployment. The spokesman said B-36 intercontinental bombers are on Guam on 90-day routine training, but no B-47 jet bombers.

FRACTIOUS CLAIMANT

Air activity on Okinawa has quickened in tempo, both defensive and offensive, since the Red Formosa crisis began. An islander has practice Air-scout was held Tuesday night, and several practice alerts have been held since. Okinawa is the main base for the troubled Tachen islands, where the Nationalist garrison may be withdrawn under cover of U. S. sea and air power. Transfer of the Sabrejets to Formosa brings them within 200 miles of the Tachens.

The Sabre jet, powered by a single over Russian-built MiGs in the Korean War, landed at Taipeh airfield at the main base south of Taipeh.

A few hours earlier, Lt.-Gen. Roger Ramey, commander of the U. S. 5th Air Force, arrived from Japan, flew in for a conference with Gen. Wang (Tiger) Shih-chieh, commander of the Chinese Nationalist air force. Ramey was accompanied by his deputy commander, Brig.-Gen. Harold Grant.

NEAREST POINT

Formosa is the nearest for the evacuation of the Tachens appear to have been perfected, though they

Eskimos Walk 150 Miles in 15 Days After Two Days Adrift on Ice Pan

WINNIPEG (CP)—RCAF officials revealed Wednesday details of nine Eskimos, missing 17 days on Hudson Bay, existed in sub-zero temperatures while walking 150 miles to their camp where village homes.

The northern nomads were the object of a widespread RCAF search for more than two weeks after they were reported missing Jan. 4 on an ice pan in Hudson Bay. They had set out with their dogs, equipment and extra clothing when a section of ice on which they were seal hunting broke away from shore.

The search was called off last Thursday after RCAF planes had covered thousands of square miles without sighting the hunters.

The same night a radio message, saying merely "they walked home" was the first indication the Eskimos were safe.

The hardships they suffered in getting back to the village of Povungnetuk, 150 miles up the coast from Cape Hadrian, were revealed in a short message received by RCAF headquarters here Wednesday.

The Eskimos drifted for two days on the ice pan before they managed against a grounded floe. With clothing and food gone, they killed, rifles and hand sleds, the hunters reached shore then fashioned crude sleds from wooden planks and set out for the village. They made much of the time against bowing winds. Averaging 10 miles a day and using their smashed sleds for fuel to keep them warm in frigid weather—the temperatures dropped at times to 22 below zero—they finally reached Povungnetuk Thursday night.

Despite the weather and lack of food, the nine men were never lost and never in-difficulty as they knew the country well.

Dominion Bank Branch Held Up

TORONTO (CP)—A man held up an east-central branch of the Dominion Bank Wednesday and escaped in a stolen car with $7,891, the abandoned car was found later a downtown street.

A bank teller, Robert Ashenhurst, 33, said the man walked up to his cage and passed over a note demanding money. He said the robber had a hand in his pocket as though he might be carrying a gun.

Is 20 to 1 Shot Vamp's Kisses Are Re-Volting

LONDON (Reuters) — British scientists today soberly reported some shocking news on osculation.

They said about one person in 20 produces blue electric sparks on kissing—giving the term "electrifying" real meaning.

A spokesman for the National Physical Research Laboratory stated: "If both the woman and man have very dry lips, the friction caused by kissing could generate sparks. They (the sparks, not the kissing couple) would be blue, a reasonable estimate for a kiss might be 500 volts."

The spokesman made plain that a kissing couple need not be "electrified" by saying: "There would be no energy—well, no electric energy—behind the sparks."

10 Below Zero Weather Predicted, Heavy Drifting in District Seen

Oh! Bet you'll love this one. Ice has been cut from the Quinte area has been banking in fairly mild temperatures. Now, beginning with nearly four inches of snow on the ground the bitterly cold weather is confident able 11.5 degrees . . . Now comes the weatherman, who predicts a drop tonight to 10 below for this area.

Better give the furnace the gun, and, incidentally, keep one by the bedside prepared. It suggests any colder than predicted it's possible a lost wallpaper may take the area for the tundra.

A 3.5-inch blanket of snow lay over the district this morning following a sudden fall yesterday. Commencing early yesterday afternoon snow fell almost continuously until shortly after midnight. Strong winds from the north and northwest whipped the snow along the province blanketing parked cars and curtailing vision for motorists.

Snow ceased to fall in the early morning hours but dropped later in the morning.

SNOW PLOWS OUT

City public works department snow plows were out early to clear the streets later in the evening but the drifting snow, whipped by the wind, tended to offset attempts to smoothen road conditions off the main highways.

Snow fell in force in the early morning hours but dropped later in the morning.

In the rural areas provincial police patrols were busy with reports of the snow, creating adverse motoring conditions, and several drivers were reported to have run into drifts and difficulties.

Police patrols were finding the going pretty rugged themselves.

Besides the predicted sudden collapse of the mercury to below zero the long range weather outlook forecasts the weather today will be sunny with a few cloudy intervals and occasional snowflurries.

Total Receipts Of Poppy Fund Were $4,066.97

Belleville Poppy Fund receipts for 1954 amounted to $4,066.97, according to a financial statement just released by the Belleville and District Fund treasurer Henry Drury.

In his disbursements the Fund paid out $2,560.70 for poppy and wreath supplies; $1,147.10 for wreaths' assistance such as food, fuel, clothing, rents, $104.30; veterans' fire victims assistance, $200.77, and other minor expenses.

The fund has a balance on hand of $1,060.75.

No Damage Done

A chimney blaze at 393½ Front street brought out the fire reels yesterday after seven o'clock this morning. No damage was caused.

A short circuit in the battery cable of a parked panel delivery truce owned by Steve Ball's service station at the corner of Front and Bridge streets put the battery out of order Wednesday evening. The blaze was extinguished by a hand extinguisher, no damage being limited to the floor boards of the truck.

Fish and Game Club Elects 1955 Directors

One of the largest crowds to attend a meeting of the Fish and Game Club of this district was on hand at the "I" on Wednesday evening, when the election of the directorate was held. More than 150 turned out to keep alive the interest in angling and hunting until the balmy spring air stirs trees.

After a spirited election Howard Smith, Charles Bisbee, Don McKinnon, William Adams, Lieut.-Col. William Ponton, Bruce Smith, Archie Scott, Jack Gower, Hep Payne, Genesis Morley, Reg. Sandercock and Ken Yorke were named to form the board for the coming year. At a later date these directors will meet to elect executive officers, president, secretary and treasurer.

The treasurer, Ken Yorke, gave a financial statement, which showed the club in a sound condition.

For entertainment, Don Bell, of the Moira River Conservation Authority exhibited a film "Ducks Unlimited," which showed the progress that has been made in the preservation of duck marshlow. Phil Dodds and Sam Genaw, of Picton, who operate "Methods and Reasons for Restocking" and talked mainly about warm water fish propagation. He stated that splendid progress had been made in the Bay of Quinte and waters that were well fished out and told of other waters that will be used for the first time. The committee on restocking gave a short resume of work that was accomplished this year and what had been established during the past year. Many streams in the district are not producing as they should, but in years gone by were completely void of game fish, a great deal of credit was given to the department for their interest in this district.

Ken Thompson, the president of the club, presided and the next meeting of the club will be held on February 23rd.

Educationist Will Speak Here

Don Graham, director of education for Forest Hill village, and well versed in matters pertaining to education, athletics and human relations, will speak in Bellewille early in February.

The central committee of the Home and School Associations is bringing Mr. Graham to the city. He will speak in the collegiate hall this afternoon of February 7th, while an evening meeting will be held in the Queen Elizabeth Secondary School.

A graduate of Toronto University, Mr. Graham taught history and athletics at Harbord collegiate before he went to Forest Hill as head of the history department in 1940. He has served as chairman of the education commission, Toronto Council of Christians and Jews and on the education committee, Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. In 1953 he was consultant for the Canadian Education Association Kellogg project for the improvement of education leadership in Canada and last year was director of the workshop on human relations held at the University of British Columbia.

Douglas Graves Accidentally Shot in Shoulder

Douglas Graves, 18, son of Mrs. Dora B. Graves, 223 W. Moira St., is resting comfortably in the Bellewille General Hospital following an operation this morning for removal of fragments of a .22-calibre bullet from his left shoulder.

Graves was accidentally wounded about 9.30 Wednesday evening. He was taking his gun down from the wall of his room at home when it slipped from his grasp. He snatched at the gun which discharged the bullet into the left side of his chest.

The .22-calibre slug glanced off a rib and splintered the boy's left humerus near the shoulder socket. He was taken to hospital by his mother.

Dr. J. H. Bateman removed three fragments of the bullet in an operation this morning.

It is thought that the bullet did not strike any major arteries or nerves in the boy's arm.

Little Activity In Police Circles

Last night's snow storm and this morning's snow flurries have been quiet apparently put a quietus on police activity with officers at both the city police department and provincial police headquarters reporting "nothing doing."

Nothing doing that is except for some minor accidents in the city, one of them on Station street at noon being a rear-end collision between a truck and one of the local buses. Provincial police report no accidents.

Police reported road conditions heavy in the rural areas with drifting sidereads drifting badly. Even the police cruisers were bogging down in the drifts as they attempted to get onto roads leading off the highways.

Farmer's Wife Kills Fox With Bare Hands

NEWBURGH, (Special) — A marauding fox, raiding the goose pen of a Newburgh district farm this week, had its goose choked for it when the farmer's wife slew him with her bare hands, Mrs. Frank Thompson said.

Mrs. F. W. Thompson, R.R. 1, Newburgh, started out to feed the geese lodged in the pen with several turkeys. On arrival she found a fox in the pen with the birds. It had killed one goose and had begun devouring it.

With presence of mind Mrs. Thompson closed the door of the pen, cutting off the fox's escape. Then she took matters into her own bare hands. First she subdued it with the swing of a feed-bucket. Picking up the dead animal by the heels, she then administered the coup-de-grace by smashing its head against a wall of the pen.

Co-incidental to the story is the fact that the Lennox and Addington county council recently reinstituted the bounty in the county.

Mrs. Thompson beat the fox on the head at the right moment.

'The Pupil,' Second Lesson in Child Evangelism, Given at Y.M.C.A.

The second meeting of the Child Evangelism Fellowship Teachers' Training Class was held on Monday evening in the YMCA with a good representation of interested friends and teachers from the Foxboro United Church and the Evangelical churches of the city.

Mr. Harold Robinson, of the Gideons, presided in the absence of Mr. Ferguson and Mrs. I. Williams, of Kingston, was in charge of the class entitled "The Successful Teaching," with emphasis placed in this lesson on "the pupil."

A review lesson "Rehab and the Spies," was interestingly given by Mrs. Tatham by means of the flannelgraph, under the heading "The Life of Faith."

The new lesson, given on the screen with Mrs. Williams as narrator, outlined the main points of approaching the pupil, particularly "praying up the impressionable years" (Wilbur Chapman). Mrs. Williams prefaced her remarks by a brief review of the lesson, "The teacher and her requirements: knowledge of what he would teacher, and the Holy Spirit; the preparation: study the lesson; plan the lesson; pray for the class." Then the method of presentation and plan the teaching procedure, with the lesson-full of the viewing point in Jesus Christ as personal Saviour, Lord, growth in faith and knowledge of Him, and to train in Christian service.

PUPIL'S ATTENTION

The law of the pupil in successful teaching is that he or she will attend to what they find applies to his aim; a comfortable place, proper lighting, good ventilation; even temperature, and a place for wraps; little or no distraction from others or late comers, or talking teachers, and the full one class per room, if possible.

Pupils should be encouraged in promptness so that the lesson may begin with all attentive, in an atmosphere of quiet, and free from disorder as disorder is contagious. The teacher should avoid interruptions that distract the attention, which can be held by shortening the projection of the lesson; use of appropriate gestures which make the lesson alive; speaking in low eye and ear accent; making the lesson interesting to the pupils' needs as they face life now with them, and giving God's Word to them.

Interest varies with the age of the pupil. Children require shorter lessons than the latter, meditates and solids; teen-agers need lessons which challenge both the mind and spirit, steering them to some weekly activity that leads God-ward.

APPEALS FOR ATTENTION

Appeal to the ear gain by verbiage conversation; to the eye gain by showing a picture which bears on the lesson; to the touch remembered by what is seen than by what is heard; to the touch by handling books and flannelgraph pictures which the pupils themselves may handle. Maps are used during the lesson attention will be entire and undivided by talking to the class in a conversational manner, not preaching. Encourage the asking of questions which is a sign for the good live way mind is not inattentive; visual aid; change your method of teaching for each lesson, and lastly, don't see too much. It is much better to ignore minor inattention of one pupil rather than disturb the whole class by stopping to reprove him.

Mrs. Muscow demonstrated the lesson for the Good News Club, with flannelgraph showing that eyes, ears, lips, hands and feet belong to God and must be used for Him to help others.

Mrs. Williams presided at the piano for the singing of choruses.

Ontario Intelligencer 'Ad' Brings Local Firm an Inquiry from Peru

Advertising in The Ontario Intelligencer has always had readers' interest but a recent reply received by a Front Street merchant from far-off Peru in South America is the latest proof of the highest expectations.

Last week Mr. Ross David of David's Electric, received a letter from Talara, Peru, enquiring about a refrigerator. The letter was written on January 21 and was received by Mr. David just four days later. The writer asked for a reply by airmail. Mr. David decided, whose husband is an employee of the International Petroleum Company, has two daughters attending Albert College and has picked the business of David's Electric from an advertisement in The Ontario Intelligencer.

Toronto Police Satisfied Man's Death Accident

TORONTO (CP) — Police said today they are satisfied Bruce Bicknell, 34, died accidentally when a rifle discharged in the hands of his 18-year-old wife, Lucien Tuesday night.

Chief of detectives Archie McCathie said Mrs. Bicknell, mother of a five-month-old child, has been cleared in the case.

Mrs. Bicknell told police when they saw the hole in Bicknell's chin that the bullet had entered there. She later said, Mrs. Bicknell, in her state of near collapse, said her husband stumbled before her. The bullet went into his chin, she said.

WIFE CONFUSED

Further investigation showed the bullet went into Bicknell's back just as he turned over in bed. When he was lying when his wife had the rifle in her hands, police said.

Mrs. Bicknell told police she saw the bullet hole in her husband's back, but she was confused and excited and didn't know where it had entered.

Metropolitan police continued their investigation into the shooting early Wednesday of Zygmunt Zalewski, 34-year-old insurance company collector's agent, whose body was found near his parked automobile in east-central Toronto.

METHOD UNKNOWN

Extensive investigation by police in the Zalewski shooting failed to uncover how he was killed, whether accidentally or deliberately in a struggle.

Zalewski had been shot once in the head. But ballistics and other tests indicate he was holding the weapon when it was fired.

Thirty dollars in cash and several baby bonus cheques collected as payments from customers were all police believe Zalewski was carrying at the time. Most of it was subsequently accounted for.

Govt. Urged To Reduce Excise Tax on Cars

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Harris hinted Wednesday that Health Minister Martin has urged the government to reduce the 10 per cent excise tax on automobiles.

Apparently to assist in settlement of the 109-day Ford strike in Windsor and Oakville, Ont., Mr. Martin said at the same time, he gave no indication as to whether the government will act on the request.

Sybil Bennett (PC — Halton) asked Mr. Harris in the Commons whether the government intends to reduce the tax "in view of the hardships that many of my constituents and the critical state of negotiations in the settlement of the strike."

QUESTION MENTIONED

Mr. Harris replied:

"The question of excise taxes on motor cars has been drawn to my attention on a number of occasions here, and very recently by my colleagues the minister of national health and welfare (Mrs. Martin, member for Essex East) and the honorable members for Essex West (Don Brown) and Essex South (S. Murray Clark).

"But I am sure that my honorable friend will understand that in this context or even in the general context I would not be desirable nor possible to make any announcement of intention, but rather to state the fact when it occurred, if it does occur."

Girl Is Found Unconscious, Naked on Street

HAMILTON (CP) — A girl was found naked and unconscious on a lonely road early today in near-zero weather.

Police said Kay Gilmour, 21-year-old Hamilton waitress, did not appear to have been sexually attacked. She was suffering from frost-bitten feet and exposure.

Morality Inspector Arthur Robson said the girl gave no explanation of how she came to be on the Chedoke golf course road.

She was found by a citizen shortly before 2 a.m. her clothing was found scattered about the side of the roadway.

The citizen rushed her to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment. Her condition was said to be fairly good.

Report Reuther Forbids Retreat In Ford Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations in the long Ford of Canada strike met for the first of their second series Wednesday and indications were the talks had entered another deadlock.

A report reported Wednesday that Emil Mazey, international secretary-treasurer of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), has received instructions from Detroit not to retreat any further at the bargaining talks.

Mr. Mazey was reported to have returned to the union's head office in Detroit last Sunday to confer with Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and the United Auto Workers. He brought Mr. Reuther up to date on negotiations and received instructions to stick to his guns, it was reported. Toronto participants in the Ford talks were unaware of Mr. Mazey's flight to Detroit.

Gold Subsidies Will Be Reduced

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has decided to renew subsidies for gold mines for two years — 1955 and 1956 — under a modified formula which has been announced by Finance Minister Harris, provincial sharply.

The government gave notice on the Commons order paper today that it will ask Parliament to amend the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act to extend it to the years 1955 and 1956 "subject to certain modifications."

It was understood the modifications are aimed at reducing the government's outlays for the subsidies which in 1954 totalled about $4,500,000.

An outline of the proposed modifications likely will be given in the Commons some time tonight by Mines Minister Prudham.

10 Below Record Is Predicted For Quinte Area

TRENTON (Special) — Record cold for January 27th in the Quinte district is predicted for tonight.

A record 10 below zero for the date was set in 1938. According to predictions of the meteorological section of Station Trenton, this temperature will be equalled or surpassed this evening.

Wednesday night 3.1 inches of snow fell in Trenton and district. Gusty winds prevailed Wednesday and Thursday, were expected to drop to 15 mph by midnight Thursday.

Forecast for Friday and Saturday includes drifting snow flurries and continued cold.

Temperatures at Station Trenton at noon today were five degrees above zero.

Anti-Communist Programs Wanted On CBC, Films

OTTAWA (CP) — A suggestion that the CBC and the National Film Board produce anti-Communist programs and films was made in the Commons Wednesday.

Russell Reinke (L — Hamilton South) said public funds could be spent "to bring to the attention of the Canadian people the purpose, effects and results of communism."

These productions would remind Canadians to guard their freedoms.

"Freedom is like a bag of sand," he said. "If there is a hole anywhere in the bag, all the sand will run out."

Speaking at the resumption of the throne speech debate, Mr. Reinke indicated alarm that a 22-foot bronze monument on a picnic ground in Palermo, Ont., was rent to the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians by the Soviet Ukraine.

The English and Ukrainian inscriptions on the monument were purposely different to mislead the public, he said.

The Ukrainian inscription, he said, was misleading and indicated that the monument was sent to Communists of the Labor-Progressive party by a Communist government.

Mr. Reinke said later outside the Commons that the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians should not be confused with the Ukrainian National Federation which he described as an anti-Communist league.

The association, he said in the Commons, owned the Palermo property, east of Hamilton. It also owned some 100 assembly halls across Canada, a $1,000,000 co-operative and a $3,000,000 insurance business.

Outside the Commons he told reporters the Palermo property is used as a summer camp for young Canadians who are taught Communist ideas.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—John F. Schwella, 40, most seriously hurt passenger in the plane crash in which Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders was fatally injured, was removed from the critically ill list Wednesday and a second crash victim was discharged, hospital authorities said.

Schwella, airplane instrument technician from Var Nuys, Calif., and Ottawa, was reported in improved condition.

Dennis Dack, 32, of Toronto, Hydro Bailee officer, was released from hospital after treatment for arm and shoulder injuries.

Two Power Interruptions At Trenton

TRENTON (Special) — Trenton was without electric power this morning for almost two hours.

The first power cut-off occurred at 10.50 a.m. Power was restored temporarily at 12.15 p.m., but went off a second time and was not restored until 12.45.

A short circuit in the line supplying Trenton from the north which tripped circuit breakers in the Sidney township sub-station was blamed for the cut-offs.

Authorities at the powerhouse on No. 2 dam on the Trent River were not able to give assurances at 1.00 p.m. that further cut-offs could be avoided.

Trenton's public utilities commissioner, J. Bonisteel, away from the office trying to locate the site of the trouble, could not be contacted.

NO EMERGENCY

There were no operations or deliveries at Trenton Memorial Hospital and no emergency arose. Routine hospital procedures continued with only slight inconvenience.

Traffic lights went out all over the town and police constables were called out to direct traffic.

Industries were without power and housewives had no service during the lunch hour.

Mayor Ross Burtt, downtown for a haircut, was trimmed with hand clippers when the electric cutters went dead.

Faraday Ore Vein Widens

Initial slashing in the west drift in the "Z" zone of the Bancroft property of Faraday Uranium Mines has widened the high-grade section to 14 feet, according to company officials.

The drift so far discloses high grade for distance or 85 feet in this zone. Radiometric assays ran 0.75 per cent to 1 per cent uranium oxide across drift width of nine feet and chemical assays are reported confirming these values.

Sampling of the latest round taken from the drift returned 0.45 per cent uranium oxide. But of greater importance to the company were the values obtained in slashing into the north side of the drift. Some 30 to 40 feet back from the face, Rib sampling gave around 1 per cent uranium oxide over width of 5 feet, which would indicate ore width of 14 feet for the high-grade section. Full width, of course, has yet to be determined.

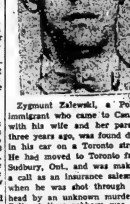
Hoboken Pier Swept by Fire

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP)—A spectacular blaze wrecked an abandoned 920-foot-long pier while firemen managed to prevent flames from spreading to a shore building early today.

Portions of the two-storey pier, which jutted out into the Hudson river, collapsed into the water along with the heavy steel superstructure.



The blaze broke out late Wednesday, and firemen fought a losing battle trying to keep the flames from working their way along the pier towards the shoreline.

OUT OF DANGER

Fire and police authorities this morning said there no longer was danger of flames spreading to two adjoining piers, each about 250 feet away from the burned-out one.

Soon after the fire started, the hard-pressed Hoboken units were helped by equipment from New York and other port areas.

Seven Coast Guard vessels and two New York City fireboats pumped water onto the burning pier.

Zygmunt Zalewski, a Polish immigrant who came to Canada with his wife and her parents three years ago, was found dead in his car on a Toronto street. He had moved to Toronto from Sudbury, Ont., and was making a call as an insurance salesman when he was shot through the head by an unknown murderer. Police believe robbery was the motive. Paris Driver Disqualified From Driving for Life

TORONTO (CP) — Maurice La Tour of Paris, Ont., was sent to jail for three months and disqualified from driving for life Wednesday on two driving charges.

Magistrate H. Tupper Bigelow sentenced La Tour to two months after finding his licence was suspended and on a charge of careless driving.

Constable George Long said La Tour, after knocking over a pedestrian at Queen and Sherbourne streets Jan. 17 led him a chase of more than half a mile and finally was caught.

La Tour's licence number was taken and he was picked up the next day. He admitted being the driver of the car, the officer said.

M. M. Hay, crown counsel, said La Tour's licence has been under suspension since 1942.

Delay Payments

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control Wednesday night ordered all further payments to public bodies for emergency housing administrator Harold E. Locke held up until an audit of his 1953-54 accounts has been completed.

Board members rejected a recommendation from the city solicitor and city treasurer, who have been negotiating with Mr. Locke since April, 1953, that $40,000 be advanced to him pending completion of the audit.

Boy Wonder of Wall Street, Draft Dodger Is Murdered

NEW YORK (CP) — Financier Serge Rubinstein, who for most of his adult life gaily boasted that he was a "man without a country," was found dead early today in his lavish marble and oak-panelled Fifth avenue mansion, apparently a murder victim.

The 45-year-old onetime boy wonder of the finance world, convicted and jailed as a draft dodger in the Second World War, was bound and gagged. He was lying on his back in the third-floor bedroom of his sixth-floor, two-elevator palace, clad in costly black silk pyjamas.

Police officially termed it "an apparent homicide" but the exact cause of death was not disclosed immediately. There was a rumor that strangulation might have been the cause. They mentioned robbery as a possible motive.

The room had been ransacked. All drawers in the interior section of a built-in wardrobe had been pulled out. The safe was found "upside down," police said.

The body was found by William Morton, his butler, at 8:30 a.m. Rubinstein's hands and feet had been bound with heavy twine, apparently the cord from the venetian blind.

The Russian - born Rubinstein had been in hot water with immigration authorities since 1938, when he illegally entered the United States from Canada under the Russian quota on a Portuguese passport. The Portuguese government disowned the passport until after years of litigation the U.S. ordered him deported in 1941. The case ended up in the supreme court, where it was when he was killed.

U.S. POLICY UNCERTAIN

"Moving with wartime speed and unity, the solemn House of Representatives Tuesday gave President Eisenhower authority to make war, if necessary, in defending Formosa and the Pescadores Islands."

This was the impressive sentence which the Associated Press used late Tuesday afternoon to carry its first report that President Eisenhower had reached the halfway mark in his effort to have Congress grant the authority he feels he needs to protect the interests of the United States in the Far East.

It is quite possible, even probable, that President Eisenhower's request for authority on Monday of this week was one of the most important milestones in the so-called cold war between the Western democracies and Communism.

If, however, the reader finds it difficult to form an opinion about this request it does not mean, necessarily, that he is out of touch with international affairs or lacking in the normal powers of judgment.

Some of those who have ventured to express an opinion have failed to agree—nor does this lack of agreement indicate the nature of their sympathies in the cold war.

The two most influential—and best informed—newspapers in the British Isles are the London Times and the Manchester Guardian. The London Times saw the president's statement as offering "for the first time a basis for at least a temporary peace in the Far East." The Manchester Guardian described it as "a gross blunder, so clumsily constructed that it contains a veiled threat of American attack on the Chinese mainland."

How could two such differing conclusions be held by newspapers which, in the final analysis, have so much in common in their outlook on world affairs?

Perhaps the answer is provided for by the Daily Telegraph, another of Britain's influential newspapers, which says that Eisenhower reaffirmed American policy "with as much clarity as an essentially fluid situation allows." In fact a great majority of British newspapers, the Telegraph approves of Eisenhower's stand.

The point which should be stressed in this observation is the reference to the fluidity of the situation. Eisenhower has been as clear as possible, but the fact remains that he was not very clear. What he wants, according to authoritative statements, is authority to use the U.S. navy and air force against Chinese Communist forces from the Tachen islands, but what he asked for was authority to use "the armed forces of the United States, if necessary to assure the security of Formosa and the Pescadores." This authority includes the use of the fleet for evacuation purposes and much more—even the right "to take appropriate military action" against "any concentrations of Chinese forces obviously undertaken to facilitate attack upon Formosa."

The "essentially fluid situation" in the Far East made it imperative, President Eisenhower should have a free hand to act immediately in the event of a crisis. He could not afford to be caught in a position where he had to return again and again to Congress to seek authority for specific actions. Therefore he asked for wide powers. That does not mean that he is obliged to take all those measures which he is authorized to take. The western world, knowing Eisenhower, may be sure that he will act with restraint as well as with decision. The question arises whether the Chinese Communists will feel a similar certainty that appropriate restraint will also play a role in his actions.

There are ugly signs that the Chinese Reds may be letting their hot heads rule minds which should be cool in this crisis in the world's history. Premier Chou En-lai's rejection of a cease-fire with Nationalist China is alarming. This is the only possible basis for peace in the Far East.

Yet, at the same time, the western world should not blind itself to the fact that, from the viewpoint of the Chinese Communists, it is unthinkable that Chiang should be permitted to continue to hold the Tachens indefinitely. Nor should the west feel certain that even the threat of a major war will prevent the Communists from attempting to seize those Nationalist islands which lie only a few miles off the Chinese mainland. These islands include Quemoy and Matsu as well as the Tachens. Eisenhower apparently is prepared to see the Tachens pass into Communist hands but is not so certain that he holds a similar view with regard to Quemoy and Matsu. One report refers to Quemoy as a natural stepping stone to Formosa. If that is so, it is even truer that, from the Chinese Communists' viewpoint, Quemoy must seem a natural stepping stone to the mainland, only a few miles away while Formosa is many times as distant.

British officials interpret Eisenhower's declaration, said they would be "surprised" if the U.S. were to guarantee the security of Quemoy and Matsu islands. After Eisenhower's statement British officials applauded it, appearances therefore, that they did not consider the statement as extending any such guarantee. But the statement did not make the U.S. position clear on that point. It is quite possible that China estimates as to the likely U.S. policy regarding these islands, within 15 miles of the Chinese coast, may have played a part in the widely differing opinions expressed by the London Times and the Manchester Guardian.

TIME WASTERS

"Well," said Old Crankimire,
"Here's my doubt
His every fault you've pointed out,
And in his own peculiar way
He may be everything you say,
But it his life has been so grim
You've all been wasting time on him.

"Here at the table I have sat,
Hoping to hear some friendly chat,
But not You've used the time to strike
At one that plainly you don't like.
All for an hour or more I've heard
Her been fault-finding. That's absurd!

"If praise of others can't be told,
Better it is the tongue to hold.
Time is too precious here to waste
On one who has himself disgraced.
We all have faults. We all do
An hour of hate is much too long."

40 YEARS AGO

JANUARY 27th, 1915

The Canadian Jubilee Singers will give a concert at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here on the evening of January 29th.

At 2.30 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the shoe shining parlor of D. McGoogan, 227 Front St. and the result was the destruction of much property. The shining parlor shop was gutted and the fire spread to the adjoining three storey brick building in which was situated Scott's Palace moving picture theatre and the interior of the building is a complete wreck, nothing but the walls remain standing. The fire also spread to the upper portion of the grocery brick building south of the theatre and considerable damage was done to the contents of H. McCrodden's apartment, which was situated in the building. The street floor of this building is occupied by W. B. Riggs' piano and music store and much damage was done by water and smoke. To the north of the shoe shining shop and in the same building is located a grocery store which is conducted by W. H. Canning. Fire did not reach this store but much damage was done to it by the dense smoke and water. The total loss is estimated at $15,000. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

50 YEARS AGO

JANUARY 27th, 1905

Uncle Tom's Cabin will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House this evening. The scene in the show, when performed the "cake walk" in the big street parade today did well, but they were better to dance in the milder temperature—such is the sunny south.

Mr. J. H. McTaggart and daughter, of Jhansi, Bellville, arrived here today to visit friends in the city and district. Mr. McTaggart's last visit here was eighteen years ago.

Rev. D. C. Hannaby will deliver a song sermon at the Tabernacle Sunday evening.

Mr. E. C. Lawrence of Toronto, an old Belleville boy, spent the week-end here.

Dr. Harper, of Madoc, was in town today.

Mr. T. F. Kavanagh has been appointed the first clerk of the village of Tweed at a salary of $35 per annum.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POETRY

I know next to nothing about poetry, but this I know—poetry isn't just rhyme; it's feeling, beauty and imagery. It is interesting if we will make note of our moods when we are fortunate as to be under conditions that create and stimulate poetic thought on our part. Often have I read these two stanzas by Amelia Welby. To my notice this morning:

"The twilight hours like birds flew by
As gently and so free,
Ten thousand stars were in the sky
And held I, trembling there."

For every wave and rippled cheek That leaped upon the air,
Had caught a star in its embrace
And held it, trembling there."

I am one who feels that a poet must be born a poet. The many I look upon poetry merely as lines that rhyme. Robert Frost is a very great poet. Much he has written has no rhyme at all, but it has feeling, sensitiveness, and heart.

Every sunset, every flower, every tree and shrub, most of Nature is one great epic poem. How many a poem has been composed near the hills in hidden valleys, and scenes has looked into the face of the heavens at night and talked silently with that diamonded umbrella of astounding wonder!

Another of our world poets was Walt Whiteman, whose entire life experience was recorded in one vast poetry book that he chose to call "Leaves of Grass." Whom he was first published Emerson gave it great praise, but Boston wouldn't do it as through it were an evil thing! "Leaves of Grass" is a lifetime book, each of its years being enriched by Whitman and constantly adding more expressive and liked such a man or created such a book.

Mail Delivery Problem

(By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor)

A pathetic dispatch came out of Washington the other day. It said the rural mail carriers have to be contortionists to put mail in the roadside boxes. They are thinking of doing something about it.

This is a movement to which I shall not lend my support.

Some years back we had an RFD carrier named Tucker. He was a fine contortionist. He would start out of the box, make change for stamps, stick in the arrivals, and hook the red flag all in one willowy operation. It would throw your neck out of kilter to see him do it, but he did it neatly at every box.

• • •

Now, at that time our box was attached to an ancient hackamatack post which had first been put up when Teddy Roosevelt instituted free delivery. Naturally the box was set to accommodate specified rounds made from a buggy. Horses were driven from the right-hand side of the seat. A buggy seat was high-slung compared with present-day automobile models. The Postal Regulations carefully defined the requirements, and if you didn't conform the carrier could refuse to leave your mail. It's a tough problem, and when the carriers did refuse from mail to time, and eventually the rural mail field took a stand-and-pattern.

The whole point is that a mail box perfectly positioned for a buggy seat is by no means perfect, particularly the American kind that has a left-hand steer. Automobiles, buggies and country roads got generally decent, and rivers of mail began to get mangled. The regulations naturally became, shall we say, obsolete. And the old time, old time erosion, frost, highway snowplow blades, and the shifting influence factors ruined my old post, and I had to set a new one.

• • •

So a brilliant idea came to me. Why not have the mail box the carriers could get at it? Why not adjust to the machine age? It would be easy. I'd just move the post fifteen feet due east, at right angles to the road. That way, so the mailman could swing in off the road, do his putting and taking with the left-hand window, dealing with a box adjusted to the left-hand position.

And when he was through he could back out into the road and be off. If he should stop, zoodals, I could let or lower the box to fit the new position. To the north of the shoe shining shop and in the same building is located a grocery store which is conducted by W. H. Canning. Fire did not reach this store but much damage was done to it by the dense smoke and water. The total loss is estimated at $15,000. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

I spoke to him about it, asking if he didn't think this was a fine idea.

Do you think he cheered me as a great thinker? He did not. He gave me a cold stare, and said I was meddling in something beyond my capacity. The position of an RFD boy, he said, was established in the Postal Regulations.

I tried to reason with him, as one unconnected with governmental regulations will often do. No good.

So I put the new post exactly where the old one was, and bolted the box to position as it complied with all rules made and provided, and it is just exactly where it should be if a mailman should come riding up some day behind a pledged bay in a surrey. The Umpteenth Assistant Postmaster General could only applaud such a precise fit. After that my mailman continued to discipline himself every morning (except holidays and Sundays), and after a few years he retired. He was succeeded by another contortionist and he in turn by Bud, our present carrier.

• • •

I was talking to Bud about this quite a while ago, and Bud was more sensible. He felt the rules should be changed, but he agreed it was good for his biceps and pecs and shoulders. However, he indicated that if I wanted to do him a favor he could get at the mailbox leftHandedly, it would be all right with him. He couldn't lodge a complaint, or refuse to deliver the mail, but he could make the change after that, but when I heard that Washington is pondering on the matter I'd wait and see how they decide. It would be easy for me to shift the post for Bud, and then have Washington overrule me.

• • •

Meantime, I think there is a problem in this thing all the same. Since automobiles have replaced buggies and surreys all this country flows to the right of the highway from the driver's standpoint to have mailboxes on the left of the roads. And if you pass a mail box on the modern automobiles and trucks, you will find that reaching over the steering is something of a trick, regardless of how the mailbox is hung. Even if you listen and pass when I was in practice in Penn Yan. Oh, yes, I saw numerous cases in hospital of this vicious practice, in which some doctor had diagnosed malaria without even trying to find the plasmodia in the blood. These all proved to be some other disease.

Own Throats Cut by Tariffs

(Radgar Farm Bureau News).

In blunt talk at the American Farm Bureau convention, a spokesman for Governor Orville Randall of Inland Steel, told farmers that we cut our own throats when we erect high tariff walls to keep goods out. Tariffs restrict exports as well as imports. Said big business man Randall:

"When you hear of some manufacturer asking for a higher tariff on his product, please remember he is asking that you, the meat, cotton, tobacco and rice be shipped out of the United States."

No wonder these things pile up!

He had tough words, too, for labor farmers who fought the sales tax in this province in the country. Our tariff cost us air bases in the Baltic, and drove the Danes into buying coal from Red Poland instead of her. Now Britain is taking away from us our cheese tariff.

The Dutch, retaliating against our dairy tariff, refuse to buy United States wheat flour. So the Swiss refuse to buy our apple up the check for the dairy tariff. Some bargain!

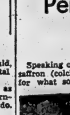
Meantime the coal industry, sick and discouraged, is trying to sell coal to Italy. Venezuela is becoming what Randall termed "a selling America" for America can goods! Because we raised the tariff on Swiss watches, Switzerland is cutting down on American tobacco and lard.

Worst of all, said Randall, our shortsighted policy is driving Europe into a military potential. Such is the army of Russia. Japan is an industrial monster. She cannot feed itself but must trade goods for food. We refuse his goods, so it cannot sell dollars to buy food from us. Unless we recognize our folly quickly, said Randall, Japan will be driven by its fears when it sells its goods—behind the iron curtain.

Adenauer's Birthday

(New York Times)

There is something special about Konrad Adenauer's birthday this year. He was 78. It is not like the rounding out of a decade. It is not like that with Sir Winston Churchill's eightieth birthday. Nov. 30, but there has in recent months been an especially keen recognition of the fact that the enormous burden rests on the Chancellor's shoulders.



The Grand Old Man of Germany is still needed. Germany's role in the defense of Western European Union is now virtually assured as the Nov. 30 vote has given reality. Above all, a German army has to be created with security and if it is to avoid the pit falls of the past—"neutralistic" and "east" structure, a high degree of independence from the cold war must be won. Intense nationalism—Dr. Adenauer is the man to work with and he is the only man we can see today the only man. The new agreement will be a source of delicate negotiations with France. The Soviet Union is waving carrots and sticks in bewildering and sometimes contradictory fashion. The always acute problem of unification is a source of political anxiety.

It takes a wise head and a rugged constitution to tackle such problems and Adenauer is this eighth year. It is Germany's tragedy that Hitler destroyed the leadership and democracy of a whole generation, but it has also been Germany's good fortune that a man who embodied the best virtues of the German tradition has survived to lead his nation in these crucial post-war years. May he go on doing so for a long time!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

GOUT IS 11TH CENTURY BUNK

Dr. Brady

Speaking of the use of meadow saffron (colchicum) as a remedy for what some physicians still call "gout", I recently had occasion to write Wine of Colchicum (made from the corms and seeds of the plant), or in the form of the alkaloid or active principal, colchicine, "is considered specific in the treatment of gouty arthritis, especially in the acute stage" (quoting L. Maxwell Lockie, Ph. B., M. B., M. D., Oxford in Medicine, Surgery and Specialties, Vol. VI, 1943).

A specific is a remedy which prevents or cures disease by a peculiar property or influence. Quinine for malaria, for instance. I pointed out that no medical authority has conceived a rational explanation for the alleged curative effect of colchicine in gout or gouty arthritis. But then, no one has explained the modus operandi how quinine prevents or cures malaria.

But who am I to question the soundness of these solidly established medical principles, beliefs or opinions?

I never saw a case of gout in hospital or private practice, and in 1st I put one case of malaria before I got into it, and one case when I was in practice in Penn Yan. Oh, yes, I saw numerous cases in hospital and in private practice, in which some doctor had diagnosed malaria without even trying to find the plasmodia in the blood. These all proved to be some other disease.

The hospital case was a dandy, tertian malaria (chill every third day). In a laborer who had come from a southern district, where malaria was endemic (it was on the construction job in Buffalo where there was no malaria and probably is none today). We demonstrated the plasmodia in the red blood corpuscles in a drop of blood taken from the patient in a chill, for classes of medical students.

In order to preserve the status quo the professor asked me to give the patient only inert capsules (of Rochelle salts) instead of quinine, for a few days, so he could have all his students see the malarial organisms under the microscope at the bedside.

At the time I felt guilty about it. I debated with my conscience whether we were justified in with-holding quinine, the specific for malaria, for even a few days. But I went along with the professor's whim—and the patient come to disaster? Huh. In the course of ten days, although the patient received little or no quinine, the chills ceased, the fever disappeared, the patient felt so well we couldn't persuade him to stay any longer, and the plasmodia had disappeared from his blood.

Quinine a specific for malaria?

Had we given that patient all the quinine we thought he needed the cure could not have been more spectacular.

Many times I have wished I never saw a case of malaria.

However, I am consoled with the certainty that I have never seen a case of rabies in man—and 200,000 real doctors say the same thing — and I have never never seen a case of gout either.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Father never appears in family group photographs any more. The pfft ear, several of my relatives have remarked, is common in families. But it is always mother, sweetly smiling in the midst, and the children gathered round her with the traditional coxy attitudes.

Where's father? Father has a family album—and I'm sorry to say I doubt if you have: I imagine it was chucked out into the ash-can and gave away all those books and old framed pictures and stuff to the veterans' salvage boys—if you can get hold of your family album, you have the material for an old still brownish-gardboard photos of your parents' courtships and uncles, at least two or three family group pictures. And who is that standing proudly in the midst? Why is that tall, buttoned-up gentleman with the grave, Gladstonian look around whom, like tendrils of little plants, cling the family?

That's Pop. Mother, as a rule is seated, on a lovely tall-backed chair, the carving of which is visible in the lace curtains behind the baby on her knee, its long, lacecovered christening robe descending to, for the benefit of Grandma, who made and presented the dress, then the entire gathering is rather stiff to the north-east with hands decidedly ill-at-ease, but the children looking at her, but three looking at pop. Everybody is there except the engraver, but especially Pop.

In the earlier pictures of Pop and Mother, before the arrivers and children, it is Pop who is seated firmly in the heavily carved, red plush chair, and Mother stands beside, one pretty plump arm draped over the back of the chair, and is still smiling off dreamily to the north-east.

It is said that the movies, TV and fiction generally are trying to make the father of the present day a comic, bumbling, stumbling joke.

Family albums have something to contribute to that discussion.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

VICTORY OVER FEAR

A man who had seen much military service told recently of the words with which a comrade in fear met his men into battle. "If you are all dead already," the officer was accustomed to say, "so you have nothing to fear."

There was a basic truth wrapped up in these brusque words. It always happens that when people utterly and without bitterness accept inevitable, they find they have nothing to fear. It may be death itself they face; when they learn not to fear it, it has no power over them.

Fear often is not death which they have to face but some stirring challenge in everyday living. There are circumstances which they have to accept, trials they have to endure, and they learn not to forget, less upon which they shut the door of memory. They must die fleer and face trials. When they cease to themselves, "I have already fallen," then they have nothing to fear. When they realize that the most precious things in life have been preserved and cannot be theirs again—when they can face this reality with a bitterness against either God or man, then they find themselves in a pathway which leads upward to the inestimable mountains and the Heavenly Home.

Go into battle. "You are dead already; you have nothing to fear." And, when fear has left you, the battle is as good as won.

Federal Labor Code Legally Dead Says Ont.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ontario government said Wednesday the federal labor code is legally dead.

Deputy Attorney-General C. D. Magone made the claim before the Supreme Court of Canada in an appeal case under which the federal government has controlled the labor relations of about 450,000 Canadian workers since 1948.

Quebec and Alberta have joined Ontario in challenging the validity of the whole statute as the outcome of a jurisdiction conflict between the federal and Ontario labor boards over a group of stevedores on the Toronto waterfront.

Mr. Magone said the federal statute—applying to such industries as railways, shipping and airlines—relates to property and civil rights and therefore is beyond the powers of Parliament.

PROVINCIAL ONLY

"The federal legislation deals with a matter within the exclusive jurisdiction of provincial legislature," he said.

Under the British North America Act, the legislative field of property and civil rights is assigned to the provinces.

The Ontario spokesman said that with one minor exception, the courts never have determined constitutionality of any federal labor legislation.

Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock asked Mr. Magone if he would say that the federal government could not legislate for labor relations on Dominion railways.

"My submission is that this act is dead," Mr. Magone replied. "I wouldn't want to comment on what Parliament might do later."

STIRLING

'Canada and Canadians' Address At C. of C. Dinner Meeting

STIRLING—The annual meeting of Stirling Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening in Stirling community hall in the form of a banquet. Fifty people enjoyed an appetising dinner served by the ladies of Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 311.

Mr. E. D. Ketcheson, president, introduced the head table, which included Mr. and Mrs. H. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. R. Hughes, of Perth, and the local officers of the chamber.

The tables were decorated with glowing green candelabra and a silver basket of carnations.

The toast to The Queen was followed by the National Anthem and Mr. J. B. Belshaw said grace.

SUMMARY OF WORKS

Following the dinner Mr. E. D. Ketcheson gave a summary of all the departments of work, and said "in 1954 there were 63 paid members." He paid tribute to the membership committee for its hard work. During the year there were 14 various meetings held.

TRIBUTE PAID

A word of tribute was paid in memory of the late E. G. Bailey and C. R. Bartedo. The industrial committee made great plans for a new plant, "The Trent Cotton Company." However it was fortunate that no building had been done on the property, if there had to be a recession in the textile industry.

The chamber had representation at the International Trade Fair last June and felt this had been a step in the right direction. Several leads had been followed and the president explained why some had not materialized.

The chamber was proud of "The Eisico Footwear Company" who had moved into their new factory that day (Monday, January 24th.) They have over 75 employees and hope to expand. Messrs. Joe Valchar and George Lyons stood for an ovation.

During the year the chamber has been keenly interested in having a warning device installed at the railway crossings before several lives are lost. Up to date no action has been taken by those in authority.

NEW HOMES STANDARD

They have set up a standard for building new homes in order to avoid a lot of poor structures in the village. And they have ironed out store hours for the business men. Last April they dressed up store windows and in December they sponsored a "Santa Claus Parade."

They also sent in a resolution to the Ontario Chamber re the approved construction of 26 gauge material for stove pipes.

The Chamber plans to continue its activity re "Sewerage," and with the co-operation of council and the citizens of Stirling, they hope to have it come to the taxpayers for either a reject vote or an acceptance.

OFFICERS

The election of officers for 1955 was as follows:

President, E. D. Ketcheson, re-elected; vice-president, D. W. Rodgers; treasurer, Joe Fillion; secretary, Douglas Patterson; industry committee, J. V. Holt, Claire West, Bruce Bell and H. E. Cooke; tourists committee, Robert Hatton and Charles Dardano; civic committee, Fred Houchin and Roy Eggleton, agriculture committee, Kenneth Mumby and Robert Philp.

Mr. Don Rodgers introduced Harold (Dinty) Moore, Perth, who is manager of the Bank of Montreal in that town. "Dinty" served Stirling for ten years as bank accountant and he did a bit of reminiscing before introducing the guest speaker, Mr. R. W. R. Hughes of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Mr. Hughes is also president of Perth Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

"CANADA AND CANADIANS"

Mr. Hughes brought greetings and gave a bird's-eye view of his trip to Stirling, in Scotland, and said, Stirling in Ontario had much in common. He chose as his theme "Canada and Canadians," and gave a graphic picture of Canada, the greatest country in the world, which stretches from ocean to ocean, covers more territory than the United States; has a population of 15,400,000 people. Canada has great quantities of coal, oil, gas and all its unexplored northern territory is a potential asset.

The speaker was a fourth generation Canadian and his forefathers, like many others in the audience, were former immigrants. He gave a vivid picture of his recent trip to Europe (at the tax-payers' expense), when he interviewed thousands of people who wanted to come to Canada. He told of the small two acres of farmland in Europe where every square foot is fertilized for heavy production; where a horse and an ox are used, and where women do most of the manual labor.

Canada is the last frontier of the world, it is a noble birthright and deserves your honor and love.

"Canada has surpluses, not shortages, and we have priced ourselves out of world markets."

VALUE OF WORK

Mr. Hughes stressed the value of work and productivity and said too many Canadian people have forgotten hard work. The day labor is interested in shorter hours and more money. There is no longer a pride of workmanship. He gave examples of various trades in which men are "chiseling" by using shady materials, and wasting time.

The immigrant of years ago was a rugged man and was not afraid of hard work. Today it is a sorry fact that the new Canadian will do more work per hour than native Canadians. The speaker predicted that in future years merchants will need to give better service to the customer and farmers will have to cut production costs. He gave a clear picture of the Canadian immigration policy when only selected people are allowed to enter. He told of the vast number of skilled workers in Europe and the United Kingdom, who could be brought to Canada and all this would solve the problem of farm surplus products.

GERMANY—HOLLAND VISIT

Mr. Hughes gave several illustrations dealing with his visit to Holland and Germany, showing what Canadian prestige means over there. He has visited many places of note overseas, but has concluded that the Lakes of Hastings County and around Perth, are absolutely "tops".

At this point he paid tribute to the pioneers who hewed out their homes, schools and churches from the wilderness and built Stirling and vicinity. These men had vision and foresight and were not afraid of hard work.

All communities should be interested in industrial expansion and Stirling should expand and thus provide work for their youth and avoid the great trek to the city to find jobs.

"In closing, he made a strong plea for everyone to work wholeheartedly for Canada and closed his informative and interesting address with that, notable poem "I Love You Canada."

Mr. J. V. Holt voiced sincere thanks for such an eminent address.

A short time was spent in discussing "the whys and wherefores of the Perth Development Association," after which a successful dinner meeting was adjourned.

The next half hour was spent chatting with the guests from Perth.

BLAZES OUT BASE

HAMILTON (CP) — A 1,000-foot cable, dropped from a RCAF T-33 jet aircraft, blacked out Mount Hope air base near here for an hour Wednesday after it fell across Hydro wires. The RCAF said either the pilot, FO. David O'Brien, 26, released the cable, used to tow a practice target, too soon or there was a faulty cable release in the plane.

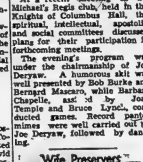
MONTREAL WOMAN SEEKS LABOR POST



Eugenie Pismocdon of Montreal has announced she will run for the presidency of the Montreal Council of Labor (CIO-CCL). "If I lose, I won't blame it on the fact that I'm a woman. I have helped me a great deal. The only person who won't give a woman a chance to prove herself is another woman," she said. If elected she will be the first woman in an influential labor post in Montreal. Her opponent is Charles Devlin, a lawyer. (Central Press Canadian).

St. Michael's Regis Club Plans Activities

The evening's program was under the chairmanship of Joe Derzaw. A humorous skit was well presented by Bob Burks and Bernard Mascoh, while Barbara Chapelle, asst. by Joan Temple and Bruce Lynch, conducted games. Record pantomimes were well carried out by Joe Derzaw, followed by dancing.

Music—School Age Child, Topic At H.—S. Assoc.

On a recent Tuesday, the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association, held its regular January meeting. The president, Mrs. W. Knudsen, opened the meeting, and welcomed the parents.

A room count of parents was taken and Miss Osborne's morning class won the Attendance Shield.

Following the business, Mr. Frank Benson introduced Mr. Eugene Lang, well-known Belleville radio personality and music critic. His topic was "Music and the School Age Child." Mr. Lang began by asking the audience, "What is music?" It is difficult to define music; Dr. Sigmund Spaeth puts it as a way—"Music is the organization or sound to-ward which a woman is not just give-a-woman a chance to prove herself is another woman," she said. If elected she will be the first woman in an influential labor post in Montreal. Her opponent is Charles Devlin, a lawyer. (Central Press Canadian).

MUSICAL COMPOSITION

A musical composition must have melody, rhythm, harmony, tone and form. To illustrate how a simple melody is built up, Mr. Lang played part of the "Ode to Joy" from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. This selection and all the others were on records.

The balance of the program was confined to music of interest to children. In the time allotted it was impossible to play more than a few minutes from each of the following selections: "Peter and the Wolf", Prokofiev; "Carnival of the Animals", Saint-Saens; "Cuckoo" (from clavichord), Dacquin; "Children's Corner Suite", Debussy; a Mantovani arrangement of "Greensleeves"; "Full Moon and Empty Arms" followed by the original composition Piano Concerto No. 2, Rachmaninoff.

Mr. Lang commented on each selection chosen. Two unusual recordings brought the meeting to an end.

The first was a recording of authentic Spanish dancing by the Jose Greco Ballet; the other a hot jazz number called the "Lush Slide."

"In the home, music can be available via the record player, radio and television. If we, as parents, have music in the home, our children will unconsciously absorb it."

Mrs. Godwin expressed the thanks of the audience for a most interesting evening.

Light refreshments were served by Mrs. Geneja and her committee.

Beach and Play Clothes Shown By Designer

By CELE WOEL

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Simonetta, a Roman designer known for originality, opened her showing at the Italian fashion shows today of a clever collection of beach and play clothes.

She presented long, fitted sweaters and boxy shirts over very short shorts, one-piece playsuits with tiny pleated skirts and puffy bloomers belted at the hip line.

Simonetta's new line is "champagne" — the predominant silhouette is that of an overturned champagne glass. Skirts are wide, bonices are long and close-fitting, shoulders narrow. Buckles and bows accent the hip line.

BELTS NEAR KNEE

Her coats are plain and straight except for exceedingly long kick pleats and extremely low side or box belting. These box belts, only slightly above the knee, have been seen throughout the Italian collections in Florence and Rome.

She uses numerous prints and pastels. New colors are white champagne, beige champagne, pink champagne and bottle green.

Alberto Fabiani, designer - husband of Simonetta, has a line much like that of his wife, although they claim not to compare notes. Waists are long, skirts are pin-pleated or cone-pleated and short. Stiff petticoats are used under wool daytime skirts.

BUTTONS SURPRISE

He likes large collars on both high and low necklines, lavishes unusual buttons in unusual places and has a low, rounded neckline with inch-wide shoulders for cocktails and evening.

Prints, many of them dark floralis on brown and green backgrounds, were shown for afternoon. Morning suits are usually black, grey or navy blue wool. Coats are straight with sleeves full and tapering gently into narrow wrists.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NOT COURTEOUS TO HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Lately visiting at home and I went to dine at the house of a couple whom we met last summer at the resort where we went on our vacation. This was the first time we had been invited to their house (and my husband says it will probably be the last time!). With the roast beef were vegetables being served, and then a large salad bowl was passed containing an endive-and-tomato salad, with the salad dressing already on it. There were no salad plates, either at the places or passed.

I'm very fond of salad, but detest it served in this way, to be placed on the plate with hot meat, vegetables, and gravy. So I asked the hostess if I might have a plate on which to put the salad. I saw my husband's black look, and when we arrived home he accused me of being "extremely rude." said I should never have done what I did. Was I in the wrong? — Ida

Yes, Ma'am, you were. If a guest will talk to you in your house, I'm quite sure that you would have considered it as a compliment of your service. Yes? Rather than ask your hostess for a plate on which to put the salad, you should have said, "No thank you" when the salad bowl was passed. No matter how fond of salad you are!

WHY "THE RING FINGER"?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Why was the third finger of the left hand chosen as "the ring finger"? — Wm Four

Because the ancients believed that a vein ran from this finger directly to the heart.

THE BOY FRIEND AND THE BOX OF CANDY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Last Sunday afternoon a boy friend of mine came to see me. He brought me a small box of candy, handing it to me as he came into the living room. There were grown people in the living room, and I didn't think it was necessary for me to open the box of candy and pass it around. So I didn't and afterward my mother and sister said I was very discourteous and "stingy." Was I, Mrs. Beeckman? — Ethel

I agree with your mother and sister that you were not courteous and undoubtedly you gave a bad impression of being "stingy." Since the boy handed the box of candy to you in the presence of the others, you should, of course, have passed it around . . . even though it was a small box.

NO NEWSPAPER ANNOUNCEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to announce in a newspaper the adoption of a child? — M.S.

No. This definitely should Not be done.

TIME TO ADMIRE, NOT TO CRITICIZE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My dear mother, 90 years old, died very recently, and I have been criticized by a friend of mine who said that I should not have gone up to the casket with my friends. She insists that this was my brother's duty, not mine. I thought I was doing the right thing because so many of my friends were not even acquainted with my brother.

Don't, please, let your friend's pointless criticism disturb you. Instead of hurting you by expressing her criticism to you she should have comforted you by expressing her admiration to your poise and your valiant spirit. Since you were brave enough to do what you did it was the right thing for you to do for your kind friends who had come.

FAMILY SHOULD GIVE MINISTER'S FEE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Should I have paid the minister for his service at the funeral of my father, who died recently, or does that come out of the undertaker's bill? — Puzzled

The fee to the minister for his services should be given by the family, and customarily and thoughtfully is. Occasionally the undertaker is requested by the family to send the minister what is considered an appropriate amount, and this is included in the items of funeral expense. But under usual circumstances, this is an unsuitably impersonal way of acknowledging such a personal service as the minister gives.

GESTURE OF "GRATEFUL PATIENTS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are deeply grateful to our doctor, who has been so skilful in his treatment and who has given us more than professional kindness, and so often has given his kindly and understanding advice. We have paid his bill (his usual fees) but we would like to show him also a "grateful patient" present. In about two weeks we are going to Florida, and we are wondering if it would be proper for us to send him a box of oranges - and - grapefruit? If so, should we send it to him only, or should we address it to his wife also? (they both go to our church, and we have met her several times.) "Grateful Patient"

This gesture would be entirely proper, very kind and very generous. I suggest you address your gift to "Dr. and Mrs. John Adams" at their house address.

Apples Are The 'Old Reliables' For Dessert

By Mary Moore

Marianne has only two more months in which to practice getting ready for that first meal she has to prepare in her own home for Herbie.

There is no doubt in my mind that it is going to be that steak, frozen peas, mashed potatoes, lettuce salad with shredded carrot, and lemon meringue pie,—but the number of times we are going to eat that meal while she practises on it I can't say.

I think she knows how to do it to perfection right now, but she is still not satisfied.

However, she does seem to be happier than usual about the texture of the lemon filling in the pie for she changed her dessert last night to an apple cobbler. It was grand. I have another apple dessert for you and since apples are the old reliable standby at this time of year this is hereby dubbed an apple column.

MARIANNE'S APPLE COBLER

The Apple Part—3 cups apples pared and sliced well-packed (other fresh fruits may be used when in season such as peaches, cherries, berries, plums—the last are wonderful). 2-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 cup boiling water, 1-2 tablespoon butter, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon. Mix together in a saucepan the sugar and cornstarch and when blended stir in the boiling water until thick. Remove from heat and add apples. Pour into a baking dish about 10x8x2 inches which has been buttered and dot with the butter and sprinkle with the cinnamon. Drop by spoonfuls over top and roughly spread over apples.

Shortcake Batter—Sift together 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, then cut in with pastry blender 3 tablespoons shortening until fairly fine. Stir in 1-2 cup milk. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 30 or 35 minutes. Serve warm with the liquor from the pudding and with a little extra cream if desired.

APPLE SUET

(A one-bowl wonder.)

The secret of the success of this is in leaving apple and pastry pieces large. This is a highly recommended recipe.

One cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 well-beaten egg, 5 medium apples (we used Spies) pared and cut into thick slices 1 1-2 inches long, 1 cup pecan meats coarsely broken (roughly quartered). Sift the sifted flour with the sugar, cinnamon, soda and salt. Stir in the egg, apples and nuts. Stir until juice from the apples has just moistened the flour mixture. Turn mixture into buttered baking dish about 10x8x2 inches. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 45 to 50 minutes or until apples are tender. These amounts serve six very generously but this has been served to eight people and it was quite adequate. You may pass cream to pour over or make a lemon sauce by boiling together 3-4 cup sugar, 1-4 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind for 5 minutes. At the Bates' house where there are six ravenous eaters they would use a brick of store ice cream as an accompaniment.

MIRRORS OFTEN MAGNIFY BLEMISHES

Every girl and woman is interested in the reflection in the looking glass. We're all crystal gazers, are aware of the fact that in some mirrors we look more attractive than in others.

Some accentuate and magnify defects. Freckles appear larger and darker than they do to the eye of the beholder. Let that be a comfort to you freckled gals.

Wrinkles that are actually scarcely noticeable may look like irrigation ditches. Pouches under the eyes seem twice as terrible to you as they do to other people.

No woman has complete goodlooks equipment who hasn't a full-length mirror The shopper who goes shopping for pretty dresses and stands before a triple mirror may be in for some surprises. It is the only time that she sees the sides and back of her figure. She may be shocked to discover that her form divine has taken on weight.

This revelation may inspire her to reduce, it's no terrible ordeal. Less indulgence in the good things of the table, together with a few muscle-toning exercises will do the presto-change act.

A small triple mirror on the dressing table is a help when arranging a hairdo that, all too often is lacking in neatness and perfection, at back.

With a magnifying mirror a woman can do a first class makeup job and a messy one.

Mirrors indeed are a necessary part of milady's good-looks equipment.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'RE THE LOSER WHEN YOU DO WRONG

Dear Miss Fairfax':

About six months ago, I met a nice young man and we fell in love. We became intimate and planned to marry, but after a while he said he didn't love me any more because I ran after him and expected too much of him. He still sees me once a week, but I think it's because he feels sorry for me. I try to forget him, because I know that my feelings will never change. I love him very much, and don't believe he'll ever going to feel the same towards me again, but I see him everywhere I go, and feel that I can't live without him.

Should I see him once a week and try to get him interested in me again?

— Alice R.

Dear Alice:

I think you are making a big mistake. The young man is come and see you at all. Surely you have pride enough not to want him to come about you for that reason. Besides that, he has certainly been a very poor friend to you, and you would be much better off without him. If he still shows you pretty plainly that he has now got all he wanted from you.

That is one of the many important reasons why it is so tragic for a girl to throw herself at a man. If she can only have the self-control and the good commonsense to refuse to let a man persuade her into an affair, she will soon find out whether he really loves her or is just after a temporary physical relationship, and save herself serious heartache and perhaps worse.

My advice to you is to take yourself in hand, get a little spunk, and send this chap on his way. Put this whole sorry business behind you and start all over again, having learned the important lesson that you're the loser when you do wrong. Even though you think now that your feelings will never change, they most certainly will in time, and all the sooner if you have the will power to make a fresh and better start at once.

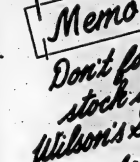
SHE HAS FOUR CHILDREN AND "ENOUGH LOVE FOR ONE MORE"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I just read the letter in your column about Penny, who's expecting a baby. I feel sorry for this little girl, as if I could be of help I'd be ever so grateful.

I have a girl her age, and three more besides, and so far I've been a lucky mother. Could you send Penny to me somehow? I'd love to take her baby and care for it until she's able. I did this before for a girl who is now happily married and has five children.

My youngest are twins, and all are in high school, so I have all day to look after a baby and I have enough love for one more, — Mrs. F.A.



Dear Mrs. F.A.:

I am very much to send it by your letter, and I cannot imagine where any baby would find a mother more loving, generous and selfless. Yours must be a very happy home, indeed, and your children are wonderfully fortunate to have a mother like yourself.

As for the girl about whom you read in my column, however, it is not wise for anyone to try and make arrangements for the babies of unmarried mothers except through authorized agencies. Such matters are usually regulated by law, and all sorts of complications can arise if one tries to do anything outside the regular channels.

If you are eager to take a baby who needs a foster mother into your home, it is not very difficult to find one. The big city near you has a department through which children are placed in private homes for temporary care, and I am sure if you would get in touch there you would find you might have a choice of babies.

'Summer Theatre in Canada' Subject at Women's Study Guild

"Summer Theatre in Canada" was the topic for the January meeting of the Women's Study Guild" held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. C. Seldon, Bleecker Avenue.

Mr New Year message, helpful against ordinary day by day temptations, was brought by the president, Mrs. Vernon.

Mrs. Wishart, who took the worship service, stated in part: "The aim of the Guild worship service is to throw the light of the teachings of Jesus on the topic chosen. In connection with tonight's subject it is not so difficult as it would seem.

MEDIEVAL PLAYS

"Before Jesus came to earth at all, the civilized world was practising the art of drama. Greek plays are still studied, and the early Christian Church used the mystery plays to make religion vivid and bring it close to the life of the people. Not merely the forms of drama but the devices of stage production and direction first developed under the auspices of the church.

The Bible itself is written in a most dramatic way.

Throughout the ages, drama has always served as a mirror of the times and customs of the day. It is for us to choose the best.

Plays with religious themes are far more numerous in these last two decades.

MODERN DRAMA

Serious modern drama in England began a new chapter in George Bernard Shaw, who made the largest contribution not only to the theatre itself, but to the emphasis of religion in drama, very often in a quite unorthodox way. He says 'When we succeed in adjusting our social structure in such a way as to enable us to solve social questions as soon as they become really pressing, they will no longer force their way into the theatre . . . If people are spoiling and starving in all directions, and nobody else has the heart or brains to make a disturbance about it, the great writers must.' And so the theatre is in our lives. It is for us to choose the best."

HISTORY OF THEATRE

As introduction to the topic proper, Mrs. Coulter gave a brief history of the theatre, mentioning that amateur acting has always been a popular pastime of the armed forces, there being record of such in Nova Scotia as early as 1606.

"In the succeeding centuries we were dependent upon the United States and England for any professional travelling companies.

Since the collapse of road troupes (for many and various causes) many more amateur groups have sprung up. The first Canadian Drama Festival was conceived by Governor General Earl Grey, followed up and encouraged by Lord Bessborough, and other governors general, so that although Canada has no National theatre, interest, initiative and effort are very much alive and healthy. Our professionals now flourish in the summer theatres.

GREATEST SUMMER THEATRE

The greatest Canadian summer theatre is, of course, the Stratford Festival, and Miss Hazel Thompson told vividly "rumbling impressions" of her 1953 and 1954 visits, closing with the advice given by Tyrone Guthrie, "Come leisurely to the tent and relax."

Mrs. Hunter concluded the study saying in part that "Of all forms of culture in Canada, there has been most noticeable progress in drama."

Homework is needed to get the most out of it:

(1) beforehand — to learn or refresh one's memory concerning historical times;

(2) meditation afterward.

It has been said that the growth of the community depends entirely on the freedom of expression, and the Little Theatre Movement is the kernel of that expression. It is through that medium that the voice of democracy speaks, because we are wholly unhindered by a dictatorial officialdom.

At the close of the meeting, a social half-hour was spent and refreshments were served by the hostess committee, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Pearce, and Mrs. Scripture.

DIVORCE THIS TIME

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)— Former actress Cara Williams and actor John Barrymore Jr. are headed for the divorce court, her lawyer announced Tuesday. Mrs. Barrymore Jr. will file a complaint charging extreme cruelty. The couple was wed in 1953 in Las Vegas, Nev., and separated several times before.

'Harmony' Topic At Harmony Studio Club

On Monday evening the January meeting of the Harmony Studio Club was held at the home of Mrs. E. Veley, Hillcrest Street. Mrs. C. Scott, who was chairman, opened the meeting with a cordial welcome to all.

The following pupils played piano selections: Donna Rusk, "Allegro" by Kuhlaw; Lois Ballery, "Studio No. 4" by Burgmuller; Barbara Touche, "Rondo" by M. Clementi; "Waltz" by D. Kabalsky, Roger Ling, "Study No. 2" by Stamaty, Sharon Flindall; "Rondo" by M. Beef Tongue Not Difficult To Prepare

During winter festivities you may be planning a buffet table. For a special meat, the home economists of the consumer section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggest buying a pickled beef tongue and serving it either jellied or with a colorful glaze.

You probably would like to know more about tongue before you start to cook it. Beef tongues are the largest ranging in weight from two to six pounds and a six pound tongue will serve approximately 15 people. The outer surface of the tongue is not very attractive as the skin is rough and coarse. Do not let this deter you from buying it as this outer skin is removed after cooking, leaving an attractive cut of lean meat underneath which is grey in color in the fresh tongue and deep pink in the pickled tongue.

Now comes the preparation of the tongue for cooking. Whether it is fresh or pickled it should be scrubbed thoroughly with a small brush. If you are planning to use a pickled tongue, it is best to soak it for two hours before simmering in boiling water. When cooking it in a pressure cooker, it is wise to soak it overnight because a smaller amount of water is used for pressure cooking and the tongue seems to be more salty when cooked by this method.

SIMMER SLOWLY.

When the tongue is ready for cooking, place it in a pot with a tight fitting lid. The pot should be large enough so that the tongue can be covered with water. Use only two cups of water in the pressure cooker. The tongue should be simmered slowly until the well-done stage, that is until it is tender and the skin can be easily removed.

When the tongue is cooked, take it out of the cooking liquid and remove the skin, excess fat and the glands and roots at the thick end of the tongue. If you are going to use the broth, it is a good idea to strain it right away otherwise it may become too highly seasoned. The cooked tongue may then be glazed in the oven or jellied. Glazed tongue may be served either hot or cold.

PICKLED BEEF TONGUE

1 pickled beef tongue
(5 to 8 lbs.)
Hot water to cover
(10 to 12 cups).
3 bay leaves
1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice
4 cloves garlic, cut in half
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup sliced onion

Wash and scrub tongue well. Soak in cold water for two hours before cooking. Place in a kettle with seasonings. Add hot water to cover. Simmer covered until tender allowing 45 to 50 minutes a pound. Then let tongue from cooking liquid andremove skin, excess fat, glands and roots at the thick end of the tongue. Strain liquid. Makes 12 to 15 servings (each two thin slices).

For fresh tongue: Omit soaking. When cooking, add 1 tablespoon salt, 1 cup diced celery or 1 teaspoon celery seed and ¼ cup sliced carrots. Allow 50 to 60 minutes a pound cooking time.

CRANBERRY TONGUE GLAZE

1/3 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup molasses
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon whole cloves
1 inch stick cinnamon
1½ cups cranberries

Combine brown sugar, molasses, vinegar, water and spices. Bring to boiling point. Add the washed cranberries and cook slowly for about 15 minutes. Put through sieve if a smooth glaze is desired or leave cranberries whole. Place tongue in shallow pan and pour mixture over it. Place in a hot oven, 425 degrees F for fifteen minutes. Baste often.

JELLIED TONGUE

Strain and heat cooking liquid -five or six cups of liquid will be needed to cover the tongue. For each 1½ cups of liquid used, add 1 tablespoon gelatin dissolved in ¼ cup cold water and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Press tongue into mould and pour enough liquid over tongue to cover it. Chill thoroughly. When set, unmould tongue and serve.

To make the jellied tongue look more festive, why not garnish the mould with a holly design made with raw cranberries and green peppers. Cut the green peppers into the shape of holly leaves. Rinse mould first in cold water and pour in ¼ inch of gelatin mixture. Let stand until partially set before putting the design in the bottom of the mould. Design in place of pouring a little of the partially set gelatin mixture over it and allow it to set. Then put in the tongue and pour over remaining gelatin mixture covering all of the meat.

Training, Duties Of Professional Nurse Described

At Thursday's meeting Miss Peart, director of School of Nursing, at Belleville, described the training and duties of the professional nurse.

Throughout Ontario there are 40 approved schools from which girls may graduate as fully qualified registered nurses.

The course of study is uniform throughout Ontario, and includes clinical instruction on the ward with classroom instruction. Each student is trained for service in the various wards of the hospital, including the operating room.

Then upon graduation, they are fully qualified for nursing service in any field. Nurses trained at these schools are eligible for duty anywhere in Canada or the United States.

Foxboro

FOXBORO. —A special Sunday school service was held Sunday morning in the Sunday school room of Foxboro United church, when under the direction of the superintendent, Mr. Clifford Wilson, the Junior girls' class of Mrs. McCurdy, presented a special devotional period. They opened the school with a hymn followed by a short story, Scripture lesson and prayer.

Two little girls, Carol Jamieson, and Joan Harry, sang sweetly "Bless This House", with Carol Stewart at the piano.

The offering was then received and dedicated with a prayer, given by Helen Hendricks. A hymn closed this part of the service.

CRADLE ROLL

Two little boys, Dafoe and Lewis carrying a little cradle went to the platform where Mr. Wilson slipped a small paper in the cradle bearing the names of the eight babies received on the Cradle Roll.

Mr. Wilson directed each to their several classes for the lesson, which is found in Luke 2.

Mr. Gay taught a fine lesson to 35 adults. The lesson was based on the work of the Holy Spirit which Mr. Gay explained most clearly. The Holy Spirit is the great agent through whom God work creatively.

At the evening church service the Rev. R. Darke took as his text "Loneliness", which was quite deep in its meaning. He said "it causes a grim situation to sit and look at one's self. The church is where knowledge of life is obtained. No matter how bad the situation is, there are others far worse off than we are ourselves. We fertilize our gardens, we fertilize our fields, but we fertilize ourselves with the fulness of God's love."

Mr. Gay sang as the choir selection, a beautiful piece entitled "You Ought to Know Him."

The church stewards met on Tuesday night at Mr. and Mrs. Daniels' and the quarterly board met in the Sunday school room for the transaction of business.

Gisele MacKenzie Given Raves In TV Debut

NEW YORK (CP)—Gisele MacKenzie, the former Canadian who has been a hit vocalist in the United States for several years, has drawn a rave review for her debut as a television comedienne.

"Nothing short of sensational," writes Jack Gould in the New York Times television column of her performance last Sunday night on the Jack Benny show.

"To watch a star made in front of your own eyes is always one of the entertainment world's most exciting experiences; such an event occurred last Sunday . . . (when) Gisele MacKenzie stepped out from the comparative anonymity of 'Your Hit Parade' and was nothing short of sensational. . . ."

"To hold one's own in deadpan comedy in the presence of Mr. Benny, the acknowledged pro in the field, is no unconsequential achievement," says Gould, predicting that "it's a cinch that Miss MacKenzie will not want for TV assignments in addition to her job on 'Your Hit Parade.'"

HOUSE APPROVES

West German rearmament and alliance with the West had been discussed by the Commons since 1950. Copies of the Paris agreements had been circulated to Commons members, newspaper editors, libraries and various groups and individuals across country.

RESPONSIBILITY SHARED

It was the responsibility of members of parliament and the press—not the government alone—to inform the public.

And it was nonsense to say Parliament had been handed a fait accompli. The government had followed correct constitutional practice and in fact it would have been physically impossible to put off last fall's signing to let Parliament decide on the question.

The main CCF criticisms of the past itself were that it would hinder negotiations with Russia while increasing the risk of war.

Mr. Pearson said that only when Russia sees the West's determination to defend itself will it decide to negotiate realistically.

West Germans' arms not decried by Russia's bid for talks on Monday, Mr. Pearson said of Germany, before ratification of the Paris agreements. But apparently some CCF members were.

"EMOTION AND FEAR"

Mr. Pearson said it is not unfair to say that unsettled and fear-motivated the views of CCF opponents. But two other members had held the same emotions and fears and yet voted for the agreements on the basis of sober, realistic judgment.

He referred to two Jewish Liberal members — Leon Crestohl, Montreal Cartier, and David Croll, Toronto Spadina. Both spoke of Nazi atrocities to their people but said they would vote for ratification although with "a heavy heart."

In the vote, CCF Leader Coldwell was joined by four party members in supporting ratification: Angus MacInnis, Vancouver Kingsway; Chris Cline, Cape Breton South; Ross Thatcher, Moose Jaw-Lake Centre; and Max Campbell, The Battlefords.

THOSE AGAINST

Voting against ratification were: Joseph W. Noseworthy, York South; Stanley Knowles, Winnipeg North Centre; R. R. Knight, Saskatoon; E. W. Partridge, Kootenay West; Owen L. Jones, Okanagan-Boundary; A. M. Nicholson, Mackenzie; G.H. Castleden, Yorkton; E. G. McCullough, Moose Mountain; Thomas Barnett, Comox-Alberni; Harold Winch, Vancouver East; Claude Ellis, Regina and Colin Cameron, Nanaimo.

CCF members abstaining were: Hazen Argue, Assiniboia; Alistair Stewart, Winnipeg North; Mervyn Johnson, Kindersley; A. K. Hazen, Humboldt-Melfort; and Robert Regier, Burnaby-Coquitlam. The two absent members of the group were Fred Zaplitny, Dauphin, and William Bryce, Selkirk.

BRONCHIAL COUGH

Are you bent double by a nerve-racking bronchial cough? Is phlegm so tightly packed in your bronchial tubes, no amount of coughing seems able to dislodge it? Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Takes Another Step to Move Gas from Alberta to East

TORONTO (CP)—Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., has taken another big step in its move to bring natural gas from Alberta to eastern Canada.

The company, which proposes to build a pipeline from the West to eastern consumers, has signed a contract with Union Gas company of Canada, Ltd. for deliveries of gas to the union's system in southwestern Ontario.

The agreement will last until 1975, during which time union will purchase more than 300,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Deliveries would start soon after the proposed Trans-Canada line reaches Toronto.

Announcement of the contract, estimated to involve purchases in excess of $1,000,000,000, was made jointly Wednesday by N. E. Tanner, president of Trans-Canada, and David P. Rogers, president of Union.

The price Union will pay for the gas was not announced.

FIRST AGREEMENT

The agreement was the first Canadian agreement to be signed for Trans-Canada line, which is negotiating with other distributing companies along the 2,250-mile Alberta-Montreal line. Another agreement the company has permission to build a pipeline to Ottawa is announced on completion of financing.

The announcement said Alberta natural gas was scheduled to reach Toronto in November, 1958.

Union now imports some gas from the American panhandle line at Detroit to augment local supplies in the approval of the United States federal power commission to increase imports for market development until it can obtain Alberta gas.

NY FALLS

The announcement Wednesday said it is hoped that the U.S. permit will be issued soon enough to allow expansion construction to start during the fall so natural gas can reach Hamilton by fall.

Union has more than 1,700 miles of pipe lines serving more than 70 municipalities in the counties of Essex, Kent, Lambton and Middlesex in southwestern Ontario. It serves 85,000 customers.

The companies said that additional gas from the U.S. would permit extension of natural gas services to the Hamilton area, including Dundas, Burlington, and Oakville, and to Stratford, Kitchener, Waterloo, Guelph and other municipalities.

NEW PIPE LINE

It is proposed to build a new $14,000,000 large-diameter pipe line from the Dawn township underground storage field near Sarnia to a point just north of Hamilton. When Alberta gas arrives, a connecting line would be built from Hamilton to Sheridan, the area terminus of the Trans-Canada line.

The announcement said that because of Union's underground storage facilities it will be able to accept larger volumes in summer than in winter, thus helping to level off Trans-Canada's load factor. The excess volumes would be kept to meet Union's higher winter demands.

Mr. Tanner said policy decisions arrived at in negotiation of the Union contract would be helpful in Trans - Canada's negotiations with other distributors.

Mr. Rogers said Union is embarking upon an extensive expansion program involving heavy capital expenditures.

"Within five years after receipt of sufficient gas to serve our area, we will be delivering approximately three times the volume of gas being handled in our present system."

CFA Requests Several Changes In Income Tax

EDMONTON (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture wants several changes made in the Income Tax Act.

A resolution approved Wednesday said land clearing, breaking up to 30 acres of land a year and drainage should be allowed as deductible expenses against taxable income. Medical, optical, dental, hospital and funeral bills also should be deductible.

The federation wants the government to extend accelerated depreciations to all farmers on the cost of farm storage facilities built in 1954 and subsequent years.

DEBATE FORMULA

The federation board and debated a statistical formula for farm price supports.

The seemingly complex formula, drafted by the CFA's policy committee, is yet to be considered by the federation's board of directors.

The committee, asking that it be incorporated in legislation, suggested 1925-29 prices as a general level. The relative basic prices for each farm product would be based on the average price during the last 10 years.

In calculating the general formula, the index of farm prices in the base period would be adjusted with the index of farm costs. The support price then would be set not lower than 65 per cent nor higher than 80 per cent, the last at levels high enough to prompt over-production.

J. D. Brodrick of St. Catharines, past president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, contended farmers must know how the federal government now sets its support prices.

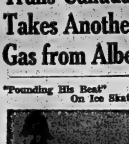
Farmers were not happy with "the government's 80 per cent of parity price supports out of the bat."

Some Poisoned Still in Danger Of Going Blind

HALIFAX (CP)—The top doctor in the navy's Atlantic medical command said Wednesday that the 47 sailors poisoned at an improperly chlorinated drinking party are still in danger of going blind.

Surgeon Captain F. C. W. Mackenzie said "there is very definitely a chance some might go blind" as a result of their Friday night consumption of duplicating machine fluid from an aircraft carrier Magnificent.

Some of the sailors are expected to be released from hospital here early next week. But Capt. Mackenzie said the 47 will be examined repeatedly for "quite some time."



All 47 men have been taken off the critically-ill list.

Meanwhile a investigation into the drinking bout is continuing. The findings of a three-man board are expected to be released after all the sailors have been questioned.

The drinks taken by the men are believed to have been made from duplicating machine fluid, containing methyl alcohol, mixed with ginger ale, water and apple cider.

STOKERS FOUND GUILTY

PLYMOUTH, Eng. (Reuters)—Two stokers in the 13,000-ton aircraft carrier Warrior have been sentenced to 90 days' detention each for damaging equipment, it was disclosed Wednesday at Plymouth naval base. The men were detained last week after 15 engine room gauges and two telephones were found smashed.

"Pounding His Beat" On Ice Skates

While the Fen skating championships are under way at Cambridgeshire, Eng., anybody seen not on skates is regarded as something that might have dropped in from another planet. Even the cops on duty "pound their beat" on skates. Here's P.C. F. G. Russell cruising across the Fen, which is covered by a light blanket of snow.

Fire Departments Demonstrate Adaptive Threads

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP)—Civil defence officials of New York state and Ontario Wednesday witnessed the first international demonstrations of fire hydrant adaptive equipment.

Firemen and equipment from Prescott, Brockville, Kingston and Cornwall, Ont., came to Ogdensburg and hooked their hoses to city hydrants.

In order to do so, they had to use a small brass device, as the five hose threads of Ontario and New York state communities are different.

Ogdensburg firemen then crossed the St. Lawrence river and gave a similar demonstration in Prescott.

Fire departments on each side of the border will help the other side, if needed, in major war or peacetime fires.

Among those who witnessed the demonstrations were Gen. C. H. Bonesteel, New York state civil defence director, and R. J. Cadney, deputy provincial secretary of Ontario.

New Elementary Certificate For Teachers Given

TORONTO (CP)—Education Minister W. J. Dunlop of Ontario Wednesday announced a new elementary school teacher's certificate to distinguish it from that of training a teacher has received.

The change was instituted as meeting teachers said away in their request for a new certificate for emergency-trained teachers.

The new certificate, to be issued to graduates of teachers' colleges who enter courses after July 1, 1955 will be called the interim elementary school teacher's certificate.

It will be given instead of the present first-class certificate and will become permanent after two years' successful teaching.

Main difference between the old and new certificate is that on the rear of the new one will appear a description of the type of preparation a teacher took to earn it.

Will Probe Further

NORTH BAY (CP)—A coroner's jury, inquiring into the death of 19-year-old Bradley Letcher Jan. 12 ruled Wednesday that the circumstances of the death be investigated further.

The boy, son of FO. Gordon Letcher of Vancouver stationed at RCAF station here, was killed when struck by a car driven by Norma A. Jowett, 21, as he was crossing the station.

Evidence was given that a blood test from Jowett 1½ hours after the accident showed alcohol concentration to be .1 per cent.

ON ONE OF WORLD'S HOT SPOTS, BUT WHO CARES?

Determine Identity of Man Whose Torso Hung on Tree

STE. ANNE DES MONTS, Que. (CP)—Bits of clothing, a cheque stub, and an unemployment insurance card have helped police in identifying the hacked and decomposed body of a man whose torso was found hanging from a tree near Ste. Anne des Monts, a Gaspe peninsula town 300 miles east of Quebec.

Police, shovelling up a heavy blanket of snow around the tree, Wednesday found parts of legs, arms and a spine. The cheque stub, clothing including a pair of pants, and the card were found in a suitcase buried under the snow within 15 feet of the swinging torso.

District Coroner Dr. Delphis Bilville said he believed the body was dismembered before the skull and torso were hanged on the tree with a leather belt.

The limb to which the belt was tied was only an inch in diameter and couldn't have supported the road.

body of an adult, he said. The belt had broken and been knotted.

"The body must have been hanged from the tree with the legs missing," he said.

Dr. Miville said the victim had been dead since July.

Police said they believed the man was a native of Gaspe and they are searching for relatives. The cheque stub showed the man had worked at Sept Iles, Que., 350 miles northeast of Quebec, and they said they are checking the company whose name is on the stub. They did not give the name of the company.

The unemployment insurance card gave the man's name and address, police said, but the name will not be released until relatives have been notified.

Two woodsmen reported discovery of the torso to police Monday. They said they saw the swinging body only a few feet off a logging road.

12 Million Reds Behind Curtain May Bring End to Communism

MONTREAL (CP)—Leon Volkov, 27 lieutenant-colonel in the Russian Air Force during the Second World War, said Wednesday that some 12,000,000 Russians with Western leanings behind the Iron Curtain may bring an end to communism within the next seven years.

Mr. Volkov, now a contributing editor on Soviet Affairs for Newsweek magazine, said millions of members of the Russian armed forces saw how democracy operated during the war.

"These young men had a taste of freedom in their contacts with the Allied forces and free people of Europe and they haven't forgotten it," he said. "Some of them also will eventually take over top posts in the government and their influence will be felt in an eventual change in internal and foreign policy.

He said Communist leaders are now passing a period of "great difficulty" at present "and the split among the top brains is becoming wider and wider."

Although Russia is building up manpower for war "Malenkov can't afford to wage one," he said.

"For one thing he doesn't control the army and he's not sure of the support he would need. Right now he wants peace, and quiet and is anxious to keep the world allusion."

Search for Boy Moves Into Sixth Day

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP) —With fading hopes the RCMP this morning prepared to send nearly 1,000 volunteers out to the frost-crisp woods for the sixth day to look for missing Donald Newell.

Doctors said Wednesday there was little chance the boy could have survived more than one or two freezing nights.

However his father refused to give up hope and repeatedly said he was "positive" Howard was still alive.

Howard went into the woods Saturday with a group led by his uncle, but was not with them when they emerged at noon. They said he had planned to take a short cut to his home at Little River, ten miles from here. He hasn't been seen since.

More than 1,000 searchers poked through the woods Wednesday, crossing and re-crossing an area of three square miles within the triangle formed by Yarmouth, Little River and the big-game fishing village of Wedgeport.

A helicopter from Shearwater naval air station near Halifax and aircraft fro mthe Gateway Flying Club searched the area.

Cpl. D. A. Black of the RCMP, in charge of the search, said it was not likely a boy's footprints found this week had been made by Howard.

The Little river that cuts through the search area has been dragged since Sunday.

Men from all walks of life in this southwestern tip of Nova Scotia have turned out to search. Lumbermen, professional men, laborers, farmers, fishermen and businessmen rub shoulders.

Sixty-one naval recruits from Cornwallis and students from Acadia Bible College are in search parties with laborers who gave up a day's pay.

Three Members of Highway Committee Will Continue To Boycott Other Meetings

TORONTO (CP)—Three opposition members of the Ontario Legislature's committee investigating highways irregularities have said they will not be present for Friday's hearing.

Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver, speaking on behalf of three members of the committee who walked angrily from a Tuesday meeting, said Wednesday they will continue to boycott meetings.

The walkout brought forth further charges of "whitewashing" from Mr. Oliver, and counter-charges from Mr. Roberts.

"It seems to me the members of the opposition have made some attempt to whitewash their own inefficiencies," said Mr. Roberts.

OLIVER EXPLAINS

Mr. Oliver, in a statement released to the press, explained why he, Albert Wren (Lib.-Lambton West) and W. J. Stinson (CCF—Cochrane South) walked out of the meeting. He said months of patient watchfulness by himself, Mr. Wren and Mr. Grummett, had been ended by attempts to call witnesses they were restrained from calling earlier because of pending court actions.

"Despite the word of Premier Frost that the work of this committee would permit a complete examination of facts, the chairman of the committee with the unanimous consent of the Progressive Conservative members, ended our usefulness," said Mr. Oliver.

A REAL ROBOT

A. Kelso Roberts, committee chairman, said public hearings may be resumed today, allowing the committee to go into closed sessions to start its report for presentation to the legislature.

The remaining eight members of the committee, from the Progressive Conservative party, made an afternoon tour of highways department establishments in Toronto and vicinity.

HAD BEEN ASKED

Mr. Roberts said five of 11 witnesses Mr. Oliver wanted subpoenaed to appear before the committee had been asked if they wished to give evidence and refused. A sixth, Duncan Gordon, of the management consultant firm of J. D. Woods and Gordon, told the committee he had nothing to add to the report his firm submitted on highways department operation.

Mr. Roberts said the five who refused were P. J. Macdonald, an instrument man at Fort William; Donald Patterson, former Huntsville division engineer; A. M. Mullen, former Fort William division engineer; H. L. Bredin, a planning engineer with the former Huntsville division, employed by Yarmouth, Clare; former assistant engineer at Fort William, and F. L. Grummett, Ontario Hydro consulting engineer.

FEE PERSECUTION

The committee refused to order the 11 witnesses to appear. They said it would be "persecution" because some were involved in court cases resulting from irregularities.

Mr. Roberts said the three members, Mr. Oliver, Albert Wren (Lib.-Kenora) and W. J. Grummett (Conservative-Cochrane South) are liable to penalty for being absent without leave from committee meetings. He would seriously consider whether to call sign up contracts authorizing payment to them for attendance at committee meetings they didn't attend.

Members of select committees are paid $30 a day while attending a meeting and while absent from home on committee work. The chairman is paid $35.

Finds Detonator, Loses Eye, Fingers

Nine-year-old Gordon Price of Toronto is in hospital with his right eye lost and three fingers of his right hand gone. The boy found a detonator cap in a lane, wired it to his electric train and, when he turned the switch, had it blow up in his face. (Central Press Canadian).

Claims Accused Wore Scarf Of Murder Victim

CHAPLEAU (CP)—Rose Klapouschak, 23,of Timmins,said Wednesday that a white silk scarf around the neck of Robert Bruce Duchesne was the same as one she rent in Hamilton belonged to her brother.

She gave evidence in the preliminary hearing of Ducharme, charged with the murder of 21-year-old Steve Klapouschak last Dec. 4.

Klapouschak's frozen body was found beneath a lumber pile near the school at Dalton where he taught.

Miss Klapouschak said the twin to the scarf Ducharme wore still was in the family home at Timmins. Ducharme's scarf was admitted as evidence.

TELLS OF FRIENDSHIP

Testifying with the search for Klapouschak, started when he was reported missing in the small lumbering community 40 miles west of here the first weekend in December.

His body was found a week later beside the school where he also lived.

Ronald Rogers, a ballistics expert from the RCMP laboratories at Ottawa, established bullets fired from the accused's gun had come from Klapouschak's own gun. No evidence was given as to where the shooting took place.

J. T. Manton, secretary-treasurer of the Timiskaming board, told of Ducharme's friendship with the school teacher and how Ducharme had started looking for Klapouschak occasionally before his death.

PAYMENT STOPPED

Mr. Manton said he paid Klapouschak his month's salary Dec. 3 in two cheques of $147 and $20. Payment on the cheques was stopped after the teacher's disappearance.

A medical report by a Sudbury pathologist, Dr. M. J. Lynch, will be given when the hearing resumes in Schreiber but he refused to give the first details of the killing.

Youth Convicted On Murder Count, To Hang Apr. 12

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert Alexander Hoodley, 20, was convicted of murder Wednesday in the gun-slaying of John Tonick, his girl friend's stepfather and was sentenced to be hanged April 12. The sentence will be appealed, counsel said.

The shooting occurred Nov. 13, the same day Hoodley was released from Oakalla prison farm, during the trial, Patricia Wallace, 18-year-old stepdaughter of Tonick, a principal Crown witness, testified that Tonick had forced improper relations upon her from the time she was a small child until four years ago.

A police officer testified Hoodley told him:

"I'd do it again and put salt on the bullets and make the dirty rat suffer."

Miss Wallace testified she and Hoodley were to have been married when both could find jobs.

Driver Convicted

TORONTO (CP)—Hugh Melford McQuarrie, 35, was convicted Wednesday of manslaughter in connection with the traffic death of Grace Sabourin, 23, a passenger in his car. Sentence will be passed today.

McQuarrie, who admitted he had been drinking, collided with an oil truck last Oct. 15. Miss Sabourin died in hospital Oct. 24 from head injuries.

General Douglas MacArthur Calls for Abolition of War

LOS ANGELES (CP) — Gen. War now contained "the germs Douglas MacArthur, a soldier for more than half a century, has challenged the world to abolish war.

And in a speech Wednesday night on his 75th birthday the former United States commander in the Far East called on Americans to bolster their patriotism.

"Seductive murmurs," he said, "are arising that patriotism is outmoded.

"Listen not to these voices, be they from the one political party or from the other, from the high and mighty or the lowly and forgotten. Visit them with scorn. Repudiate them in the marketplace, on the platform or in the pulpit."

Without making a direct reference to the current Far East crisis involving Red China and Formosa, he told the American Legion that Americans now "should proclaim our readiness to abolish war in concert with the great powers of the world. The result would be magical.

"War has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides. No longer is it the weapon of adventure and of glory. It contains in itself the seeds of its own destruction. We no longer can be saved if you win, you stand only to lose."

of double suicide" and "the great question is, does this mean that war can now be outlawed from the world? If so, it would mark the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mountain."

Los Angeles paid tribute to the general on his birthday by dedicating at a statue of him in a public park here. He was also tendered a luncheon by the Los Angeles Episcopal diocese, where he said: "Although I am of Caesar I refer to render unto God that which was His."

MacArthur returns to New York today to resume his business life as board chairman of the Remington Rand Corp.

Firemen and other rescue workers remove victims from the wreckage of the British express train that jumped the rails while travelling at 60 miles an hour near Sutton Coldfield. Fourteen persons were killed and 50 were injured when the train piled up only 200 yards from the tangled wreckage of the express. The accident is Britain's worst since 1953, when 112 died. It Has Always Been Our Firm Conviction —

THAT the surest way to success was to sell renowned products, and at a fair price.

In spite of all the modern high pressure merchandising methods and misleading advertising that seems to produce a tremendous volume, we still believe in the old-fashioned method of selling famous name brands of merchandise and giving the kind of service that our customers expect from products manufactured by some of the largest companies in the world.

These famous trade-marks are the name brands of companies we have chosen to represent in the plumbing and heating business, some of which we have represented for nearly 50 years.

We enthusiastically boast of our engineering service, without which these leading products could not deliver the comfort, convenience and satisfaction the manufacturers designed them to give — the most important of which is economy of operation.

Do not hesitate to ask for information or advice on any of your heating problems. You can be assured you are not under the slightest obligation . . .

Harry C. Nixon Liberal Member For 36 Years

PARIS, Ont. (CP)—The career of Harry C. Nixon, 1 main who for years as Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for Brant, was described by Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, Wednesday night "as a beacon of light in a world that needs beacon lights very badly."

At a testimonial dinner honoring the 63-year-old farmer and attended by over 400 Liberals, Mr. Oliver said Mr. Nixon "has never been in public life for what he could get out of it but for what he could put into it."

Through all the years of his long public service his faith in humanity has never wavered, his determination to look after the people's interest has never slackened. Nothing but good has flowed from his public service.

It was the second testimonial dinner for Mr. Nixon. In Toronto last year fellow members of the legislature, headed by Premier Frost and his cabinet, paid tribute to him.

Other speakers Wednesday night included Hon. W. H. Price, Speaker of the legislature, Agriculture Minister Thomas, and Wilfred Gregory, mayor of Stratford and president of the Ontario Liberal Association.

George Formby Is Coming Out Of Retirement

TORONTO (CP) — George Formby, the comic ukulele-player who quit the theatre at the peak of his career, is coming out of retirement to help handicapped boys.

The British music hall comic will appear in Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, Ottawa, Kitchener and London, Ont. It was announced Wednesday night. He will head a stage show at Maple Leaf Gardens May 9 which is expected to raise $30,000. All profits from the shows, sponsored by the Variety Club of Toronto, will go to Variety Village, the residential and vocational training school for handicapped boys.

BURNED FOR 2ND TIME

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Fire Wednesday destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Black for the second time in four years. Contents of the $14,000 farmhouse that friends helped finance to replace the Black's first home were also destroyed.

HAS HIS WORRIES

Looking very much like a man in the throes of a headache, President Eisenhower is shown during a conference to discuss his special message on Formosa. The president asked the Congress to authorize use of U.S. military power to defend Formosa against what he described as a serious threat of invasion by Red China. Congress gave him almost unanimous support. (Central Press Canadian).

Bank of England Interest Rate Is Increased

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England raised its interest rate today from three to 3½ per cent.

This means that persons or industries who want to borrow money will have to pay more interest. The Bank of England is the central clearing house for all banking transactions in Great Britain, and its lead is usually followed by all other British financial institutions.

The action is see nas an effort to check what has been termed a "gentle inflation" in Britain.

A Bank of England spokesman said the bank was giving a "warning toot" at speculators and putting the brake gently on "signs of inflation."

The bank emphasized, however, that it did not consider the tendencies towards inflation in Britain alarming.

Financial circles said one reason for the step was the steady advance of stock market prices, and explained that tighter money would tend to reduce speculation.

Ruling Could Affect Fairs Across Canada

VICTORIA (CP) — The Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver stands to lose $200,000 this summer in a ruling which could reflect against agricultural fairs throughout Canada.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Wednesday he informed the Vancouver prosecutor's office the correct interpretation of the Federal Lotteries Act forbids sale of lottery tickets on the street.

In previous years, the PNE has made $200,000 a year by selling advance tickets up to a month ahead of the fair opening each fall.

The act allows fairs to conduct lotteries but, Mr. Bonner said Wednesday, it permits sale of the tickets only on the fair grounds during the fair.

Salk Vaccine Will Be Given Ontario Pupils

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Phillips of Ontario said today plans are being made for province-wide distribution of Salk poliomyelitis vaccine to pupils of the first two grades in elementary schools—about 250,000 altogether.

Dr. Phillips said he hopes a limited amount of the vaccine will be available by April. Pupils would receive the regulation three "shots" before the start of the polio season about the end of May.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heath, Don and Carol, were supper guests of their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. James Mumby and boys, one night recently.

The community was shocked to hear of the death of Harold Henderson, former cheesemaker, at Rylstone, in the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital. Several from here attended his funeral at Belleville on Friday. All extend sympathy to the sorrowing relatives.

Friends and relatives from here attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Alfred Brunton, of Healey Falls, on Thursday. The funeral was held at Zion United Church at Fethericks Corners.

Mrs. Stella Gibson spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Heath, and family.

Jack Morton leaves this week for a plane trip to Cleveland, and home via London and Toronto.

The Women's Association of Rylstone United Church catered to the sale dinner at Williams' Community sale at Hoard's, on Monday.

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. John C. Morton met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morton on Tuesday evening of last week for their annual get-together. Those present were: Mrs. Earle Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reid, Springbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKeown, of Springbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, of Campbellford, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morton and family. Those unable to attend were: Mrs. Ella Halfhide, of Tweed, and Mr. and Mrs. George Morton, of Milverton.

Several from here attended brush parties at the homes of Mrs. Fred McKeown and Mrs. Morton Reid, in Springbrook, recently.

FESTIVAL FEB. 14

TORONTO (CP)—The annual Kiwanis Music Festival starts here Feb. 6 and about 20,000 musicians are expected to participate. Nearly 2,000 bands, orchestras, choirs, trios, duets and soloists will compete for more than $5,000 in scholarship awards. Adjudicators this year include George Sinale of Brantford.

ANNUL 121 MARRIAGES

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The sacred Roman Rota, the Roman Catholic Church's appeal court in matrimonial cases, last year agreed to annul 121 marriages, but rejected 154 other pleas for annulment. These figures were issued by the Vatican press office today. Identities of those who applied were not disclosed.

Habs Extend Lead To Three Over Detroit; Play One-All Tie With Leafs

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

JUVENILES FRIDAY

There will be an additional treat at Memorial Arena tomorrow night before the Memos and Goodyears clash in what should be a rousing senior "B" battle. The Belleville juveniles will hook up with the Toronto Scorbovos in what should be a tidy minor hockey tilt. The Toronto team is said to be a big, rangy squad, while the Bellerivite youngsters are not far behind them. The game gets under way at seven-thirty as the senior "B" tilt does not start until nine o'clock.

• • •

EARLY OPENING

Speckled trout and pickerel fishermen will be able to go into action a day earlier than usual this year. Because the usual opening dates for the open season fall on Sunday, this year, the season will open on the day before. So, fishing for speckleds will get under way in Ontario on Saturday, April 30 instead of May 1. Similarly, fishing for pickerel will begin a day ahead of regular opening dates in various parts of the province.

The announcement was made by the Hon. Clare E. Mapledoram, Minister of Lands and Forests, to clarify any misunderstanding that might have arisen among anxious fishing devotees. The minister explained that provision for advancing the opening dates is contained in regulations which came into effect in 1951.

Opening date for pickerel fishing in the Bay of Quinte area is May 14.

• • •

LOOKING UP!

Things are looking a little brighter from an attendance standpoint in the senior "B" circuit with some of the clubs reporting a marked increase in fandom. The Whitby Wrens played before 3000 in Clinton last Sunday and before 2800 in Kingston the night previous. Brockville Magedomas had 1828 at their last home stand netting some $1600 for the club purse.

The Goodyears-Memos clash here tomorrow night should bring out a goodly crowd since these arch-rivals of the locales can always be depended upon to come up with something out of the ordinary. Then the Memos trek to Clinton Saturday where they have always proved a big draw, big card.

The Whitby Wrens, humming merrily along, registered their eleventh victory in 12 starts last night, defeating the lowly Petes 10-7 in a wide-open game. But it took overtime to do it with the Wrens getting three goals in the extra session.

The Kingston Goodyears took over second place from the Memos with a 5-3 victory over Brockville, who still remain tied with Clinton in fifth place. The idle Cornwall Colts are in fourth place with 32 points. The Wrens now have a clear four-point lead over the pack.

OLDTIMERS!

There may be squealings and rumblings as aging joints protest but there will be plenty of hockey thrills when the National Hockey League Oldtimers clash in friendly battle in Kingston Saturday night.

Names that scintillated in the old days and made hockey headlines and history will be on hand to give a more than reasonable facsimile of the prowess that made them the stars of their day.

There will be the Conachers and the Jacksons, the Brodas and the Forbes, names like Nels Stewart, Butch Keeling, Flash Hollett, Billy Taylor, Joe Primeau, Dit Clapper, Gus Marker, Alex Levinsky, Roy Worters and all the galaxy of greats that illuminated sports pages with deeds of hockey derring-do.

President of the association, Lorne Duguid, will coach the Red team Bill Thoms, former Maple Leaf star, will mentor the Whites! And look who's heading the defence and sweater brigade, none other than the daddy of the arbiting corps, one Michael J. Rodden, who will be assisted by Art Casterton, manager of the current Kingston Goodyears.

The game rest under way at 8.30 and it is expected a bumper crowd will be on hand to not only see a great game but swell the coffers of the Crippled Children's Fund. The entire proceeds will go to this worthy cause, since the Oldtimers do not get a cent of the take. They even pay their own travelling expenses. Belleville's Toots Holway is on the roster of the Whites.

Here are the line-ups: THE REDS—Coach, Lorne Duguid. 1, Turk Broda; 2, Flash Hollett; 4, Dit Clapper; 3, Billy Taylor; 7, Bill Summerhill; 7, John Conlon; 8, Yank Boyd; 9, Charlie Conacher; 10, Joe Primeau; 11, Busher Jackson; 12, Wally Stanowski; 14, Doug Smylie; 15, Ross Knipel; 16, Ellis Pringle; 17, Billy Marshall; 18, Harry Palmer; 19, Howard Cox. THE WHITES: Coach, Bill Thoms. 1, Jake Forbes; 2, Alex Levinski; 3, Rhys Thompson; 4, Nels Stewart; 5, Butch Keeling; 6, Gus Marker; 7, Red Heron; 8, Roy Conacher; 9, Bert Conacher; 10, Nick Goldup; 11, Scotty Muir; 12, Jim Fowler; 15, Ross Johnston; 16, George Patterson; 17, Wally Hume; 18, Roy Worters; 19, Irwin Stephs; 20, Toots Holway.

Sid Smith Gives Leafs Lead Before Crowd 14,270 Fans; Beliveau Fires Tying Marker

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sidney Smith, a gentlemanly hockey player, is rumored into a rash of penalties. He's had two in three games.

That's a lot for Smitty, who has never busted an opponent's bezoar nor creased a skull if nice Mr. Hockey League sessions with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Smith, Toronto's brightest star this year, picked up his fifth minor penalty of the 1954-55 campaign Wednesday night as Leafs and Montreal Canadiens battled it out. He happened it be the seventh man in the ice and found that referee Bill Chadwick had no trouble counting Leaf uniforms before 14,270 howling fans.

SCORED LEAF GOAL

The 29-year-old leftwinger, bidding for a spot on the league's all-star team, had given Leafs a 1-0 lead at 10:42 of the first period and was ready for another turn on the ice when Chadwick caught him jumping over the boards. Leafs already had six men in action so had to forego Smith.

Smith was sitting out the penalty when Jean Beliveau whipped the puck past netminder Harry Lumley at 13:56 to deadlock the engagement. It was Beliveau's 28th goal of the season.

It was a close game of the night and extended Montreal's league lead to three points over the second place Detroit Red Wings, idle last night. Leafs are in third spot with six wins and 15 deadlocks for 55 points, nine back of Canadiens.

CINCH FOR 38 GOALS

Smitty's goal was his 22th of the season and, with 23 games left, he is virtually a cinch to hit the 30-goal mark—which he last did in the 1951-52 season.

Then Smith sent Leafs ahead on a play with Hugh Bolton and Rudy Migay, two Canadiens and one Leaf were in penalty box. Shortly thereafter, towering Montreal centre and the league's leading scorer with 54 points, was tied it with Maurice Richard and Doug Harvey drawing assists.

Jacques Plante and Harry Lumley were unbeatable from there on. Plante kicked out 32 shots; Lumley 19.

Chadwick handed out 10 of the game's 15 penalties in the first period, when he gave eight majors to Montreal's Don Marshall and Toronto's Tod Sloan. Leafs took eight of the 15.

Two games are scheduled tonight. The fifth-place New York Rangers are at Detroit and the last - place Chicago Black Hawks take on the fourth - spot Bruins at Boston.

Giardello Gets Disputed Nod Over Andrews

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Joey Giardello, his place for an early crack at the middleweight title confounded by a less-than-spectacular showing in his first outing in four months, looked forward today to a rematch with Al Andrews.

Giardello's ready to fight him again. Joey said in his dressing room after winning a unanimous, but disputed, 10-round decision over Andrews Wednesday night in a rough bout at Norfolk's Municipal Auditorium.

"Once more against Andrews and then I'm ready for Bobo Olson," Giardello said, his right hand encased in a big bag of ice and his left eye sporting one of the prettiest shiners you've ever seen.

RACKER FOR REMATCH

Andrews didn't see it that way, although he was just as eager for another fight with Giardello. The two boxers tentatively agreed to a rematch in Baltimore Feb. 8.

"There's no doubt in my mind," Andrews contended bitterly. "It was the easiest fight I've had in a year. It was downright slow. I was off balance."

A knockdown won Giardello the nationally-televised fight. It was the only time either man was floored and came in the ninth with a wicked left hook and a sharp chopping right.

Up to that point, one judge had Andrews ahead, the other had the fight even. Referee Charley Mills had it for Giardello all the way. Giardello weighed 162, Andrews 159.

Plan to Extend Maple Leaf Stadium Provides Seating Room for 38,790

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto board of control approved Wednesday a recommendation that the city underwrite a $1,370,000 debenture issue necessary to enlarge Maple Leaf Stadium, home of Toronto's International Baseball League Maple Leafs.

The enlargement would give the stadium a seating capacity of 38,790 for baseball and, through temporary bleachers, a 42,000 capacity for football and world exhibition contests chances of obtaining a major league baseball franchise and for football and world exhibition game.

The Toronto Harbor Board, owners of the stadium property, will have to apply to the federal government for legislation to permit the board to issue the debentures for the work. City council must first approve the controllers' decision.

MAY BE BASIS

A tentative design to enlarge the baseball stadium has already been prepared and may be used as a basis for the final plan.

Committee chairman Vincent Reid said the park, which also could be used for soccer, would have the "biggest seating capacity in Canada."

Eight of the 16 major league teams play in parks with a smaller seating capacity than Toronto's proposed stadium.

Jack Kent Cooke, president of the Leafs, said construction of the park could begin six weeks after council issues the debentures. He added it could be completed in "plenty of time for the 1956 baseball season."

"We have no guarantee we will acquire a big league franchise but chances are excellent that we will," he said.

REMEMBER WHEN

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rocky Graziano, former world middleweight champion, caused an uproar in the boxing world eight years ago tonight by announcing he had been offered $100,000 to throw a fight against Ruben Shank which actually was called off a few weeks earlier when Rocky reported an injury in training. Rocky was suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission and not reinstated until May 6, 1949.

IGA Heads Huge Golf Tournament

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Golf Association Wednesday scheduled a $100,000 tournament for Washington next June and matching the greatest golfers in the world.

The tourney, expected to draw spectators from 30 states, will be from June 9-12 at the Columbian Country Club in suburban Chevy Chase, Md.

It was announced jointly by John Jay Hopkins, president and founder of the IGA, and William Shannon, president of Columbia Country Club.

THIRD YEAR

Actually, this will be the third year for the tournament. It has been held for the last two years in Montreal with two entrants from each country. The low combined scores of the two determined the winner of the Canada Cup.

Fred Corcoran, the IGA's promotional director, said the Canada Cup will continue to be awarded the winning country but there also will be an individual 72-hole medalplay tournament with cash awards. The exact amount of cash had not yet been determined.

Corcoran said the IGA hopes to move the tournament from country to country.

Bell Seeks 'Peace With Honor' Argonauts Still Pugnacious

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League opened its annual commissioner Bert Bell a dye hand in negotiating "peace with honor" with Canadian football.

With the unanimous approval of NFL directors, Bell said he would try to work out "a just and honorable peace. We did not start this thing and we are not afraid of it. We don't plan to turn the other cheek."

Actually, the NFL's war is against one club—the Toronto Argonauts — rather than the entire Canadian league structure. The Argos are determined to hire and talk business with any NFL player they choose, with or without the consent of their own Big Four League or Canadian football as a whole.

The other members of the Big Four—Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa — have indicated they will go along to a peaceful settlement of mutual problems with the NFL, ready to undo whatever wrong a official no-raiding agreement.

The Argos, however, have bought the issue on fact, they picked the eve of the NFL session to announce the signing of Billy Vessels, 275-pound tackle of the New York Giants, from the second half of Yonker signed by Toronto in as many days.

Ray Malavasi, general manager of the Giants, termed it "an old announcement. The Argonauts sent out the release for no other reason than to breathe defiance on the recent no-raiding agreement.

"There will be no peace," added Walsh, "so long as the Argos operate under their present setup. They will continue to raid and so will we. So far as we are concerned the war is still on."

Bell mentioned the two Giants as well as a Detroit player snared by Toronto and said "something will have to be done about that." He indicated Toronto would have to return the three players and others pitched up from NFL teams if peace is to come.

"If we are to reach a no-raiding agreement with the Canadians there must be restitution for past offenses," said Bell. "I will have full say on what this restitution should be. And unless the Canadians meet these terms there will be no end to the war."

Bell said he would give fair warning to NFL clubs at the start of the player draft—the big item on today's meeting program. Any player selected, he said, who affiliates with a Canadian club will have to go to that club.

"But if the war is still on," he added, "then it will be up to the club that picks the player to battle it out with the Canadians."

The Canadian-U.S. player feud is not on the official agenda for the three-day NFL session, but several Canadian officials are on the scene and there certainly will be discussions.

Trent Valley Hockey League

The Point Anne Cementmen kept their hopes for an undefeated season intact last night at the Memorial Arena by handing the slipping Belleville Juniors a 7-3 beating before a handful of fans.

The winners held a 3-0 lead at the end of one period, both teams added one in the middle session, while the Juniors displayed plenty of power to sink four markers in the Juniors' ons in the third period.

The Juniors found themselves two men short on the ice during nine minutes of the game when Murray Sewart and Orv slashing at Stan Watkins and Atkins followed for tripping at 1.33. Point Anne pressed hard but missed several close in opportunities while Bakker cleared well on defense and Ashley kicked out a couple of hot ones from the Goyer line.

Cam Durand broke the double goose-egg and gave Belleville a short-lived lead at 8.36, taking Atkins' pass and beating Letman from close in front. Ray Hunter was serving a boarding penalty at the time. Gerry Goyer knotted the count four minutes later, blasting Williams' pass at Ashley with partly caught on but allowed the rubber to fall into the twine. Pat Gilmour made it 3-1 at 11.01, finishing off a beautiful passing play with Stephan Wardhaugh on the passout from the corner.

Point Anne found circumstances reversed in the initial minutes of the middle stanza when Wardhaugh and Hunt were thumbed in quick succession and the Juniors fired one home to make it 3-2. Atkins was the marksman, flipping home Bryant's rebound with Letman sprawled at the side of the net.

Doug. Murray drew two minutes for high-sticking at 3.44, and Gerry Goyer sank his second penalty at 3.50 and Leo Goyer Stewart served a pair of minor penalties and Bernhardt was bot the Cementmen held on without trouble.

The Anderson-Williams crew went to work early in the final with minutes and the clock read 1.10 when Wardhaugh took Gilmour's pass at centre ice, stickhandled his way in close and flicked the disc by Ashley, Murray was favored with another penalty at 2.59 and Leo Goyer fired brother Gerry's drop pass home to make it 5-3. Once more Murray was thumbed but this time the action backfired with Bryant banging home his own rebound with Hunter back with Atkins assisting, cutting the lead to 6-3.

Bobby Hunter set up the sixth Point Anne goal at 15.57, carrying the disc from his own blueline and giving it to Gerry Goyer on Ashley's doorstep who in turn blasted by the custodian. Jack Stewart closed the scoring at 18.59 on a screen shot along the ice with Gilmour assisting.

Gerry Goyer was the top point man of the night with three goals and an assist while Atkins led the losers with a goal and two assists.

The teams:

Belleville Juniors: Ashley, Baker, Murray, Brooks, McKenna, Casey, St. Denis, Vesterfelt, Bunker, Letman, Hurst, Stewart G, Goyer, L, Goyer, Williams, Semark, Hember, Skrbina, Gilmour, Wardhaugh, Graham, P. Marocle.

Ideal Weather Awaits Snowshoe Convention Crowd

OTTAWA (CP) — Crisp, cold weather and lots of snow await an estimated 5,000 snowshoeing enthusiasts in toques and moccasins who will crowd the capital for the international snowshoers convention Friday and Saturday.

Snow has two feet deep and more over the city for the races, parades and square dances to be held by the hardy snowshoers from all wards of 100 clubs in eastern Canada and northeastern United States.

The big gathering is not for the weak.

MUST BE FIT

The Canadian Snowshoe Union's entry form for races states specifically: "Proof of amateur standing in perfect physical condition." A few are proving them-selves fit by running their races on foot.

Some 22-year-old members of a Sherbrooke, Que., club, Denis Mayville and Leo Paul Beaulieu, were due to end their 90-mile hike on day. Marcel Turenne and Arthur Blanchard of the "Snowshoe Girls"—Grey Wolves—Club at Cornwall, plan to trek the 80 miles to Ottawa non-stop in 24 hours.

Others will be coming in trains and buses, including chartered trains from Montmagny, Que., and Portland, Me.

MASSEY IS STARTER

The convention's life under the patronage of Governor - General Massey, and he will be starter for one of Sunday's 2-year-old races.

Although activities won't begin in earnest until a Friday night smoker, the city already is taking on a carnival atmosphere.

Ottawa ice sculptor Manning Wright has nearly completed an ice palace near the mid-city national war memorial, and a series of three-a-day variety shows in front of the tableau begin Wednesday featuring two Eskimo boys who sing cowboy songs.

Tonight, local snowshoe clubs will join in the second annual "burning of the arrests" as Mayor Charlotte Whitton puts the torch to some 40,000 parking tickets compiled in a south-side dump.

The big race on Saturday morning—five miles—hits through the countryside.

Barrie Bows To Marlies 4-2

BARRIE (CP) — Barrie Flyers went down to defeat to Toronto Marlboros 4-2 here Wednesday night in an Ontario Hockey Association junior A game before a small crowd.

There were only four penalties handed out, all to Marlboros.

In a fast first period Barrie went into the lead on a goal by Howie Glover.

Marlboros came back in the early minutes of the second period to tie the score as Kennedy caught the Barrie defence asleep. Flyers put on the pressure but Marshall was penalized and as John Macdonald scored on a screen shot on which Aldcorn moved the wrong way. Marlies then again tied it up at 8:48 as Harris scored.

In the third period Marlies picked up the goals as Girard and Nykoluk scored.

DiMaggio Heads Four Players Into Baseball Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio led a four-man ticket into baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday as the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association elected the former New York Yankee Clipper, Ted Lyons, Dazzy Vance and Gabby Hartnett to membership.

Vance and Lyons, two of the great righthanded pitchers of the 1920s and 1930s, Hartnett, a former standout catcher with Chicago Cubs, and DiMaggio, with a productd formally at the Coopers-town, N.Y., museum July 25. Their election increased the membership to 71.

The four men breezed home with room to spare under the rules that required mention of three-fourths (or 188) of the ballots for election. Last year three new members made it—the late Ratbai Maranville, Bill Dickey and Bill Terry.

DIMAG TRIBUTE

DiMaggio drew 223 votes in a tribute to his brilliant lifetime batting average of .325 from 1936 until his retirement in 1951 and his work in a record 31 world series games in 13 series with the Yanks.

Lyons, the man who joined Chicago White Sox in 1923 and compiled a 260-230 pitching record with the Sox before he finally left in 1942 after managing them in three years, received 217 votes. Lyons was a coach with Brooklyn last year but is not returning.

Vance, the old fireball pitcher who blazed them in for Brooklyn during Goof of his career, had 205 votes. Hartnett, whose dramatic home run in the ninth inning of the 1938 pennant for the Cubs, received 200. Now he'll be "keyed with the Cubs from 1922 through 1940, averaging them the last three years.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio heard of his election to baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday from an unknown truck driver.

"I was driving from Boston to New York when a truck driver yelled 'Congratulations,'" said Joe, to his arrival here.

Knowing that the votes were being counted today, Joe said he just turned on his own radio and heard the good news.

"It's great to be on the same ballot with old Dazzy Vance," he added. "Naturally, I am very happy."

Dazzy Vance also learned of the honor in an unusual manner.

The former pitcher was driving to Brooklyn Dodgers was driving along the highway out, far from his home in Homassasa, Fla., when he was flagged down by a highway patrolman.

"I thought he was going to give me a ticket," the pitcher said, president Walter J. O'Malley of Dodgers, a long-distance telephone conversation. "Instead he told me to hurry back because a telephone caller was waiting back at the house."

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The most recent reports say construction of Kansas City's baseball spectacular park is coming along quickly and that the new home of the Athletics will be ready and waiting for opening day of the American League season in 1955.

The only thing that will be missing when the citizens gather to celebrate their back in baseball a big-league franchise will be a big-league baseball team. Along about July 4 the fans of the mid-western metropolis are going to discover they've been skipped. Nobody will be available for the purchase of players, and there won't be any suggestion that the important deal was brewing.

The Athletics number among them two young stars who would be welcomed with open arms in the game—pitcher Arnold Portocarero and third baseman Jim Finigan. They're part of the package deal right get, at a guess, a half-dozen hitter ball players to come up the rear mainder of their regular line-up last year.

It could be, of course, that the A's haven't been offered any sort of trade that interests them in a shoestring basis. That would be in keeping with normal baseball policy.

Albert Squads Win Over BCI Hoopsters

Albert College defeated the teams from the Belleville Collegiate in two hard-checking games played at Albert College last night.

In the Junior game BCI's many fouls cost them the lead in the first quarter, as Albert scored half their points on free throws. The Collegiate boys settled down in the second quarter and outshot their opponents for points. At half-time Albert led by with a score of 26 to 18. Albert added four more points to their lead in the third quarter as free throws scored off towards the end of the game, but BCI never gave up hope of winning. The top scorers for Albert College were Dwight with 21 points and McCraig with 17. Jones obtained the most points for BCI with twelve and Jackson was next with 8. The final score was Albert College Juniors 45, BCI Juniors 32.

The senior game was marred by the many fouls and hard-balls and foul shots, but, nevertheless, was an exciting game. BCI was leading at the end of the first quarter by two points, but at half-time Albert was ahead 29-22. Albert's lead remained the same at three-quarter time, but in the last quarter BCI came within a few points of tieing the game, but never did. Top scorers for Albert were Budgell with 17 and Rupert with 10. Bennett led BCI with 11 points and was followed by Farnsworth with 10. The final score was Albert College Seniors, 42; BCI Seniors, 38.

These games end a home-and-home series between the two schools. Last week the BCI teams won both games.

Golf Body Faced With Player Puzzle

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Golf Association is scheduled to name the 1955 Walker Cup team at its annual meeting Saturday and the selectors are faced with a puzzling problem.

At least three members of the U.S. cup team, which walloped Great Britain 9-3, in 1953, must be replaced. The problem is whether to rely on the 1953 veterans, who haven't performed many notable deeds since then, or go by the 1954 amateur championship results and gamble with bright young prospects who haven't yet proved themselves in competition.

It's almost certain that any team picked will find the competition a bit tougher than it was two years ago. The Britons named their team last October in an apparent all-out effort to win the international trophy.

Members of the winning 1953 competition who won't be available are Gene Littler, now in the congressman Jack Westland and Dean Ken Venturi, who is in the army.

Cass Michaels Nearly Well

DETROIT (AP)—The long, painful road to recovery is almost complete for Cass Michaels, Chicago White Sox infielder who suffered a fractured skull in a beaning last August.

"The injury was more serious than any of us thought at the time," Michaels said Wednesday as he rested up from his first real workout since the accident on July 31.

Michaels was struck by a pitch by Marion Fricano of Philadelphia Athletics. Fricano ran through such a spell of wildness he drew an official reprimand.

His injury cut short Michaels' 1954 season at 101 games. He hit .261. A native of Detroit, the 29-year-old infielder broke into the majors in 1943 with the White Sox.

Settle Suit For $200,000

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A $12,000,000 suit against 13 major league baseball teams was settled Wednesday for $200,000.

The settlement came on the order of federal bankruptcy referee D. M. Oldham. He told creditors of Liberty Broadcasting System in Dallas the compromise settlement offered by the baseball clubs.

Liberty filed the suit in Chicago in 1952, and has contended the reason it went bankrupt was the refusal by the 13 teams to allow it to broadcast their games.

Eighteen-year-old wife of Bruce Bicknell, 22, sobs her grief as she leaves her Toronto home with a detective after the body of her husband was found in the hallway of the second floor. Police said that Mrs. Bicknell told them she was examining one of her husband's many rifles when he told her to point it at him. Examination of the body showed the bullet which caused his death had been fired at his back. (Central Press Canadian).

Did Not Want to Do Cheesecake Now Waitress in Ice Cream Shop

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three years ago, Judy Lawrence was starred with Burt Lancaster in "10 Tall Men." Today she is a waitress in an ice cream shop.

How could this happen? I dropped by the shop to find out.

She was dressed in the immaculate, waitress uniform. If anything, she looked prettier than when I saw her on the set of "10 Tall Men." She wore no makeup except lipstick, and her face had a well-scrubbed look. She asked another waitress to take her station while she told me her story.

"It was partly my fault," she began, explaining her slip from film prominence. "I was now that I was temperamental. I didn't cooperate with publicity. I didn't want to do cheesecake, not because my legs were bad, because they aren't. My agents thought had been as actress, and I didn't want to submit to the usual star-let routine.

"If I had it to do over again, I would do it differently. I realize now that cheesecake and publicity are an important part of the movie business."

Judy said her movie career began five years ago. She was 18. At Beverely Hills ough-school she had been taking dramatic lessons from Benno Schneider and his wife. They brought her to the attention of Columbia, and she was signed.

She was catapulted to stardom, opposite Lancaster, John Derek in "Family Secret," Anthony Dexter in "The Brigand," etc. After working steadily, she had a two-month rest. Then the studio assigned her to a light-weight Mickey Rooney musical.

"I was bewildered and hurt," she recalled. "I had been co-starred in six important pictures. Now they wanted to put me in a little musical, and I couldn't even sing or dance.

"I had seen what had happened to John Derek in his last year at the studios; he was put into pictures that almost ruined his career. I didn't want that to happen to me. So I asked for my release."

She was released after she did Dg. Rooney picture, in which she got bottom billing among the principals. She tried for other jobs but word had been circulated that she was temperamental.

Jody worked in a couple of TV films, then the w'rk didn't come. She took a waitress job.

Jody looks to the future optimistically. She has a new agent, and she thinks he'll be able to turn up acting jobs.

Belief Grows No Depression Will Come in Foreseeable Future

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the end of the Second World War many economists have predicted that the United States will suffer another crippling depression.

Yet today, nearly 10 years after VE- and VJ-Days, the big crash has not developed. There were slumps in 1949 and 1953, but if these were incipient depressions they failed to follow the harshly familiar tracks of 1921 and 1929.

Foreign aid, the Korean War, rearmament and a huge defence budget all affected the U.S. economy. But was there anything else?

The great question today is this: Has management and money power, the shill, plus legislative machinery, to head off a depression in its early stages?

NO PRONOUNCED CHANGES

Says Economist Dr. Sumner Slichter: "Surely, the days when Americans must accept pronounced ups and downs of business is inevitable are fast coming to an end."

A government financial official put it this way: "I think we have learned a few things. We have seen what can be done when a depression is starting. But we still have a long way to go."

Discussing the question before an audience of finance executives recently, Harry Conner, Wall Street analyst, said: "There is not going to be a depression in the foreseeable future."

Of course, people were saying that in 1929, too. But some changes

Skating Star Is Undecided

TIMMINS (CP)—Joan Shippam, 16, who placed third Saturday in the senior ladies Canadian figure-skating championships at Toronto, said Wednesday she has not made up her mind about participating in the world championships at Vienna next month.

"I certainly would like to go," she said. "It's a chance I hate to miss. But each member of the Canadian team gets only $250 to finance the trip and it would cost about $700."

Joan is a native of nearby Schumacher, but has trained for the last two years in Calgary.

She would like to go to Europe to get used to the judges and their system of marking in preparation for the Olympics next year, she said.

GERMANS LEAD

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) German bobsledders held up pretty well in other words, the fateful cycle — rising employment, reduced income, reduced buying, reduced production, causing increased unemployment didn't develop in the usual way.

A number of factors were taken and apparently they were effective. First, about $2,000,000,000 flowed into the economy from unemployment compensation payments. Second, late in 1953 Congress had cut $7,000,000,000.

Thus, even though government purchasing had been cut back by $12,000,000,000, something approaching a balance was attained.

Meanwhile, the spigots on credit which had been twisted to a tight point earlier, were opened in the fall of 1953. The Federal Reserve began buying 90-day treasury bills, which eased the flow of credit.

And there was a psychological dividend in all this. These actions showed businessmen that the Federal Reserve was aware of the changing conditions and was not disposed to allow a credit drought.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec Aces and Chicoutimi Saguenean came up with victories in the hard way Wednesday in the Quebec Hockey League.

Both teams spotted their opposition a goal before coming from behind—Quebec for a 2-1 decision over league - leading Shawinigan Falls and Chicoutimi for a 4-1 win over Valleyfield.

Quebec's victory slowed Shawinigan Falls' march to the league championship and moved the Aces into a second-place tie with Montreal Royals. Chicoutimi's win pulled them into a tie with Valleyfield for fourth place in the league standings.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

It is a long time since I showed you my answers to the Gordon convention for showing scas and kings. So, here it is again. But first let me tell you the whole rule again.

When a player has discovered 13 tricks, knows what will be the result if his partner holds two aces and a king (or better), he bids four no-trump to ask partner how many aces and kings he has.

The answers are:

5 C shows no aces
5 D shows 1 A and no K
5 H shows 1 A and 1 K
5 S shows 1 A and 2 K
5 NT shows 1 A and 3 K
6 C shows 2 A and no K
6 D shows 2 A and 1 K
6 H shows 2 A and 2 K
6 S shows 2 A and 3 K

The key is that all responses in five (except five clubs that shows no aces) tell of only one ace. And each higher denomination adds a king to the one ace. Each step above two aces with one king added for each higher denomination.

Take the north hand shown here:

♥K 4
♦7 2
♣K Q 9 5

North showed his six tricks and rebiddable spade suit. South showed spade support and bid four no-trump. This said he had two aces and a king or better with six tricks of his own.

In answer to four no-trump, north makes a reply of five hearts to show one ace and only one king. If this is enough to make a bid of six, south goes there. If not, he stops at five hearts.

There is no law that says the four no-trumper must go to six. He stops where his information tells him it is best for the pair.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was pealing potatoes in the kitchen and I went in and started to watch her, and I said, Ma, ma, will you give some money birds a collection in the house tomorrow?

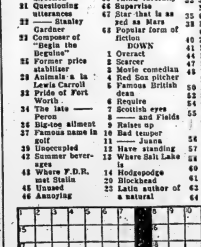
Goodness, do you mean the Judge was moving? ma said, and I said, No mam, G, I mean he's going to be allowed out tomorrow the first time since he's been sick. Jimminies, he was in bed 2 whole days, I said.

Goodness, I didn't know that, well, that's very nice of the boys, ma said, and I said, Sure; ma, we want to take up a collection and make all the lemmonade everybody can drink, and buy some of every kind of all the little cakes they sell at the bakery, and take everything to Shorty's house for a lemmonade and cake party on his last day.

That's a very sweet thought, but I think I'd better call up Mrs. Judge, ma said, and I said, Well heck, she ought to be willing. If Shorty is.

I'll call her up, ma said.

While she did, saying, I understan the boys are planning a lemmonade and cake party for Howard tomorrow, oh, is that so, oh, really, oh goodness, well, it's just as well I called.



And she hung up, saying, He's had his tonsils out, he's on a milk diet for land sakes, he couldn't possibly take a sip of lemmonade or a bite of cake.

Well jimminy roozalem, ma, he could injoy watching the rest of us having fun in his honor while he drinks his milk, I said, but ma still said no after about 10 minutes argument, and the other fellows all had the same experience with their mothers for the same reason.

WILL ASK RED CHINA TO ATTEND UN MEET

New Cars Expected In 11 Days; Ford Strike Settled

Master Agreement Will Run Until June, 1956

TORONTO (CP) — Formal ratification, expected at union meetings Saturday and Sunday will officially end the 109-day strike at Ford of Canada.

Basis for settlement was reached Thursday after a 30-day negotiating session between the company and United Automobile Workers CIO-CCL. The strike, Ford's longest in Canada, cost about 8,500 workers more than $11,000,000 in lost pay. Cost to the company was also estimated by officials to be in the millions.

The basis of agreement calls for complete revision and rewriting of the contract. It came at a time when reports circulated that the talks might fail.

Ford officials said workers will go back to the plants Monday and first cars will roll off assembly lines within 11 days.

Each side gave way on a major issue on which earlier negotiations had foundered. The union gained no Ontario-wide contract covering the three striking establishments. The company said revision of the present regulations it claimed were costing heavily in time and materials.

BUILD UP STEAM

Minutes after announcement of settlement, workers started building up steam and fuel fires in the giant Windsor power plant.

The agreement will give Ford employees an extra 7.25 cents an hour in fringe benefits immediately and a four-cents-an-hour wage increase next June 15.

In the general theme of settlement the company agreed to a master agreement to run to June 15, 1956, and effective immediately after ratification by locals at Oakville, Windsor and suburban Etobicoke. Average wage before the strike was $1.93 at Windsor and Oakville and $1.89 at Etobicoke.

The union agreed to revision of the present contract which the company said would relieve it of some of the cost and inefficiency arising from short-term layoffs.

MEETINGS SOON

No comparison statement said meetings of the three locals will be held as soon as possible and the union executive will recommend ratification.

Two Men Killed, Three Injured At Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP) — Two men were killed and five others injured when their car crashed with terrific force into the rear of a parked transport here Thursday.

Dead are Nicholas Dorko, 33, and Thomas Daigle, 38, both of Hamilton.

Injured were Adam Grabowski, 41, William Mulholland, 32; and George Graham, 31.

Mr. Dorko died in the wreckage of his car. Mr. Daigle died in hospital about three hours after the crash.

Hospital authorities reported Mr. Grabowski in poor condition this morning, suffering from head injuries and a broken left ankle. Mr. Mulholland and Mr. Graham were cut about the face and head.

Pickersgill Says Population Increase 'As Fast as Healthy Growth Can Be'

OTTAWA (CP)) — Immigration had been "as fast as healthy growth" and he said at the annual meeting of the Ottawa West Liberal Association.

"There can only be so many newcomers into our society or the whole character is changed, if not destroyed completely."

One out of every 15 persons in Canada was either an immigrant or the child of an immigrant who way of life."

GOVT. CHARGED WITH HYPOCRISY IN TAX DEALINGS

Member Claims National Disunity Promoted

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has been accused of hypocrisy and of promoting national disunity in its tax dealings with Quebec.

David Walker (PC — Ramloops) made the charges in the Commons last night during the Throne speech debate.

He said Prime Minister St. Laurent, and Justice Minister Garson, in speeches last fall, "fanned the flames of racial prejudice for Liberal political advantage."

The government now had made a "complete reversal of policy and attitude" in its recent decision to extend to Quebec the corporate tax dispute, to cut federal income tax rates in Quebec by 10 per cent this year and next.

"PREJUDICES . . . INFLAMED"

"To appreciate the extent of the hypocrisy or the Liberal party in dealing with the question of national unity, one has only to consider to what extent it has aroused the prejudices of the rest of the nation were justified by their spokesmen before the (Nov. 8) by-elections and compare their earlier statements with their present actions."

Mr. Fulton's speech was the first public reaction from the Progressive Conservative party to the speech read last fall Mr. Garson had described the Liberal party as the only party prepared to defend the existing tax arrangements with the provinces.

Now, Mr. Fulton said, "in order to remain in office he barters his principles and sells his party's birthright and inglorious tenure in his ministerial position."

WAS WILLING

Mr. Garson interrupted to say that in his Manitoba speech he had said Mr. Abbott was willing to consider any new tax proposals by the Quebec government.

He quoted from his speech at Stonewall, Man., during the campaign: "I am not asking for electoral support because of developments in Formosa.

He added that, as a result of the Formosa impasse, Far Eastern affairs will occupy a great deal of attention by the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening Monday. The meeting is expected to last about two weeks.

Originally, Mr. Pearson was not scheduled to attend the conference. His trip to London was taken as an indication that the Canadian government is deeply concerned over the Formosa issue.

The Chinese Communists have reiterated that they intend to "liberate" the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa. The United States has declared that it will defend the island from Communist attack. In 1950, the 7th Fleet now is patrolling the Formosa straits.

President Eisenhower has said that the 7th Fleet would aid in evacuation of Chinese Nationalist troops from islands off the Chinese mainland if that became necessary.

Big Soap Firm May Open Plant Near Napanee

There is a strong but unconfirmed rumor here that Lever Brothers Limited, big U.S. soap manufacturers, will erect a $2,000,000-soap factory east of Napanee, commencing this spring.

It is believed that the contract for construction has already been signed and that the first unit, a huge plant at Millhaven, outside Kingston, will be the contractors.

Worst Cold Wave of Season Expected to Remain Two Days

TORONTO (CP)—The worst cold wave of the season spread across Ontario today, sending temperatures to zero and below in most areas. The cold is expected to remain for at least two days.

Western Ontario suffered its worst storm of the winter when a foot of snow fell on the London-Goderich-Stratford area Wednesday night. High winds and low temperatures were expected to continue.

The season's worst blizzard raged in the Georgian bay district and sub-zero temperatures were reported in northern Ontario communities as the cold air moved slowly across the province.

In western Ontario schools closed in some areas and secondary roads were impassable. No serious accidents were reported.

At Clinton, about 35 miles north-west of Stratford, Mrs. Grant Hall Donald barely beat the stork to hospital. The newly-clogged roads and an empty gas tank forced her and her husband to hitch a ride on a milk truck.

Prime Minister to Discuss Formosa Issue With Eden

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent leaves tonight for London to discuss the "grave"—his own adjective'— world situation with other Commonwealth prime ministers.

With him will be External Affairs Minister Pearson, who will stay with Sir Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, to work out some policy to ease the Formosa situation.

Their RCAF C-5 airliner is scheduled to leave from Rockcliffe airport here at 7 p.m. EST.

The prime minister told the Commons Thursday that the international situation is "quite grave" because of developments in Formosa.

He added that, as a result of the Formosa impasse, Far Eastern affairs will occupy a great deal of attention by the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening Monday. The meeting is expected to last about two weeks.

Originally, Mr. Pearson was not scheduled to attend the conference. His trip to London was taken as an indication that the Canadian government is deeply concerned over the Formosa issue.

CBC Engineers In Radio, TV May Go on Strike

TORONTO (CP)—A conciliation report affecting engineers and technicians in the radio and television stations across Canada is expected to be released today in Ottawa.

Sources here said today they have heard it will make no positive recommendations on the 779 workers' demands for substantial pay increases and overtime considerations.

A five-man committee of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, the union concerned, was scheduled to meet today and Saturday in Montreal to consider the conciliation report.

STRIKE POSSIBLE

Committee recommendations will probably be placed before union members next Wednesday at meetings in centres across the country. A strike vote could be taken.

If a work stoppage were decided on, it would likely interrupt all the CBC's radio and TV services, labor men here say.

Britain, U.S. Agree On Plan For UN To Seek Truce, U.S. May Guard Quemoy

U.S. Is 'Ready to Go to War This Minute' But Pledges 'We Will Not Be Provocative'

LONDON (AP) — Britain and the United States have agreed on a plan to invite Communist China to attend a United Nations Security Council meeting to discuss a cease-fire in the China fighting, official sources said today.

These responsible sources said New Zealand, in agreement with Britain and the U.S., will ask the UN Security Council to convene Monday to consider extending the invitation to the Peiping regime.

The U.S. and Nationalist China are reported ready to participate in the discussions with the Chinese Reds.

Foreign Secretary Eden is expected to ask India's Prime Minister Nehru to use his influence with the Chinese Reds and get them to accept the Security Council invitation.

ARRIVES SATURDAY

Nehru is due to arrive here Saturday to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening Monday.

Unofficial sources say Eden's plan would call for a cease-fire in the China straits, sponsored by the UN, and a Nationalist withdrawal from Chinese coastal islands.

According to the reports, Eden's plan is generally as follows:

1. The UN Security Council to ask both Peiping and Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa forces to agree to a cease-fire without prejudice to their territorial claims.

2. Withdrawal of Chinese Nationalist troops from all of China's coastal islands, including the Tachens, Matsu and Quemoy.

3. A pledge by Red China not to attack Formosa or the neighboring Pescadores pending an eventual peaceful settlement of the rival sovereignty claims.

4. Formosa consideration by the Western powers of Red China's demand for UN membership.

HAS CONFERRED

Nehru conferred with Red China's charge d'affaires in New Delhi before taking off today for London to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Although no details of the talk are disclosed, informed sources said the meeting was arranged so that Nehru could present Chou En-lai's initiative" to give Nehru Peiping's point of view on Formosa.

The sources said Nehru would then fly to Washington shortly to call on Eden in London. The Indian premier suggested that Eden and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles discuss the Formosa problems into the background of U.S. Nationalist-Chinese meeting, which opens Monday.

SPIKE AUSTRALIA-BOUND

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Spike Jones, his wife, his band and 30 tons of musical instruments, including washboards and revolvers, are going to Australia for a three-week visit. Jones said he's not sure and a girl would get $163,000 for the appearances.

British Envoy Urges Molotov To Curb China

MOSCOW (AP)—British Ambassador Sir William Hayter called on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in the Kremlin today and urged him to restrain the Chinese Communist government and try to effect a cease-fire in the Formosa strait, "lest it break out into general hostilities."

Hayter talked to Molotov for half an hour.

A British embassy spokesman later told a press conference Monday's reaction was "very limited."

Molotov told Sir William that the Soviet government always desires to diminish international tension, but Molotov claimed "the responsibility" for affairs in the Formosa straits lay upon the United States government.

BACKS PROPOSAL

Moscow added that because the British government supports the United States, Britain also shared the responsibility.

The embassy announced that Sir William's call on Molotov was to express British support for a proposal being made today by New Zealand in the United Nations.

This proposal is understood to call for a cease-fire in the Formosan straits and an invitation to the Chinese Communists to attend a meeting of the UN Security Council to discuss a Formosan peace.

Wins Libel Action

LONDON (Reuters) —A jury Thursday awarded a Conservative member of Parliament damages of £1,000 with costs in a libel action against the proprietors and publishers of The Daily Worker.

The MP, George Burnaby Bray son, 41, complained that his character, credit and reputation had been injured by a leading article in the newspaper on Dec. 18, 1953.

Formation of CF-100 Interceptor Squadron Year Behind Schedule

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has admitted that formation of the first Canadian-manned Canadair-built CF-100 interceptor squadron is about a year behind schedule.

Last year's government white paper on the defence program said the RCAF would reach its target of 41 all-type squadrons by 1952 by formation of more squadrons equipped with the all-weather, long-range CF-100 jet.

However, Defence Minister Campney said this week in an address before the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs' Association that establishment of the target number of CF-100 squadrons will be completed in 1955.

The RCAF has never made public the number of CF-100 squadrons in operation or the number still to be formed. But it is believed that there will be about eight altogether and that half this number now is in service.

One informant said the RCAF has put some CF-100s in storage.

The main difficulty has been to find enough aircrew and the highly-skilled workers to maintain the complex and their complicated electronic gear.

The reason why this situation is improving but it takes at least 18 months to train a pilot.

Production of CF-100s at A. V. Roe Aircraft Ltd. of Malton, Ont., has been slowed deliberately to fit into RCAF plans for getting them into operation. About 250 have been produced so far.

In November, Avro reached a production schedule of 12 CF-100s a month but the air force could not put them to use as fast as they came off the assembly line.

The CF-100 squadrons will be concentrated in eastern Canada and on the Pacific coast. American squadrons based in the U.S. near the Canadian border would handle any attack from the North coming down the centre of the continent.

Radar stations strung across the continent along the Canada-U.S. border each control at least one interceptor squadron.

Greedy Thief Caught Stealing Kitchen Sonk

CINCINNATI (AP) — Osie Wright, 35, got away with everything but the kitchen sink —and was caught when he came back for that.

Wright entered the home of Willie Turner and removed every bit of furniture and personal property except the sink, court testimony showed Thursday.

He came back and Turner discovered him using a pipe wrench in hand.

A jury convicted Wright of housebreaking.

Washington's Experts Differ On Risk of War

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington officials who try to puzzle out many intangibles differ over how great is the risk that Chinese Communist planes will attack United States ships in any evacuation of the Nationalist-held islands off China.

The question has arisen in connection with the leveling of plans to provide American air and sea protection and transportation for Nationalist withdrawal from the Tachen group, 200 miles north of Formosa and about 400 miles from the Red coast.

Most authorities concerned with the problem believe the Chinese Reds are not likely to interfere on a major scale. These officials reason that the Reds will be satisfied to take over the Tachens.

"They incline to the view that Red Chinese leaders, no matter how unlikely they may be to appreciating the Nationalists escape capacity, with American help, realize they haven't sufficient airpower to prevent it.

Further, they said the Reds know they might be risking American bombing of Chinese mainland targets if they dared attack any part of the 7th Fleet.

This view that the Reds will do nothing to interfere—appears to have prevailed. However, some responsible officials hold the opposite view and say there is considerable risk involved.

This minority believes the Red Chinese might well launch some kind of air attacks for two reasons:

1. To demonstrate to the world that the Chinese Reds will not tolerate interference by what they regard as American airpower.

2. To try to frighten American leaders away from giving similar air and sea protection to Nationalist forces in the future.

HAVANA HAS BOMBING

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A high United States source today said he thinks American support will be extended to the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, and conceded that agreement in principle has been reached on evacuation of the feed-bottom fenced Tachen islands.

In the event of a clash with the Communists, he was in favor of giving the commander opposing them full power "without any privileged sanctuaries."

The Matsu group is 100 miles northwest of Formosa and 20 miles off the south coast of the main Nationalist off-shore outpost, is 120 miles across the Formosa strait from Formosa and seven miles from the Red port of Amoy.

U. S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin said today he does not feel there is great danger of an important conflict breaking out if the U. S. maintains its firm attitude without provocation.

"I believe the stronger attitude we take without being provocative, and we will not be, the better chance we have of avoiding war," Rankin told press conference.

In Tokyo, a responsible American source said U. S. aircraft in the Far East group today are prepared to "strike the Communists from Alaska to the Philippines at a moment's notice if the Reds start a real war over the Formosa crisis."

The new fair president who filled the post of vice president succeeds W. Harry Rolling who headed the fair board for the past five years. Mr. Rollins was again named for the presidency but was forced to decline by health reasons.

Vice-president is J. Fred Wilson with John McArthur, manager of the Royal Bank as second vice president. Thomas Wilmer was re-named as secretary and Ben Bleecker was returned as fair treasurer Norris Whitney and A. J. Wolfenden will again act as auditors.

Fair directors were enthusiastic over the financial statement for the year's fair, the auditor's report read by Ben Bleecker showed revenue of $38,137.37 with disbursements of $34,585.90. Operating profit for the year was $1,801.31.

Gate receipts for the year were $10,454.55 with $5,712.90 received from the grandstand and $3,450.30 from the midway.

Disbursements included $6,-000.00 for prizes, $1,000.00 for races and track expense. The Hamid Show grandstand attraction cost $3,000 and the rodeo, $1,994.45.

Direct donation to the Belleville police and to the Dominion Bank for special constables received were expressed by Mr. Bleecker.

Mr. Rollins in his presidential address, declared the fair had received great enjoyment acting as host to visitors. The fair board head. He referred to the success of the fair and assured it would continue to operate without dependable directors.

GOOD WEATHER

"The success of any business depends on the efforts which the employees put into it," he said, "The directors are the fair's employees."

"The success of the fair was attributed to good weather, fine attractions and to the fact that the directors were all on the job. Effective shoulders is the wheel. The success of a fair depends on it. It was the outstanding show of the districts and smaller fairs were looking to the Ameliasburg."

"But we are merely beginning," the president declared. "Let us still raise our sights and soon the present grounds will not be large enough."

There was a brief discussion on the "wonderful weather" of the fair, the consensus being there was not too much wrong with the Belleville exhibition.

W. E. Sandercock referred to the big drop in number of entertainments, which he said was increasing by leaps and bounds and declared if the fair could continue to afford the cost. He recommended a "big name" attraction around the cattle show.

Mr. McAdorey referred to the work necessary each year to bring the race track into shape. However, he said, it could be well done about the matter as long as stock car races were not limited.

J. Fred Wilson said he would like to see the midway pay the fair board more money and called for efforts to be made to gain greater interest on the part of school children, which he said would be a great stimulant to the fair. He noted that many of the machinery exhibitors did not like exhibiting on ground near the track. However, he realized the large midway had increased considerably used by the machinery men.

WANTS BIGGER CATTLE SHOW

Dr. Scott said it was hard to criticize success but he would like to see Belleville Fair have a bigger exhibit of Holstein cattle. The Belleville area was famous for it and the home breeding area and efforts should be made to bring them out. He said also more local attractions were needed, while exhibition buildings should be rearranged to make greater use of available space.

Jack Bush noted that arm bands for exhibitors and head ribboned for their prized animals would be much appreciated. He said that many exhibitors valued ribbons more than prizes. He asked if it would be possible to have more than one polomined horses.

Leo Grills noted the increased mechanization of the modern day farm and said that the horse class just about seen its day. With the exception of the glamor class horses he suggested that people were no longer interested, in horses at the fairs.

"Let's encourage our fair with horses," he urged. "Many people going to the fair grandstand do not appreciate too many horses."

Cleo Codling said plans should be made for at least one new fair building that would be in keeping with the fair's success. Eric Denyes disagreed with Mr. Grills that too many horses were being shown and assured there were no "plugs" at Belleville fair. He had a word of admiration for Jack Bush, who had gone out on his own to get more exhibitors.

William D. Reid, chairman of the horse committee, said he was "proud of the Belleville horse show." Championship horse had been shown at the fair, not "plugs," he said.

WOULD MOVE BUILDING

President Rollins also had ideas for the improvement of the fair. He would move the manufacturers' building and the cattle sheds to make room for a bigger midway and more farm machine exhibits.

He would also bring in outstanding fireworks attraction, have a top flight grandstand show for the second and third days of the fair and then another outstanding attraction to boost the final day attendance.

Reports on the 4-H club demonstrations at the fair were given by Harold Deitor, Douglas Harry and Carl Bateman with Mr. Bateman declaring that with the near future club achievement days would be moved to Belleville fair.

Tom Spencer noted that while district Holstein breeders appreciated the value of showing at Belleville fair the awards given by such that they conflicted with the annual district Holstein show at Peterborough and that if this were true, that a more suitable prize list would encourage district breeders to show at the fair.

R. J. Messervey noted there was not much that could be done to improve the poultry show but said it was especially good.

One of the features of the annual meeting was the presentation of an Agricultural Society Diploma to W. D. Reid for outstanding contribution to agriculture. The presentation was made by W. E. Sandercock, Trenton, specially by request of Mr. Reid assured he had thoroughly enjoyed his association with Belleville Fair and would continue to give his services.

Dates for Belleville fair were set for August 15-16-17-18.

More Elderly People Being Cared For in Homes VON Meeting Told

The increase in life expectancy in present-day Canada is creating one of the major problems facing health authorities today, the annual meeting of the Belleville Victorian Order of Nurses was told last night.

Presenting the president's report on the activities of the organization in 1954, Mrs. R. E. Bulger said there are insufficient beds available in hospitals for medical care for the increasing numbers of elderly people.

Consequently many must be cared for in the home, and as increasing amount of this work is falling to the V.O.N., she said.

"The VON in this case, as a visiting nursing organization provides a preventive nursing in the home not only cares for the patient but also the whole family unit and protects a member of the family in caring for the patient between visits," she said.

The health situation in Belleville is well looked after, Mrs. Bulger noted.

During 1954 the VON paid 4,-973 visits to 243 patients. This work is directed by Miss Dorothy Connor, nurse in charge of a staff consisting of Miss Grace Connor, Miss Theresa Callaghan and a relief nurse, Miss Ida Bell.

83 P.C. NURSING CARE

Presenting her report to the meeting Miss Dorothy Connor noted that of the total number of visits 83 per cent were for nursing care and 15 per cent for the health instructive visits. This was 1933 more nursing care visits than in 1953 and 324 fewer instructive visits. The decrease in instructive visits was due to the educational program of the Belleville department of health.

To be a maternity patient the VON offers a complete nursing service, including pre-natal instruction, assisting at the delivery and care to the mother and child. However, Miss Connor, noted with the modern trend in the care of the maternity patient the need for nursing care is growing less. Evidence of this is the fact that although 49 per cent of the patients cared for in 1954 were maternity and newborn, only 27 per cent of the total visits were for these "plugs," he said.

Early amalgamation and discharge of hospital patients and this has increased the necessity for co-operation between the hospitals and nursing services, Mrs. Bulger said, during the past year through a reciprocal system between the Belleville General Hospital and the VON some 41 patients were referred to the VON for continuing care at home.

Concluding her report Miss Connor noted that the VON has just completed 30 years of service in Belleville.

"As we move forward into another year, our main interest is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly ahead," she said.

Mercury Hits 12.3 Below Zero During Night

If you didn't go out last night just read this; if you did—bulletin up your overcoat, here we go again.

Last night, polar-bear temperatures blasted the mercury down to 12.3 degrees below at 3.30 a.m., in the Quinte area. The low was reached after temperatures had steadily declined through the day, registering just 32 more than 5.30 p.m. yesterday.

For last night the weatherman had predicted the temperature at 10 below for this area. Tonight it is expected to be even warmer—that is 10 below zero.

It will be three hours later, at 11 a.m., it was two above. Light snow started to fall in the city shortly after 11 a.m.

Service departments in city and district reported nothing out of two, hauling cars stalled through cold motors, and frozen transmissions.

Bearers were: Thomas Fluery, A Belleville lawyer here yesterday scored capital punishment in Canada as a measure of justice that will be remembered by posterity with the terms of loathing and incredulity."

Robert Temple, city barrister, speaking to the nurses student body at the Belleville General Hospital, criticized the death penalty as fulfilling no "useful function" and as no deterrent to capital offences.

Mr. Temple was addressing the students on the social aspects of crime.

Under the Canadian constitution there are four crimes punishable by death: murder, treason, rape and piracy with violence. Mr. Temple's remarks focussed on the more prevalent capital crime of murder.

"The argument is put forth that fear of the death penalty is a major deterring influence in the crime of murder. Yet in those countries and states which have abolished the death penalty for murder there has been no increase in the rate of this crime.

Neither has there been a resultant increase in the instances of the crime, he added.

Thus, the only "logical conclusion" to be drawn is that fear of the death penalty has no "appreciable bearing" on the crime.

ADVANCES ARGUMENT

Mr. Temple also discredited the argument that enforcement of capital punishment prevents repetition of the crime by the same person. Quoting Lewis E. Lawes, late warden of Sing Sing prison, he said the assumption that murderer is a dangerous criminal from whom society must be protected by execution is disproved by the fact that 90 per cent of those convicted of murder have no previous felony record. Nor was there a single instance in the pardoning of murderer returning to Sing Sing on a second homicide charge.

Admitting that the use of capital punishment might not be a "deterrent to the majority of Canadians," Mr. Temple added: "That a thing is widely believed is not an guarantee of its truth."

Said Mr. Temple " . . . the fact that belief in the desirability of capital punishment is both widespread and of long standing is not by itself a guarantee that it is the true solution."

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials were strong today but the rest of the stock market drifted off in rather light early afternoon trade.

Golds were almost all lower in senior and junior issues but drops in individual issues were mostly small. The decline came after the federal government Thursday night announced a reduction in gold-mining subsidies.

Giant Yellowknife was off 20 cents at 1 p. m. EST, and Teck-Hughes dropped 25 to $4.50. Other losses were mostly small and Preston East Dome countered the trend with a 15-cent gain.

Senior base metals moved down in almost a solid line. Drops were almost all minor fractions.

Western oils were mixed. Bailey Selburn A jumped up $1 to $3.50, Home-class A-echo climbed 35 cents to $1.70 and Scurry 18 to $1.96.

Papers, utilities, steel, food, financial institutions and motors were strong, with Ford A up $3.50 to $105 after settlement of the long strike. Ahead $1 or more at 1 p. m. were Confederation Life, General Dynamics up $4.25 to $93, General Motors, Hinde and Dauch and Union Gas-exchange.

Low-priced mines were comparatively quiet with small changes.

Cold Wave Grips Eastern Half Of United States

CHICAGO (AP)—A late January cold wave engulfed wide areas in the eastern half of the United States today, with no indication of immediate relief.

Snow, sub-zero temperatures and strong winds are in prospect for the midwest states, as Nebraska felt the coldest weather of the winter season.—

The cold also swept into eastern and southern areas and temperatures dropped as the frigid air moved southeastward from the snow-covered mid-continent.

Temperatures dipped 10 to 34 degrees since Thursday morning from east Texas northeastward across the gulf states and along the Atlantic coast. It was a chilly 22 in Birmingham Ala., and 19 in Montgomery, Tenn.

Icebox weather down to 38 below zero fronted New York state today, recorded in the northern section, but sub-zero weather blanketed most of the state.

Drifted snow clogged some secondary roads in the western, central and northern portions. At least 50 schools were closed Thursday. Icy roads caused two traffic deaths in the western section.

Mutilated Body Will Be Examined

STE. ANNE DES MONTS, Que. (CP)—The mutilated body of a Percy, Que., youth found hanging from a tree near Otis little Gaspe town is being taken to Montreal for examination by a provincial police pathologist.

The remains discovered Monday on a lonely logging road have been tentatively identified as those of a 20-year-old laborer, Jean Simoneau.

1,740 Persons Draw Jobless Benefits Here

Of the approximately 16,000 workers in Belleville and district insured under the Unemployment Insurance Act there are now 1,740 drawing insurance benefits, it was reported today by Mr. H. H. Reed, manager of the local employment office.

Of the above number drawing benefits approximately 800 are living outside the 40-cent return box fare and are therefore postal claimants, while another 800 live in the city and within the 40-cent return box fare limit and must report weekly in person to prove their unemployment. About 140 are on short-time claim, working only four days a week with their employers.

The local office manager pointed out that at December 31st, 1954 there were approximately 1,375 persons on claim, or about 8.5 per cent of the insured worker population of the local office district, as the 1,740 persons drawing benefit make up about 12 per cent of the insured workers in the Belleville area. There are 16,000 or more than at the same date last year.

Mr. Reed released the above figures today to correct a rumor that there are 16,000 persons unemployed and drawing benefits in the Belleville office. He pointed out that the number of workers in the local office area paying contributions is approximately 14,000 with 1,740 of these now unemployed and drawing benefits.

Here are some st-e-figures statistics on the local area activities during the past year:

Starting the year with $1,059-balance, the VON finished with a net loss of $79.

Total disbursements were $11,-882 against receipts of $11,802. Some $8,727 went out in nurses' salaries, while car expenses and depreciation amounted to $1,907.

On the credit side $3,506 was received from the community chest; $4,000 from the city and $2,805 in nurses' collections.

In 1954 VON nursing staff made 4,572 visits to 462 cases. Of these 208 were medical and surgical; 252 maternity and one newborn and 23 for health supervision.

Some 3,231 visits were made to the medical and surgical cases and 475 to the newborn cases.

Boy's Body Found In Basement

HULL, Que. (CP) — A 30-hour search for six-year-old Guy Gauthier, last since Wednesday afternoon, ended Thursday night when his body was found in the basement of his home.

Inspector Maxime Lavigne said there was no apparent indication of foul play, but coroner Dr. Gerald Brisson ordered a medico-legal expert to come from Montreal to perform an autopsy.

Police said they believe the boy, who had lived here only since Christmas, fell accidentally when he became lost. He was reported home some time Thursday and died.

The basement, a favorite playing place for the boy, was searched Thursday morning.

It is believed the boy, weakened by cold, entered the cellar through an outside door rather than climb a steep flight of uncovered stairs to the Gauthier home, located over a shoe store.

Guy had been living with relatives in Gatineau before he joined his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Gauthier, here last Christmas.

VON Finished Year With Net Loss of $79

The Belleville Victorian Order of Nurses held its annual meeting in St. Thomas' Parish Hall last night.

Now just completing 30 years of service in the city, the organization was formed in 1900 by the Kiwanis club here to serve Belleville and a three-mile radius outside the city.

Here are some st-e-figures statistics on the local area activities during the past year:

Starting the year with $1,059-balance, the VON finished with a net loss of $79.

Total disbursements were $11,-882 against receipts of $11,802. Some $8,727 went out in nurses' salaries, while car expenses and depreciation amounted to $1,907.

May Not Permit Minority Report On Road Frauds

TORONTO (CP)—The three opposition members of the Ontario legislature's committee on highways irregularities may not be allowed to submit a minority report to the legislature, Leslie Roberts, committee chairman, said Thursday.

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, and Mrs. Rae, Liberal-Labor member of the legislature for Kenora, and W. J. Grummett, CCF member for Cochrane South left the committee meeting Tuesday and said they would write their own minority report.

They were irked by refusal of the government members of the committee to agree to Mr. Oliver's request that 11 witnesses be ordered to appear before the committee.

INVITED BACK

Mr. Roberts, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Toronto St. Patrick, said:

"I don't think there is any parliamentary authority for them to write a minority report." He extended an invitation to the opposition members to return to the committee meetings, stating that the committee could write a better report if the three were present.

Commenting on the withdrawal of the three opposition members, Attorney General Porter said: ..

"If any members don't agree with the report they will have plenty of opportunity to air their views in the legislature. I never heard of a minority withdrawing just because they didn't agree with the majority."

He agreed with Mr. Roberts that there is provision for only one report from the select committee.

Mr. Oliver insisted, however, that the position of the minority group was established and was the best parliamentary procedure in this or any land."

WANTS ALL ANSWERS

He added that if he and the two other members of the opposition had stayed at the meeting they would have been giving our name and signature to a report that we didn't agree with the paper it was printed on.

He was determined to find "all the answers to the questions arising out of the highways scandal, one way or another."

Wage Line Broken In Ford Strike Say Labor Heads

TORONTO (CP)—Labor leaders today hailed settlement of the Ford strike as a victory against management's hold-the-line wage policy.

"Ford workers definitely broke the wage line," said A. E. MacArthur, president of the 200,000-member Ontario Federation of Labor.

"It is unfortunate, however, that so much production and time was lost. The end result does not begin to vindicate the company's stubborn and unjust demands. If the money was there at the end of the strike, why wasn't it there at the beginning?"

William Jenoves, president of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC), said he is glad the Ford workers got "an honorable settlement." He added:

"The settlement will restore peace and give relief to the misery and unhappiness incurred by this long strike."

Inquest Jury Says Saunders Killed By Act of God

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A coroner's jury decided Thursday that no one was to blame for the Jan. 15 plane crash which claimed the life of Toronto chairman Robert E. Saunders, 51. It returned a verdict saying:

"It was beyond human control, and can be classified as an act of God."

The inquest jury ruled that failure of runway lights at London's Crumlin airport minutes before the ice-sheathed plane crashed had contributed to the accident, but made three recommendations:

1. The department of transport should consider raising its standards for declaring and detracting fog.

2. Someone capable of replacing fuses should be on hand 24 hours a day at all airports and an ample supply of fuses should always be available.

3. An improved-type fuse should be installed at all airports, replacing the older types.

IN AGREEMENT

Presiding coroner Dr. Donald Warren of Hamilton told the five-man jury he was in complete agreement with its verdict.

Capt. Lambert Rogers of Toronto was piloting the twin-engined Hydro-owned plane which left Windsor for Toronto late Jan. 15. The craft carried no wing de-icing equipment.

The pilot's plan was forecast for midnight at Windsor, but Capt. Rogers left at 10:30 p.m. could fly through the danger area on the basis of a cruising speed of 180 m.p.h. an hour and a 35-mile-an-hour tail wind. The aircraft took directly after it plane.

The pilot first ran into icing conditions near Wallaceburg. Soon afterwards the weather became critical.

INTO FIELD

As the plane was about to land, it stalled into a farmer's field at Komoka, where Mrs. Saunders died in hospital 30 hours later from shock due to internal injuries and hemorrhage.

Norman Craig, Crumlin maintenance man, said the runway was thrown into darkness just before the crash when three fuses blew. There was a delay in replacing them because the trivial electrician had been given permission to go to Windsor.

Hugh MacLean, department of transport senior airways service man, said arrangements for fuses were made since the accident to ensure that someone is always on duty to replace fuses in emergencies.

They were among nearly 30 witnesses who testified during the three-day hearing.

Senate Leaders Seek Quick Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders pressed today for a quick vote which would stamp congressional approval on President Eisenhower's Formosa defence policy, but critics indicated they want to do some more talking.

"I think the vote must come today," said Senator William Knowland, California, the Republican leader. "It would be bad psychologically to continue the delay."

He thus took the same line as that voiced Thursday by chairman Walter George (Dem. Ga.) of the Senate foreign relations committee. George told the Senate it should not use "trifling amendments" or long delays to rob the resolution of its psychological impact.

HAS PASSED HOUSE

The resolution, which would give advance approval to the measures Eisenhower deems necessary to protect Formosa and the Pescadores islands, passed the House Tuesday, 409 to 3.

That the Senate will also approve was conceded by almost everyone. The only question was when.

Senator Earle Clements (Dem. Ky.), acting majority leader, said he will insist that the session tonight or order a Saturday session if that will bring a final vote.

SEE STORM LOST

Knowland and chairman Richard Russell (Dem. Ga.) of the armed services committee said they thought the storm of debate had been taken out of the opposition by a closed-door session Thursday by the White House.

Senator Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.) contended, on the other hand, that the statement is "ta tal admission that the resolution is broad enough to give advance authorization to make a preventive war strike" at the China mainland. Morse said he will speak again Monday or Tuesday.

The statement said Eisenhower, at a conference with military officials, had made it clear that U. S. forces in the event of Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa "were designed purely for defensive purposes."

Want Strikes Banned Before Secret Votes

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Chamber of Commerce has asked the Ontario government to prohibit a union from striking until employees have held a supervised secret vote.

The chamber presented Thursday to the cabinet, the chamber said the government should set up the machinery for, and also supervise, such a vote. No strikes should be permitted unless they had been authorized by a majority of employees.

The brief also asked for the same procedure before a union is certified when there is doubt that employees want the union as bargaining agent.

The secret strike vote should be held only after a cooling-off period to be determined by the minister of labor, the 35,000-member chamber suggested.

In another resolution, adopted by the 187 boards of trade and chambers of commerce affiliated with the main body, the government was urged to appoint a select committee to undertake an exhaustive study of labor-management relations and to examine the feasibility of establishing such a system in Ontario.

Other resolutions: that an agreement be made with the federal government by which the provincial government would abandon the succession duty field and eliminate the duplication of assessments; that the Ontario government seek an early federal-provincial conference; that a tax be imposed on all persons in a municipality not assessed as an owner or tenant; legislation to permit municipalities to tax the property of Ontario Hydro and other publicly-owned utilities and crown companies; that traffic travelling in both directions be made to stop for the loading and unloading of school buses.

Warden J. H. Sprackett, warden of Hastings County, is home to attend a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital, reported today that the temperature in Tudor and Cashel township Thursday evening was 22 degrees below zero at 9 o'clock.

1,000 British Scouts To Attend Jamboree

LONDON (CP) — British Boy Scouts attending the eighth World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., next summer are expected to number about 1,500.

Representatives are being chosen on recommendation of scoutmasters.

Scout officials report the high cost of travel has reduced Britain's delegation considerably. Expenses are reckoned at more than $1,000 a head, although some groups will receive financial aid from county funds.

Special whist drives, jumble and craft sales are planned by scattered groups up and down the country, to raise funds.

WHERE LEGS ARE PARALLEL

A report from Paris at last explains why French fashions are that way. It is because women have "parallel" legs.

This startling discovery came by way of a footnote in a report from the Paris fashion arenas that the success of their clothes depends on the women who wear them. It sounds logical enough, but the women referred to are not the reigning queens of the best-dressed lists. They are the Paris mannequins.

The profession of mannequin is not an easy one if the training routine is to be believed. "Le Figaro's" fashion reporter writes that at a mannequin training school he saw a woman holding the end of a rope, of which the other end was tied around a young girl's leg. If the pupil with the rope around her legs made a wrong movement the teacher gave a pull. Its purpose was to make the would-be mannequin take a more upright stance.

A golden rule of the mannequin school is: "Every woman has two natural legs that have to remain parallel when she walks, that is to say, when she puts her foot forward."

We cannot profess to being expert on the subject of women's legs, but as a rather longtime observer we are somewhat doubtful about them being parallel. One can say almost anything flattering about women's legs and be on safe ground with one exception. They are never parallel. They may be similar. Indeed, it is somewhat disconcerting when they are not.

We cannot, of course, speak from observation about the parallel qualities of the legs of Paris mannequins, but women elsewhere just don't have parallel legs. Their legs are always wider apart at the hip than they are at the knee as noted on the summer beaches.

Below the knee legs diverge at a slight angle which is more apparent as a woman starts to run.

We are inclined to think that complimenting a woman for her parallel legs is the last resort of an uninspirative mind. In fact it is downright misleading because women are not constructed, anatomically, for parallel legs.

However, the "Parallel Leg" theory goes a long way to explain Paris fashions even if it is not very enlightening about women's legs.

A QUESTION OF INTERPRETATION

Willson Woodside, writing in "Saturday Night," says that "the closer the Germans come to having arms in their hands again the more reluctant they appear to reach out and take them."

Hardly reveal his surprise that in a recent public opinion survey "no fewer than 79 per cent of the young men between 21 and 25 said that they did not want to be soldiers."

Only one per cent had no answer to this question.

That seems to mean that one German male in every five between the ages of 21 and 25 actually wants to be a soldier.

In considering any person's opinion, on any subject, one should not overlook the circumstances in which it is expressed. The German people are divided, with the exception of Communist aggression poised on the borders of their homeland, one would expect a large number of young West Germans to be prepared to take up arms if necessary. But that is not entirely different thing from wanting to be a soldier. It is extremely doubtful whether, at the height of the Second World War, when passions were high, even a tenth of the men in Canada's army actually wanted to be soldiers. If public opinion in Germany is accurately reflected by the figures quoted by Mr. Woodside the present situation is a good thing to be 79 per cent of young men between 21 and 25 do not want to be soldiers, but that one German male in every five between these ages actually desires to follow this "profession."

The only good soldier is the one who wishes there was no necessity for him to be one, the man who does not want to be a soldier, but who is prepared to undertake a task distasteful because he considers it his duty to his country and his fellow-men. Such a man deserves praise; the man who "wants" to be a soldier is in need of pity—or psychiatric treatment.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A survey of church leaders at Toronto is said to have revealed that they oppose acceptance of an offer by B. T. Taylor and his associates to build a $12,000,000 civic centre in downtown Toronto.

They fear the building might bear the name of the brewery company which donated it.

William Shakespeare has told us that a rose by any other name would smell as sweet, but the Bard of Avon is not on record as to the type of odor emanating from the civic centre are in distinctly different categories and leaders, however, evidently believed that the rose and the civic centre are in distinctly different categories and that when it comes to civic centres there is, indeed, a great deal in a name.

A compromise appears in order but we have scant hopes that either side to the controversy will accept our suggestion, which is that the Taylor-made centre should be known as the Aitar of Four Roses.

THE CONSTANT CRITICS

When I have on my Christmas tie,
My Christmas shirts and hose, I hope I'll get admiring eyes From faithful friends or foes, that.

But no one into praise is stirred
As I go strutting by,
And no one ever says a word About my gorgeous tie.

My Christmas gloves nobody sees
Or notes the Christmas hat,
Although I'm sure I've dressed to please,
There's none who mentions that.

But when it's feathered, frayed and old,
Though proud of it am I,
"It's time," by someone I am told,
"You bought yourself a tie."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 28, 1935.

Ald. Benjamin Sire, chairman of public works in the city council, informs us that the special by-law removing snow this winter will be heavy. So far this season closer to three thousand dollars have been expended in the work of clearing the streets, in which large gangs of men and numerous extra trucks were required.

The local Central Relief Bureau is making an urgent appeal for more clothing for people here who are in need. So far this season donations of clothing and other necessary articles have been far from heavy.

Twenty-four degrees below zero was the official registration of the temperature at the pump house yesterday morning. It was cold.

Over the week-end twenty-five persons found a welcome shelter at the police station.

Thomas Wallace, water works department, E. T. Austin, says that the recently purchased electric thawing machine works perfectly; it is mounted on a trailer and is easily conveyed to places where pipes are frozen. The heavy blanket of snow overlying the city streets has assisted the department greatly in reducing the number of frozen services this year.

30 YEARS AGO

January 28, 1925.

Mr. Walter E. Wiggins of Bancroft, reeve of Faraday township, has been elected unanimously to the office of Warden of the County of Hastings for the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Kelly of Buffalo, N.Y., Mr. Richard Kelly of Toronto; Mrs. Catherine Kelly and Mrs. Don Murray of Stone, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whalen.

At the annual meeting of the congregation of John Street Presbyterian Church the following were elected to compose the Board of Management: Messrs. Mackenzie Robertson, J. D. MacMillan, John Lill and Glen Ball; Mesdames J. D. Ross and Harry B. Stock were appointed auditors. During the year the sum of $8,750. was raised for all purposes, including $1,700 for missions.

40 YEARS AGO

January 28, 1915.

Mr. S. Grant, M.P.P., Tweed, was in town today.

Mr. Simmons of Toronto is visiting her mother, Mrs. James Fleming, Cedar Street.

The members of the Anglican Young People's Association in connection with Christ Church held an enjoyable social in the Parish Hall last evening. Mr. Douglas Row, vice-president, acted as chairman in a pleasing and efficient manner.

Twenty-five members of "The Idle Rich Club" enjoyed a sleigh driving party last evening and after the drive were served and the balance of the evening passed in playing games and dancing.

Mr. Lee Culligan of Cobourg is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Thomas Kelso of Wichita, Kansas, an old Belleville boy, is home on a visit.

50 YEARS AGO

January 28, 1905.

In the retirement of Mr. Thomas Wills from the position of Hastings County Treasurer, a position which he had held for fifty years, the county loses a faithful and valuable official. His retirement is to be doubly regretted as it removes another tie with the past. This period, while congratulations are showered upon Mr. B. M. Mallory, we wish him no better fortune than at the close of his term of office he may be able to look back upon a record as creditable as that of Mr. Wills; and that he will, those of us who know him, can have no doubt.

Mr. R. H. Spencer of Trenton has been appointed Grand Superintendent of Prince Edward District No. 11, Royal Arch Masons.

Mr. Chauncey Ashley has added to his insurance office some of the fire insurance agencies represented by the late James Chisholm.

Memorable 1954 Sayings

(Edmonton Journal)

This is the time of year when it is customary to prepare lists of the most remarkable sayings of the preceding twelve months. Here are a few 1954 quotations, in various fields of endeavor, which seem to us to deserve preservation.

Official pronouncements department: "The flights, landings and take-offs of aircraft ceased. Flying saucers, and 'flying cigars' are forbidden on the territory of the community of Chateau-seul-du-Pape.—Decree issued by the mayor of Chateau-seul-du-Pape, France.

Home truths department: "While it might be true that many men owed their success to their wives, it was also true to say that many owed their wives to their success."—Speaker at a savings conference in Blackpool, England.

Unanswerable questions department: "How are we going to bury nine million corpses?"—Val Peterson, U.C. civil defence administrator, discussing H-Bomb attacks.

Nest illustrations: "I think it more important to speak about the properties of chlorine than the improprieties of Cinderella."—Dorothy Crowfoot, British physicist, advocating scientific rather than classical studies.

Putting it in a nutshell: "France is ready to forget the Nazis' crimes on condition that Germany herself does not forget them."—Edouard Herriot, former premier of France.

Definitional section: "An unlucky child on a bicycle is simply an accident going some where."—Sir Leslie Boyce, Mayor (London) road safety report.

Startling statements, considering the speaker's size: "It is times worse to steal a man's reputation than to steal his money."—Senator McCarthy.

"You know I — didn't mean — is — that - way department: "There are only about 12 lesbians in a year in London and not all are serious—some are just bunnies."—Commander Hathcrill of Scotland Yard.

Hen Better Factory

(Utica Observer-Dispatch)

The hen as a factory has been greatly improved. The average hen laid 119 eggs in a year. Last year she produced 182 eggs.

There were only 5 per cent more hens last year than in 1930, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture, but they produced 50 per cent more eggs.

It shows what the colleges of agriculture and their willing students, the poultrymen, have been up to. They have put science in such ways as breeding and feeding, not to mention laying up the hencoops to keep the hens scratching.

This use of science has produced lower prices for eggs, which is a good thing for consumers, but the poultrymen don't like it. Last month farmers were receiving 34.1 cents a dozen, compared with 34.5 cents a year ago.

As with milk, there is a campaign to invite people to eat more eggs. That appears to be a good idea. The same kind of scientists who got the hens to lay more eggs say milk and eggs are foods which people should consume in quantity for their own good.

TV Does Not Kill Reading

(Baltimore Sun)

A long grey beard is not a prerequisite for remembering the days when it was freely predicted that the radio and the automatic phonograph would spell the end to all live forms of entertainment. And so about the same time, give or take a few years, it was becoming fairly obvious to most thinking persons that the legitimate theatre was doomed beyond recall by the "talkies".

The, along came television, and the doubting voices were even more alarming: the reading of books would become as popular as the ancient and honorable sport of curling and conversation would become a lost art.

By now, nearly everybody knows that the prophets of doom were wrong on the radio, the phonograph and movies. As for the theatre, it has survived a new interest in subjects such as ballet, social problems, and puppetry, to yourself handicrafts, creating a demand for books on these. The list is conceivable, as well, that shows featuring book discussions and literary quizzes will have an interest in the general field of literature.

Last Wednesday I cited the conclusion reached by Drs. George A. Dennison and J. D. Dowling of Birmingham, Ala., from their experience as health administrators. They concluded that in what has been called the "rabies capital of North America":

"1. Rabies is primarily a veterinary problem. Regardless of its prevalence among dogs, it will probably never cause sufficient morbidity or mortality among human beings in this region to allow classification as a public health problem of importance.

"2. Probably no other physicians or health authorities in the country are better qualified to tell the truth about rabies than these Birmingham authorities.

Dr. T. F. Sellers, head of the Georgia Health Department said in American Journal of Tropical Medicine for May, '48, that after thirty years by practical experience it was his belief that antirabic vaccine is not harmless and that it has caused more deaths than has rabies when given to persons only indirectly exposed or exposed. Dr. Sellers said that administration of antirabic vaccine to persons merely bitten or scratched by the teeth of known or suspectedly rabid animals is not justified in that the danger of the disease (rabies) is greater than the ill effects from the vaccine. But for exposures other than actual bites, Dr. Sellers said, the danger of treatment complications far exceeds that of either rabies or rabiphobia. He was convinced that it is not hydrophobia which rabies victim dies, but constitutes the major and more troublesome problem and more frightening physician and health officer.

Rabiphobia means unreasonable or insane dread or fear of rabies.

Britain Pays on Dot

(Miami Daily News)

Yesterday, which was the one written in the bond, Great Britain paid the last annual payment of principal and interest on the $3,750 loans made by the United States.

This financial transaction merits the attention of every American, who for so long has heard the wailing of Britain's welfare state which hates the British and which has built up a feeling that Britain owes us somehow the loans we made are never paid.

How much of a debt we, and every American citizen, owe Britain is a question open to as she did in all the desperate early months of the war, when we were well prepared and modernly equipped German army rolled over Britain, no one cannot say.

It is one of those giant intangibles which cannot be measured in terms of dollars or pounds. But one thing is sure and honest person denies it, or wishes so to do, is that those civilizations owe her such a debt.

So, as she paid almost $150 million which represented the equivalent of the total value of Britain's textile, steel and coal factories and mills, it seemed well to note the fact, and not leave it buried in a paragraph or so on the financial pages. Hope he was right—that the debt was for Lend-Lease, which we might have written off, since it was used to save our civilization in the days when we were "The Cliffs of Dover" and Britain fought alone.

Seek New Use For Yule Trees

(By Maurice Jefferies writing in The Ottawa Is the Windsor Star)

Householders are faced with that annual problem of what to do with what remains of their Christmas trees.

One of these days it may be no problem at all; either the genuine Christmas trees may become so expensive that we'll have to use an artificial one or, collectors will gladly pick them up at the door—they might even become the subject of auction and sweep up the droppings from the living room floor.

The Christmas tree is the latest to come under the searching eye of the scientist. As a result of experiments now being conducted in Ontario, a number of new Canadian industries may sprout someday from Christmas tree needles.

With financial help too, from the Queen's Park government, the Ontario Research Foundation has begun experiments to distil commercial quantities of essential oils from the needles of spruce and balsam.

As a useful by-product of foliage now wasted in forest slashings the needle oil is a promising chemical base for valuable perfumes.

Chief chemist in the forest products' division of the Ontario Research Foundation laboratories, H. Broden Marshall estimates that 5,000 pounds of oil a year can be obtained from Ontario's annual cut of 2,000,000 cords of black spruce alone.

So far the experiments indicate a yield of one per cent of oil for weight of balsam and spruce needles. In each cord there are 500 pounds of needles. That figures out to five pounds of oil in each cord.

Find Orwell Good Prophet

(Hamilton Spectator)

Hardly a week seems to pass without the fulfilment of another of George Orwell's predictions.

Orwell forecast, Big Brother's government was constantly revising the histories and newspaper files to bring the past into agreement with the present party line. Now Moscow radio has announced that a new official edition of Karl Marx's "Das Kapital, the Bible of Communism, is to be revised because it "has serious faults," including "distortions and discrepancies in translations."

The revision has been decided on by the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, controlled, we're told, by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who is said to be very much of a power behind Mr. Georgi M. Malenkov's throne.

The PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Most of us believe that the highest compliment we can pay to a good cook is to ask for the recipe of some dish or pickle or sauce we have just eaten. Some years ago I was around Washington in a good restaurant I was so taken with their lettuce and oil dressing that I asked for the recipe, which was promptly and courteously provided. Then I went home, and all local restaurants to whom I gave the recipe called it Waldorf and the same. In my innocence, I did not understand I was treading on private ground. So on a subsequent visit to Washington, I mentioned this to the head waiter, and presently he looked at me with good clean American astonishment.

"Cecil Brevens!" said he. "You didn't expect we'd give you the real recipe? Why, that's part of our stock in trade."

A friend of mine visiting one of those $40 a day hotels in Florida this winter was greatly delighted with the breakfast he got on the salads, and asked the head waiter if it were possible to obtain the recipe for it.

"Certainly, sir," said the gracious gentleman, "your number? I shall have it sent to you."

There it was, that evening, in a nice envelope.

When he got his bill at the end of his stay, there was the item:

"Receipe for French dressing . . $100."

Up in Waterloo county, in Ontario, there are m a n y eating places where you can get the wonderful cookery the Pennsylvania Dutch have given to the Canadian pioneers brought with them a century ago. In one of these there was served a delicious pickle, a cheerful, it topped off a meal so delightful that I felt I must have one of my chief cooks possibly have the Jonnycake recipe to take home.

The cook came out from his kitchen and, beaming, wrote the recipe on the back of a menu.

When we were leaving, he came out the back door with a cardboard box.

"A Johnnycake to take, home," said he, "as y o u can't go wrong."

I guess it all depends where you are, when you ask for a recipe.

worth nothing. Indeed, from all the evidence I have been able to obtain, the blind injection of what the nineteenth century medical and authorities call "antirabies vaccine," "Pasteur virus" is more dangerous than the dogbite itself or any effect of such a wound.

It is occurs to any reader that my opinion or judgment concerning the rabies question is of less weight than that of one or another recognized medical authority, do please introduce the authority and his or her opinion to me. Still, any physician or health officer who cares to give a contrary opinion or advice may do so in this column and I promise to reveal or withhold his or her name as he or she may prefer.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT SILENT GUEST

I am always entertaining or conversing with some silent guest whom I have invited to be with me. That guest may be one from whom I have long been parted. Or it may be one I met but yesterday. Or it may be a guest by proxy—a beloved writer's book that gives life flesh and blood, and a presence in my library so that our talk could be renewed.

Put two fine minds and characters together and you will see the need for mere talk. Even silence becomes eloquent. There are those with whom we love to be, whose presence and soul radiation are sufficient to give us comfort and reward joy. There is a sense of loneliness that comes upon me when largely alone in the forest. There it is that the silence assumes greatness, and one feels small and unimportant. But only for a brief period. An appreciation of being is initiated, like a lover's return.

That Silent Guest may be with us always, for our guest is never the same. Each is met and invited into the realm of fellowship. They come and go, leaving memory behind, so that in the hours of solitude whom we love never totally leave us alone. One of the most arresting characters in the New Testament is that one Jesus and Zaccheus. The latter was a small man, so so small that when Jesus went to his town he climbed into a tree so that through it well see him. But he didn't escape the eye of Jesus, who looked up and called to him, "I would like to be a guest in his house!"

Perhaps some of you recall that impressive play "The Third Floor Back." There, I feared the role of the Silent Guest, who was the Lord Himself, came at a strange came over all in that house! As our Silent Guest to this day, that same Presence prays for ours, and we, too may go out to bless and influence all with whom we come in contact.

TWISTED TREES AND NATURES

Recently I had the opportunity of looking on a crude architectural drawing of an old sailing ship. It involved the intricate piecing together of many timbers. I was led to ask someone how the builders got the curved pieces of lumber with which to fashion the hull.

My informant told me—and how true it was right—that for the most part the builders of some generation ago used the lumber of twisted trees for the hulls. They went out into the forests and marked tall straight trees for masts and others for beams; but they also marked some of the twisted trees for hulls.

If this is the proper explanation, then it teaches a mighty and significant lesson. Even the twisted and distorted have their place in the building of character. I would tell us that a completely integrated personality is not only extremely rare but that none of the most useful people are, and always have been, found on the dead side. Out of the most intense frustration has come some of life's greatest poetry. Out of struggle against handicaps has often arisen the noblest quality of character. The marked determination which lands man on top of the assaulting mountain has often started out under them, has turned many a weakling into a giant.

God even has use for the quirks and twists of our minds and temperaments.

Accused Falls Asleep In Prisoner's Dock

MONTREAL (CP)—A 28-year-old night club manager, who fell asleep and began snoring in the prisoner's dock, was convicted Thursday of breaking into a home in suburban Ville St. Michel and stealing a radio worth $1,200.

The man, Raymond Morin, will be sentenced today.

When Morin fell asleep, Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure said:

"This is the most unbelievable thing I've seen in my 16 years on the bench. Here we are devoting ourselves to render justice for you and you start snoring."

This caused defence lawyer J.P. Masiocotis to quip: "It's the sleep of the just."

Cut $4,500,000 From Subsidies For Gold Mines

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal emergency aid for Canadian gold mines will be reduced by some $4,500,000 this year under a revised-down maximum formula which squeezes out some of the more efficient producers from the subsidy plan.

Major change in the new formula announced by Mines Minister Prudham Thursday night is the elimination of aid to mines whose production cost are $36.50 an ounce or less.

Previously-paid was available on production costs of more than $18 an ounce. The rise in this aid barrier may eliminate subsidies for perhaps one-half dozen of the more efficient producers.

The new formula goes into effect for two years: 1955 and 1956. Payments will cover two-thirds of current year production and will amount to two-thirds of costs exceeding $36.50 an ounce, but amounting to not more than $45 an ounce.

Under the previous formula, payments covered one-half production costs exceeding $18 an ounce and not amounting to more than $45. It also covered the amount of current production exceeding one-half the output in the "base" year. For older mines the base year could be any of three: 1948, 1949 or 1950, whichever the mine preferred.

The maximum payment obtainable under the new formula is $12.33 an ounce, scaled down from the previous maximum of $13.50.

Soo Bushworker Given Ten Years For Manslaughter

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Convicted of manslaughter in the death of the woman with whom he had lived for four years, bushworker John Lecuyer Thursday was sentenced to 10 years penitentiary. He originally had been charged with murder.

The victim, 21-year-old Helen Rivers, was found dead New Year's Day in the one-room cabin the couple shared near Blind River, 90 miles east of here. During the week-long trial a doctor testified that Miss Rivers died from concussion, partial asphyxia and intoxication.

Lecuyer, 26, said he struck the woman three times with his fists after she came at him with a knife and a hatchet.

U.S. NAVY TESTS GUIDED MISSILE

A U.S. navy "regulus" guided missile takes off with a roar from a portable launcher on the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Yancock during test operations at sea. Two jet-assist take-off bottles help give the missile flying speed as it leaves the launcher. When the missile is on its way, the bottles drop off and the jet engines powers the "bird" on its high-speed flight. The regulus is a surface-to-surface missile, guided by remote control radio and is capable of being launched from submarines, surface ships or land sites. (Central Press Canadian).

At a photographic exhibition in New York, built around the theme, "The Family of Man," this shot, according to the exhibitor, Edward Steichen, captures the theme better than any of the other 500. It shows a young Peruvian boy playing a flute and the exhibition says: "A little trace of mischief, but much sweetness— that's the song of life." (Central Press Canadian.)

Commons Urged To Give Debates In Two Languages

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons was urged Thursday night to adopt a system of simultaneous language translation of debates, thus permitting members to follow speeches given in a tongue otherthan their own.

Georges Villeneuve (L—Roberval) made the recommendation during the throne speech debate. He said the system could be extended to Parliament's publicgalleries where spectators who speak only one language could follow the business of the House more fully.

The translation system he recommended now is used in the United Nations, in Switzerland and in Belgium.

Under the system, linguists speaking into microphones would translate simultaneously the speeches given in the Commons. Members could pick up the translation through earphones.

NOT MORE THAN 15

Mr. Villeneuve said no more than 15 commoners out of 265 were perfectly bilingual. He spoke in French.

The simultaneous translation system, he said, would permit members to work more satisfactorily and encourage some to learn second language.

Earlier in the debate, a French-language independent from Quebec suggested appointment of a royal commission on bilingualism in Canada.

Fernand Girard, Lapointe, said bilingualism is the link between Canada's two major ethnic groups. National unity depended on the practice of bilingualism by both French- and English - langua Canadians.

Canada's Exports Decline Two Years in Row

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's exports declined in 1954 for the second straight year, but a sharper drop in imports reduced the overall foreign trade deficit.

Exports fell mainly by lower shipments to the United States, dropped to $3,945,700,000, down $250,900,000 from $4,177,600,000 in 1953 and $41,000,000 from the record $4,382,800,000 in 1953. Imports were lower from both the U.S. and Britain.

This decline in buying narrowed Canada's deficit to $148,900,000 from $210,200,000 in 1953.

African Natives Among World's Noisiest People

MONTREAL (CP)—An Englishwoman who went to Uganda to visit her brother "for a few weeks" and stayed three years says African natives are among the world's politest people.

Florence Stock, now a caterer in a Montreal women's club, spent the three years in Africa working in hotels in Uganda and Kenya. She seeing her brother, an engineer, at a Uganda dam site.

"If you can stand the din, you're OK," she laughed. "The Africans make more noise than you can imagine—all the time."

One of the first words Miss Stock learned in the English language, spoken by most natives in that region, was wacha-kelele, or shut up.

"It was through necessity more than anything else," she said in an interview.

Miss Stock left Africa before the Mau Mau uprising began but she said she is amazed by accounts of the conflict given in English Canadian newspapers.

"It sounds as if the whole of East Africa is involved when really it is such a small area."

She said she saw no apparent strife between natives and white men, both in Uganda.

Women's Activities

ST. JOHN'S GUILD

The St. John's Guild met at the home of the president, Mrs. O. Babcock for their weekly meeting. There were twelve members present.

After the business meeting there was a sale of home cooking which was very successful.

Plans were made for future meetings.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

MISSION CIRCLE

The January meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of Victoria Avenue Baptist church was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. Daniel, William street, with about thirty members present. The president, Miss Ethel Nurse, presided.

The meeting opened with a short memorial service for one of the circle's most faithful members, Mrs. Albert Blackburn, who passed away on Sunday afternoon. Tribute was paid to Mrs. Blackburn's many years of quiet devoted service in the church. Particular mention was made of the fact that during 1954, in spite of advancing years, she had made 82 calls on the sick and shut-in members of the church family.

DEVOTIONAL

The devotional meditation was given by Mrs. Arnold Orr, who based her remarks on one of the sermons of the late Rev. Peter Marshall, "Researching Unlimited." "Although wonderful advances have been made in the field of scientific research, etc., we have lagged far behind in spiritual experiences because we have failed to accept in faith the wonderful promises of Jesus given to the people of His day and also to us," also meant just as much for all succeeding generations right to the present. This was a very challenging and thought-provoking address."

After the singing of a hymn and a season of directed prayer, Mrs. C. Campbell gave the "Watch Tower" containing several brief items of interest from various phases of Christian endeavor.

INTERESTING TRIP

The topic for the evening was presented by Miss Nurse, who gave an interesting account of her trip earlier this winter to Florida, illustrating her talk with several pictures and snapshots. Her vivid descriptions of the various places visited, the vegetation, animal and bird life, the ocean and Christmas spent under such different conditions, were greatly enjoyed by all the members present.

Following a brief business period, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and the social committee.

Holloway St. United Church W.A. Enjoys Travelogue

The first meeting of the year of Holloway Street United church W.A. was held in the church parlors on Tuesday with a large attendance of members and guests.

A dessert luncheon was served at tables prettily decorated with cut flowers and lighted candles.

Following the repast, Mrs. Glen Dobbs, the president, presided and extended a warm welcome to guests and members and asked for the help and co-operation of all to make a successful year in this important part of the church work.

Mrs. Moynes and Mrs. S. Westover led in the worship service; Mrs. Moynes reading the Scriptures and Mrs. Westover, the meditation, basing her talk on the words of Paul, "And let us not be weary in well-doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not."

GOD'S WORK

"Paul, here is speaking to the church family, the people of the church. As we may grow worldoing good, Paul might have stopped here and said, 'let some one else do it for a change.' Sometimes we don't give up, we don't just put anything into it any more. Paul had suffered every kind of adversity, but could say in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us."

"Supposing Paul had quit. He would have become a stumbling block to the church, to the disharrassment to the Christians. God's work demands patience, love and sacrifice. May we start our work this year with courage and a determination, with faith in God and His plan for us. Only in this way can we hope to meet success with whatever experiences the year may bring."

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. E. Hobbs introduced the guest speaker, Miss Jessie Tuite, who with humor and wit took her audience by word and picture on her travels to the coronation and through Ireland. She said it was a wonderful opportunity, and an experience to be never at that time. She had secured a good seat and was able to see the ceremony which was most sacred and religious.

She pictured the common beauty of Ireland, the lakes of Killarney, parks and Cathedrals as beautiful beyond description. She also brought many humorous incidents of her trip through Dublin and different parts of Ireland.

Mrs. McMurray graciously thanked Miss Tuite for her fine talk.

Mrs. Brouls favored with two solos "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," and "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings."

Mrs. Dobbs conducted the business period during which various reports were given by the secretary and treasurer, showing a successful year just closed.

Mrs. Wilson moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mrs. C. Smith, for her faithful leadership of the past two years.

THANK-YOU LETTERS

Mrs. Alyea read several thank-you letters from shut-ins and bereaved members. One letter from Mrs. Clarke, who though blind for several years, and in her 85th year, sent greetings and a donation to the W.A.

Mrs. Dobbs presented a life membership certificate to Mrs. Talbert Ketcheson from the W.A. for her faithful services. She stated that the aim and object of the W.A. was to strengthen spiritual life of the church and suggested that the talent be used for financial purposes.

The next meeting will be held in the evening with the Evening Branch in charge.

The president closed the meeting.

Wife Preserves

Dry air in a house may be destructive to wooden furniture, pianos and wood floors. Heat in its natural state holds 33 per cent water. A sudden reduction of this moisture causes it to burst out, losing part of their wood. Keeping a room well closed and/or keeping a water-filled vase near the source of heat will help to remedy the situation.

Haley; membership, Mrs. Helm Sr.; house chairman, Mrs. Hugoes; publicity, Mrs. J. Young; executive committee, Mesdames Newton, Meeks, Blain, Helm and Debope.

Mrs. Bradford presented Mrs. Bean, the past president, with a travelling case for her outstanding service in the past three years. A gift was also presented to Mrs. Jeffs for installing the new officers.

Plans were made for a social evening to be held in March when a large basket of groceries will be the draw.

Following the close of the meeting, a pot-luck supper was served by Mrs. Meeks and her co-workers which was enjoyed by all.

Woman Who Hated Circuses Saw More Than Can Remember

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Francoise (Mimi) Harwood of Montreal went to the circus at the age of 10 and hated it so much she resolved never to go back. Then she married Cyril Mills, one of two brothers running Britain's well-known Bertram Mills Circus Company.

Now the dark-haired, French-speaking Canadian has one big rival for her husband's time—the big top. And she's seen more circuses than she can remember.

"My friends laughed when I told them I was marrying into a circus family," she said in an interview in her Bayswater home.

HUSBAND TRAVELS

Husband Cyril, co-director with brother Bernard of the company founded by their father in 1920, travels most of the year with the circus and spends at least six weeks hunting talent on the Continent.

"I can depend on one month's settled married life a year," said Mrs. Mills. "In November."

That's when the circus comes to town to rehearse for the Christmas season and bubble comes home each night for dinner.

"I make no demands on his time when we run in London," said Mrs. Mills. "So much money can be lost in a London season I feel it's up to me to help all I can."

TYPICAL TOUR

Married in London in February, 1950, Mrs. Mills at first travelled with her husband. Now she has a son of two and a three-month-old daughter to care for home. Frederick, 18, a Canadian-born boy on a previous marriage, now is studying for entry to Cambridge University.

Last year Mills made a 20,000-mile continental tour in six weeks, seeing 35 circuses in 31 days. Mrs. Mills says this is typical of the pace she used to meet with him. Top circus artists are hard to come by and Mills now is booking for 1955.

Mrs. Mills has also travelled through Britain with the circus, living on the site, which she considers "much the most comfortable thing to do." The caravans are mostly deluxe models and the circus is "just like a small town within a rops fence," housing some 200 people.

"They're a good-natured, helpful crowd with few temperaments," she added. "But it is a very different world."

CHRISTMAS IN LONDON

It takes the Mills circus three years to travel all touring points from Penzance, Cornwall to Inverness, Scotland, playing each Christmas in London. It covers 30 towns in 30 weeks and when the circus tents fold, Mills is working just as hard for the next opening.

The coming-out season of Mrs. Mills' circus life was the day the Queen paid the first royal visit to a circus site. Mrs. Mills, who met the Queen, said the atmosphere and the sparkle that night under the big top will long be remembered.

"The circus demands so much of her husband's time that Mrs. Mills has averaged three trips to Canada a year since her marriage. She visits her mother in Montreal.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

START SOMETHING YOUR-SELVES, GIRLS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We are two teen-agers, 15 years old. All our friends have dates on the weekends, but we don't. We go to dances and other places, but we never meet new boys. It's always the same ones who are there.

Can you give us an answer to our problems? — M.W. and K.W.

Dear Girls:

An excellent way to make other teen-agers notice you is to start something. By this, I mean some kind of project that would interest boys and girls of your age, and invite them to join it.

It might be organizing a social club, for which you would make careful plans in advance, so that you would really have something to offer. You could get help and advice in forming such plans from some adult you could interest in the project—maybe a teacher in your school, or someone you know in your town who takes a real interest in young people.

Perhaps a hobby club might prove popular; say, perhaps, learning about stamps, or a craft such as wood-working, leather work, jewelry-making, etc., or something else along this line.

Spare dancing is always a drawing card. If you can't find an adult who knows enough about it to help you form a group, get busy and learn something about it yourselves. You'll find books on the subject in your public library. Ask some of the boys if they won't learn how to call the dances they'd probably love it.

Get some of your girl friends together and talk these things over with them. I'm sure you'll find that they would be most enthusiastic and want to join with you in starting something as a result. Once you've got a really good project going, I think you'll find your problem is solved, because young people with ideas and initiative never lack for friends, in fact are always sought after.

DON'T GO OVERBOARD ON YOUR ENTHUSIASMS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About a month ago I met Bob, whom I have told all of my friends that he likes me a lot, he never told me until about two nights ago. Before he asked me, he would kiss me, I refused, and he forced me to kiss him.

It seems silly, but I have found myself in love with him, and I would like to know how I can show him that I love him without appearing to be chasing him? — C.C.

Dear C.C.:

First, let me suggest that you try not to go overboard on any of your enthusiasms about boys, for awhile. For example, let's just say you are greatly attracted to this one, which is exactly the case; you're not in love with him. If you will try to understand that love is composed of a great many more things than I imagine are to be found in your current relationship with this boy, you'll be able to handle the whole thing better. In the short time you have known him, you could not possibly have found out much him, and about yourself in relation to him, all the things you would need to know before you could tell whether or not you were "in love."

How to show a boy that you like him and would like to know him better is a very simple matter. All you need do is to be friendly with him when you see him, and to suggest gaily when he invites you on a date, if a girl appears pleased when she is asked for a date, say boy knows that she likes him or she would have turned him down.

Personally, I can't say I think much of a chap who forces a girl to kiss him, unless of course, she has refused in a way that makes it evident that she wants to be forced. But never think that you have to kiss a boy in order to make it clear that you like him. If you show that you enjoy being with him, enjoy talking with him, and are interested to hear him tell of the things that interest him, he'll know all right that you like him. And he'll like you a whole lot better if you don't appear to be contriving ways to make him notice you.

College girls and budding business women will find this flannel jumper dress a wardrobe boon during the mid-year months. It is very youthful and flattering and will see plenty of duty in office or classroom without wrinkling or mussing.

The one pictured has a scoop neck and a full skirt draped in inverted pleats. A ribbon belt features a curved waistline whirl. Green is a point in the centre front. Fabric covered buttons form the closing from neckline to hem.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

LETTER:

On Nov. 30 . . . two of your readers had written to you about insects; . . . you could have identified them in five minutes if you had had an invaluable little publication, . . . called Household Insects and Their Control by Arthur Gibson and C. R. Twinn. . . . No. 642 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, 25 cents per copy . . . several years ago I met with these insects . . . (eventually) I sent a specimen to the Dept. of Entomology (Dominion), and got my invaluable little book. . . . It is quite simple once we know what to look for, and the pictures in that priceless little book tell at once who and what is any "stranger" . . . in the pantry or around the home.—Ida C. Mcl.,

ANSWER:

I am grateful to you for sending in this specific information and hope the readers who had the trouble with insects see your letter.

QUESTION:

Is there a chance you might have recipe for keeping rose leaves? Once upon a time I had an old-fashioned method using spices but have lost it and now I have a large jar of leaves but no way of preserving them.—Dorie D.

ANSWER:

You will have to have fresh rose petals Dorie.

POTPOURRI

Gather flowers in early morning and dry petals in cool airy place until dew is evaporated. Put in large jar in 1-2-inch layers and sprinkle salt over each layer, adding to them from morning to morning until enough flowers are gathered. Let stand for ten days after last flowers are added, stirring the whole gently each morning. Mix together—coarsely ground— 1-4 oz. mace, 1-2 oz. each allspice and cloves and cinnamon, half a grated nutmeg, 1 oz. powdered orris root and 1-4 lb. dried lavender. In a large bowl arrange alternately layers of the salted rose leaves (called petals) and mixed spices. A few drops each of several essential oils should be added to the layers as you progress—rose, geranium, bitter almond and orange flower are all good. Pour over all when finished 1 oz. of your favorite toilet water or eau de cologne. This makes a large amount—most potpourri makers would make 4 one jar full with it. They will keep for years. Jar was usually left open by chatelaines for half-hour before guests arrived—it has a indefinable spicy fragrance that is delightful.

QUESTION:

Your column is the most interesting part, of the paper to lots of folks me included. I love to hear about Ella and Marianne . . . am wondering how she got her name. Real sure there is a story in that. . . . to my chagrin I find that none of my apple jelly is like this year—just a heavy syrup. . . . Could it be because the herbs stood in the frig. all winter —1-2 bottle left from last year's jelly-making. Is there anything I can do such a boiling over again?—Mrs. H. P.

ANSWER:

For years I have tried to help readers restore pickle and jelly failures—but even when they have been improved they are not choice products—so I feel I must say it is like trying good ingredients after bad—to say nothing of the time spent. Be philosophical about the jelly—use it for fruit drinks and make it up with water and cornstarch and spices into pudding sauces. Throw out old pectin and her year and start each year with fresh. Your idea about Christmas cards was quite unique (this reader wrote notes on the blank pages of beautiful cards and cut off pages bearing Christmas messages). Marianne's dad wanted part of her name to be Mary; I thought the dual name looked and sounded pretty with the one syllable surname beginning with "M". That's the story.

GOOD MANNERS

WHO PAYS FOR FLOWER HEADDRESSES?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We, the maid of honor and the six bridesmaids in a formal wedding, would like to know if it would be have you give us your point of view about our problem. We have bought and paid for the dresses the bride chose for us, and we had expected that she would choose hats that we would not only wear at the wedding, but could wear afterward. Instead she has designed a flower headdress for us to wear, the flowers of the headdress to be of the same flowers as our bouquets. Some of us think the bride should pay for the flower headdresses as she pays for our bouquets. Others think that we would be expected to pay for these, as we would pay for hats. What do you think we should expect?

— Bride's Attendants

These flower headdresses should, I think, be considered the bride's expense. And I'm pretty sure she will include these with your bouquets, as her friends have suggested.

SHOULD BEST MAN WEAR BOUTONNIERE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My friend's wedding is to be very small and informal—just the bride and groom, the maid of honor and the best man, and the two families. The groom will be in uniform. Is it considered proper to send so of course will not wear a boutonniere? . . . Best man

No,

TO SERVE IN IN-BETWEEN HOURS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Thank you for answering my two questions in your column yesterday. Today I would like to. Today I would like to ask you to suggest what kind of refreshments I could properly serve to visitors who stop in to chat between the hours of coffee and tea—holiday as the afternoon. It is so soon after luncheon and too early for tea. Now that my children are back to school, I hope to be able to entertain a little myself during this gay season.

Husband-Wife Team Will Appear in Starring Roles

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you irritated when the announcer tells you the program you're hearing or watching is canned? Irritated now that it's canned but being told about it?

The National Association for Radio and Television Broadcasters is out to help such American viewers.

Except for a few types of programs such as newscasts and speeches the trade association would drop all announcements as to whether they were from a recording or on film.

"Indeed," says the association in a petition to the Federal Communications Commission, "the intrusion into a carefully constructed program of announcements of recordings of transcriptions is capable many times of real detraction from program continuity and enjoyment and can constitute a real irritant to the listener or viewer."

It's good to know what's been disturbing the enjoyment of those delightful commercials and plugs, interrupted occasionally by programs. It's the bother of being told they were mechanically reproduced.

"Certainly," the petition says, "at this time, energy should be expended on simplicity in the production of a high-quality program should not be diverted to be dictated through the announcement of no affirmative value."

The association has a code limiting commercials to a total of three minutes per half-hour show at night, and the sponsors generously help keep down even those. Only four or five spots in the program. That's fine, even considering that performers often manage to get in eight or 10 product plugs in addition—not only their sponsor's, but other people's.

So how long does it take to say: "The preceding program was mechanically reproduced?" Unless you rush it, it's apt to take three seconds.

Actually, the association is trying to side step a matter of vital interest to many viewers and listeners: Whether or not what they're seeing and hearing is fresh—whether it's being presented from the actual performance or from a recording. The approach that it's annoying and time-consuming is an excuse, if not a very good one.

It took some negotiations by NBC with rival, CBS, to get that network's consent for its Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy to take starring roles in the comedy "The Way Things Happen," on Television Playhouse next Sunday night. It's one of the rare dramatic performances for the attractive husband-wife team better known for their variety shows.

The five films on the life of Abraham Lincoln shown on Omnibus two season ago have been integrated into a single 50-minute feature to be shown on the Feb. 6 telecast with the title "Mr. Lincoln."

Postal Clerk Added to RCMP Fugitive List

OTTAWA (CP) — A 46-year-old postal clerk, whose background is almost as mysterious as the disappearance of $44,300 from the post office where he worked, is the newest name on the RCMP's list of most-wanted fugitives.

He is John Keith MacDonald, who has been sought since the money disappeared Dec. 17 from the office at Britannia Beach, B.C.

The RCMP announced his addition to the list Thursday.

These are the others on the RCMP most-wanted list:

Michael Sisco, alias Antoine d'Agostino, 47, Montreal restaurant owner who did not appear to answer narcotics and conspiracy charges in 1950. A French court at Toulouse in 1948 convicted him in absentia for treason and sentenced him to death.

William Patrick Ryan, 63, international swindler sought by Vancouver and Toronto police on a $15,000 horse race fraud.

William Adams, alias Wasely Sombarski, alias Joe Lacheau, 32, wanted in St. Catharines, Ont., on a charge of murdering his father, whose body was found buried in a basement here in June, 1949.

Daniel William O'Connor, alias Mike Clancy, alias Bob Collins, 38, wanted for attempted murder for shooting at and pistol-whipping an RCMP constable at Keremeos, B.C., in May, 1953.

Clifford Eugene Dawley, 46, made during a speech dealing chiefly with the West German issue. He supported ratification of the agreements but said the West must try to negotiate a state of co-existence with Russia.

He said he is opposed to communism and "I hope nobody here will say that I am defending Russia because I am not." However, one should sometimes put himself in the other fellow's place and realize that "the average Russian might be inclined to worry when he learned that this country was surrounded by air fields."

NINE MEMBERS

Nine Liberal members took part in the debate, including Hon. Wishart Robertson, who turned over the Speaker's dais to another member while he spoke from the floor in support of the proposal.

Senator Euler, son of a German immigrant, said the people of Germany do not like war.

"The full value of Germany's membership in NATO cannot be had unless we change our attitude towards her. It may be difficult but we must restore some sense of goodwill, equality and sovereignty towards her."

Other speakers were: Senator W. Ross Macdonald, government leader; Senator John T. Haig (PC—Manitoba), Opposition leader; Senator A. K. Hugessen (L—Quebec); Senator J. A. Bradette (L—Ontario); Senator Thomas A. Crerar (L—Manitoba); Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) and Senator Ralph B. Horner (L—Saskatchewan).

THREE ALTERNATIVES

Senator Euler said the Free World today has three alternatives. They were to continue the present state of uncertainty, to go to war or to attempt to live with Russia and other Communist nations.

"To me, the third course is the only one possible because we have to come to it anyway," he said. "I believe Mr. Churchill (Prime Minister Churchill) is for it and I think Mr. Eden (Sir Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary) is, too.

"They make this stipulation, of course, that they are not going to negotiate with Russia until NATO has been signed and sealed, after all the countries that are contributory to it are in agreement. However, I am not going to argue that.

"For my part, I think ultimately we must try and negotiate a state of co-existence. . . We have got to live with Russia."

THEY'RE GLOATING

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles had its warmest day of the young year Thursday. It was a balmy 75.

Senator Proposes U.N. Entry Of Red China

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian diplomatic recognition of Communist China, and her admission to the United Nations, has been proposed in the Senate.

Arguments for those two moves were made Thursday by Senator William Euler (L—Ontario) during an Upper Chamber debate which ended in unanimous approval for admission of a rearmed West Germany into NATO.

Senate ratification of the Paris agreements on West Germany, following similar action by the Commons Wednesday, makes Canada the fifth NATO member to complete ratification of the agreements. The others are the United Kingdom, Greece, Iceland and Norway. Parliaments of the nine other NATO members, plus West Germany, must ratify them before the agreements go into effect.

CHINESE QUESTION

Senator Euler said that since Communists form the actual government of the Chinese mainland "we should recognize it." He added that Red China "should come into the United Nations."

He did not amplify his remarks,

U.S. IS READY

"We are as alert as we can be —we are ready to go to war this minute," the source declared.

(Peiping radio says Eisenhower "was asking Congress for dictatorial powers to start a war which has never been possessed by his predecessors."

The propaganda broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said the powers would free Eisenhower "from all restrictions on scope and nature of action to be taken."

CHINESE VIEW

(The official Chinese Red radio said the U.S. Congress resolution would grant Eisenhower authority "to use American armed forces in open intervention in the Chinese people's liberation of Taiwan (Formosa), Penghu and the off-shore islands, and to launch direct armed aggression against China's mainland.)

A Nationalist military spokesman today estimated that the Reds had massed 400,000 troops in the two provinces opposite Formosa and Chiang Kai-shek's string of island outposts.

He said the Red forces, which include security troops and veterans of the Korean war, are about equally divided between Fukien and Fukien provinces. Some are within gun range of the Nationalist island outposts.

The Communists also have a string of mainland air bases which have mounted 200 plane strikes against the Nationalists.

U.S. GATHERS STRENGTH

Dwelling on U. S. air and sea strength in this troubled sector makes it clear that the U.S. is preparing to resist any Communist move which might threaten Formosa.

The 45,000-ton carrier Midway and the cruiser Pittsburgh unofficially are reported rushing to join the U. S. 7th Fleet in Formosa waters.

The Midway would add a 137-plane group to the four carriers already with the 7th Fleet, which can handle about 600 planes. The U. S. 13th Air Force jet wing also has been moved to Formosa from bases in the Philippines and Okinawa.

Nationalist air headquarters claimed their bombers hit a 1,500-ton Communist warship 35 miles northeast of the Tachens and scored excellent results in waves of strikes against Tooren and Yikiangshan Islands, near the Tachens.

It said the bombers met heavy anti-aircraft fire but all returned.

It's a principle of the modern airplane, brought for the first time to an automotive transmission.

Twenty Variable pitch propellers* inside the Dynaflow unit itself can change their angle—like the propeller of the airliner can change its pitch from take-off position to cruising position:

And what this brings to you—at the wheel of a '55 Buick—is the nearest thing to flight on wheels. Far better gas mileage in your normal driving and cruising. Spectacular response when you want it for quick getaway or emergency acceleration.

But all this, mind you, with the absolute smoothness that is constant in Dynaflow Drive.

Surely, a demonstration of Variable Pitch Dynaflow is a Buick "must" this year. We'll be happy to do the honors—and show you, in the doing, what a whale of a buy you make here. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick

Emil Mazey, UAW international secretary-treasurer, said ratification meetings will be held this weekend. Windsor workers will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. Oshawa workers will meet either in Hamilton or Chrysler Saturday at 10 a.m. and Etobicoke workers will gather at Toronto at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Even as the settlement was announced, Homer Buckhart, manager of Ford of Windsor operations, was setting to work to bring the power-plant into operation again.

The 11-cent wage and fringe benefit package will increase Ford's annual wage bill by $25,000,000 a year. The company reported net profits of $19,000,000 from its Canadian operations in its last fiscal year and another $10,000,000 from overseas operations.

HOPE FOR CURE

Both auto and company representatives expressed hope that the 15-point settlement after five weeks of bargaining would cure what has been called the "perpetual bad blood" between Ford and the UAW.

"I feel that the negotiations have brought us closer to one another's problems and I hope there will be better relations," said T. J. Emment, executive vice-president of the company.

Mr. Mazey said "in trying to settle the current strike we have also been trying to analyze the problems we have had in the past." He added:

"Equally important to settling the strike is to establish good relations in the future. I think we are better off looking ahead instead of looking over our shoulder at where we have been."

UNION DEMANDS

Before the strike began Oct. 10 the union asked a 30-cent hourly increase and fringe benefits costing the company 21 cents an hour. Employees will get hospital, medical and surgical benefits at the cost of the company.

There will be a modified union shop in which all new employees will have to join the union as a condition of employment. Present employees are not required to join, but all must pay union dues.

A previous agreement after the 1945 strike required all employees to pay union dues but left membership on a voluntary basis.

OTHER POINTS

Other provisions include:

Adjustment of the working week so not less than 32 hours for up to six weeks in one year as a way of reducing production in slack times instead of laying off men;

Three weeks vacation with pay to employees with 15 or more years' service;

Seven paid statutory holidays a year instead of the previous six;

Paid-up insurance of $500 to $1,000, depending on length of service;

An increase in call-in pay from three to four hours;

The present eight-cent-an-hour cost-of-living allowance will be included in basic pay, and

Establishment of a permanent panel of umpires from which one may be drawn to hear grievances.

THOSE SIGNING

The basis of agreement was signed by W. H. Clark, Ford's vice-president of industrial relations, and Mr. Mazey.

Mr. Mazey termed the agreement "a good settlement." It was the first covering a Canadian automotive plant which provides for a full company-paid hospital plan.

The strike surpassed the 1945 Ford strike by nine days and fell short of the longest Canadian auto motive strike in history at the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Ltd., in 1947 by 13 days.

A return-to-work movement at Ford will affect hundreds of other employees in other companies. In Sarnia, for instance, nearly 600 employees at the Holmes Foundry and Auto-Lite plant will go back to their jobs when Ford production is resumed. The Holmes company makes auto engine blocks.

At Ottawa Thursday night, Labor Minister Gregg said members of the House of Commons rejected at the settlement.

"We hope today will mark the beginning of a period of long industrial peace in Canada's automotive industry," he said in a brief statement.

Memory of 1929 Hangs Over Greatest Bull Market in History

GOVT. CHARGED

"These (tax) agreements have proven to be by far the best method of dealing with Dominion-provincial relations in the field of public finance. . . .

"But notwithstanding these facts Prime Minister St. Laurent, with that patience and fairness and statesmanship which are so characteristic of him at all times, has taken the position in this instance that he is willing to consider on its merits any new plan that Premier Duplessis has to offer at this time."

TAX CONFERENCE

Mr. Fulton said that last year the government had held there would be no advantage to calling a federal-provincial tax conference on reconsideration by Hon. George Drew, Opposition leader. Now Mr. St. Laurent proposed to call such a conference this year.

The Quebec development showed "the way in which the Liberal government under its prime minister has been playing party politics with a national issue-for partisan political advantage."

The political stake was the six federal by-elections Nov. 8. The Liberals won four, the Progressive Conservatives one and the CCF one.

He said Mr. St. Laurent last September made "a sabre-rattling speech" in Quebec in which he had sought to appeal to the rest of the country by attacking Premier Duplessis.

"BATTLE SONG"

The prime minister had sung "the battle song of anti-Duplessis, anti-tax concessions and the preservation, inviolate and unchanged, of the existing tax deals."

In his Manitoba speeches, Mr. Garson had sought to arouse western Canada against Quebec "by a straight and narrow appeal to racial prejudice" on the tax issue.

"The country had learned nothing of the new Quebec tax proposals until after the by-elections.

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall street.

The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.

Some stocks are simply gambling. The number of these is probably increasing.

There is "institutional buying," the purchase of stocks by big organizations as a counter-force to inflation.

And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.

REFLECT CONFIDENCE

But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence. They mean that a great many people believe their stocks will increase in value and pay out rich dividends because the companies that issued the shares are going to go on growing and earning.

Are they guessing right?

Since nobody knows the future, the only thing you can do is look at the trends, and make your own prediction.

For example, the population of the United States today is an estimated 63,000,000.

MORE PEOPLE TO SERVE

By 1975, the U. S. census bureau estimates, it will climb to 200,000,000. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

Take Housing

Herbert Abraham, chairman of the Robert-Shaw Co., recently wrote: "Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually if our housing standards are to remain at present levels.

"And about 300,000 houses 'wear out' and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about 1,000,000 units per year."

In other words, the housing industry has to run pretty fast just to keep from losing ground in the race with population. How fast will it have to run in 1965 or 1975?

How fast will the steel industry have to run, and all the others that are associated with construction?

How many more million kilowatts will electricity will be needed for heating and lighting the added millions of homes? Or will we be using atomic energy by that time?

NEVER SATISFIED

A powerful factor in the picture is this: the averse American is a "craniac." Call it keeping-up-with-the-Joneses, if you like—but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has.

He will put himself in hock to get it, too, and then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power.

Another phase of growth and improvement revolves around "research." A steady stream of new or improved products comes from out of the laboratories every year. These products create new jobs and new wealth.

Charles A. Thomas, president of Monsanto Chemical, told stockholders "a large portion" of that company's sales, and "approximately 40 per cent" of its profits, come from products which it did not manufacture 10 years ago.

Admiral Strauss, chief of atomic energy went to 82 last week. The atomic age is indubitably upon us or on the near horizon. It has been said that this will bring about "a second industrial revolution." The first one changed the face of the earth.

The "greatest bull market in history" in some degree reflects all this. But over the stock market today still hangs the black shadow of 1929 and the greatest crash in history.

Canada to Cut Mutual Aid For Defence

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated Wednesday that Canada will cut its mutual aid program this year and divert the money into the continental defence budget.

Canada has given $1,160,000,000 to its allies since 1950 under NATO's mutual aid program. The appropriation for the current fiscal year was $200,000,000.

Winding up Commons debate on ratification of the Paris agreements for entry of a rearmed West Germany into the north atlantic treaty organization, he said:

". . . With modern weapons and long range aircraft, full-scale war today would be quite a different matter from that of the last world war when this continent was safe from attack.

LARGE FORCES NEEDED

"Honorable members are aware, or they soon will be, of the large sums of money which will be necessary to be found on this continent to create an effective warning system for this country.

"Surely that emphasizes the necessity of keeping our defence flexible and the necessity of continuing to examine with our friends in NATO the best and most effective way we can allocate our resources for continental security.

"That does not in any sense involve a weakening of our interest here in the defence of western Europe or any other NATO area. It does, however, I think, involve an increasing European interest in the continued security of North America as a NATO area.

"Anything that makes less possible a knock-out attack on the main centres of Western strength, which are on this continent, increases the deterrent and thereby, I suggest, diminishes the risk of aggression anywhere."

Sunday School Lesson:

In the Image of God

By ROY L. SMITH

It was one of the blackest of nights, and scarcely a sound of the great city of Seoul, Korea, filtered in upon the silent compound. The doors of the house were closed against all possibility of spies or eavesdroppers. This had the effect of encouraging the American educator to be frank.

"Of one thing you may be absolutely sure," the Doctor of Philosophy said: "The enemy will never be able to bring these Koreans to their knees, for the Christian missionaries have taught the people that they are made in the image of God, and no people have ever been enslaved who have believed that."

NO CREATURE LIKE MAN

The highest tribute that can be paid to one of the creatures of the earth, is to say of it that it is "almost human."

Man's superiority appears in his ability to criticize himself, improve the quality of his life, dream of great achievements, and profit by his experience.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for January 30; "Man's Nature and Need," Genesis 1:26-31; 2:5-9; Matthew 4:3-10; Mark 7:21-23; Luke 6:35-36; Romans 3:23; Hebrews 2:6-18.

The very fact that man can say "I am" sets him apart from every other created thing. His ability to say "I ought" opens the door of the future for him. He is the only creature in all the universe, aside from the Creator himself, who can utter these majestic and magnificent words.

A famous skeptic of a few years ago, commenting on the vastness of this universe, said, "Astronomically speaking, man is but the merest speck in this universe," to which another learned man replied, with the prestige of a great scientific career behind him, "Astronomically speaking, man is the measure of the universe."

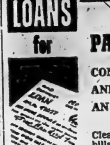
It is far greater to be the astronomer who can think about a constellation, than to be the constellation itself.

MAN AS A REBEL

One of the most staggering facts with which even the scientist has to deal is the rebellion against God of which man is guilty.

There is a certain type of skeptic who declares that sin is an invention of the priests and preachers, and not long ago a more or less famous psychologist said that it was going to be necessary to relieve men of the false sense of guilt which religion had imposed upon them.

But sin is a fact — an ugly, terrible, and devastating fact. It makes little difference what our concept of God may be, or what our theological preferences may or may not be; we are all aware of the fact that there is a vast rebellion on just now in which men are revolting against that which they know to be right. It is not a revolt against other men's opinions but their own deep and inner convictions!



WASTAGE OF REMORSE

The doctor is not the cause of the disease when he diagnoses nor is the engineer the cause of the dilapidation in the building which he finds it necessary to condemn in against further use. By the same token the preacher is not the creator of the sin when he warns the sinner against continuing in his sense of guilt.

From every psychological clinic, penal institution, court room and pastor's study there comes the word that remorse is sapping the strength of mankind. Until this sense of guilt can be removed and until the sense of forgiveness can be restored, the race is doomed to a the wastage of suffering.

FOR THE CANADIAN ARMY OVERSEAS

This sketch shows the ceremony which attended the visit of the Seagram Collection of Paintings, "Cities of Canada," to our Armed Forces stationed in Europe. This visit to Canada's First Infantry Brigade stationed in Soest, West Germany, was the 16th exhibition on the Collection's year-long 30,000-mile international tour. Everywhere it was shown, throughout Latin America and Europe, the Seagram Collection received an enthusiastic welcome. But the reception it was given by our troops was among the warmest of all, for here were more than paintings: here were familiar and well-beloved scenes, here were native cities that awakened cherished memories . . . here was a glimpse of home for those away from home.

Ferguson Gets Three In Bruins 5-2 Win Over Hawks; Wings Tie Rangers

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

SHOULD EE GOOD

Your guess is as good as ours as to what the standing in this hang-free senior "S" group will be after tonight's fracases. The Memos take on their arch-enemies from Kingston here starting at nine o'clock while the top-spot Whitby Dunlops trek to Peterborough for a joust with the Lift-lock laddies. Our side dropped to fourth place after Cornwall's victory over the Clinton Comets but a win tonight will shoot the Memos back into second spot. The Goodies won their last outing and are not feeling so happy about matters. They will be here with figurative blood in their eyes and with the Memos still smarting from that 12-5 setback handed them by Whitby earlier in the week the clash should be one of the better ones.

The Belleville juveniles make their first appearance in public, so to speak, when they clash with the Toronto Scarboros in a pre-senior game, the tilt starting at 7.30. These youngsters are well drilled and should provide an exciting opener for the main dish.

HOT DOG PARTY

Some of them may not be any great shucks at playing softball but when it comes to knocking off hot-dogs, rolls and mustard, they're all champions. Monday night Chief Vance, "Wargy" O'Brien, and other fire-laddies will entertain their softball players—dropped at the annual wiener onslaught being held at the . The assault gets under way at seven o'clock and if other such affairs are a criterion, the dogs are in for a terrific beating, with the accessorie cream, pop, drinks, etc. Then there will be presentation of crests, etc., and all indications point to another highly successful peewee-bantam party.

COULD BE!

There is a feeling cropping up across Canada, if you can believe the printed sheets, that the Penticton V's are not strong enough, as they are, to bring back last hockey prestige to the country which was snatched from the Toronto Lyndhurst's last winter in Kimberley.

Fans are beginning to write letters. Here is one addressed to Omer (Memorial Gazette) Carroll that gives one side of the picture. One fan writes to say he saw Penticton beaten by Kamloops recently and he was not impressed by the "V's."

He goes on:

"There was a time when B.C. had good hockey teams, but that is no longer true," he writes. "It seems to me that in sending the V's to represent us in the world championships we are hoping that the European teams will be so ordinary that the V's will beat them. I think that is the wrong approach. We should send a strong team or none at all.

"There are three or four good hockey players on the V's, but the rest of them aren't any better than the Lyndhurst who represented Canada a year ago and were beaten. As I understand it, the entire Penticton squad will be sent over this time.

"The V's are particularly weak on defence and I suppose you are aware that a different set of rules prevails in European hockey. Canadian players will be penalized and not know exactly why. If the V's are forced to play shorthanded a good deal of the time, the Russians will run up the score on them.

"It is my opinion that the Penticton Seniors couldn't beat a good junior team in the east. If something is going to be done about it, it should be done now. We shouldn't wait, as we did last year, until we are beaten by the Russians, and then start to cry about it.

"To repeat, let's send a strong team or none at all."

The Russian hockey authorities have not been asleep —they are fully aware of the shock that stunned hockey Canada with the defeat of the Lyndhursts—and they are fully aware that Canada will send a team to Dusseldorf this year that should pour the efforts of the unlucky Lyndhurs. There has been no alfalfa growing under the hockey blades of the sons of the steppes. News dispatches coming out of Russia state there are at least twelve hockey teams undergoing intensive training and competing for the right to represent the Soviet Union at the world championships. These lucrs and Sergeis are going to be tough babies to beat—and it behooves Canada to send the strongest aggregation possible.

BOWLERS' DAY

Some half-dozen or so Belleville keglers take off for Kingston tomorrow where they will take part in the annual Maitland Bowling Classic regional finals. Included are Cec Hardwick, Joe Legault, Bill Bateman, Alex Kells and Lee Labelle. Ken Saylor and Vince Sagriff will go along as spares while Jim MacKenzie, last year's regional singles champion, has been seeded into the finals.

The winner of the regional finals will represent his region at the Sportsmen's Show, Toronto, singles event which commences Monday, March 14. The five bowlers standing immediately below the champion on a pinfall basis in the regional finals will make up a regional all-star team. This team will roll off with other regional all-star teams in Toronto on March 8. Eight of the twelve all-star teams will roll off at the O'Connor Bowl on this date and the remaining four teams in both ladies' and men's all-star team divisions will decided the issue at the Sportsmen's Show. The singles and team champions will go to Winnipeg to play for the Canadian championships later in the year.

SO THAT'S IT

Often wonder where some of the big names in boxing go after they fade from the squared circle spotlight. Well, here's three ex-opponents of Joe Louis who pop into the limelight in movie roles. Tony Galento ("I'll moider de bum"), who floored Louis in 1939; Abe Simon, who battled him to 13 rounds in 1941 and Tami Mauriello who fought Joe in 1946 all show up in the screen epic "On the Waterfront," starring at the Capitol for a three-day run on Monday. The picture is raved by critics to be of Oscar quality, and it is usual for patrons who like a thrill a minute with their movie fare.

Big Leftwinger Seems Headed For Best Season in National; Vic Howe Shows Gordie 'How'

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Three years ago Lorne Ferguson needed 27 hockey games to score three goals. He cut it down to 20 minutes and 22 seconds Thursday night.

In short, it never hurt Fergie when he flunked out of the National Hockey League for a few campaigns.

The 26-year-old leftwinger, a bit of a dud with Boston Bruins after a great Ag-gal rookie year, broke out for three goals Thursday night to lead Bruins to a 5-2 victory over last-place Chicago Black Hawks. That ran his goal output for the season to 14 and he appears headed for his best season in the big times.

WERE READY

There must have been days when the Bruins were ready to give up on the six-foot native of Palmerston, Ont., but Ferguson, when he tallied only three goals in the 1951-52 season. He was duly promoted to the American League Hershey Bears, was state for one year and then came back to win two eye-raising seasons in which he accounted for a total of 130 goals.

The Bruins lost no time in bringing him back and hope now to land him at one of their greatest prospects.

It was the 16th win of the season for Bruins and left them in fourth spot with 44 points. It behind the first-place Toronto Maple Leafs, idle Thursday night.

HOWE SCORES

In the only other game, Vic Howe (remember Gordie Howe?) got down to do it by scoring on a 35-foot drive in the third period to give the fifth-place New York Rangers a 3 tie with Detroit Red Wings at Detroit Olympia.

Ferguson, who joined Boston for three games late in the season, tallied and scored 16 goals the following year, was the darling of 8,729 home-town fans Thursday night. He sent Bruins into a 1-0 lead at the four-second mark of the second period, made it 3-0 at 16:38 of the same session and finished off at 12:36 of the last period.

Rightwinger Real Chevrefils and defenceman Fleming Mackell scored the other Boston goals. Red Sullivan and Allan Stanley tallied for the Hawks, who suffered their 29th loss of the season.

FIRST GOAL

Vic Howe, 25-year-old brother of Detroit's senior citizen, started 10,987 Red Wing fans when his blistering shot beat goaltender Terry Sawchuk at 11:37 of the third period to tie the game. It was his first NHL goal.

Until then, the second-place Red Wings were on the verge of snatching their 28th win of the season. They were leading 3-1 going into the third period when New York's Danny Lewicki tallied his 22nd goal of the season and Howe deadlocked the affair.

The Wings have 42 points and trail the league-leading Montreal Canadiens by only two.

Quinte Defeats Trenton 36-26 In Hoop Game

Quinte Secondary School basketball team defeated Trenton in a hard-chicking game played in Trenton last Wednesday.

At first Quinte was a little unsettled and went behind 8 points. After settling down Quinte narrowed the score to 7-6. This ending the first quarter.

At the start of the second quarter Trenton went ahead 11-6, but after a time out 2 set shots by Quinte's captain, Bob Elliott, and a couple of jump shots by Bill Dickey brought Quinte up to a 2 point lead. With a minute to go in the quarter, both teams scored a basket. At half time the score was 16-13 in favor of Quinte.

In the last part of the third quarter Quinte was enjoying a 6 point lead, but Trenton lead by Hilton surging back to narrow the lead to 4 points. Ending the quarter Quinte.

Under the steady playing of Ron Walmsley, Quinte gradually moved ahead to obtain a 9 point lead. Also with good defensive playing and ball handling by Beeby and Galland 2, Phillips, Musgrove, Green, Grace, Stramm, Hobbs.

Trenton — Hilton 15, Scott 3, Alexander 2, Burns 2, Holt 2, Hicks 2.

Sid Smith Headed for Best Year, All-Star Berth, 30 Goals in Sight

By GERRY LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Underrated by the National Hockey League fans and a few of its executives, Sid Smith of Toronto Maple Leafs has broken out into full bloom.

His chances of being named to the all-star left-wing berth are good. The prospects of scoring at least 30 goals this season are better.

Now in his sixth full season with the Leafs, Smith has been overshadowed by his teammates during much of that time.

TIP-IN EXPERT

Blessed with lightning reflexes which make him deadly on goal-mouth rebounds and one of the fastest skaters in the game, Smithy has scored at least 20 goals a season over the last five years.

His peak production came in the 1950-51 season, 30 goals and 21 assists for 51 points.

A consistently clean player, Smith gained a measure of promotion in 1952 when he scored 37 points and won the Lady Byng Memorial trophy, which goes to the player showing a top degree of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability.

A perennial joker off duty, Smithy sticks strictly to business on the ice and has picked up only 37 minor penalties in 342 regular NHL games. He is the "iron man" among present players, playing 264 consecutive games.

CHECKING CRITICIZED

Now 29, Smith has been named to the alternate all-star team in 1951 and 1952 but even then his critics dismissed him as a "good scorer, no checker" type.

But Smith now is carrying his share of the defensive load. Coach King Clancy is delighted.

"That's all Smithy needed to round out his game," Clancy said. "When he is taking out his man, there isn't a better leftwinger in hockey. I wouldn't trade him even up for Ted Lindsay."

Lindsay, Detroit Red Wings leftwinger, has landed the left-wing all-star spot the last five years but injuries sidelined him a good deal this campaign.

Smith's rosiers are rubbing their hands at Clancy's transformation.

FROM QUEBEC ACES

Smith broke into pro hockey from Quebec Aces in 1946 and spent the next three seasons between the Leafs and Pittsburgh Hornets, their American Hockey League team. He counted a record 12 points with Pittsburgh in 1949 and returned to Leafs to stay but he was almost peddled off to Chicago Black Hawks.

Bill Dubin, Chicago vice-president, sought player aid in 1949 and Leaf boss Conn Smythe offered Smith. Tobin wasn't convinced of Smithy's ability and went to Boston to look him over in Stanley Cup play.

Smith didn't play The teams returned to Toronto and he got two goals and an assist against the Bruins and counted three goals in one game against Detroit in the final.

Smythe removed the "for sale" sign. It hasn't been back since.

Two-Team Loop From Toronto, Vancouver May Emerge From Grid War

Lions Merge With Argonauts In Last-Minute Battle Move To Retain American Imports

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — The weird spectacle of a football league consisting solely of teams from Toronto and Vancouver is one of a series of bizarre possibilities emerging today from professional football's increasingly muddled war between Canada and the United States.

Up to a late hour Thursday night, the fighting battle lines appeared to have left Toronto Argonauts fighting a lone battle against an armistice that would have ended border raids by all Canadian and American clubs but would have left the Argos with no American personnel in their lineup.

But at midnight, coach Annis Stukus of the British Columbia Lions, an Argonaut alumnus, aligned himself with the Argos.

By that time, the fighting statements arising from the peace talks threatened to make the previous hostilities tame by comparison.

BROTHERS TO BOOT

Ralph Cooper, president of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, brought things to a boil Thursday.

Emerging from a conference here with National Football League commissioner Bert Bell, the Big Four president said it was not necessary to take the Argonauts' franchise away from them. He won't go along with the no-raiding agreement between the two leagues.

Toronto is our only problem," Cooper said. "If we encounter difficulty here there are two or three Toronto citizens to take over the Toronto franchise."

Cooper, president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, issued a homeward-bound train before anyone got around to asking him how he proposes to read the Argos out of the league of which they have been a member for 38 years of the 40 in the country. But nobody seemed to care.

Argonaut president Bill Ross said he has seven NFL players under contract and he wants to keep them.

Bell said the NFL stands for "peace with honor, peace with integrity," but expressed a willingness to fight on unafraid if that two leagues don't see fit to negotiate.

WON'T GIVE BACK

And in Vancouver, Stukus said the British Columbia Lions won't give back any NFL players, even though the Western Interprovincial Football Union has gone on record as favoring a no-raiding pact.

"I guess that we'll quit the Argos all season long," he added.

Disgruntled by the conflicting representatives of the NFL teams cast up far into the night completing their annual draft of U.S. college talent. Choosing in rotation, each of the 12 clubs amassed a list of 30 college graduates with whom it has exclusive negotiating rights, provided a Canadian club doesn't get there first.

The loss of contention in the no-raiding dispute is a proposal to restrict all players under contract or option to a professional club who have been signed by a club in another league since last season.

A CONCESSION

The retroactivity clause is something of a concession by the NFL, which appears ready to forgive such contract-jumpers as tackle Dick Huffman, who left Los Angeles Rams for Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1951, and tackle Arnie Weinmeister, who left Vancouver Lions for New York Giants only a year ago.

Most of the Big Four and Western Interprovincial clubs have dipped into the NFL's grab-bag at one time or another and pulled out plums like Ottawa backfielder Avatus Stone, Hamilton guard Frank Dempsey and Winnipeg end Nelli Armstrong.

But Vancouver, last in the five-team WIFU, and Toronto, tailed among the four IRFU entries last fall, saw an urgent need for seasoned professional reinforcements.

Argonaut manager Harry Sonshine announced the release of all United States imports on the 1954 roster and went after his seven NFL replacements. With less fanfare, the B.C. Lions signed up an unknown number of American professionals.

OTHERS SUFFERED

Meanwhile other Canadian clubs found the shoe on the other foot. The chief sufferers were Montreal Alouettes, who lost tackle Tex Coulter and halfback Alex Webster to New York Giants and were in danger of losing ace quarterback Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry, who signed contracts almost simultaneously with the NFL's Chicago Cardinals and the Alouettes.

If the retroactivity clause takes effect, the Alouettes will get their three stars back. But the Argos and Lions will be whistling for talent.

Thursday's draft was not entirely a side-issue. An undisclosed number of U.S. college graduates have already signed Canadian contracts. If the NFL makes its peace with the Canadian leagues, these contracts will be respected. Otherwise, the NFL club picking each player will be free to outbid his Canadian employer.

The draft itself saw Baltimore Colts, who finished fifth in the NFL's six-team eastern division last fall, take first right to two of the outstanding backfielders in college football.

CHOSE SHAW

The Colts led off by drawing the annual "bonus" pick and chose Oregon quarterback George Shaw who led all players in total offence.

Their first draft pick netted Alan (The Horse) Ameche, the big all-American fullback from Wisconsin, who broke all rushing records in the Big Ten conference.

Ameche and Shaw had offers from Winnipeg and Montreal but would prefer to play for the Colts if their price is right.

Other all-America players who went the first time around were quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame, picked by Washington Redskins, backfielder Dick Moegle of Rice, by San Francisco 49ers, and guard Kurt Burris of Oklahoma, by the champion Cleveland Browns.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Anytime a man feels like stirring up an argument among baseball customers he needs only to stick his neck out a bit and say that in his opinion, a certain player was the best in the business for a given period of time.

Our most recent stirrer-upper-of-controversy was shillaly Joe DiMaggio, who since has been voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame. Allie said he was glad that the Yankee Clipper was the best of his time, but that he didn't.

You might be surprised, but this hasn't gone down too good among the admirers of Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Paul (Big Poison) Waner.

We are accused, among other things, of being influenced by the fact that we saw more of DiMaggio than we did of the others. Maybe there is a grain of truth in this, but we have seen Williams, Musial and Waner play many a game, and we have discussed their relative merits around many a time with men who followed them day after day and knew a whole lot more about them than the record book shows.

DIMAG INSPIRED MATES

We have never heard it suggested by any of these baseball observers that any of the three could go as far to make a catch or field as fine a play as those made as DiMaggio. We never saw one of them make a play so consistently with those were almost routine with the great Yankee centerfielder. We never heard it said that any one of the three inspired his teammates the way DiMaggio did.

One of those who takes exception to our statement that Williams was a match for the 1B Clipper only in hitting skill is Clinton Hardwick Jr., of Cortland, N.Y. He says that in 1951 Ted led the American League in assists.

However, we would like to point out that this does not necessarily stamp the Red Sox leftfielder as a great glove and arm man. It means only that he was prodigal in his playing caroms off the close-up left-field wall at Fenway Park and firing the ball to second base ahead of the runner. It's a short throw.

ROCK YGETS AWARD

NEW YORK (AP)Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano Thursday received the "man of the year in sports" award from Sport magazine for his combined talents as fighting man and sportsman. Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champ, said he ranked Marciano among the three or four heavyweights "in the great tradition" of the ring.

National Brass Sticks By Lindsay Ruling

NEW YORK (CP)—The board of governors of the National Hockey League Thursday said that Ted Lindsay must serve his 10-day suspension for slugging a fan with his hockey stick during a wrinkle scuffle in a game at Toronto last Saturday night.

The governors also instructed NHL president Clarence Campbell to draft rules forbidding players from "intentionally interfering" with spectators. And fans who interfere with the players "will be promptly ejected" from the arena, the governors said.

The governors met in Madison Square Garden after Detroit appeal against the suspension which Campbell slapped on Lindsay Tuesday. The Red Wings felt it was too stiff.

RING TRIUMPH HARD

It came at a time when the Red Wings, in second place, are fighting to catch the first-place Montreal Canadiens. Two points behind the Canadiens, Detroit will be without the services of Lindsay for four games while his suspension is enforced. It will be lifted Feb. 4.

In suspending Lindsay, the NHL president had called the scrappy Detroit left winger's part in Saturday's melee "completely indefensible."

He had been involved in "two similar incidents on previous occasions" this season, Campbell noted. The Red Wings had promised to take disciplinary action against Lindsay. The first two arguments, Campbell said, but obviously it didn't do any good.

Trenton Girls Defeat Quinte

Quinte Secondary School Junior girls' basketball team lost their first game of the season to Trenton high school at Quinte on Tuesday, January 25th.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) The Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews said Thursday the 1955 Open championship would be played at Hoylake July 2-6. The 1956 American Open championship will be at Troon May 28-June 2.

The National Hockey League Oldtimers Association plan a playing tour of six cities in its first two-game annual drive to raise money for crippled children. NHL Oldtimers Association Ready for Annual Playing Tour

By MILT MacPHAIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Men whose heritage is hockey will hit the comeback trail Saturday to bring kids facing a bleak future.

The National Hockey League Oldtimers Association is preparing for its fourth annual playing tour of six cities to raise funds brought nostalgia to countless thousands of fans recalling the memorable exploits of hockey's stars of another era.

The former NHL greats open a six-city swing Saturday night in Kingston, Ont., planned home of hockey's Hall of Fame. Other games are scheduled for Kitchener, Sudbury, Toronto, Fort William and Winnipeg, dates for which have yet to be set.

GIVE TIME, MONEY

Players not only give their time but their money.

"Practically all the fellows pay their own expenses for travelling and equipment," said Lorne Duguid, association honorary president and a forward with the old Montreal Maroons.

"For instance, it's costing us $2,500 to charter an airliner to fly to Fort William."

A great name will be missing from the lineup at Kingston.

Lionel Conacher, a founder of the game's famous fraternity and one of its mightiest members, will be absent because his great heart finally stopped. The Big Train, he died, stretching a double into a triple in the annual baseball game between MPs and members of the Parliamentary press gallery in Ottawa last summer.

His death raised serious doubts as to whether the oldtimers should go on. Members were polled and 70 per cent voted to continue.

But members did decide on one thing—medical examinations.

"After each game and practice the oldtimers receive a thorough medical examination," Duguid said. This year's squad will number 23 players.

SECRET WORKOUTS

Once weekly, for more than a month now, they have been holding secret workouts at Maple Leaf Gardens.

"Some of the boys are a little fatter and they creak a bit but they still know what to do with the puck," Duguid said.

In Winnipeg the oldtimers, most of them easterners, may meet a team of western NHL stars. Bryan Hextall (ex-New York Rangers) and Baldy Northcott (ex-Montreal Maroons) have told us they will try to get a team together," Duguid said.

Familiar figures will be on tour including Toronto Maple Leafs' Kid Line of Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher and Harvey (Busher) Jackson.

Dit Clapper, Boston Bruins' great defenceman of the '20s will be back at his old stand as will Bill Cowley, Boston centre who thrilled fans with his dipsy-doodle stickhandling. Hawks 3-3 in Boston.

Raiders Trim Blue Devils

WINDSOR (CP) — Assumption College Purple Raiders snapped a three-game losing streak Thursday night by whipping Lawrence Tech Blue Devils from Detroit, 85-68, in an exhibition game. Assumption now boasts a 6-6 record.

Orillia Qualifies for Both Tankard, Governor-General

TORONTO (CP) — The Orillia Curling Club was the only one of seven Thursday to qualify for both the Ontario Tankard and Governor-General's Trophy semi-finals after two rounds of group playoffs.

The semi-finals were to go this morning in Toronto and the finals in the afternoon.

Thursday first and second rounds in each division were played in six Ontario centres, Toronto, Oshawa, Barrie, Orillia, Kitchener and Guelph. Each ch'p had two rinks entered as a team.

There were 14 rinks in each division. First-round losers went into competition for the consolation awards—the Burdon Trophy in the Tankard division and the Clarke and Mail Trophy in the Governor-General's class.

In the Tankard quarter-finals at Barrie Stan Sarjeant of Orillia defeated F. W. Smith of Owen Sound 15-13 while Dr. A. Baillie of Orillia beat Isak Thomson of Owen Sound 19-10 in an exciting score of 34-23.

J. B. Merkley and W. Stephenson of Orillia each defeated their Owen Sound opponents in the Governor-General's Trophy. Merkley beat A. Harrison 15-10 and Stephenson defeated W. Cook 14-11. The match was at Orillia.

Other clubs in the Tankard semi-finals were Pembroke, Peterborough and Kitchener. Hamilton, Oshawa and Owen Sound others in the Governor-General's division.

Pembroke made the third round by two shots at Toronto when the Canadian of Pembroke defeated Lorne Smith of Mount Forest 19-11. Smith's drawing shot was short and Dr. A. Coombes 15-8.

The Peterborough rinks ran up a total of 31 at Oshawa, but only on one match, Dr. Ralph Clark of Peterborough defeating Dr. Coates of Toronto 19-7 while A. Ingram dropped Dr. Wm. Wood.

At Kitchener, the Kitchener-Waterloo club took a narrow decision over Toronto Granites, Dr. Shantz of Kitchener beat J. Frazier of Toronto 17-13 and Dr. Ernie Sissia defeated C. Asmussen 17-13

Peterborough's F. Stenson beat A. Webster of Oshawa 18-13, but L. Evenitz of Oshawa defeated H. Bayle for Oshawa's only win in a club a three-shot margin. The match was at Oshawa.

At Guelph, A. Jones of Guelph outshot John Speer of Galt 9-7 while G. Mathieson of Guelph beat D. A. Thomson 18-8.

Orillia took the Tankard in 1950 and Kitchener won it last in 1943. Pembroke and Peterborough have never won the competition.

Trabert, Seixas Win Aussie Doubles Title

ADELAIDE (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas today followed up their Davis Cup triumph by becoming the first American team to win the Australian national doubles tennis championship in 22 years.

Playing in 66-degree heat, they whipped Australia's Lew Head and Ken Rosewall 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 2-6, 6-3, overpowering the Aussies with a faultless display in the final set.

The doubles victory now comes to the U.S. along with the coveted Davis Cup that Trabert and Seixas wrested from the Aussies a month ago.

Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill of California were the last American team to win the Australian national doubles and that was in 1933.

Palmer Leads Golf Tourney

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Johnny Palmer fashioned a 62—10 strokes under par—to lead the field Thursday in the $15,000 Thunderbird invitational golf tournament.

Swinging away over the Thunderbird Country Club course, stretched out to some 6,700 yards for the tournament with par 36-36—72, Palmer turned in a 32-30 round for his starting 62.

Shelley Mayfield, of Chicopee, Mass., came close to matching the score of 29-year-old leader from Charlotte, N.C., missing by one shot with a 34-28—63. Mayfield had seven birdies on the back nine.

Forty-two professionals, including most of the leading money winners of 1954 and a few who were specially invited, participated. All but six broke par.

Four strokes back of the leader were four players, Australia's Peter Thomson, with 33-33; Jim Turnesa, Wally Ulrich, 34-32, and Mike Souchak, 34-32.

AT THE CAPITOL — Johnny Sheffield as Bomba of the Jungle faces danger in Allied Artists' "Bomba and the Jungle Girls", the current attraction at the Capitol Theatre for one week starting on Sunday. Also on Technicolor "Million Dollar Mermaid" starring Esther Williams and Victor Mature. Extra feature Saturday matinee Johnny Mack Brown in "Over the Border".

AT THE CAPITOL — Eva Marie Saint, the blonde TV-radio actress, makes her screen bow with Charlton Heston in "On the Waterfront", at the Capitol Theatre starting Monday. The film also stars Karl Malden and Lee J. Cobb. The truly great picture of the year.

AT THE BELLE — A murderer is being watched by James Stewart, Grace Kelly and Thelma Ritter in this absorbing, suspense-filled scene from Paramount's brand new Alfred Hitchcock thriller, "Rear Window", that has the town talking. Held over today and Saturday, at the Belle Theatre.

Mr 'Howdy Doody' Found the Hard Way a Man Can Be Too Successful

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—A man can be too successful for his own good, Bob Smith has decided.

Smith, after suffering a heart back as Buffalo Bob with his pal Howdy Doody on NBC weekday afternoons. But he's going to confine himself for the foreseeable future to the popular kiddies' television show and abandon his extracurricular program that he thinks helped do him in.

Stanford a year last year and continuing until Sept. 6 when he had his attack. With his pal Howdy Doody. Last year he decided to expand again only to have his heart rebel.

He doesn't discount the financial angle but insists "you don't really do these things for money."

"It's the personal triumph—you like to feel you're wanted," he says in explaining why many TV and radio performers are on so many chores, often at small additional net gain after income tax.

MAIL POURS IN

A consoling aspect of Smith's illness has been "the fabulous volume of mail" from kiddie fans and many grown-ups.

He's also content, since he has to curtail his activities, to make Howdy Doody his main effort.

"I always have realized more satisfaction out of entertaining kids than grownups," he says. "It's much harder to entertain than grownups, much harder."

For the next several weeks at least, Smith will have to confine himself to kinescope shots made by NBC from the basement studio in Manhattan, where Howdy hangs out.

Sid Caesar's test pilot skit on his show on NBC Monday night looked to many viewers like a satire in advance on Studio One's play "It Might Happen Tomorrow," telecast a couple of hours later on CBS. Actually it was pure coincidence. Caesar's skit was an elaboration of one he has been doing several years, and he insists "I have no spies on the Studio One set." Producer of Studio One say their play was an original by Carey Wilbur, a former Toronto writer who has done many scripts on space travel.

FINE ART OF HAND KISSING WINS CORINNE

Corrine Calvet, the smouldering Parisian beauty who is co-starred with Tony Curtis, Gloria De Haven, Gene Nelson and Paul Gilbert in Universal-International's Technicolor musical romance "So This Is Paris," at the Ontario Theatre, has been in Hollywood long enough to have learned to protect her French accent which is her trademark. But not long enough, she says, to give up her search for romantic stars adept at the continental art of hand kissing.

Proclaiming that hand-kissing properly performed can make a woman's heart flutter considerably, the sentimental French-woman says that the proper technique starts with the reach for the lady's hand and ends when the man's lips touch just the right spot on the wrist of a wrist.

Corinne gets no such gallant treatment in "So This is Paris," because the objects of her flirtations in the film, Tony Curtis and Gene Nelson, play a pair of footloose sailors, definitely not the hand-kissing type. She does get a "American-style" smoothes from the two-some, though.

"So This Is Paris," which features nine new songs by Peer Sherrell and Phil Moody, was directed by Richard Quine and produced by Albert J. Cohen. The supporting cast is headed by Mara Corday, Christiane Martel and Myrna Hansen.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

One of the best lessons I ever got in bridge was about 20 years ago. It happened in a deal that taught me never to get too much porr with a good hand. At least, to consider what my partner had. This was the deal:

NORTH
♠— ♥A Q 10 9 ♦A Q J 10 ♣A K Q J

WEST ♠7 6 ♥8 5 4 3 ♦9 8 7 6 ♣6 5 4 3 2

EAST ♠5 4 3 2 ♥— ♦5 4 3 2 ♣10 9 4

SOUTH ♠A K Q J 10 9 ♥K J 87 ♦— ♣A 7

As dealer in south I opened the bidding with a modest one spade. My partner made an immediate jump shift to diamonds and later rebid them on his heart and club suits in their proper order.

As you can see, we had all four aces, all four kings, all four queens, all four jacks, and a few tens. A grand slam in no-trumps is a spread with both hands tied behind your chair.

But this was a rubber bridge game and I was blinded by my 150 in bonuses on the solidity of my spade suit as trump. To each bid by my partner, I kept repeating my spades and spades and spades.

My partner finally gave up when I bid seven spades. The opening lead from west happened to be a heart and when I saw the dummy I had to control myself to keep from shouting with glee.

But up jumped the devil. My small heart cover in dummy fell to east when that bizzard ruffed with the deuce of spades. He led back a diamond and you could have sold me for junk when west ruffed.

They kept ruffing hearts and diamonds until all three of their dinky trumps took tricks. By then all I had left were my six solid trumps. When opponents said I could have the rest my head was made up.

Losing seven tricks with cards like these should teach the most stubborn ox that this is not a lone wolf game. It did not cure me entirely. But it sure makes me think twice of what partner shows.

You may never get such a hand. But it sure does tell you that bridge may be where they got a popular saying that goes: Nothing is sure except death and taxes.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according, the stars, for Saturday, January 29, 1955.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't vary your acts or moods too much today. A stable, consistent attitude will get most. Don't try walking alone if in doubt, others if your request will be happy to assist.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Not very auspicious for other than duties, needed things that should be done first. In new projects stars suggest slowdown. Affairs of home, matters with opposite sex, especially stress tact.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Some minor restrictions, limitations in personal affairs, perhaps obstructions for your forbearance. Use self-restraint. More liberal rays after noon. Be sensible in deductions.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Some self-denial, charity excellent characteristic-builders, and few of us can deny ourselves in this category! Some exploration in new fields of knowledge, endeavor fit in order NOW.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A day that stresses amiability. If we would expect same in kind from others. Responds period for making plans for coming week, checking past weeks for possible mistakes.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Advice to Leo can be well applied to you now, friend. There are some very beneficial aspects prevailing during early hours that may be of great assistance to the diligent.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — We suggest tact, kind thought of self today. With kindliness and patience, strong acquisites, you can calm a storm, smooth differences. God loves the peacemaker.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Coy day to clear your schedule of due tasks, duties, unfinished business before week ends. Make room for some rest, time with loved ones. Be officially speedy but don't be excited.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — The sooner you get things started today the better. Tackle those tedious but necessary chores, prepare for possible heavy week coming up. Domestic affairs may need extra watching.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Generous inclinations for all worth while endeavors. Keep within sane bounds, don't spend or contract your time or valuables unnecessarily. Wise caution is the order.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Small business, clerks, nurses, domestic work highly honored; move forward, all! Quick decisions (to be right) must be made calmly. Take advantage of time and good promotional ideas.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Jogging along is relaxing, BUT don't jog too smugly, you may miss out. You can make "the breaks," if you are consistent, persevering in method. Display talent, hold your dignity.

YOUR BORN TODAY: Honesty, intellectuality, kindliness are high in this Sign and failings are lack of initiative, restlessness, tendency to indolence. Requirements: self-reliance, proper ambition and application of fine talents. Not a difficult navel to develop, subtlety and keep fit for the great returns possible. Be thoroughly prepared to achieve, do the good that you can do in this hectic but worthy world. Do not stay in the background when you could advance for your and your family's sake. Always pray for guidance, and for assistance. Birthdate: Thomas Paine, Eng. author; Wm. McKinley, 25th U. S Pres.; Ferdinand Lesseps, French scientist, philosopher; Vina Delmar, authoress.

Little Benny's Note Book

THE POTTS FAMILY — LG.

Pop was reeding to himself comfortable, and ma said, William, I suppose you've never listened to a morning radio program called Gerl Alone?

I suppose not, pop said, and ma said, well, it's the last thing I'd ever do myself, unless I was alone on a desert island, but today I decided to give it a last living chance, just to see if it could possibly of improved. Well my dear, it's simply worse than ever, although it never did have a single redeeming feature, she said.

It sounds like a good show to keep tersed off permanently, pop said, and ma said. Those are my sentiments to a tea, William, and I was just on the verge of switching to another program, when the telefone rang, and of all people who was it but a woman from the Crawler poll to ask what program I was listening to.

Yes gods what a moral dilemma, pop said. How could you possibly tell her without contributing to the crimes by raising the ratting of Gerl Alone? he said, and ma said, My dear, that's the very thought that flashed through my mind. I hardly knew what to do, and the woman must of been baffled by not hearing any reply, because she kept repeeting the question. It certainly wouldn't of been ethical to tell her anything but the truth, ma said.

Yer Feet zake relieve the suspense, what happened? pop said, and ma said, Well my dear, the woman simply gave up and rang off. The incident couldn't of had a happier ending, and it just proved what I often say, ma said.

What do you often say? pop sait and ma said, I often say, silence is golden.

Which she does.

Senior Officials Satisfied With Canadian Pacts

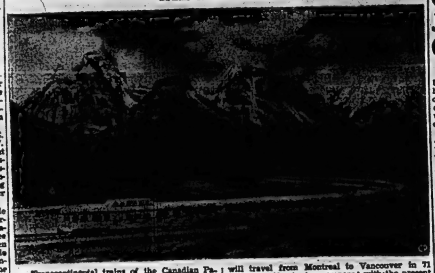
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior American military officials have advised Congress to avoid pressing Canada for any closer continental defence arrangement than has now been worked out.

Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, both said Wednesday they are satisfied with present agreements for Canadian-American co-operation in operating radar warning networks and other defence facilities.

Representative Sterling Cole (Rep., N.Y.) asked during a hearing of the House of Representatives armed services committee whether arrangements have been completed for setting up a possible "unified command for the combined defence of Canada and the United States."

"A LITTLE FURST"

Wilson said "Our Canadian friends have a parliament and people to deal with, and they are a little fussy about their big sound ern neighbor they are really fond of acting like we are running their country for them.



"So let's be careful what we say about this. They are a wonderful people. They are doing everything we reasonably want them to do. We don't want to embarrass them politically in their own country or anything else."

Cole said he too is pleased with recent progress in co-ordination but voiced the opinion that continental defence "is incomplete, unless it is interwoven in some fashion into a command which would include the Canadian phases of the continental defence system."

Guards Turned Jail Into Comic Opera Prison

WILLACH, Austria (Reuters) two Austrian prison guards drew hard labor sentences here Thursday for turning their jail into a comic opera prison where men and women prisoners mixed in gay drinking and petting parties.

The carefree guards joined in set the merriment which police said attracted freed prisoners to commit new offences so they could get back in jail.

Oscar Winner, William Holden, Off on a Safari to Hong Kong

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — William Holden is off again, this time to Hong Kong.

The handsome Oscar winner breezed into the Paramount commissary between trips and told me of his latest journeys.

He'll do location scenes in Hong Kong for his new film, "A Many Splendored Thing." And he'll stop off in Tokyo to help sell "The Bridges of Toko-ri."

CIRCLED GLOBE

"I wasn't able to clock much mileage on my last trip—only 12,800," he smiled, referring to his new year's jaunt to Greenland with Bob Hope. Last summer he circled the globe as an ace salesman for Paramount's Virtavision. He got $2,000 miles that trip.

Next fall he plans another round-the-world journey for dear old Paramount. I asked him if he likes all this travel.

"No," he replied, "I'd much rather stay at home in Toluca Lake and make my only journey over the hills to Stage 8."

Then why does he travel?

"Because it's good business . . ."

Well, I'll be a dirty bird. Your old pal, Lonesome George (Gobel) loped downtown to the Hotel Statler for a night club engagement and you haven't seen such a press turnout since Marilyn gave Joe the brush. Quite different from when George played the same place a year ago.

George was smash, of course, and the Statler people couldn't be happier. He owed them the date under an old contract at reasonable terms . . .

Sight of the week: Liberace meeting Humphrey Bogart at a night club opening . . .

Grace Kelly is starring in three first-run movies now playing in the Los Angeles area. She is one of the best prospects to come along, but I hope the studios don't overdo a good thing . . .

Preview note: "The bridges of Toko-ri"—grim war stuff aided by a couple of old pros, Frederic March and Mickey Rooney.

Mr. David Duffin assisted Mr. R. Rowe, of Frankford, with the funeral of Mr. Will Johnson at Stockdale on Tuesday.

Mr. Allan Francis spoke on "This World of Ours", at the special service arranged by the Young Marrieds. He urged the group to do worthwhile things along the way rather than just aim to be a social group. The Bible lessons were read by Messrs. William Wilkins and William Brown and Mr. Ted Reynolds contributed a solo. A Fellowship hour followed in the Sunday School hall.

Mr. B. Johnson, Norwood, was a recent guest at the home of his son, Earl Johnson, and Mrs. Johnson of town.

Mr. C. Fulford moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Poulter for his kindness in presenting the work of the church in this interesting form. The 1954 slate of officers was returned for another year.

Hydro Chairman Richard Hearn, who addressed the meeting later, said that by spring a new impetus of activity will be felt all along the St. Lawrence waterfront.

He said that within a few days Hydro will award contracts for the major share of electrical equipment for the giant power project and for materials needed for the powerhouse.

HOW GOALIES MAKE GREAT SAVES

When a goalie makes a sensational save on a hard shot, he's not so surprised. He probably had it tagged all the way! Cool-nerved and sharp-eyed, the agile netminder forces the puck-carrier to make his move first—even leaves an opening to shoot at. Then, in a flash, the goalie closes the opening with his pads or glove. Another sensational save!

GOALKEEPERS must cover the net with cat-like agility, set for shots from any angle!

Communist China Rejects Plan For Cease-Fire

But Witholds Any Decision On Attending UN Gathering

LONDON (CP) — Communist China today rejected any suggestion of a cease-fire with the Nationalists and warned she would "strike back with heavy blows" should American forces try to stop her from taking Formosa.

Peiping radio in a broadcast heard here termed the idea of a Formosa cease-fire "absolutely unacceptable" and declared:

"We are determined to liberate Taiwan (Formosa). If the U.S. armed forces dare to attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

President Eisenhower already has pledged to use American forces to protect the Formosa stronghold of Chiang Kai-shek and the neighboring Pescadores Island against Communist attack.

Communist China meanwhile withheld a direct answer to New Delhi's plea Friday that a Peiping representative attend the United Nations security council debate on the Formosa crisis, diplomatic sources here said.

REPEATED CLAIMS

Premier Chou En-lai is reported to have said he would refer the matter to his government but he repeated his claim to Formosa, insisting that the fate of all the Nationalist-held islands is purely the domestic concern of China.

Humphrey Trevelyan, Britain's charge d'affaire in Peiping did not, in his interview with Chou Friday, invite Communist China to join the security council debate. But he said Britain would support a move to invite Communist China and he hoped Peiping would accept an invitation.

Foreign Secretary Eden followed up the Peiping overtures Friday night by making a personal appeal in a speech in Warwick that Red China attend the meeting to "try to make arrangements somewhere temporary," to stop the Formosa fighting. Stopping of the fighting was "the only immediate purpose of British policy."

Rumor Denied By Official Of Company

Rumor to the effect that Proctor and Gable, U.S. soap manufacturers, would erect a $20,000,000 factory just east of Naganey commencing this Spring, was denied by a company official Friday afternoon.

J. M. Gordon, secretary of the company in commenting on report said "this is news to me. I have never heard anything about it before. The company has no plans for expansion in the Kingston area."

Mr. Gordon was contacted Friday afternoon when talk of the possible industrial project gained strength locally.

It was rumored that the concrete construction had been let to the H. K. Ferguson Company of Canada, Montreal, recently erecting the $20,000,000 Imperial Chemical Industries plant at Millhaven.

Three Armed Bandits Escape With $3,000

WINDSOR (CP) — Three armed bandits escaped with $3,000 amid gunfire Friday after robbing a bank Friday at Stoney Point, 12 miles northeast of here.

Five hours later police arrested a man they said they suspect of being the driver of the getaway car used by the gunmen. A second suspect was picked up later, but no money was found.

The bandits entered the bank shortly before 2 p. m. After scooping up the money, they fled while bank manager Michael Lazoue, 22, fired five shots at them.

MINISTER USING AXE AND SCALPEL ON GOVT. SPENDING

Shaves $153 Million Off Expenditures

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's new finance minister is using both the axe and the scalpel on federal spending.

Hon. Walter Harris, in office 6½ months and faced with the government's first budget deficit in eight years, has slashed and shaved $153,000,000 from the current year's forecast spending in his preliminary estimate of 1955-56 expenditures.

His main appropriations — subject to later boosts—call for a 3.3-per-cent increase in spending over the present fiscal year to date, the first cut in seven years at this stage of government financing.

The cut-effect of the 30-year-old minister—labelled in the Commons Friday as the baby-sitting type of grandpa the year starting April 1—cut both defence and non-defence expenditures for comparison with the current fiscal year's supplementary authorizations.

EXPECT BOOST

The 1955-56 main estimates were shown at $4,360,268,000, against $4,513,820,000 for the current fiscal year to date.

The present years figures likely will be lifted by supplementary estimates before March 31 and the 1955-56 estimates boosted.

The apparent spending reduction does not point to the same trend. That depends on many elements including how much more money the government will want besides the main estimates, the economic outlook when the taxsetting budget comes down later and the government's view on a surplus or deficit 1955-56 basis.

Mr. Harris gave no clue to what the estimates will mean in taxes. He said nothing beyond the formalities.

But a few hours later in Vancouver a cabinet colleague—Fisheries Minister Sinclair—declared any tax cuts in the coming budget won't amount to much.

DEFENCE CUT

Mr. Sinclair said in a speech prepared before the estimates were tabled that the defence expenditure shown in them is "perhaps not great enough in itself to justify tax reductions on the year you would like to see."

Defence department figures issued Friday underlined a growing conviction in Ottawa that Mr. Harris, who assumed the post folio during a slowdown in the upturn, is a believer in the Keynesian economy, inherited the first budget deficit in eight years.

The finance ministry statement showed that the surplus for the first nine months of the 1954-55 fiscal year was down to $45,656,-000, against $200,000,000 a year earlier. Bills pile up at the end of the fiscal year. Last year the surplus was $245,000,000.

NOMINAL SURPLUS

Finance minister Douglas Abbott, now a justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, said last April for a nominal $4,000,000 surplus, a balance in view of the size of the figures.

Confronted with a deficit problem in the current year, Mr. Harris has pruned all along the line in his initially-proposed expenditures for 1955-56.

The cuts range all the way down from $20,000,000 for the defence department to $754 to bring the veterans affairs spending to $235,-477,596.

Largest cut was absorbed by the air force, whose appropriation was sliced by $109,000,000 to $880,404,-000. Next came the navy category in for smaller reductions.

Election of officers, reports of the standing committees, letting of a tender for hardware for the new addition, approval of recommendations by the medical staff, and a visit from Mayor Roy and City Council, highlighted the meeting held in the recreation room of the nurses' residence.

Other officers elected are: W. B. Lattimer, vice-chairman; A. M. Haig, finance; Franz Donsenko, supplies; K. G. M. Ross, accountant receivable; A. Whitehead, public relations; H. P. M. Cain, personnel; Miss M. Lloyd, purchasing; J. E. Buchan, properties.

New members welcomed to the board yesterday were Dr. G. V. Faulkner, president of the medical staff; J. H. Spracklett, Warden of Hastings County and Cecil Kelleher, one of Thurlow township.

Minutes of the last Board and executive meetings were approved as well as reports of the following committees: public relations, nursing, accounts receivable, finance, and the medical staff.

A recommendation "that the hospital cease to participate as a provincial branch laboratory and that the screeners with the provincial government be terminated, and that due notice be forwarded to the Dept. of Health explaining to them that we are unable to participate further because of the huge financial loss to the hospital," evoked some discussion.

REQUEST TURNED DOWN

Hospital Administrator Kenneth Box explained that the hospital had approached the provincial government for an increased grant for laboratory services but that the request had been turned down.

Judge Breaks Legal Tradition By Ordering Court Closed to All

MONTREAL (CP)—A criminal court judge broke with 20 years of legal tradition here Friday and barred the doors of his court to all outsiders while hearing a morality case.

Reporters, spectators, and even crown counsel involved in the case were bundled into courthouse corridors and noisy-jarred lawyers gathered in little groups muttering disgruntedly about "precedent."

Then, with only a handful of persons in the packed court room, Judge Omer Legrand heard the case against Francois and Therese Demers—a man and woman charged with corrupting their 16-year-old daughter with intercourse.

After at least nine witnesses, including the girl and her parents, had been examined, the judge ordered the couple for voluntary statement. The girl's parents and moyers is 44, his wife 23.

Then he ordered the courthouse in an effort to get a seat. But Judge Legrand was adamant. Public, he said, could not be expected to testify properly against their parents in a crowded court room. Attendants cleared out all spectators.

Still the courtroom seemed crowded, so the judge ordered reporters and crown counsel involved in the case out as well.

The Demeyers' parents, married four months, are accused of assaulting young Pauline, a daughter of the husband by a previous marriage.

When they were arraigned here last week, detectives told newspaper men a 30-page statement filed with the court by police claimed the child had been kicked, punched and beaten with a broom-stirup, forced to commit "depraved sexual acts" and burned with lighted cigarets. They said she had been forced at times to lick the rubbers of drunken visitors and eat potato peelings and dog meat.

Bail was refused the couple after police told the judge that the husband was sentenced to 10 years in penitentiary and the last in 1946 for keeping a woman prisoner in a shed for three weeks and beating her.

14 Degrees Below Zero Registered In Quinte District

Last night was the coldest night of winter so far in the Belleville district with the temperature dipping to 14 degrees below.

For all you week-end nimrods, under the impression that hunting the regular rabbit is impossible, temperatures would turn you into a numrod, there's good news today.

As a matter of fact it's good news for everyone in the Quinte area.

Over this week-end the temperature will not drop any lower than zero to 10 above. At least that is what the weather man said following last night's vicious frost-bite at the Belleville area everyone will be willing to bear.

Last night, the coldest night as yet, possibly may go down as the coldest night of the winter of 1955. At 3.30 a.m. the mercury hit the 14 below 0 degrees below. At 8.00 a.m. it was 12 below. Residents in Belleville will be left the comfort of home and stepped into a cold blast of air floating at 11 below. An hour later it was still six below while at 10 a.m., the mercury registered two above.

SENATE GIVES EISENHOWER FULL POWERS

Only Three Opposed To Formosa Authority

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resounding Senate vote Friday whisked to President Eisenhower an authorization for the use of any necessary United States force to save Formosa from the Reds.

The action crushed meagre opposition to parts of the resolution.

Eisenhower arranged to sign the resolution today before leaving for a weekend vacation in Augusta, Ga.

Pitted on a previous vote of 409 to 3 in the House of Representatives, the Senate vote of 85 to 3 was a thumping endorsement for a measure which supporters say was aimed at keeping the peace but critics contend might indeed bring that would set off a third world war.

By the resolution, Eisenhower is authorized to employ U.S. armed forces "as he deems necessary" to protect Chinese Nationalist held Formosa and the near-by Pescadores islands.

Included is general authority to defend "related" areas, such as the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, which have been under attack by the mainland Communists.

Some Democrats contended that the Eisenhower administration, by including United Nations recognition of Communist China by encouraging the international organization to seek a cease-fire in the Formosan straits.

End of Strike May Have Started In Night Club

TORONTO (CP)—The beginning of the end of the long strike in Canada strike may have started at a night club.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Automobile Workers of America, and Henry Ford II, president of Ford in the United States and director of the Canadian firm, met by chance at the club last December, it was revealed Friday.

Mr. Mazey suggested that the two should get together to analyze the situation. They arranged a meeting for a few days later.

Subsequently, Mr. Mazey met with senior officials of Ford of Canada in Windsor, representative for the Toronto bargaining sessions which began Dec. 28. These officials reported back in an agreement to end the record 109-day strike that had closed plants in Windsor, Oakville and Etobicoke.

Strike Vote Will Be Taken Feb. 2 By CBC Engineers and Technicians

MONTREAL (CP) — The possibility of a strike today threatened the sprawling CBC radio and television networks.

Union officials said Friday a strike vote will be taken Feb. 2 among the corporation's technical employees and authorized the union to call a walk-out if a "satisfactory" agreement is not reached with the corporation by Feb. 15.

The National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians (CIO-CCL) represents 783 technical employees.

Announcement of the strike vote followed receipt by both parties of a federal conciliation board report on their wage and job-classification dispute. They are also at odds on computation of overtime.

Contents of the report will not be disclosed until Monday.

Timothy O'Sullivan, international representative of the union, announced holding of the strike vote after a meeting of NABET's fiveman negotiating committee Friday in Montreal.

He said workers at 39 CBC television and control station workers asked either to accept or reject the conciliation report. Present average wage is $65.

Union members liable to be affected include master control engineers, sound effects specialists, maintenance crews and radio engineers operating video tape recorders, lighting engineers, projectionists and film processors as well as control station workers.

Also involved in the corporation's television stations.

Labor spokesmen said a strike would close down CBC radio and TV outlets, but it is understood the CBC has made plans to continue broadcasting services in the event of a walk-out. The corporation has neither denied nor confirmed such

$1,150,000 Federal Building Will Be Constructed Here

Local Architects Chosen To Submit Specifications

Frank S. Follwell, M.P. for Hastings South, announced this morning that the Dominion government will build a $1,150,000 federal building in Belleville in the near future. No site has been chosen said Mr. Follwell.

Mr. Follwell made his announcement following announcement of an appropriation of $200,000 for a federal building by the Department of Public Works in Ottawa.

The Department has entered into an agreement with Mr. A. R. Watson of the firm of Watson and Wiegand, Belleville architects, to draw plans and specifications for the new federal building and to supervise its construction.

The federal government offices in the city are expected to be housed in the new building. These offices include Dept. of National Revenue, Unemployment Insurance Commission, National Employment Service, Department of Agriculture, Post Office, Customs and Excise, Dept. of Citizenship and Immigration, Dept. of Electricity and Gas Inspection, Dept. of Weights and Measures, Dept. of Veterans, Health and Welfare, and R.C.M.P.

TO GIVE REQUIREMENTS

Each branch of federal government service in the city is being asked to prepare specifications of its requirements. These estimates will be forwarded to Mr. Watson, who will use them as the basis for plans and specifications for the new building.

Mr. Watson, contacted on business, could not be contacted this morning.

"Preliminary surveys have been carried out on several sites," said Mr. Follwell this morning. "However, nothing definite on the site has been decided as yet. Negotiations for the proposed properties are still in progress."

"Mr. Watson has received no direction as to the site," said Mr. Follwell.

"Appropriation of $300,000 in this year's budget for the Department of Public Works means that the department expects construction to take more than one year," said Mr. Follwell.

In addition to the appropriation for the federal building, the Department of Public Works announced an appropriation of $42,000 for wharf repairs.

Will Take Action On 47 Sailors

OTTAWA (CP) — Disciplinary action will be taken where appropriate in the case of 47 sailors who drank duplicating fluid aboard the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent last December, Defence Minister Campney said Friday.

The Canadian Press learned surveymethyl alcohol poisoning but medical officers have said no one has gone blind or will be blinded.

Mr. Campney told the Commons that the consumption of duplicating fluid, used in the ship's duplicating machines, were taken from a storeroom by one of the petty officers of the Magnificent's company. All the sailors were clearly warned "poison."

The crew members who took the fluid were found in the storeroom by one of the nurses in duties.

Loose Caboose Bags Auto On Sante Fe Trail

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Bill J. Brumbaugh, 24, escaped injury when his car was smashed by the caboose of a Santa Fe freight train at a crossing here Friday night.

"There wasn't a train in sight," he told officers. "I pulled onto the tracks and, wham, this caboose came out of nowhere and hit me."

The caboose had become disconnected and was trailing the freight by half a mile. After the mishap, the train backed up, hooked the caboose to the caboose and went on its way.

Faulty Switch Causes Train To Hit Station

VERNER, Ont. (CP)—A badly-aligned switch apparently caused a freak accident Friday by which a freight train smashed through the local station here.

Canadian Pacific Railway train, westbound from North Bay with a load of merchandise, was due at Verner on the main line, instead, it entered a siding and crashed into the flimsy station building.

Three crew members on the engine and an operator inside the station leaped to safety seconds before the crash.

Brakeman Ralph Thompson suffered undetermined back injuries when he jumped just before the locomotive hit two freight cars on the siding, hurling them into the station. He was taken to hospital in Sturgeon Falls, 11 miles away.

Engineer Lorne McCarthy and fireman John Cummings escaped unhurt.

In Lafreniere, 22 - year - old temporary telegrapher Jean Lacroix-chez, Que., was talking to the North Bay dispatcher on the telegraph when he saw the boxcars bearing down on the station. He dropped the phone, rushed out the door and jumped into a ditch.

Conductor Ted Kamaryczuk and brakeman Stewart Daly of North Bay, who were in the caboose, escaped with only a shaking. The station's living quarters had been vacated by station agent Gordon and his wife and two children, until Wednesday when Gordon retired on pension and moved to Ottawa.

French Play To Be Presented At Festival

Le Theatre du Pont Neuf, representing Ottawa and Hull French language theatre group, will present "Malbrough S'en Va Z'En Guerre" on the final night of the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival being held in the Belleville Collegiate, February 15, 16, 18 and 19.

The group, in existance for only three years, has progressed so rapidly that it is now regarded as the best of the inaugural theatre company of a region, noted at one time for outstanding entries in the Ontario Drama Festival.

The company has been named Le Pont Neuf after Paris' oldest bridge. It is said that Moliere used to present popular spectacles for the people of Paris on the bridge itself which is located near the artistic centre of the French metropolis.

In choosing the name, Le Pont Neuf, the company not only pays tribute to Moliere and his theatre tradition, but seeks to be a bridge in Canadian theatre between a glorious past and a promising future. In years to come, Le Pont Neuf would like to bring back to Ottawa and Hull stages, some of the glory which other great French-speaking companies for the region have known.

FIRST PRODUCTION IN MARCH

Le Pont Neuf presented its first major production at the Little Theatre, Ottawa, last March. It was a production that say "Polichinelle" by Canadian author Leon Ledoux. Audience and critics in the capital acclaimed the performance of the company and the talent of French theatre in the Ottawa valley had been revived to Moliere.

At the beginning of the present season the company presented two new Canadian plays to Ottawa audiences including "L'Imbecile" by Yves Gurrier.

Marcel Achard's comedy, "Malbrough S'en Va Z'En Guerre", based on a rollicking French song recalling the adventuray of Malbrough leading to the wars, is a light comedy, which has enjoyed tremendous popularity in France.

Festival officials, stimulated by the challenge of presenting a French play at the forthcoming festival, have arranged for an English rendition of the scenes, which will be printed and distributed to patrons so that they can follow the action of the play.

Out-of-town ticket buyers may procure tickets to any of the plays or for the entire festival by writing Box 161, Belleville.

J.N. YANOVER

"It is not our intention to make money on the laboratory," said Mrs. Boe. "But we don't want to lose money. We cannot afford to lose money."

It was explained that a grant of 25 to 40 cents per test was paid by the provinces for tests which received free tests. Cost to the hospital for these tests runs between 75 cents and $1.25 depending on the tests.

Mr. Faulkner pointed out that the volume of work being done in the laboratory for the provincial government justified such a laboratory on the staff that efficiency could be improved. He says that the Belleville General Hospital laboratory, in 1953, did more than 62,000 routine tests — 15 per cent more work than was done at the Kingston General Hospital which has a staff twice the size.

In answer to questions from visiting aldermen, Board members pointed out that free provincial laboratory services would be available by mail to local patients in Kingston, Peterborough and Toronto.

The recommendation was carried with the understanding that such a way be left open for re-establishment of a laboratory should the government see fit to increase its grant to meet the cost of the work done.

The report of the Nursing Committee included a recommendation that membership on the committee be increased to include representation from the community and that the name of the committee be changed.

The proposed new membership would include representatives of: the Women's Institute, the community, the field of general education, public health, medicine, nursing, superintendent of the hospital, and the director of the School of Nursing.

CROWN PAYS PART

The accounts receivable committee decided that the Department of Indian Affairs patients would be billed for services when it is felt such patients are able to contribute to pay and that if the Department of Indian Affairs pays any portion of the bill, that the balance owing be presented to the patient.

A. M. Haig pointed out that members of the local branch of the Crown and that the Crown pays part of the hospital bills.

"Some members of the Band, however, have good jobs and can pay their bills," said Mr. Haig. "We want the authority to try to collect the balance of the billowing."

Recommendations presented by the medical staff were carried after discussion on each recommendation. The recommendations were: (1) In reference to the dental staff that no surgical operations shall be carried out in the operating room unless a member of the medical staff is present, and that members of the dental staff should attend operations patients when referred.

(2) That all cobalt solutions continue to be used in the hospital.

(3) Nurses, attendants, and doctors entering the operating room be properly attired in cap, mask, gown and booties.

(4) That staff approves moving medical records to allow installation of an electrical bulletin board.

(5) That the regulation on analgesia in routine, spontaneous delivery read that a graduate nurse can give ether analgesia under the supervision of the attending physician.

(6) That new record forms for staff applications as outlined by the Ontario Medical Association be adopted.

(7) That new forms for recording surgical morbidity and head injury hemorrhage be adopted.

TENDER ACCEPTED

A tender of $8,997.54 for hardware for the new addition to the hospital, submitted by Ault and Hardware, was accepted. It was the lowest of five tenders submitted.

Provision for hardware in the general contract was $9,010.00.

By tendering for hardware separately the hospital effected a saving of the difference of $8,002.46.

Tenders submitted were, Shaw Wright, Ltd., Toronto, $9,010.00; for Schlage Locks: Wills Hardware, $8,350 for Sargent locks; Walker Hardware, $8,997.54 for Corbin Locks; Canada Hardware Ltd., $10,162 for Russwin locks; Aikenhead Hardware, Toronto, $10,210.72 for Schlage Locks.

Board members decided to hold the annual meeting on Friday, March 25, at 8.00 p.m., following the monthly meeting which was set for 7.00

W. B. Lattimer, vice chairman, conducted the meeting in the absence of Mr. Yanover.

Aldermen present were Mrs. J. Forrester, Mrs. E. McCabe, Ross David, Frank Grandoma and Bruce Reynolds.

1955 Fair Dates Are Set At Central Fairs Convention

Fair dates for 1955 were set and discussions aimed at improvement of fair programs were heard Friday by delegates met at the Kiwanis Centre for the Central Fairs Association Convention.

But all that fair delegates seemed quite satisfied with last year's success and in almost every instances reported increased attendance and more money paid out in prizes.

The ladies turned out in force for the meeting of fairs' and fair directors in the Belleville area and greatly outnumbered the men. The ladies had their own program arranged and following election of officers sat in with the men for a joint meeting during the afternoon.

RE-ELECT PRESIDENT

Sidney Fitzgerald of Shannonville was re-elected district representative to the Central Fairs Association for his fifth term. Vice-president is John Gilchrist of Madoc with Leslie Claus of Mohawk Fair being named as vice-president of Belleville. W. Varcoe, Roseneath, was renamed secretary treasurer and H. Lane of Belleville and Fred Hendersron are auditors.

Mrs. Elmore Claus, women's fair Association is Mrs. Elmore Craig of Brighton, who was re-named to the office. Vice-presidents are Mrs. R. J. Penny of Kingston and Mrs. Ross Wannamaker of Belleville, with Mrs. W. Harry Rollins of Belleville as secretary.

Mrs. Craig in presenting the women delegates heard their reports. She urged the ladies to keep up and even increase their interest in their fair organization and also urged the formation of a group of Brampton, member of the Ontario Fairs' Association. Mrs. Craig was called by Mrs. W. A. Hume of Campbellford and Mrs. Copp of Norwood and Mrs. McKinney.

F. A. LASHLEY SPEAKS

F. A. Lashley, superintendent of fairs, spoke at the morning session of meeting, and complimented the Belleville district on the quality exhibits shown at the provincial association. He noted that many provincial directors from Toronto were present, had come from the Belleville area.

Mr. Lashley showed a series of colored slides demonstrating main features of exhibits at many of the fairs across the province. Included were new ideas in horticultural exhibits and displays of women's work. He noted that for the small fairs, the opportunity to show good way to start off the program, while a livestock parade gave exhibitors the opportunity to show off their prize animals.

Mr. Lashley said there were 250 fairs in the province. The purpose of fairs, he stated, should be to encourage ways to give delegates information and inspiration.

BUSINESS MEETING HELD

Phil Dodds, secretary of Picton Fair, acted as chairman for the afternoon business meeting and had more attractive display of women's exhibits, flowers and better exhibits were required, he said. He said his own fair had increased its prize list and women's exhibits from outside the county and suggested that something should be done about the professional type of exhibitor who exhibited the same thing year after year.

G. A. Breinin of Norwood told of a junior poultry project held by his fair in which 40 calves had been purchased by as many boys ranging in age between 10 and 18 years. Purebred heifer calves had been purchased all of which were paid for by the participants and kept for foundation herds.

WANT TO BE CLASS B

Harold Hapgood of Napanee, noted that his society was aiming at becoming a class "B" fair and was currently holding a program to raise funds for a new Napanee and District Exhibition Centre.

Brief messages were heard from Mrs. R. Craig, president of the ladies' association, and from Mrs. Alec McKinney of Brampton, who admitted she was "pinch hitting" for the president.

Secretary Harold Fitzgerald in his report noted he had visited 77 fairs during the past year. He complimented the ladies on the fine displays of art, needlework and other work. Women's displays were "better than ever". He had also noted many property improvements including new or repaired grandstands, fresh paint and new fences.

Humphreys

Following the meeting each alderman spoke briefly congratulating the Board on its efficient meeting and wishing it success in the coming year.

A luncheon was held for Board members and their guests from council at the conclusion of the meeting.

WATCH BATEMAN'S

Horse Classes Cut

Horse classes at almost all the fairs had been cut up while there had been a "marvellous" improvement in cattle exhibits. However, at many fairs covered pens were necessary to encourage swine and sheep men to bring out their stock.

PROJECTS FOR JUNIORS

Most fairs were now offering projects for juniors, with 4-H clubs being held. Many fairs encouraged the interest of the juniors who would be the fair board members of tomorrow.

Mr. Fitzgerald urged that directors always be on the lookout for something new and different and also stressed the importance of commercial features.

Efforts were still being made to have class "C" fairs eligible for capital grants. The matter was still before the minister and hopes were entertained the matter would be approved.

Mayor J. Bolt of Belleville extended an official welcome to the fair delegates noting that the attendance at the meeting indicated a keen interest was being taken in fair fairs. Ben Hooker, president of Class "B" fairs, introduced Mr. Lashley while W. Harry Rollins expressed the appreciation of delegates.

Dobbin Refuses To Haul Wagon In Zero Weather

When the mercury drops to 14 a below it is only to be expected that many motor cars will refuse to spring to life, but when a delivery horse "freezes up" then brother it really must have been cold.

Not that was exactly what happened early this morning on Front Street when a milk delivery horse simply refused to budge.

Faithful old dobbin had to be coaxed away from the warmth of his stable as the deliveryman commenced his early morning rounds but near the city hall he simply refused to move further. Reinforcements were called from the dairy but still dobbin refused to move. Finally he was led back to the stable leaving the milk wagon at the curb.

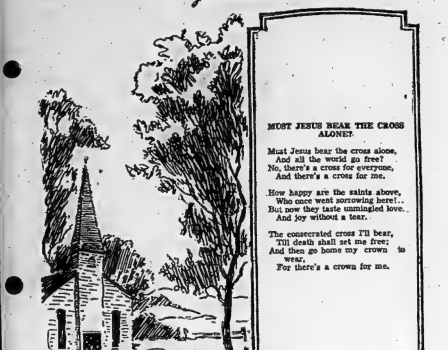
IN MEMORIAM

SAYSON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Donald C. Sayson, who died January 29th, 1954.

The little knee when we woke that more,
The little hands the day would bring,
The little voice that used to speak
Are memories dear to me.



To part with one we loved so dear,
We wonder why he had to die,
He left behind a world of sorrow,
No morning dawn, no night return
But that is the will of God.
God gave us strength to bear the blow,
God took our loved one home.
But what he left us we'll find,
No one will ever know.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife Irene and two little daughters Wanda and Ann. 728

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

MUST JESUS BEAR THE CROSS ALONE?

Must Jesus bear the cross alone,
And all the world go free?
No, there's a cross for everyone,
And there's a cross for me.

How happy are the saints above,
Who once went sorrowing here!..
But now they taste unmingled love.
And joy without a tear.

The consecrated cross I'll bear,
Till death shall set me free;
And then go home my crown to wear,
For there's a crown for me.

After nearly three hundred years this little hymn is still in general use in Christian churches throughout the world.

Its author, the Rev. Shepherd, was a clergyman of the Church of England for several years and, later, a Congregational minister. He was born in 1665, educated in English universities, and served for a time following his ordination as vicar of Tilbrook.

It was in 1694 that he deserted the Established Church to become a Congregationalist. For six years after casting his lot with the nonconformists he was pastor of Castle Hill Meeting House, an Independent Church at Nottingham, later served by Dr. Philip Doddridge, another great hymnist who is revered by twentieth century Christians for his hymn, "O Happy Day!"

In 1692, Shepherd published a collection of sermons and a book of sacred lyrics which contained his hymn, "Must Jesus Bear The Cross Alone?" The music for the hymn was written more than 150 years later by George Nelson Allen, an Ohio musician. The tune has been largely responsible for the success and popularity of Shepherd's poem—so much so, indeed, that some hymn lovers have erroneously credited both words and music to Allen.

A Lift For Living

Standing in Our Own Way

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

In October 1842 Emerson entered in his Journal this sentence: "Henry Thoreau made, last night, the fine remark that as long as a man stands in his own way, everything seems to be in his way."

How true that is! One of the tragic blunders of living is to blame others for blocking our path, when in reality we are standing in our own way. We complain that competitors crowd us, or that fate is against us when the fault is within ourselves.

Sometimes we hear it said that a person is his own worst enemy. Such a statement suggests the drinker perhaps, who, with all his engaging qualities and winning ways, lacks self-control to hold himself steady. While others are for him, he blocks his own road.

But this blunder of standing in one's own way is far broader than such cases. It is an error of all those who make life needlessly hard for themselves. It hinders a man's progress with his fellow men. It may even halt his approach to God.

CAME TO HIMSELF

For one thing a person may be blocking the way to himself. In referring to the Prodigal Son, Jesus used the expression, "When he came to himself." Those words imply that a person is not always quite himself. We are aware of such moods at times, and there are other times when we are not ourselves without being aware of the fact.

Chesterton tells a whimsical story of an architect who was annoyed at the sight of an ugly house which he passed each day. To escape the irritating sight, he bought the house and moved into it. By living in it, he avoided looking at it. So is it with man's own nature. By living too closely within himself, a person may avoid looking at himself. He comes to take it for granted that he knows his own mind.

Or we may be standing in our own way by living too haughtily with ourselves. Stiffly proud of our own opinions, and stubbornly loyal to our past errors of judgment, we shut our eyes to the light which would reveal us to ourselves.

A school boy of mine, who was once explaining a picture book to his little brother of six, came across an illustration of King Charles on his way to the scaffold. "That," explained the lad; "is King Charles on his way to be blockheaded." Well, the boy was not so far wrong. Because the monarch had been block-headed, he was on his way to being beheaded. Thus by living too haughtily, or too narrowly, or too short-sightedly with ourselves, we block the way to our self-realization.

OUTSIDE OF SELF

When we stand in our own way we should, of course, try to get sufficiently outside of our self-centeredness to see ourselves as others see us. Instead of "looking out for Number One," we should get off and look at Number One. There is a vast difference between those two viewpoints. When we are always looking out for ourselves, we seldom see ourselves because our gaze is focused on the externals around us, rather than on the realities within us. Hence, a person needs occasionally to be an outsider to himself.

Or a person may so stand in his own way so that he blocks his approach to God. Prayer has been likened to a boat hook by which the little boat is pulled to the dock. But so often we try to use prayer not as a means of drawing ourselves to God but to pulling God to ourselves.

Dr. Charles G. Merrill told of a family incident back in the Spanish-American war. A mother learned that her husband was soon to return home from the front. She

Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

What was the name of the man who went to the High Priest at Jerusalem, asking him for letters to the synagogues at Damascus? He wanted to persecute both men and women who were Christians there. Breathing out threats and murder against the disciples, he was determined to capture all he could hunt down, bind them in chains and bring them back to the great centre of the Jewish religion, Jerusalem.

But as he journeyed, he approached Damascus and suddenly a light from Heaven flashed upon him and his companions.

He fell to the ground, and although the others heard no voice, he heard this question,

"Why do you persecute me?"

He answered,

"Who are you, Lord?"

The voice replied,

"I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting. Rise and enter the city.

You will be told what to do."

He got up, but when he opened his eyes he could see nothing. He was led by the hand to Damascus.

For three days in the house of a man called Judas, living on a street named Straight this former leader of the persecutions against the Christians, was blind. During this time the neither ate nor drank anything.

You will find this man's name and this story in the first nine verses of the ninth chapter of Acts.

BIBLE STORY

(Atlanta Constitution)

The teacher told the children to draw pictures illustrative of Old Testament stories. One little boy drew an automobile with a man and a woman in the back seat and a man in the front.

"Now what story could that be?" the teacher wanted to know.

"Why", said the artist, "that's the Lord driving Adam and Eve out of the Garden of Eden."

wondered what her little son's reaction would be when he heard of his father's return. When she told the little fellow, he exclaimed, "I don't know what he'll bring me."

CONTRAST IN SONS

Dr. Merrill said the lad's remark made him think by contrast of Dwight L. Moody's little son. One day the great evangelist heard a knock at his study door. Being busy, he called rather brusquely, "What do you want?" He heard his little son's voice say: "I don't want anything daddy; I just like to be with you." How those words warmed Moody's heart! When we pray, let us not begin by wondering what God will bring us. Let us start by wanting to be in His company.

In certain foreign lands men have made the state their god. To the state they entrust their consciences and before its dictators they bow.

What is God's rival deity in America? May it be that some of us are in danger of making ourselves into our gods? Let us remember the words of a modern writer: A man who bows down to nothing can never bear the burdens of himself."

NATIONAL HEALTH WEEK

"The laws of nature are constantly providing new threats to our health."

That startling statement is contained in a release by the Canadian Medical Association, endorsing Canada's eleventh annual National Health Week, from January 30 to February 5. The "Week" is sponsored by the Health League of Canada, in co-operation with Departments of Health across the country.

Another among the impressive list of organizations and individuals which are giving their blessing to this "Week" is the Canadian Cancer Society and one sentence in its endorsation of the project helps to explain the Canadian Medical Association's observation. "With each passing year," says the Cancer Society, "the total number of new cancer patients increases because medical science has helped us to live longer and so enter what might be called the 'cancer age'."

A similar situation exists with respect to a host of other ailments. More people are dying of heart trouble, for example, because medical science has devised methods of preserving life until people reach the age when heart ailments take their toll.

Thus the war against ill-health, by its very nature, can never end in victory. The enemy, "Death," may be repulsed but he is never defeated. Each temporary victory brings with it not rest from battle but a new and different fight.

Surely with new problems continually developing, this is a war in which professional soldiers -- the surgeon, the physician and the scientist -- alone can render distinguished service?

Not so, says the Canadian Medical Association. "The first line of defence in achieving a state of good health or well-being is self-help," declares the C.M.A.

That's where National Health Week a real significance. It is not simply a period set aside to acquaint the public with the work being done by a handful of experts, but a time when all Canadians can become alive to individual necessity of every one of us participating, to the full extent of our ability, in this never-ending war on disease.

"The supply of health is unlimited," says the U.S.A. National Citizens Committee of the World Health Organization. "If our neighbor gains in health we gain also." It is also true, tragically true, that if our neighbor is in ill health he can spread disease and suffering into many homes.

It follows that in the field of health we have a duty not only to ourselves and to our immediate families but to the community as a whole—and that the community as a whole has a duty to our families and to us as individuals.

The prevention of illness and the promotion of health are tasks in which the co-operation of all is required — and National Health Week is designed to inform us regarding the manner in which we can make our best contributions, as individuals, towards these ends.

TORONTO'S TITLE IN JEOPARDY

That virtue is its own reward seems only partly true in Toronto the Good. That city of delight and wonder seems to be the stepchild of fortune and the handmaiden of the police.

The latest jewel for the Queen City is an offer of a $12,000,000 gem of a civic centre. All the city has to do is provide the setting.

Only last year a syndicate of American investors offered to build a 51-storey city hall. Two of Toronto's most conspicuous needs -- a new city hall and a civic centre -- have been offered the citizens on a platter gratis.

Where, if ever, have private interests rushed to the assistance of a municipality with offers of aid on a scale such as this? They must love Toronto dearly to assume, willingly, the burdens and responsibilities at great cost to themselves.

Was ever a city wooed so passionately as Toronto the Good?

Has ever a city resisted its wooers as coldly as Toronto the Good?

City fathers responded coldly to the idea of a gleaming, new, City Hall worthy of it. The offer of a civic centre is meeting criticism because of the association of its proposed donor.

If Toronto continues to reject the gifts of its lovers its title of "Hogtown" will be in jeopardy.

"Inmates of the Okanogan county jail ran an advertisement recently in the local weekly newspaper to say that they thought the sheriff and his deputies were swell guys," says a news report from Okanogan, Washington.

Has the sheriff or his deputies looked to see if all their prisoners are still in jail?

"The Canadian Senate is evidently trying to commit suicide," commented the Belleville Weekly Sun in its "Sunbeams" column of June 2nd, 1897.

Fifty-eight years later it would seem that the Senate has decided not to suicide but to die a natural death.

"Your hopes have never taken wing.
You've never vainly wished or striven.
You've never wanted anything
But what to you it has been given.

"So very fortunate you are,
So seldom has your heart been torn.
There must have been a lucky star

So much of triumph and of joy,
I often think how right was she
When mother said: "You lucky boy!"

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BOOKS ARE LIFE

A reader of these Talks has written me, not unkindly, saying I write too much about books. I shall never tire of books, nor of telling people about them. Over the years I have received thousands of letters from readers thanking me for suggestions in regard to books. Great books are like people. They once were people. A fine author walks right out of the book that he has written.

Books are life. Almost the first thing I look for in a home is its books. They almost talk the story of the home itself, but most of all, a book reflects the personality and mind of the one who has selected it. I have two long shelves in my library containing just books about books. There is no habit that pays me a greater satisfaction, both and mental stimulation as that of reading.

The more we read and learn, the better do we take an interest in all important current events, and what is going on in the world about us. It often takes years to write a book, so that when we get it, we get the distilled substance of another's mind. Both my father and mother were book lovers, so that I came naturally to my love of books. They have sustained me through storm and stress, and brought comfort and joy to me that nothing material could bring. The test of a great book is whether or not we keep going back to it.

When you read what a writer has put into his book, you read the author himself. There are many books that become so intimate to us that they almost take upon themselves a living flesh and blood personality! That's why we like to return to them time and time again. Thoreau wrote in his diary these words: "A truly good book teaches me better than to read it. I must soon lay it down, and commence living on its hint."

You can take your friends with you in your reading, but your choice always take your books. They will become more companionable the longer you associate with them!

Welcome Cruelty!

(Hamilton Spectator)

A Hollywood actor's wife, suing for divorce, charges cruelty because her husband won't tell her where he has been or what he has been doing. We know a number of golfers, fishermen and hunters' wives who wouldn't at all mind a spot of that sort of cruelty.

Make Food by Sunlight

(Edmonton Journal)

One of the most important and promising advances in science last year was the laboratory demonstration, at the University of California, of the remarkable fact that sunlight can be harnessed to create sugar and starch from water and carbon dioxide in the living plant. This is the first time photosynthesis has been made to work outside the plant and it brings man one step closer to the ultimate goal—a food which chemists have been struggling about and working toward during the past hundred years.

Photosynthesis is the complex process by which the plant uses sunlight to make food for itself, and thus for animals and man. This means that the process sustains life on earth. However, it turns this trick, at present, only through plants and trees. The result man has been able to turn it to his account, so far, only by controlling and directly guiding growth by means of organized agriculture.

• • •

Chemists have long been striving to find a means of bypassing the plant; that is, they have been trying to find out how photosynthesis works so they could duplicate it outside Nature and release man from dependence on farming for food. There was a great deal of excitement when this release:

First, the earth's arable land is limited, and, with continued growth in population at current rates, then will soon have to prove insufficient to feed the multitudes of mankind by farming.

Second, although the amount of sunlight or solar energy which comes to the earth is enormous, the green plant is, at best, inquantitatively inefficient. It is estimated that only one-eighth of one per cent of the sunlight that falls on a green leaf is actually fixed as chemical energy, in the form of food, in such a crop as corn.

The hope is that, if the mysteries of photosynthesis could be solved, it would be put to work producing food in factories more efficiently than it now does in Nature. The energy of sunlight would be tapped more directly to manufacture food in abundance.

• • •

This dream has been brought closer to realization by the success of the California scientists. They have done, by any means, solved the mysteries of photosynthesis and discovered precisely how it works. But they borrowed chlorophyll particles from the plant and set them to work on water and carbon dioxide, so to speak, "in the tube," with the production of sugar and starch as the happy result. At the same time, they added substantially to our knowledge of the inner workings of photosynthesis.

Undoubtedly there is a long way to go yet but the advances of recent years are most encouraging. Hard-working scientists, by applying human intelligence to the conquest of the natural world, may well pay the end, before this century is out, to the bitterness and anxiety of global population outstripping its means of subsistence.

• • •

An intriguing aspect of this endeavor is that it may prove more directly for feeding the multitudes of the future than, parallel in the field of power. It is widely accepted that hydroelectricity is the last to run out gas and coal, will not last us forever, and water power, at best, is a limited resource. To supplement these sources of power, or of domestic and industrial energy, we shall soon be turning to the nuclear power reserve. Whether this, too will have its limits remains to be seen; perhaps the final limit in this will turn out to be limited, much the greater, but it, too, will be developed some system of tapping solar energy directly to produce power.

These endeavors to secure both food and power from the energy from the sun are an interesting reminder of the fact that the sun is the basis of man's existence. God's fundamental provider. This was not always vaguely recognized very early in the life of the human race.

Book Output Sets Record

(Manchester Guardian)

During 1954 British publishers issued 10,188 titles, of which 5,846 were reprints or new editions. Both figures are the highest ever recorded. The 1954 total is 931 greater than that of 1953 and 447 greater than in the previous record year, 1952.

The number and nature of fiction has dropped by 97. This is a reversal of what happened in 1953, when more novels were produced although the total number of books fell. The output of fiction is now much less than it was in the prosperity years (in 1937 the fiction total was 5,097, compared with 4,204 in 1954). The greatest increases in 1954 were in children's books and educational books.

The output of technical handbooks is three times what it was before the war; travel and adventure books are down; fiction has dropped by 97. This is a total; politics are below and sociology above pre-war figures.

He Scoffs At Teacoff

(Sherbrooke Record)

You may think you have known people who have plumbed the depths of paletal depravity. But we have seen—and intended—the worst. Came across a man in the bush only twenty years ago of half-and-half new to us: Coffee mixed with tea. Sugar and cream already and the liquids blended.

Medicine there is no brew like it. An experimental slip brought complete agreement.

We christened it "Teacoff" as a treat for Friend Husband on the morning of April the First. Then left him responsible for the consequences.

What is Reason?

(Edmonton Journal)

The Bureau of Statistics informs us that between 1931 and 1951 the number of bill collectors in Canada decreased forty per cent. Does this mean that Canadians are paying their bills more promptly, or that the art of writing threatening letters has improved?

Petrified Lightning

(Margaret Romer, in Natural History magazine.)

If you walk among the sand dunes and desert areas or on the desert in a region where thunder storms are frequent and violent, you may find a piece of "petrified lightning".

This will probably be protruding an inch or so out of the sand at the top of a hillock. You must look for it, for it will dig and ignore it. But better investigate.

If on inspection you find the object is not wood but a rock-like formation you may have found a scientific treasure. When you try to remove it be gentle, for it is very brittle. It is natural glass.

• • •

Your discovery may go down in history as a fulgurite. There are a few inches to five or six feet or even deeper. It may be only a fraction of an inch thick or as much as three or four inches. It is apt to taper to a point, and it probably branches out underground, like a tree upside down.

Your prize will probably be greyish white in color and translucent; but it may be yellowish, greenish, reddish, or black.

A scientific would call the formation a fulgurite. The name comes from the Latin word for lightning. Lightning is said to strike high places, so you are more likely to find a fulgurite at the top of a dune than in the valley between.

Sand is largely a nonconductor, offering a great deal of resistance. When the lightning strikes sand it is so terrific that it melts the sand as the bolt plunges downward, but this heats only a small area, and it quickly cools. Result: A hollow glass tube. It is hollow because it usually cools and hardens before the gases have time to settle back into the hole created by the lightning.

Often if these natural glass tubes are not found by someone the wind may bury them in the sand and they will remain untouched for years. Then by some chance or other a storm will appear sticking out of the sand. Such finds have also been reported in Nevada, Utah and Michigan.

WHY BABIES DON'T HAVE COLIC

When it comes to the welfare and happiness of babies I tell the truth and nothing but the truth and I'm sorry if some of you readers chooses to be displeased about it. This truth I have to tell is that a baby who is well and well cared for doesn't have the colic.

Dr. Brady

Maybe I should get ready for a quick get-away and express it more emphatically, thus: 999 out of 1,000 babies given medicine or treatment for colic have no colic or until the medicine or treatment gives them colic.

From the time I opened a book on pediatrics I have been unsatisfied with the concept of infantile colic. In nearly two years' internship in a hospital where there were always thirty to forty young infants, left by unwed mothers, I saw very few cases of colic babies had better care than the babies of most legitima'e parents receive. As a private practitioner in country and city, I saw a few cases of alleged colic, but in every instance the baby's discomfort was due to mistreatment. I believed and in many of these cases if the people didn't believe they, Come older, have more than baby being pretty young, did, I proved it, at least to my own satisfaction, by interdicting the feeding formula with castor oil, peppermint, paregoric or whatever else was prescribed, and further by the withdrawal of enemas, and seeing that the baby received adequate food and not "easy to digest" pap calculated to produce malnutrition.

This sounds simple, but it was not so simple as it sounds. In fact there were many instances the family called a better doctor to attend the baby.

The mistake in the diagnosis of colic seems to be the way the baby begins to bawl, drawing up his legs, straightens out, has a hard swollen belly, clenches his fists and red in the face. Seen pale—why, ma'am, that's enough to convince any midwife—but I have observed all of these symptoms in perfectly healthy babies, including my own, and in my judgment such little temper spells or whatever you please to call 'em are good for a baby. A normal baby will give just such a performance if he is made uncomfortable by a wet didy, too much clothing, grubby heat, the glare of bright lights, tobacco smoke in the air, hunger, an overload of dilute food, want of his afternoon bath (4.30 p.m.), back rub, a few minutes' airing in the sun or before the fire, an application of talcum powder, a fresh clean nnts receive. An infant will cry long and loud from any of these causes until he exhausted that he becomes weak, blue and cold. From this fact many an observer has inferred that cold or chilling produces colic. Application of dry or moist heat relieves various aches and pains, including babycrying, but if it relieved "colic" people would not so readily dope their babies unloosed with paregoric (camphorated tincture of opium), would they?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The Dutch elm disease, which has been ravaging elm trees in the New England states, particularly Connecticut, for several years and more, and which entered Canada in 1944, at Montreal, has now passed along the St. Lawrence valley and begun on the Great Lakes basin, having been identified at Belleville, Niagara Falls and Windsor. The white elm, which has a range all the way from the near lip of Newfoundland to the valley of the Saskatchewan river, is the stately shade tree in Canada. In its range, it is often more affectionately regarded than the maple for the beauty of its fountain-like shape standing alone in broad pasture land or roadside and fence bottom. And Westerners, when they think of the East, most readily picture a landscape in which the shapely elm is the distinctive feature.

The Dutch elm disease really originated in Asia, and appeared in Europe in the 1920's, destroying an estimated 70 percent of the elms in northwest Europe. Why it is called Dutch may be due to the greatness of the loss to Holland where the tree is particularly loved.

The fungus, which the disease is, is carried by beetles in logs imported from Europe for veneer factories. The fungus spreads in the beetle's burrows, and the infant turn yellow and the wood becomes discolored. It red in the face, they die in one season. The elm bark is believed to be the carrier of the disease to the living tree. So far, no method of dealing with the disease has been found either in Europe or America.

Coming on how the white birch disease is, it is relentlessly spreading from the Maritimes Westward, across the Canadian forests, the elm disease is bad news indeed for Eastern Canada.

One Ontario forestry expert who has been studying the blight says: "We must now accept that imported plague along with the starling, the carp and the sow thistle."

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

NATURE OF TRUE SAVIOUR HOOD

Some years ago archeologists discovered a picture which came down from early days of the Christian Church. It showed a figure with the head of an ass and the body of a man nailed on a cross. Before it, a man was bowed in adoration. It was a caricature written the contemptuous words, "Alexamenos worships this God."

Thus did an ancient believer in the city of Rome show his contempt for a Christian church and pooked fun at him. The idea of a crucified Saviour! A Saviour would be a victor, not a victim. He would put his enemies on the cross, not go to the cross himself. And what fools men were to worship and adore a figure who did go to the cross. How silly could they get!

In that same city of Rome today, the priests of Jupiter and Saint Peter towers in protest against all such foolish and blasphemous talk. Jesus was indeed the victor, and he went willingly to the cross to bring about because of it. He was not sent to the cross; he chose of his own volition to carry his load. Little minds can see nothing but folly in this kind of thing. But through the centuries faith has been leading men to see that in the death of Jesus God made an atonement for sins and remission of sins; and because of it we have access there is love and power and peace in millions of human hearts.

Student Personalities At Albert College

A weekly feature of interesting facts revealed in interviews with those undergraduates who hail from countries beyond the seas.

By GEORGE H. CARVER

Not all of Canada's 'beauty, charm and brains are confined to the "Land of the Snows".

Some of it is distributed among the country's far-flung outposts of the world, both in foreign countries and member nations of the Commonwealth.

Should a by any chance belong to that envied class of people who can afford winter cruises in sun-drenched Pacific waters, and happen along the northerly coastline of Peru, drop in at the seaport of Talara.

The Canadian ensign flying at the stern of any of your cruiser or yacht would be a familiar sight. For this Peruvian seaport a few years ago was an important port of call for Canadian oil tankers running out of Halifax and other northern ports.

Talara is one of the main outlets for the mineral product of the International Petroleum Company. Piers annually ships millions of barrels of crude and refined petroleum.

NO STRANGERS

Even slow if you wandered ashore and visited this pretty South American city of some 25,000, your Canadian accent would soon be identified. For here reside Canadian executives and officials of the Petroleum company, with their families.

"Your little maids in school" and one young gentleman now attending Albert College can vouch for this. All are members of families of company executives residing in Talara. And all have Canadian parents.

They are Margo and Betty Anne Butterfield, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butterfield; Marguerita Coling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Coling; Lynn Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Webb, and Paul Ancel son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ancel.

Most of these charming youngsters have travelled extensively both in Canada and South America. Fifteen year-old Paul's father is a member of the company's employee-relations staff and has resided in Peru for 24 years and in Colombia for 15 years previous.

Paul attended a California high school last year, but decided that a residential school in Canada would be more to his liking. This confident youngster said hi felt there would be more student facilities and the opportunity of developing a sense of responsibility in studying in a college like Albert. And Albert has not disappointed him.

AN ENGINEER

He intends following in the perenal footsteps. He hopes to become a petroleum engineer. Interspersing his studies with athletic endeavors in the swimming pool and in track and field.

Paul acted as spokesman, more or less for his attractive quintet. He pointed out that Talara is more or less a "company city" with not much difference unless it is climate, in facilities educational and otherwise for the population.

The educational system in Talara, he said, was based on the American style with the eight grade being maximum. Hence their attendance at Albert. The quintet speaks Spanish and pointed out that special schools are available for the native population.

Food in Talara outside of the natural fruits and a few vegetables consists of the canned type, although the "beef" is good and raised locally.

Social life in Talara is something akin to that of Canada. There are swimming pools, badminton and tennis courts, and excellent fishing in the Pacific ocean.

Marguerita was born in South America, and this attractive 16 year-old miss is a traveller in her own right. She has lived in Toronto and in Ecuador as well. This is her first year here.

The Misses Butterfield are in their second year at Albert and along with Lynn Webb are earnest students who are not averse to playing basketball and attending student council meetings in the interim. They have resided in El Centro for five years and Colombia for eight years before moving to Talara.

All five have something in common with the many students attending Albert College who hail from foreign climes. All we have interviewed thus far have not regretted the move that brought them to a new and perhaps strange educational environment in Canada. All speak in the highest terms of their Belleville "alma mater", the faculty and the fine atmosphere in which they live and study.

Press Clipping Firms Join

TORONTO — Two unique businesses whose job is to cull more than two million clippings a year from more than 1,000 Canadian newspapers and magazines have announced plans to merge their operations.

Under the reorganization, Advertising Research Bureau and the 48-year-old Dominion Press Clipping Bureau will become National Press Checking Services Limited. President of the new firm will be Ralph F. Bowden, Toronto. Vice-president and managing director will be Berkeley A. Mills, also of Toronto.

Clients of the clipping services range from authors who want to keep track of critic's reviews of their works to thousands of large industries which rely on clippings as a yardstick of the public's wants and opinions regarding their products or services.

Foreign governments and manufacturers, looking to Canada for trade potentialities, also are extensive users of the clipping companies' unusual services.

Minor Hockey

The Belleville Juveniles had their first test of outside competition last night when they dashed with the Toronto cartons in an exhibition game at the Belleville Memorial Arena. Bantams took the visitors into a one-sided 8-0 score before the game was halted in the third period because of a wild melee involving all the players from both teams.

The local squad took a 4-0 lead in the initial period, added another goal in the middle session and had pumped two more home early in the final session while Charles Kingston, tending goal for the Bay of Quinte crew, kicked out plenty of rubber to gain the shutout.

Gary Little opened the scoring from Leo St. Denis at 2.19 and Gord Irwin made it 2-0 two minutes later at screened shot from the blue line. George Ferguson notched another at 13.46, tipping in Thomas' goalmouth pass, while Dwyer closed out the scoring for the period a minute later on a solo rink-length rush.

Thomas and Don Woods tallied unassisted markers in the second period. A tripping penalty to Myles at the 26 second mark started action in the final session, the Toronto youth arguing over the decision and having a misunderstood tacked on. Denis scored on a backhander at 1.39 with Little assisting, and then Culloden of the local club and Dunwoodie of the Scarboros went off for coughing with Dunwoodie also drawing a match misconduct. Phil Cornell netted the final goal from Thomas at 6.15 and a minute later several fights broke out with both benches clearing quickly and joining the battle. Referees Mahoney and Gregory were helpless as sticks and gloves were tossed away in favor of fists. The game was called at this juncture.

The B.C.I. Juniors were defeated for the first time this season by Albert College 45-32. In the first quarter McCraig hooped ten points to help Albert College to a 16-8 edge. Taugher then directed the attack, giving Albert a 29-18 half time lead. The gold and black zoomed ahead 36-24 by the end of the third quarter and were never headed as they registered defeat upon B.C.I.'s shoulders.

Players and points:

B.C.I.—Jones 12; Burleigh 4; Calnan; Cornell; Deacon; Parkhurst; Barber 6; Hamilton; Jackson 8; Irwin; Stephenson 2; Aselstine.

The Albert College seniors edged the B.C.I. seniors 42-38 in another thriller. Last week B.C.I. edged Albert by one point. Farnsworth scored seven points in the first quarter to put B.C.I. out in front 17-15. Budgell hooped ten points to shove Albert out in front 29-22 by the end of the second half. From there on in the game was fairly even.

Players and points:

B.C.I.—Varcoe; Hill; Gazdicer; Craig; Deacon; Farnsworth 11; White; Genge 3; Ewald 10; Kelly; Bennett 12; Smith.

All-Star Floor Hockey

Before a huge crowd in the boys' gym the Reds edged the Blacks 9-8 in overtime, in the annual all-star game. It was one of the most thrilling games ever seen in B.C.I. The action never ceased as the puck changed from one end of the floor to the other. At half time the Reds held a one-goal edge over the Blacks, 7-6. Buskard scored the winning goal on a passout from Batchelor and Gault in the overtime session.

For the Reds, Buskard scored three goals, Batchelor had three and Ewing two. Buskard, Batchelor, Bishop, Gault and White received an assist. Farnsworth fired six of the eight Black goals with Deacon and Jackson getting the others.

Cherry had three assists, Merry two and Deacon one. Kingston and Charleton played outstanding games in the defensive nets despite the poor goaltending of Moore and Clement (especially Moore.) The first half was strictly a goaltender's nightmare with the latter pair doing little to prevent it.

Mr. Fraser Hooker for 1955 was Cameron Buskard, the scorer of the winning goal.

Bulletins From Birdland

LEFT BEHIND

What a delight to discover birds in mid-winter! The bird student will tell you that quite a few kinds may be seen right in the heart of a large city—if you have the listening ear and the watchful eye. Gulls beyond the suburbs by some boys are cautioned to winter feeding trips, you may get the surprise of your life to find even bright colored birds: ones you will be hard pressed to name. Others you will be sure you've seen before.

Yes, there is actually a great variety here right now; residents such as Great Horned owls and Downy woodpeckers which stay throughout the year; winter visitors, like redpolls and snow Buntings that come from the far north; erratics, including the beautiful, wandering pine grosbeaks and red crossbills on whose presence you can never count; and some casuals, that ordinarily migrate across the Canadian border.

This last group is generally made up of individuals that were unfortunate enough to miss the fall migration, either because of storms or some mishap to themselves. So birders spy a horned lark hunkered with fluffed-out plumage under a snow-covered bush, we are apt to think that our eyes must be deceiving us.

UNUSUAL

It has no business being here at this time of the year, but is a reminder that we must be very careful about identification in a region thinly covered by Barbara Thrasher of Grade 10A. She was accompanied on the plane by her mother, Helen Burkett, a very competent pianist of Grade 11B who played "The Doll Dance" by Nacio Herb Brown.

A skit which was written, produced and directed by Norman Jamieson and Bill Cox, both of Grade 10B was then presented. This was a send-up of the television show called "The Medic". Norman Jamieson and Bill Cox played the part of the doctors and they proceeded with an operation. It was very humorous and we would like to congratulate Norman and Bill for their good work in presenting this play.

Another excellent number on the program was the dramatization of two songs by the Glee Club. Under the capable direction of Mr. Wright, the Glee Club has made considerable progress. This was evident from the quality of their singing on Wednesday.

GIRLS' SPORTS

The girls' basketball team of Quinte Secondary School played two games this week. The first game was played against Trenton High School on Tuesday. In this game Trenton defeated Quinte 29 to 11. The second game was played on Wednesday against BCIVS. Quinte was again defeated and this time the score was 46 to 15.

LIBRARY CLUB

Although Quinte Secondary Schools' supply of books is limited, an efficient group of students is making good reading material available to the students' body. Its constitutional objective of 50 books is well on its way to success. As well as distribution of books, the library club checks coats at school functions. They are very pleased with the results.

Public Speaking Contest

This week a public speaking contest sponsored by the Industrial Accident Prevention Association was held in Quinte Secondary School, the subject being "Safety". The competition was keen and it was difficult for the judges to pick a winner. The three finalists were: 1st, Betty Bates of Grade XI, from whom subject was "Safety on the Highway". In her speech she described an accident at a railway crossing that could have been prevented had the driver been just a little bit more careful. There was a tie for second place. They were Merle Bassett of Grade 11A, whose topic was "Safety in the Home", and Charles Mellon of Grade 9B, who spoke on "Safety on the Highway".

These winners will now go to divisional competitions and should any of them be successful, he or she will go on to Toronto to speak before the Industrial Safety Conference at the Royal York Hotel.

ASSEMBLY

Our assembly on Wednesday was presented by Grade 10B. Grace Grey presided as Master of Ceremonies and the pianist for the morning was Esther Jubey of Grade 11B. First on the program were the finalists of the public speaking contest.

A tap dance to the tune of "Mr. Sandman" was brilliantly performed by Barbara Thrasher of Grade 10A. She was accompanied on the piano by her mother, Helen Burkett, a very competent pianist of Grade 11B who played "The Doll Dance" by Nacio Herb Brown.

A skit which was written, produced and directed by Norman Jamieson and Bill Cox, both of Grade 10B was then presented. This was a send-up of the television show called "The Medic". Mrs. W.F. Hanna Honored On 95th Birthday

STIRLING, River Valley Women's Institute honored a former member, Mrs. William F. Hanna, at the home of her great granddaughter, Mrs. Muriel Clapper, York Road, Trenton, R.R. 4, on Wednesday, January 26, on the occasion of her 95th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Hanna was formerly Sarah E. Anderson, a daughter of the late Joshua Anderson and the late Mahala Parcells, and was born on Anderson's Island, along the Trent River, on Isaac's Island on January 26, 1860. She has a brother, Joshua, 89 years of age, residing on the old homestead and a sister, (Ella) Mrs. Chester Hazard, Belleville, who is 84 years young.

MARRIED IN 1877

On February 15, 1877, she married William F. Hanna, who is now deceased.

Born in this union are three sons, Jared and J. E. (Bert) both of Stirling, and Joseph of Madoc. One daughter, Hattie, married Peter Dingwell, both deceased, also Hattie's daughter (Edna) Mrs. R. Gibson is deceased.

There are a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren, and great great grandchildren.

Mrs. Hanna is now in her 96th years of age and died in 1929, and her mother died in 1926 at the age of 94.

The Hanna family resided on a farm at River Valley (where Mr. Kenneth Morrow now resides) and Mrs. Hanna joined the River Valley Women's Institute a short time after it was organized in 1910. She has another great granddaughter, Mrs. Marie Kelly, who is a graduate of the Green Nursing Home," Stirling.

PRESENTED WITH GIFTS

On Wednesday, January 26, the River Valley W.I. was represented at the party by Mrs. Ross Bush, president of the organization; Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Percy Mac-Mullen, press secretary; Mrs. Percy Ostman also only charter members of the organization and also a life member); Mrs. E. Hesamun, past president and the only one who planned last year's party (Mrs. Hanna's great-grandson, R.W.W.I.); Mrs. John Kane, Mrs. Rose Carr, Mrs. Phil Conley, Mrs. Elmer Carr, all members of the Institute, and they presented Mrs. Hanna with a flowering cinerharia and a lovely card in pansy design on behalf of that organization.

Mrs. Hanna is a member of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, and Dr. and Mrs. A. Packman also attended the party and the former conducted a short devotional service.

The other guests from Stirling were her son, Mr. Jared Hanna, two cousins, Mr. W. H. Hanna, and Mrs. Walter Anderson, Mrs. Charles Conley and Mr. R. Green.

During the afternoon Mrs. Ed. Hesaman took several flash pictures, one being a group of Mrs. Hanna, her son, Jared, her great granddaughter, Muriel Clapper and her great great granddaughter, Susan Clapper and Paul Clapper.

Mrs. Hanna is quite well physically, has never worn glasses and enjoys visits from her friends. Owing to a fractured hip she spends most of her time in bed, received her guests wearing the black gold-threaded stole, last years gift.

BIRTHDAY CAKE

A lovely birthday cake decorated in pink and green with lighted candles, was made by Mrs. Ray Bush, (who was unable to attend the party owing to a severe cold). This cake was carried in by Mrs. Hesaman.

World Tour by Cargo-Liner

By Leonie Sackelbee

Viet Nam

The early morning view of the hill across the water was of a forbidding brown blackness. Later it lightened and then took on a soft one dappling of trees. It was Viet Nam, "land of the South," reached in 1945 —30 by the Union of the Annamese lands of Tonkin, Annam and Cochin China. Their origin can be traced to the Mongolian race of Chinese culture.

The story of Cochin China resembles that of many countries. It has the rise and fall of one dynasty after another until towards the end of the 18th century, a woman, by the aid of a French force, acquired complete control. It would be fruitless to know more of that Bishop of Adran who was the leader of previous French aid to her and of the previous treaty with Louis XVI who promised help in return for the ceding of a section containing coal mines.

GAINED FOOTHOLD

Thus the French in 1787 made another effort to halt the English power in India. In that they were not successful but they did gain a foothold in Indo-China.

So often has a similar story been repeated that it would seem to be sensible to have a history of respective members of parliament for each borough for a century of history.

In return for their aid the French had obtained in 1787 admission for their missionaries and traders. Subsequently, there were numerous attempts to withdraw into isolation and there followed French and Japanese nationals and Christian converts. This led to Japanese military domination and the seizure of the present day Cochin China, which is now in the French protectorate, 1883—1884.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE

It was a pleasant surprise to find the late troubles we might have difficulty getting a visa but a letter from the Canadian Trade Office in Washington read: "We have just received authorizations from your government to issue you a visa for Viet Nam. Won't you then sent us your passport for registration at your early convenience? We shall visa it and return it to you at once." The passport was sent and returned in a few days. All was well.

The ship was anchored and we ventured the delights of Saigon in the usual launch. Cargo liners do not always allow but a few passengers, and those by small craft that have a teetering way of getting into confusion with the ship's radar. As one, so far, has been dropped into any one of the four holes we have simply watched one's chance to make a step within one's stretch of the hand rail and, with a kind helping hands, one always landed safely, if rather shaken, as young, and muddling aged and the very aged.

In a few minutes we reached the pier of Saigon and walked along the glazing hot street where we hoped to find a boat to take us to Cholon.

We stopped at a police station and, by the aid of a dictionary, asked the way and we were directed along the riverside where boats would be found. We came to a place of squalor and stench that was indescribable. Here, in the gutters and holes and our feet tirder and tirder but at last we reached the boat. As it was the only one there was the usual sidewalk cafe where we could refresh ourselves and be encaged for lunch and for ya drive about the town.

INTERESTING VIEW

After the tiring walk it was pleasant just to sit and watch the busy throng passed up by in every sort and condition of vehicle. There were rickshaws propelled by a man on a bicycle at the back with a very comfortable sort of armchair; on two wheels there were many bicycles; there were expensive looking cars and there were many on foot. You could see the different nationalities, slender, not very tall with hair beautifully arranged.

They wore white satin pantaloons to the ankles but loose. There was an overdress reaching up to the neck and reaching down almost to the ankle in front and opening at the two sides to the hips. The overslip was of all sorts of material and design. The white satin was evidently washable for shower after shower came up and those who were walking or riding bicycles were drenched. I remember it as the most beautiful and colorful city I had seen on my travels, feminine and so far away from Paris that it was indeed thankful. The hair was black and though sometimes it was ranged carefully was in most cases simply hanging in long thick braids.

The many types of costume in the Orient have one thing in common, the bodies of the women are well covered and somehow even with the thermometer at 90 in the and the humidity, the women look of cool and comfortable. Even the transparent over-slips of printed cotton or silk seemed not too much. It was pathetic to return to the ship and see some of the very short skirts and the very queer gear affected by thoughtless Christian women folk who never stop to consider the opinion of the pagan menwesterners are trying to convert.

HANDSOME STRETCH

After a very good lunch we drove in pouring rain around the Saigon stretch doubly lined with avenue trees on both sides of the avenue and many other superb trees that were entirely new to us. The city had been well planned and laid out by the French. The result is quite as effective and much more beautiful with its lovely wide avenues and its many shopping was forgotten though I did want to buy the amazing black garment of the poorer women—the long trailing black one—the loose jacket.

We stopped at a temple exquisitely decorated in every detail, and made holy by the quiet reverence of the people who came to say their prayers. They came singly or in family groups including the infants carried on the mother's hip or in father's arms. No baby sitters or prams are needed in the Orient and as far as I could make out children are the correct age to start bringing the children to the temple soon enough here as in Africa, where there are multitudes of babies and children only a few months old, no baby sitters ling, and she, poor lamb had come to think it a terrible and sudden contact with a hard unfriendly side walk. When I naturally offered assistance I found the correct way to her, appalling dark glasses I picked up the bewildered creature and all mother patted and petted her.

We returned to the hotel but it was not the end of the day could be found to give us even a soft drink. Then it was time to return to the ship and we hired two rickshaws to the two of which down the long, road to the pier where the launch would meet us. Here we registered at the office and finally paid half as much as they had asked and were off. The launch's laughter it was certainly twice as much as they had a right to.

Those strong legs went at great speed and we enjoyed the ride pleasantly they sang at top voice. The poorest of the poor they were, but they had a cheerful and friendly making any special effort in the several authorizations from your government to issue you a visa for Viet Nam. Won't you then sent us your passport for registration at your early convenience? We shall visa it and return it to you at once." The passport was sent and returned in a few days. All was well.

St. Margaret's Holds Annual Meet

The annual vestry meeting of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill was held on Monday evening in the church. The Rev. Arthur Page presided and opened the meeting with prayer.

Mr. R. I. Davis was elected vestry clerk by acclamation for the 18th year.

In the rector's report Mr. Page stated that attendance had increased over the previous year. During the year, 19 children were baptized and 13 candidates were confirmed.

FINANCIAL REPORT

The church financial statement for the year was presented by the treasurer, Mr. W. A. Lockley and excellent progress was indicated. Total receipts for the year were $7,584.94 of which amount $31.50 was given in envelopes and extra parochial needs. Donations from Mr. Johns Gold (Mrs. Ed. Mann), St. Margaret's Guild ($177.50), the Men's Club ($1,500) and others were included in this amount.

The Sunday School report read by Mrs. F. B. Hubbard showed a total of 145 pupils were enrolled and that there was an average attendance of 90.

In reading the report of St. Margaret's Guild, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. R. I. Davis stated that membership in this organization had increased to 112 (Mrs. Gordon Mitts box contributions were $34.87.

Mrs. R. Babcock, presenting the W.A. report, stated that all objectives had been reached in the field of work. The women of the church, with the help of the Guild and St. Margaret's Guilds, by their varied activities, have increased interest in the church.

The survey of St. Margaret's Guild report read by Mrs. F. B. Moore indicated that the objectives had been exceeded.

MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club's report, read by Mr. R. E. Wood, noted the success of their various supper drives, their military whist evenings, and their loan refinancing envelopes.

The report of the Junior W.A. read by Mrs. S. Silliker, indicated a successful first year for the newest organization in the church. At present they are studying about India and are working on an afghan for a missionary.

Mr. Slade read the report of the Girls' Auxiliary. There are 12 members in this group and they had a mother and daughter banquet and took part in the Diocesan festival held at St. Thomas' church, Belleville. Since this time they received a prize for the group making the most progress during the year.

Mr. Page announced that he had asked Mr. R. Clarke to serve as rector's warden for the second year.

CHOIR GOWNS NAMED

The following were named as officers for the year 1955, People's warden, Mr. Clarke; vestry delegate to Synod, Mr. Don Leeming.

The election of five additional members to the parish council resulted in the following being elected, Mr. A. Lockley, Mr. Ritchie, Mr. J. Slade, Mr. S. Silliker and Mrs. R. I. Davis.

Mr. Arthur Lockley was elected treasurer by acclamation. Mr. J. Bennett and Mrs. A. Watson were appointed as auditors for 1955.

The People's warden, Mr. L. F. Hubbard, spoke on the important business of the year, the building of St. Margaret's.

Mr. Page spoke of the origin of St. Margaret's in 1950, which succeeded St. Johns' Mission on Herchimer Avenue. He noted the growth of the parish, which has doubled in that period and sometimes fall into the water as they so often do. I laughed, all too close to the edge of the bridge. The slope could hardly be more picturesque. It seemed like huge stovepipe was placed on a bed of logs. A fire of odds and ends of kindling wood was lit and on the top of the stovepipe a boiler tended the stoking of the fire. He had also cleaned the half dozen fish for the boiler.

VEGETABLES NOT OVER-COOKED

When the rice was almost cooked a vegetable cooking fire was made and table marrow, was placed on top of the boiler and left to cook. Then, over in this section of the world, vegetables are never cooked very much. I could see that the rice did not stick as most of the water in which it had been boiled had been poured off. It just did not stick. Then, at night, the very rice was boiled was put aside to make room for a huge frying pan into which some fat had been melted for the frying of the fish. Father produced from his pocket a round rounded some red sort of spice sufficiently for seasoning. After the fish had been fried and cooked it returned to the jar for the next fry-ing.

Never in my life have I so yearned for an invitation to dinner as I did to sit down on to that barge, that huge black barge, and eat with that happy brown family. In the intervals—time was taken for mothers hand washing, cooking in one just another housewife and not to find fault with its methods. Nothing discretely before their eating

Going Places

Auto Breakdown Can Spoil Trip

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

On our way in Beulah, our blue sedan, not long out of the mirkanad one of those object lessons about car care that so puzzle us motor travelers enough money for many more trips if we kept it in mind.

We just had our motor tuned before leaving. But within 10 days or so it was running more like a frequently tuned plane than a recently tuned automobile. No pickup from stops and hills and no chug-chug while passing. We stopped in at an authorized dealership of our make of car in a city we passed through.

"Well, of course," said the service manager, "we don't know what they did to it in the last place." This is the service manager's standard opener. It was apparent he required a course in car care maintained in a barber college.

"We had it tuned up," we told him, "that's all. They changed the plugs and points, cleaned the carburetor and set the spark timing."

He looked at us in a way that made us wonder where we could get a mirror to see if we looked as representative arrived from the grout to supervise the overhaul. Then he looked under the hood.

"We'd have to do it over again. Labor will run $9 plus $4.40 for 4 sets of plugs and $3.00 for breaker points."

SOUND OPINION

We thanked him for his opinion and drove on. At least the car was still running. We stopped at two miles further we recognized a garage where we had always had some minor repairs done competently. Being out-of-staters, the proprietor undoubtedly gave us a short run our woes.

"Probably those breaker points closed up on you a little. It happens." He buried his head under the hood, tinkered, filed, adjusted or, poked with a screwdriver and wiped his hands. "That'll be about three minutes. Beulah roared gustily once more. "No charge," he insisted, and thanked us for having by to see him again.

Subsequent trips were all "tuned up"—whatever that means and had saved $18.35.

DESIGNED

The object lesson is not trustyour-friendly-neighborhood-garage-service-manager-in-a-k-chi-coof-a-mechanic-and-you'll be O.K. The two sides to that story, both of which have been gone over in the Sloane household. Yes, we always take your car home to your home service repairman. Obviously, we couldn't.

It's simple that you owe it to yourself, your wife, your children, and your hard-earned bank account to have someone about your car so that you won't monkey with it when unnecessary and make needless repairs. The "overhaul" is one of the biggest bugaboos.

We decided in our experience, the tune-up is a fairly simple three-way adjustment. Ignition system, carburetor, distributor, carburetor gas mixture, and idling speed. Then there is the brake job. Needless is that it is rarely necessary to adjust all these things at once.

A nice generous crop of new blouses is available this week for us to choose for either a suit or for wear with separate skirts. Nylon sheer with a little line running through it is used for a pretty blouse, lines in opaque nylon, and brightened with a lace edged collar. A lace border continues down the front from the collar line. Again sheer nylon for another charming blouse, this one with novelty, grouped stitched pleats and leaf encrusted motifs at the yoke back and front, ties in a bow and there are push-up sleeves.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HAVE YOU AN ALCOHOLIC IN YOUR FAMILY?

Probably the most desperate questions that torture the wife, mother, husband or other relative of an Alcoholic are: "What can I myself do about this problem?" "Where am I wrong in what I am trying to do?"

The incessant, and frustrated, longing to help; the anguished confusion and bewilderment because no definite way seems to present itself; the unceasing anxiety, grief and often fear—all these are constant companions of the one who must live with an alcoholic, ceaselessly posing the unanswerable question: "What?" "How?" "Why?"

To those of my readers who may be struggling with these questions, let me say that there are answers which they may perhaps not yet have heard about. The answers can be found by joining one of the Family Groups sponsored, by Alcoholics Anonymous, through which wives, mothers, husbands and other relatives can learn the things they should do, and the things that are unwise to do, in dealing with an alcoholic.

These Family Groups are active in cities and towns all over the country, for the wife of an alcoholic explains: "Alcoholics Anonymous now recognizes that alcoholism is a family problem, and that recovering can be greatly hastened by family understanding."

Wherever you may live, it is possible to get the kind of comfort and practical help which membership in one of these Family Groups offers, for if it happens that no such group has yet been formed in your own community, you can start one yourself. As pointed out in the folder which the Clearing House for these Family Groups will gladly send you: "Any two or three relatives of alcoholics . . . are sufficient to start a Family Group." Cheerfully, the pamphlet asserts that the Groups "consist of relatives and friends of alcoholics who realize that by banding together, they can better solve their common problem," and that whether or not the alcoholic in the family has joined Alcoholics Anonymous, "There is much that the families can do to help both the alcoholic and themselves."

If you are seeking a solution for living with an alcoholic, we would like you to feel that we understand as perhaps few can. We, too, are families with promises made only to be broken, with forgotten good intentions, worry and sleepless nights. We, too, have known despair and complete helplessness. We have seen our loved ones in sanitariums, hospitals, jails or sometimes committed to institutions for the 'cure' that never cured. We have learned, have had to learn, that alcoholism is a disease and not a social stigma, that through co-operation and understanding, we can assist our alcoholic partners to rehabilitate themselves and again take their rightful place in society.

You will also be likely to receive some reprints of articles from others or sources that tell the personal stories of wives and husbands who have had to deal with the problem of alcoholism in their families and have finally found that it is possible, to solve it.

'Is Your Home Well Mapped?'

By NANCY CLEAVER

Is your home well mapped? When you recently read in the newspapers that Canada's new Wood Map is now ready for distribution, did you send away for a copy? . . . Are you missing not only the distinctive touch of maps on your walls, but the fun they are as well?

If there are school age children in your home, maps are an important, tool for leafing . . . and your youngsters will be keen about them! With their visual aid, it is much easier to remember facts about geography, history, social studies and other subjects. An enthusiasm for collecting maps is catching. There is an old saying: "A map is worth a thousand pictures." Because it is the eye that can read a map accurately, it conveys to him a great mass of information.

GOOD INVESTMENT

A good global map is a splendid investment for a growing family. It gives a vivid comparison of the fifty million square miles of land and inland water in the total area of the earth's surface. A Canadian frontier map will show that Canada has the third greatest land area of any nation.

Home Economics and School Associations have enjoyed showing to parents and students the National Film Board short animated colored film, "The Impossible Map." This illustrates clearly how difficult it is to make a true representation on the curving earth surface on a flat map.

What a wonderful variety of maps there are today! Ask your librarian at the public library to show you the atlas in the Canada Year Books, and in other reference books. There may be a map collection there which will help you choose a special map you would like to own. There are a number of maps available from the government, from provincial departments of highways from tourist bureaus, and even from gasoline stations and railways.

HOMES NEED MAPS

Every home should have one accurate detailed map of their own neighborhood. It takes only a minute or two to consult a map before starting out to a strange address. This may save many minutes wasted, wandering about, asking directions" from strangers!

The National Geographical Society publishes a fine series of about 20 maps, four new ones each year, which when fitted together, make a splendid world atlas. A map of the world will probably have heard about. The answers can be found by joining one of the Family Groups sponsored, by Alcoholics Anonymous, through which wives, mothers, husbands and other relatives can learn the things they should do, and the things that are unwise to do, in dealing with an alcoholic.

These Family Groups are active in cities and towns all over the country, for the wife of an alcoholic explains: "Alcoholics Anonymous now recognizes that alcoholism is a family problem, and that recovering can be greatly hastened by family understanding."

Wherever you may live, it is possible to get the kind of comfort and practical help which membership in one of these Family Groups offers, for if it happens that no such group has yet been formed in your own community, you can start one yourself. As pointed out in the folder which the Clearing House for these Family Groups will gladly send you: "Any two or three relatives of alcoholics . . . are sufficient to start a Family Group." Cheerfully, the pamphlet asserts that the Groups "consist of relatives and friends of alcoholics who realize that by banding together, they can better solve their common problem," and that whether or not the alcoholic in the family has joined Alcoholics Anonymous, "There is much that the families can do to help both the alcoholic and themselves."

If you are seeking a solution for living with an alcoholic, we would like you to feel that we understand as perhaps few can. We, too, are families with promises made only to be broken, with forgotten good intentions, worry and sleepless nights. We, too, have known despair and complete helplessness. We have seen our loved ones in sanitariums, hospitals, jails or sometimes committed to institutions for the 'cure' that never cured. We have learned, have had to learn, that alcoholism is a disease and not a social stigma, that through co-operation and understanding, we can assist our alcoholic partners to rehabilitate themselves and again take their rightful place in society.

You will also be likely to receive some reprints of articles from others or sources that tell the personal stories of wives and husbands who have had to deal with the problem of alcoholism in their families and have finally found that it is possible, to solve it.

Will those of you who need this kind of assurance and practical aid grasp the helping hand held out to you by Alcoholics Anonymous to let it lead you out of your despair into a new and hopeful future?

Nice Necessity

By ALICE ALDEN

The good cotton shirt has settled down to a year-around career, the favorite of women everywhere. Each designer of necessity tries to give the blouse an original touch or two so that it looks just a little different. Dorothy Korby, for instance, uses striped cotton shirting for an attractive blouse and bestows on it a demure, puritan collar. The undisturbed flow of the stripes is accented in the shape of the collar, the cuffs, full sleeves are tightly cuffed band and the self covered buttons.

Beauty

COMPLEXION PACKS

Give your complexion an extra treat with a cleansing pack. These treatments are given in beauty shops and the customers love them.

The packs burrow right into the pores, bring out dust that may have lodged there and against which the soaped wash cloth is not effective. Atmospheric dust is a menace; you have to fight it.

Your druggist put up a four ounce package of kaolin. Mix three tablespoons with witch hazel until it is thick. Spread on the cleansed skin and whipped cream. First wash your face with soap and fairly hot water for the mask is more effective when applied to a warm skin surface.

Cover your neck with a light film. With upward strokes spread over the entire face. Press firmly around the wings of your nose, a favorite lodging place for blackheads.

This is your opportunity to have a half hour of—relaxation. Lie down, close your eyes; relax every muscle. Take long deep breaths.

Air-washing your lungs is a fine way of bringing color to your cheeks.

The pack will dry in that time, start to flake. Remove it with warm water, dry gently.

Then get busy with your massage cream. Tap it on briskly, especially on your neck. It never gets as much cosmetic petting as it needs. While the cream remains on, have an ice friction.

Another favorite among beauty aids is the old mask of beaten egg white. It is spread over the skin surface with a spatula, allowed to dry and a creamy friction follows. It is used for treatment of oily skin. It is also excellent for tightening tissues that have lost tone.

For coaxing enlarged pores to contract there is a paste made of almond meal and liquid cream. After it is on, hot moist applications are applied, followed by a cold rinsing for a quick reaction.

SHOWER PROPER FOR BABY NUMBER FOUR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are a group of six women who would like very much to give a shower for a dear friend of ours who is going to have her fourth baby. She has lived in our town only two years, but we all have come to love and admire her, and, to be practical, we realize that a baby shower would undoubtedly be a help to her, for we are quite sure that her budget is a very modest one. But two of the women in the group insist that a stork shower is proper only for the first baby. Are they right about this? — Reader

No. It's entirely proper to give a baby shower for Baby Number Four, just as for the first baby. And this baby shower would be just as you ad your group of friends feel, a particularly practical and time-honored plan in this circumstance.

NOT THE BOY'S 'OBLIGATION'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What do you think of a boy who walks to the bus with a girl he knows, or meets her at the bus station, then lets her pay her own fare? I think he should pay her fare. But when I say so, he says it isn't taking the girl any place, just happens to meet her, so he shouldn't be expected to pay her fare. — A Girl

Actually the boy is right. It is not a "must" that he pay the girl's fare under such circumstances . . . but some boys do prefer to. However, the wise girl has her fare ready!

FOR THIS PARTY, NO TEA, NO ALCOHOL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother, a widow, would like to give a late-afternoon party to announce my engagement. Our community is a coffee-drinking community, and tea is practically never served. My mother and I, my fiance's family, and most of our friends are total teetotalers. Under these circumstances what should I plan to serve at this late-afternoon party?

Ellen S.

Serve coffee; no tea. Serve no alcoholic drinks . . . soft drinks instead. And I'd like to have you plan to serve a fruit punch, for the guests in Britain like toasts which will be proposed "To Ellen and John, to their engagement, and to their happiness." For fruit punch, very small, very thin sandwiches, with simple fillings; small cakes and or interesting cookies and or a special cake.

DON'T CUT ROLLS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please tell me if it is proper to cut hard rolls with a knife, or should they always be broken by hand? — Elsa M.

They should not be cut with a knife . . . they should be broken by hand.

ANSWER TO MRS. T. E. R.

SUGARLESS TURKISH DELIGHT

Two tablespoons best quality gelatin, 1-4 cup strained orange juice (fresh) and juice of 1-2 medium-sized lemon, 2 saccharine tablets, 3-4 cup strained orange juice, shake of salt, red coloring. Add the lemon juice to the 1-4 cup orange juice and soak the gelatin in them five minutes. Stand the cup or bowl containing the soaked gelatin in pan containing boiling water and stir until gelatin mixture is clear. Remove from heat and stir into it the sucaryl tablets until they dissolve. Add this to the 3-4 cup orange juice, add salt and coloring to tint delicately, pour into square small moistened container to 3-4 inch depth and chill in refrigerator until set Cut into oblong 3-4 by 1 1-4 inch.

VARIATIONS:

(If you know me very well you know I had to experiment with this recipe. I realized that the pieces of "candy" in icing sugar and dusted as much of it off as possible. Then I added some shredded filberts to it—3 tablespoons. (2) To make it "cheerier" and more like sugar Turkish Delight 4 tablespoons thick applesauce, cooked down from stewing dried apricots in very little water and pressing through a sieve. (4) I added both the apricot puree and shredded filberts. They are all very good and I'm sure will be appreciated by diabetic patients.

QUESTION:

I read recipe for a "Poppy Seed Roll and Filling" . . . this is second time you gave recipe like this and I wonder whether it is of Old Country's origin and whether you have come upon myself years ago from Europe and had never heard of "soaking" poppy seed before I ever had seeds in filling. We had a special machine (like meat grinders are) which crushed the seeds. . . the crushed seed had been always cooked in milk, with a little honey, chocolate (optional), grated lemon rind and cinnamon added. After cooling raisins have been added. I also never would dare to bake with less than 225 deg. Fahr. or would be burned. . . how big or small is size are the rolls made? One roll made from the amount given cannot be done in 15 minutes.—Mrs. H. F.

ANSWER:

For anyone who knows as much about making poppy seed roll as you do I think your restraint and politeness are commendable. My authentic Poppy Seed Roll recipe (from "Elsa (a Viennese friend) goes like this: 1000 gr. flour, 3 eggs, 1-3 pt. milk, 30 gr. yeast, 125 gr. butter or shortening, 125 gr. sugar. Mix well and let rise for 1 1-2 hours, then roll out to 1-2 inch thickness. Brush with warm butter, fill with 375 gr. minced poppy seed, 1-2 pint milk, 3 eggs, 80 gr. sugar, 80 gr. nuts, 75 gr. butter, vanilla to taste. Boil filling for 10 minutes, Put on rolled out dough. Roll up tight, let rise again and bake slowly for about an hour.

Now these European recipes given in grams talks about twice as long for me to figure out as to, or cups. Readers go insane when I give them and I don't blame them, so I give a Canadian version.

Do you think you could give your nod of approval to this?

POPPY SEED ROLL

Dough—Mix together 1 cup lukewarm milk, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cakes crumbled yeast. Stir until yeast is dissolved. Beat in 2 eggs and 1-3 cup soft shortening. Stir in first with spoon, then mix by hand 4 1-2 cups sifted all-purpose flour. Dough should be soft. Knead in bowl for two minutes and let rise until doubled. Roll out and spread with

Filling—1-2 to 1 lb. ground poppy seed (ground in poppy seed grinder) 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon honey, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1-8 to 1-4 teaspoon ginger, 1 cup milk or cream, 1-2 cup chopped walnuts. Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer 3 or 4 minutes. Remove from heat and add 1-2 cup chopped raisins. Spread on rolled out dough. Roll dough up, sealing in filling securely. Roll may be elongated by slightly stretching it, then coil it into a greased pan. Let rise until doubled. Brush with egg glaze or sugar and nuts and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 to 50 minutes.

Mrs. H. F. I hope you will let me know what you think of this.

JAPAN ENTERS JET AIR FORCE AGE

Marking the first time in history that Japan will have jets in its air force, eight jet trainers were included in a number of U.S. planes turned over in the Nippon government ceremonies at Tachikawa airbase, near Tokyo. Six of the planes can be seen flying over the base, while a transport is shown on the ground bearing its new emblems—the Rising Sun—on its tail. (Central Press Canadian).

STIRLING

River Valley W.M.S. Holds Church Service

STIRLING—On Sunday evening, River Valley Woman's Missionary Society held a special church service at St. Paul's United church, Stirling.

The president, Mrs. Ernest Carr, gave the invocation and all sang "Jesus Saves". Mrs. Ed. Heasman read the 23rd chapter of Revelation and Mrs. Roy Bush offered prayer.

Miss Grace Heasman presided at the console of the organ and delighted with several musical selections. The full choir of 30 voices, all members of River Valley community delighted with an anthem "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" and Miss Joanne Heasman gave the solo part.

The offering was gathered by Mrs. Ross Holland, Miss Adeline Bush, Mrs. Ralph Ulman and Mrs. Ross Bush.

Seventy-five people from River Valley community attended this special service and there were also guests from Salem, Mount Pleasant, St. John's and St. Andrew's.

Mrs. A. Packman expressed thanks, on behalf of the small group of River Valley members, and said it was a growing custom to allow women to have a small part in church activities. She said "The whole world is a missionary field and there is only one plan of salvation for all. Each individual must be concerned with the leading of "His Holy Spirit." She based her address on the text "Blow ye the trumpet, sound the alarm."

Mrs. Packman gave illustrations of the blitz in London, England, during the World War and told of the value of prayer and of the need to follow God's leading.

She urged all individuals to take their stand for what they know is right and to always remember that God gave His only begotten Son that we might have salvation.

Mrs. Reuben Lindenfield, Bob Philp, Reg. Coombes and Jack Bush rendered "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

This unique service closed with "Glory, Glory That Was Victorious."

Garden Notes

Winter Color for the Garden

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

By January most of our winter berry shrubs have lost their fruit and color for which they have been cherished. Those that have retained color are doubly appreciated.

Last year, being a dry year, birds snatched every berry off before Christmas. This year there is a heavy crop and there are a blaze of red colored beads.

There are other shrubs which hold their colored berries, too. One of the finest is Viburnum Wrighti. This retains its bright color from September until late winter. The fruit is the size of small peas and is borne in cymes or flat clusters. The color is a brilliant red. The birds have avoided adding it to their winter diet, so it remains a favorite with us until near spring.

This shrub was introduced to this continent from Japan 50 years ago but for some reason it has not become widely used or well known. For many years my reputation of this plant was made by cuttings. The shrubs remained low and sprawling with somewhat weak stems.

Now it is propogated by seedlings and the shrub shows much improvement in form and has taken on an upright framework of pleasing habit. It has an abundance of fragrant white blooms in early summer.

HANDSOME GREEN

The leaves are a handsome smooth green and are ovate. The under sides are rather hairy with tufts of hair at the vein forks. The veins are deeply impressed. In early fall the leaves become colored in red, orange and purple tones.

The chief beauty of the bush is the long period of berry retention so it should be planted where the glistening red fruit can be viewed closely. Somewhere near the entrance of the home, or close to the front property line if it is used in the shrub border, would be best.

It has been used successfully in foundation plantings where the color is visible from the indoors, massed beside paths, or the garage, and in masses of mixed plantings. It makes an attractive composition planted with junipers and yews, and in front of larger conifers as spruces, pines and hemlocks.

It is also possible to treat them as an espalier and train them on wire or wooden supports against a wall. (Wire should not be used on a west or south wall, as the wire may become too hot and burn the stems.)

This is a specimen plant which will require the systematic care of the landscape shape and prune to give the finest effect. Treated in this way the shrub will require very little room and will be most attractive.

Insect pests and plant diseases do not bother this shrub very much, which is another good point in its favor.

This species, Viburnum Wrighti, is now available at most nurseries. I would suggest that you begin looking for it, and order it early. If your local nurserymen does not have it he can get it for you. It has a compact flowering crook, and can be moved safely in the fall or early spring. Deep fertile soil is best with an added supply of humus or well rotted manure. The Viburnums need good drainage but adequate moisture must be provided to produce blooms and berries.

Rinfret Given Task of Revising Quebec's Laws

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has decided to give one of French-Canada's leading jurists the task of revising the province's historic Civil Code.

But although opposition members said they approved the idea of a revision of the Code, there is issue with the government when it's to be done. Premier Duplessis announced Thursday it would be done by former chief justice Thibodeau Rinfret of the Supreme Court of Canada.

"Even a genius" could not do the job unaided, Liberal Leader Georges Lapalme said in the legislature.

HAS ODDITIES

The code, first introduced in 1866 and modelled on France's Napoleonic Code, is the basis of civil law in the province. Its roots go back to Roman law, but among its 2,000 articles still linger such oddities as the proposition that legal age of marriage for a boy is 14 and for a girl 12.

The Liberals said the job should be done, not by one man, but by a committee composed of lawyers from both houses of the legislature.

A THRILLER!

As Mel Allensky, the Yankee Troubadour would warble: "How About That!"

The Memos came up with a thriller-diller as did their ancient foemen from Kingston last night, and nearly 1,400 fans got an eye-full of some sparkling stuff. It was a hard-as-nat seat-edge from the opening whistle. It was a hard-driving, smiling, typical Kingston-Belleville affair, minus the usual arguments and fisticuffs. Both teams were clicking at their best period. But he had not reckoned with the ole sorrel-lope, Jones and Dorna. Peter, who has been playing his best hockey of the season the past few weeks, set up the "win pro" and Rod's top-corner blast smashed the home for the equalizer.

The Memos are on their way to Clinton by this time where they hope to grab a victory that will hoist them back into second place in the league. Whitby increased its lead last night with a 6-3 win over the Petes.

NEW ONE!

The lack-of-patronage bug has bitten into the western Ontario senior "B" clubs, it seems, and some of the squads are busy thinking up new gimmicks to get the customers through the turnstiles. St. Thomas has the latest in per-ster "attractions," which sets the lucky ticket-holder a lady mem—if the crowd is good. All he does is pick up ten per cent of the gate receipts.

MOFFETS AT MOOSE

Force of habit caused an unintentional error in this column yesterday. In other years Chief Gerald Vance and his Smoke-Eaters from West Moira Street have entertained their softball-playing opponents at "ye olde boom grounde" in the fire station, but this year it seems the venue has been changed. Instead the annual assault of the hot-dog-ice-cream brigade will take place at the Moose Hall, Victoria Avenue, on Monday night. "Scrappy" O'Brien, Leo Culhane and the rest of the fire-ball stalwarts are preparing a grand party for their young protegee, and this one should go down in the books as the best yet. Shirts at seven o'clock.

LIGHTS ON LIMESTONE CITY

Roddecville, east o' here, seems to hold the sports spot-light for the week-end, outside of the Memos' clash in Clinton this afternoon. The keglers from all parts of the district will vie for honors at the Madoc Annual Bowling-ament which is being held down thataway in the afternoon and evening, while hockey fans will get the opportunity to watch the dazzling stars of decades ago show some of their old story at the National Hockey League Oldtimers game in the Community Centre.

According to Michael J. Rodden, Gus Marker, who was largely instrumental in bringing the attraction to Kingston, has notified him that the famous "Kid Line" of the Toronto Maple Leafs, Joseph Primeau and Jackson will be intact and perform for one of the squads.

"In addition to those mentioned Marker has received assurance that the following—and others—will be in action. Goalkeepers—Roy Worters and "Turk" Broda, defencemen: Levinsky, Conacher, "Flash" Hollett, Jim Fowler and durable "Dit" Clapper; forwards—Roy Conacher, Nels Stewart, "Yank" Boyd and "Hank" Goldup. Marker and George Patterson will represent Kingston.

"Charlie Conacher, Primeau, Jackson, Worters, Hollett, Broda and Clapper are among those whose names are inscribed on National League all-star lists. Clapper was awarded a first place berth six times and was elected to the second-on four occasions. Jackson was a member of the league's best left winger four times and was second best once. Conacher earned three firsts and two seconds; Hollett a first and two seconds; Broda a first; Worters two seconds and Primeau one second," writes Michael J.

GOOD SHOW FOR GOOD CAUSE

Remember that "Variety Village" show that took the town by entertainment storm last winter? It consisted of a half-dozen of the best vaudeville acts in Toronto and produce, and was rated as being one of the best footlight attractions seen in this city in years.

It was brought here under the auspices of the Bay of Quinte Theatre Managers Association, and these consummate-minded gentlemen have "done it again." They announce another super-attraction for Sunday, February 29 in the Capitol Theatre, the entire proceeds of which will go to the outstanding work being done at Variety Village for crippled youngsters. In addition there will be one of the outstanding motion picture films of the year. Admission will be by "invitation" only, as was the case last year.

Monty Hall, well-known radio and television emcee will handle the show, which is said will eclipse the star-studded attraction of 1954. More about this later.

Learned Hockey on Icy Rivers But Appears Headed for Top; Says Schmidt Best Foe Centre

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Jean Marc Beliveau learned his hockey on icy streets and frozen rivers "like any other French-Canadian boy." But, unlike most, he appears destined for immortality and a place beside the game's all-time greats.

Le gros Bill was a spindly six-year-old when he was given his first pair of skates. Now 23, he is a towering, broad-shouldered centre with Montreal Canadiens, exuding personality and color.

Since Beliveau was signed in 1953 by the National Hockey League champions for what the Montrealers said was the highest contract ever given any player, coaches and wide-eyed fans have acted most of the stops on superlatives.

BEST SEASON YET

Jean, a six-foot-three, 205-pound native of Trois-Rivieres, Que., is having the best NHL season of his career. He leads the individual scoring race with 28 goals and 26 assists for 54 points. That's four points better than Maurice (Rocket) Richard, his second spot.

He'll be after his 29th goal tonight when Canadiens meet the fourth - place Boston Bruins in Montreal. In other engagements, the fifth-place New York Rangers take on the third-place Detroit Red Wings at Detroit and the last-place Chicago Black Hawks play Detroit, Red Wings at Chicago.

On Sunday it's the league-leading Canadiens against the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs at Boston and Rangers at Chicago.

Beliveau's scoring when he played three games for Canadiens during the 1952-53 campaign, was disappointing. Although he slipped to 13 goals in 44 games the following season, nobody doubted that he would be a big-leaguer.

MORE CONFIDENCE

"I was injured last season after my seventh game," Beliveau said in an interview. "When I got back into the league I was two years behind the others. I started scoring goals and setting up Geoffrion right off the bat. That helped to restore my confidence."

Jean doesn't single out any goaltender for special praise. He's too tougher to beat than others.

"All of them are good. I am happy when I score against any goaltender or defenceman who is tougher to beat than others."

The greatest centre Beliveau has played against?

He says it has to be Milt Schmidt, now coach of the Bruins. Red Kennedy of the Leafs runs a close second.

Peterborough Rink Wins Tankard, Oshawa Takes Governor-General

TORONTO - (CP)—Peterborough defeated Kitchener 23-17 Friday to win the Ontario Tankard in the final, double-rink curling championships. Oshawa won the Governor-General's Trophy by edging Orillia 29-17.

In a consolation result for the tankard, Hamilton Thistles crushed Welland 31-16 to capture the Burden Trophy.

Toronto Curling Club won the Globe and Mail Trophy in another consolation event for the Governor-General's Trophy by defeating Deep River 29-17.

Preliminary competitions, were held Thursday at Toronto, Oshawa, Kitchener, Barrie, Orillia and Guelph.

In winning the Ontario Silver Tankard, blue ribbon double-rink competition in Ontario Curling Association, the Peterborough club achieved a goal it had been seeking for 64 years. The club was runner-up in 1892 and 1917.

Both Peterborough rinks curled brilliantly and gave little away over the 16-round route.

It was the fifth appearance of Kitchener in the final since 1931, and the second time it was runner-up.

In the Burden Trophy play, Hamilton Thistles came through with their third win in the event by defeating the comparatively young Welland rinks. Ray Headway, former football star, piled up a 24-4 margin in a DiMartile of the losers and this more than offset the 12-7 victory of S. T. Hadley of Welland over Russ Armstrong of Thistles.

The closest contest of the day was the final of the Governor-General's Trophy when Oshawa scored its two-point victory over Orillia after an extra end. It was Oshawa's second victory in seven finals in the event.

Bilts Drub Flyers 5-1 To Extend Lead

By the Canadian Press

Guelph Biltmores strengthened their hold on first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League Friday night by drubbing Barrie Flyers 5-1 before 3,500 hometown fans.

Johnny Gillis sparked Biltmores with three goals and an assist. The win put Bilts five points in front of the second-place St. Catharines Teepees.

In the league's other game, the fourth - place Toronto Marlboros downed three previous defeats at the hands of Kitchener - Waterloo Canucks 6-1 on home ice.

Centre Billy Harris and defenceman Bobby Baun led the Marlboro attack, accounting for five of the six Toronto goals.

Guelph now has 31 points, followed by St. Catharines with 47. Toronto St. Michael's Majors are with 44, one point ahead of Marlboros. Hamilton Tabs occupy fifth place with 34 points followed by Galt with 32, Barrie with 28 and Kitchener in last place with 14 points.

At Guelph, Bill McCreary and Bob Bailey scored the Bilts' two other goals. Bob Barlow scored the lone Flyer tally for the Flyers.

At Kitchener, Baun got a pair in the first six minutes of play and Harris tallied three goals in the final period. Mike Nykoluk also notched one for Toronto.

In tonight's games, the Canucks face off at Galt, Guelph's at St. Catharines, and St. Michael's is at Barrie. Teepees meet the Majors in Toronto Sunday.

NFL Makes Minor Changes In Rules

By Will Grimsley

NEW YORK (AP)—There won't be much of a face-lifting job on the U.S. professional football game for the 1955 season.

After the haggling until near midnight—and the long talk by pro-sals, directors of the National Football League games on today with these insignificant rules changes:

Let A move to eliminate stalling by letting the clock run 10 seconds after an injury occurring on the side of the offensive team in the last two minutes of each half or sudden-death rule in effect—live, only when the score is tied or the team in possession is ahead.

2. A player intercepting a pass inside his own five-yard line and carried by his own momentum into the end zone shall be ruled tackled or declared dead and his team given possession at the point of interception. Previously this has been ruled a safety and directors made the change in what they indicated a "cheap safety."

3. To discourage the practice of piling on a ball-carrier and to cut down injuries, referees have been directed to blow a whistle after a player is tackled. This conforms with but is not as strict as the college rule which declares a dead ball as soon as his knee touches the ground.

The No. 1 change is designed to end what commissioner Bert Bell termed the "onus of fake injuries."

Under change No. 2, if a player is tackled in his end zone and carries the ball to the other team receiving, it is a touchdown.

Mercs Jinxed By Cataracts; Lose Again

By the Canadian Press

Owen Sound Mercurys must figure they're jinxed—at least by one team in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league.

In nine games with the last-place Niagara Falls Cataracts this season the second-place Mercs have lost five, enough to keep them locked two points behind the league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Faced by Big Lloyd Ferguson, the unpredictable Cataracts took a 5-3 win in Niagara Falls Friday night to mark up their 11th victory of the season. It was their second straight win after an eight-game losing streak.

Meanwhile, Chatham Maroons upset the fourth-place Stratford Indians 6-4.

LLOYD GOT TWO

Ferguson scored two goals in the first period to give Cataracts a lead. Fraser Kilpatrick made it 3-0 in the second before Jack Taylor netted for Owen Sound opener.

Mercurys narrowed the gap in the final period on a goal by Doug Gillespie but Eric Unger and Bill Mackell sent the clinchers into the 18:30 and 18:38 marks.

Chatham's 1,500 fans saw Eddie Busch and Kenny Schultz pave the way for the Maroon victory with two goals each. Defenceman Bill Cooper scored the others.

Johnny Mur e t i c h, with two, Dony Flanagan and George Aitken with one, rounded out markmen. Indians continue to hold a nine-point lead over the sixth-place Maroons.

Solmar Notes

Sports vs. Commercial Fishing

By John Alden Knight
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables.)

It is only during comparatively recent years that much cognizance has been taken of the actual dollars-and-cents value of sport fishing. Of course, the anglers always have felt that sport fishing should be given preference.

They, until recently, were in the minority a d unorganized. The commercial interests, with their lobbies in the Federal and State Capitols, managed, with a few exceptions, to block any legislation that would lead to curtail income.

Then the tackle manufacturers, seeing the handwriting on the wall, started their own back-fires in the form of publicity campaigns. They conducted surveys and showed, in good, resounding numbers, exactly what it would cost in annual patronage to become unless sport fishermen were given a break by legislatures.

Time was when northern salmon rivers were completely blocked by nets. Not any more. Now the commercial boys must leave half the river open or find themselves in trouble.

ACTIVE WARFARE

It took many years of active warfare on the part of the anglers of New Jersey to persuade their legislature to give some protection to striped bass. Belatedly, they did so. If they had not, I feel reasonably sure that striped bass in all New Jersey waters would be but a pleasant memory.

Back in 1925 I moved to Florida where I lived for several years. At that time the bass fishing in central Florida was incredible. There was no such thing as a resident fishing license. You could catch and keep as many bass as you chose, regardless of size. In one of the five years I spent there, I did not once lay eyes on a state warden.

Now, again belatedly, Florida is protecting its bass. Both sizes and numbers are regulated and the warden staff has been enlarged. However, the fishing—what I have seen of it lately—does not compare with 1925.

Another case of locking the barn after the horse has been stolen is that of the fishing off Everglades National Park. At one time, the fishing around Cape Sable and the Ten Thousand Islands was really out of this world.

Then the commercial boys ganged up on those waters. They did have the good sense to use gill nets, which allowed the small fish to filter through, thereby preserving the seed stock. However, the daily use of nine-mile nets will skim the cream from any fishing, no matter how good, in a very short time.

At long last, steps were taken, this time by the Federal government: Everglades Park was extended to its full great limits. The original village of Flamingo was moved, lock, stock and barrel, and the area now is patrolled by rangers. Last reports were that fishing was improving but it had a long way to go when I saw it two years ago.

Always, in any argument, comparisons are introduced, no doubt to act as a yardstick to prove points or disprove them. This argument, between sport fishing and commercial interests differs not at all from others.

Considered from the food angle, most edible fish are eaten, regardless of whether they are taken by angler's tackle or commercial gear. Thus, the matter of food, as such, does not enter the controversy.

What does enter it, however, is the net poundage of such edible fish. To obtain commercial prices, all you need do is to gather the fish at the nearest fish market. To obtain the cost per pound in sports-fish restaurants is not quite so easy.

The Fish and Wildlife Service wanted to know about this phase of the problem, so they conducted the test surveys. One of them was made on 119 miles of the Madison River in Montana. Average cost per pound in the lower section of the river was $3.33, while in the upper section the cost jumped to $7.37 per pound.

These surveys, in various sections of the country, showed costs which ran as high as $11.25 per pound in Lake Maloney of Nebraska and as high as $20.26 per pound of steelhead trout in Michigan.

Admittedly we must have commercial fishing to supply the national demand for fish as a food. However, there are many varieties of fish which are excellent sales at the fish markets that have no place in the sport-fishing program.

Adding it all up, on an entirely economic basis, the ideal rule would be this—If fish supplies of certain varieties are not adequate to support both kinds of fishing, then sport fishing must have first consideration. Here's hoping that the legislators of the country face these facts and shape their actions accordingly.

Sports Roundup

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is one thing that is absolutely certain about baseball it is that the intentional base on balls is an integral part of the strategy of he game and here it is here to stay, no matter how much the fans are supporting dislike for it.

There is no earthly way of figuring, then, why the rules committee in its latest meeting certain has locked the catcher in a plot only 43 inches square until the ball leaves his pitcher's hand. The only possible effect the new edict can have is to speed up the game while a pitcher takes meticulous care to place the ball where his catcher can leap out and receive it.

The fact that this has been made a little more difficult to put a dangerous hitter on base in a tight spot is not going to cause a single manager to abandon the tactic—not if he wants to win ball games anyway. It is only going to make the catcher's job a little harder and cause a few more fans to wave at the end of a long doubleheader.

It would have been better sense if the committee had announced that henceforth a batsman could simply be waved down to first without a ball being thrown. We have heard this advocated many times by prominent men in the game and have not yet heard a really sound argument against it.

Must Fight, Or No Title

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian Boxing Federation will declare Canada's featherweight title vacant unless the present holder, Mike Gerlach, of Hamilton, decides to sign for a fight within 90 days, national commissioner Gene Letourneau, said Friday.

Letourneau said Gerlach won the Canadian title July 2, 1951, and had agreed to defend the title within 90 days. He said the federation would sanction a title fight between any of the following: Tom Cortez, Toronto; Jean Wagner, Vancouver; Tony Pulcitti, Montreal, and Tim LeBlanc of Moncton, N.B.

Memos Come From Behind To Tie Goodyears 3-3 In Senior 'B' Sizzler

Sweep Into Third-Place Tie In Clean Hard-Fought Game, Peter Jones, Doran Pace Drive

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Nearly 1,400 fans thrilled to one of the best senior "B" games seen here this season when the Belleville Memos and Kingston Goodyears battled to a three-all overtime tie in Memorial Arena last night.

The split points hoisted the Goodyears into second place with 41 points while the Memos swept into a third place tie with Cornwall with one point less each.

It was a typical Belleville-Kingston battle played at top speed throughout with the verdict at stake until a few seconds of full time. The Goodyears broke a two-all tie with minutes to go but the Memos roared back with the tying marker with seconds ticking off the clock. The overtime period was scoreless with no penalties.

In a speedy, hard-checking battle both the Memos and the Goodyears played the puck rather than the man with only nine penalties, all minors, being handed out by Referees Ted Topping and Jim Crombie. Kingston drew four of the sentences.

Kingston scored the only goal of the first period but the Memos evened the count before a minute had elapsed in the second heat. Belleville took the lead early in the third period but Goodyears zipped back in three minutes to knot the count and grab a 3-2 lead. It looked like a Kingston victory but the desperate Memos drove back and with less than 70 seconds to go tied the score. Both goals had narrow escapes in the overtime period when the Memos had an edge but no damage was done and the game ended in a stalemate.

TYPICAL GAME

The game opened at a typical Kingston-Belleville fast, wide-open clip with both teams checking heavily. Referee Topping started the 'sin' parade early, sending Dugan off at 1.35. The Goodies drove to the attack but strong Memo defensive work staved off the Goodyears' threat.

Dugan had scarcely returned when Wilson got thumbed for interference and again the Goodies powered their attacks. The Memos got their chance when Vallier got the gate at 7.37. The Memos lasted Johnson heavily, with DeGrey missing by inches.

Nicholson went off at 11.13 and the Memos loosed the Goodyears back in their own end. The Goodyear's defencemen had barely returned when Londry drove down the left boards. A Memos' pass was deflected to Bellringer's stick and he drove in a low, hard shot to the corner for the only goal of the period.

Day drew a high-sticking penalty at 18.05 and again the Memos' defence stood out in keeping the driving Goodyears. De-out the driving Goodyears. De-Gray's blazer from close-in mis-sed a post by an inch as the period ended.

The Memos swept to the attack as the second period opened and the fans had scarcely settled in their seats when Peter Jones tied the score. The fleet Memo winger took Red Doran's pass at centre ice, dipsy-doodled his way through the Goodies' defence and scored on a beautiful effort.

It was fierce, hard-checking hockey at this period with both goalies coming up with outstanding efforts.

Nicholson drew a penalty at 11.37 for tripping Macey and on the return power play Erwin Duncan and Davey Jones missed open nets.

The Goodyears reversed procedure and poured in a four-man attack that caught the Memos off balance. At one time five players were piled in the Memos' net but the puck had rolled out of danger.

Muckler got the gate at 14.32 and again the Memos' defence rose to heights in a penalty-killing performance. No damage was done and the Memos burned on the power.

Johnson kicked out four shots from the rushing Memos in as many seconds and the period ended at 17.00. The Memos outshot the Goodyears 14-12 up to this point.

It was the same ripping tempo in the third period and after three minutes of play Bellerville took the lead on a somewhat tricky goal. Erwin Duncan stole Douglas' clearing pass in front of the Goodyear net. It struck his body, dropped to the ice and trickled over the goal-line for the score.

The Goodyears turned on the power and Barclay in the Memos' nets was given plenty to do. Both teams were missing from close-in as play swept from end to end. At 13.05 Londry and Wilson got the gate and a minute later Irvine tied the count in a neat three-way frisky with Murray and Nicholson. The Goodyear squad, spurred by the equalizer, took on the pressure but were met with a driving offensive by the Memos. Muckler missed a peacock and Pavelich broke into the clear, but outfoxed chasing Memos and raced in to beat Barclay to give his team a 3-2 lead.

"Red" Doran brought the Belleville fans to their feet with less than two minutes to go when he scored a beautiful goal from close-in on a pass from Jude Dugan. Regulation time ended that way.

Both teams forged in the attack in the early minutes of the over-time period and "Red" Doran's blast at five minutes that was juggled by Johnson nearly gave the Memos the victory. The Memos had a territorial edge and the Goodyears iced the puck confidently, apparently satisfied with the split verdict.

The Peter Jones - Doran - Dugan line was the best for the Memos, accounting for two of their goals. Erwin Duncan was seriously injured during the game, being accidentally cut over the eye. Both Barclay and Johnson, the respective goalies were standouts in a fiery clean hard-checking game that was not decided even with the conventional overtime.

The teams:

Kingston: goal, Johnson; defence, Nicholson, Goodfellow; centre, Murray; wings, Pavchuk, Topping(c); subs, Douglas, Bellringer, White, Senior, Myles, Vallier, Londry, Irvine, Tinkess.

Belleville — goal, Barclay; defence, Wilson, Macy; centre, Dorsey; wings, Ed. Duncan, Erwin Duncan; subs, F. Jones, Dugan, Muckler, Wade, Gover, DeGray, D. Jones, Hall, Day.

Referees: Jim Crombie, Ted Topping.

Ken Rosewall Whips Trabert In Singles

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—U.S. hopes of sweeping the Australian national tennis singles and doubles championships—in addition to the U.S. Davis Cup triumph over the Aussies in December—blew up in smithereens today.

Tony Trabert, of Cincinnati, the only American in the semi-finals, went down to a surprise straight-set defeat at the hands of Ken Rosewall 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

This set up an all-Australian final since Lew Hoad earlier had virtually blasted Rex Hartwig off the court in a fast 30-minute victory 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Bauer To Help Dutchies

KITCHENER (CP)—Don Bauer has been lured out of retirement again to help the injury-burdened Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league.

Ernie Gorman, team business manager, said Friday the 37-year-old centre has been signed to play with the Dutchies against Niagara Falls Cataracts tonight. Bauer will stay with the team for the rest of the season.

Bauer came out of retirement two seasons ago to help Dutchies win the Allan Cup. He came back to the team after Christmas last year to play in 11 games before suffering a shoulder injury.

Major Leagues Will Study Ten-Team Sked

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Baseball League today "kicks around" the idea of expanding to 10 teams with the American League scheduled to consider the same possibility Sunday.

National League officials will take a look at sample schedules setting up 162-game seasons in their meeting at 1 p.m. EST. The American League's expansion committee will follow the same program in their meeting at 1 ath, Sunday.

Meanwhile, the International League meets to draw up a schedule including new member Columbus, Ohio.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said there are four sample schedules to be considered by his league.

"Nothing conclusive is expected," he said. "We're just going to kick it around so everyone will get an idea of added travel costs and the time factors involved."

The sample schedules include San Francisco, Los Angeles, Montreal, Toronto, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Houston and Dallas if various combinations with the present eight clubs.

The International League welcomes Columbus as a replacement for Ottawa.

Big Four Brass To Confab Next Week

HAMILTON (CP)—Executives of the Big Four Football Union may be called together next week to find some way of setting up a no-raiding agreement to end the player war with the United States and keep peace in their own family at the same time.

Big Four president Ralph W. Cooper said Friday night that he may ask the executives to meet in an effort to clear up the trouble involving the U.S. National Football League and Toronto Argonauts.

Such a meeting would have to wait until the league's governors hand down their decision on a motion concerning a no-raiding pact with the NFL. The governors are scheduled to meet here next Tuesday.

Cooper made the statements shortly after he arrived from New York, where he discussed the raiding problem with Bert Bell, NFL commissioner.

THREE FAVOR PACT

He said Bell proposed that the Big Four appointed a man—with the same power as a commissioner —who would have the authority for the league in NFL negotiations.

Three of the Big Four clubs are behind the move to set up an agreement with the NFL. Toronto Argonauts, who recently announced signing of three NFL players, are against any pact that would be restrictive and require them to give up the boys they have been committed to sign.

Cooper would not say what would happen if Argos refused to go along with the agreement.

He was quoted Friday as saying it would be possible to kick Argonauts out of the league but later denied making this comment.

"This whole thing will be fixed up to the mutual satisfaction of all parties," he said.

"WATERFRONT" ROLE FOUNDED ON FACT

It's not surprising that Karl Malden, who stars with Marlon Brando and Lee J. Cobb in Columbia Picture's "On the Waterfront," powerful new drama of love and terror in the manmade jungle where the city meets the sea, opening Monday night at the Capitol Theatre for its first district showing, gives an outstanding performance. For Malden had not only the benefit of Elia Kazan's thrilling direction but he also was coached for his screen role by the real life prototype of it — Father John M.J. Corridan, New York's famed "waterfront priest."

There is a strong physical resemblance between Malden and Father Corridan. Both men are about the same size — slightly over six feet tall. Father Corridan is a little heavier; Malden has considerably more hair. They wear the same shirt, seven and one-quarter, and Malden actually wears one of the priest's in the film. As for shoes, Karl wears a size 10; Father Corridan, an 11.

Malden says Father Corridan is a man physically and spiritually. "He has done great things, but he remained an unassuming modest." Malden says with undisguised hero worship. "His shoes are too big for me but his head is no bigger than mine."

In "On the Waterfront," Malden sets out to smash the terror rule of the killers who have won control of a longshoreman's union, Unable to persuade the workers to talk, because talking can spell death, he concentrated on the warring waterfront figure played by Brando, The emotional realism of the film has won it comparison with "Going My Way."

"On the Waterfront" introduces hauntingly attractive Eva Marie Saint, blonde stage, television and radio star. The Elia Kazan Production features Rod Steiger and Pat Henning.

DELAY HEARING

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—It took one hour and 10 minutes Friday to read the list of 47 indictments against Ernest Sider, 25, his brother Orville, 21, and Albert Pot-ton, 17, all of Louth township. Hear-ing on the charges which involve breaking and entry of area homes was postponed until Tuesday.

STARS ROMP TO NINE ORIGINAL SONG NUMBERS

Nine original tunes written by the Hollywood composing team of Pony Sherrell and Phil Moody are featured in the song and dance productions of Universal-Interna-tional's musical romance, "So This Is Paris," closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre with Tony Curtis, Gloria De Haven, Gene Nelson, Corinne Calvet and Paul Gilbert in starring roles.

The Sherrell-Moody score in-cludes:

"Looking For Someone To Love" rung and danced by Gene Nelson in an acrobatic production on the streets of Paris; "What'll Paris Sees Us," a song-and-dance romp by Tony Curtis, Gene Nel-son and Paul Gilbert: "I Can't Do A Single But I'll Try)," a solo song-and-comedy specialty num-ber by Gilbert; "A Dame's A Dame," sung by Curtis, Nelson and Gilbert surrounded by a pcol full of bathing beauties; "Three Bon Vivants," sung by the same trio at a handsomely dressed char-ity bazaar; "The Two Of Us," a romantic ballad to which Tony Curtis and Gloria De Haven make love; "If You Were There," pair-ing Nelson and Miss De Haven in song and dance; "It's Really Up To You," featuring Curtis, Miss De Haven, Nelson and Gilbert singing and clowning for a group of French orphan children; "So This Is Paris" for a background ensemble.

A standard favorite, "I Can't Give You Anything but Love, Baby", by Jimmy McHugh and Dorothy Fields, is sung in French in an elaborate cafe production by Miss De Haven.

TWO HORSES BURN

CHATHAM (CP)—A $18,000 fire swept through two adjacent homes Friday and left 10 persons home-less. The blaze was believed to have started in a clothes closet in the two-storey home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Horton and their six children. The flames spread next door to a house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Philemon van Brackel. Mrs. Horton was treated for minor burns. No one else was hurt.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Sunday, January 30, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Start with a smile, and keep it through the day, not minding the obstacles or irritation. Prayer, company of children, wholesome reading and doing will give you cheer, new hope.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Day may not yield all the pleasure and benefits you desire but that will be for the better. Some sacrifice and self-restraint are character-builders, make for vital spiritual gain. Faith!

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—It isn't always the big and showy returns that register lasting advancement or gain. Knowing how to get along (with people, your family, and how to regulate emotions are important assets.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Kindliness to the old and young, to God's poor—this is spreading wealth, happiness and hope where it is sorely needed and will build graces in heaven for you.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—In your exuberance and desire to please and get things done you might overlook "small" matters concerning family or the home, so be careful. Start right in church, take time to Think.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Make this period one of relaxing rest if due work and other obligations honestly permit. Start with prayer, and remember that humour and simple things are vital.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—A pretty fine outlook for the plain everyday and the usual tedium. Can be more profitable in a quiet effective way than you realize—which we hope you will before it's over! Honor friendship.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Several avenues (and they may all look enticing) to traverse, but do be sure that you choose only that which will be in keeping with God's laws and your own betterment. Some fine rays.

November 24 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—May feel like you are walking on air—pleasant but at same time keep feet on ground and a hold on to self lest you be taken in wrong direction. Spiritual devotions keep one well balanced.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Sincerity, being meticulous about promises and habits, and a willingness to hear other's side of stories and events, etc., are today's prescription for smooth going.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Read Sagittarius and note appropriate advice consonant with your own plans and doings. Keep in mind duty to God and you will be both content and more successful.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—It is good to have a healthy imagination and to use it ably, especially when we feel "down" or discouraged. Build high your dreams and build them beautiful, you'll find delightful things overlooked.

YOU BORN TODAY are strong characters, usually dependable, always likeable (if your true ingratiating self) and capable of accomplishing a good deal in your profession, trade or whatever your calling or occupation if it is honorable and motivated by unselfish, good intentions. You can continue to improve your education by good reading, study and observing what the learned do. And education is important to greater success, so are spiritual development, wholesome home life and honorable associates. Don't ever discourage, keep chin up and ask God's guidance.

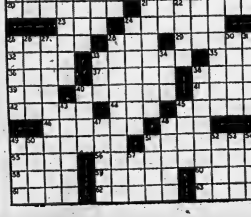
Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was looking at her new Home and Table magazine, saying to pop, Really, William, I mean actually, men have no idea of the meaning of variety in food. If they were left to their own devices, they would degenerate into a race of stake and potatoes.

Not me, pop said. I've often thought of ways and means to add variety to liver and onions. For instance, instead of the onions lolling comfortably on top of the liver, they might sweep around outside in an encircling circle. By golies I would seem like a different dish.

We could have liver and onions twice as often, he said, and ma said, I'm serious, William. There's a discription in here of a wonderful new cook book with 500 diffrent recipees for soup. Whenever I ask you what kind of soop you'd like, you tell me chickin with noodles. Just as automatically as a mechanical doll, she said.

Now that's another thing you might vary without any radical change, pop said. How about occasionally varying the length or thickness of the noodles...so I'd never quite know what to expect? he said, and ma said, I think I'll send for that book. My, 500 diffrent recipees from A to Z. I mean A to Z, William. A is for avocado soop, and Z is for I cant remember exactly what, she said.



Probably it's for zoo soop, pop said. I can taist it now, a base of chickin, with noodles in the shape of little animals. Say, that book may be all right, he said.

Oh what's the use, such a man, let's change the subject, ma said. Which they did.

TWEED

New Post Office Open to Public

TWEED — Tweed's new, modern post office was opened to the general public Monday morning.

The building, located at the corner of Culborne and Spring streets is expected to be opened officially in February by the Postmaster General, Federal government officials and local dignitaries.

Notice that postal services were moving to the new building was given last Saturday. Post office box subscribers were assigned new boxes and delivery of keys was made during the week.

The impressive, new building has north and east side entrances through two-way, all glass, steel trimmed doors. Boxes are located in the south corridor.

Twelve double rows of fluorescent lights provide maximum illumination in the 60x30 foot sorting room. Special rooms have been provided for the use of rural mail carriers.

The building was erected by the St. Lawrence Contracting Co. Ltd. with Bob Brunson, Tweed, as foreman. Felix Rashotte was the building inspector.

Tweed postmaster is C. R. Porritt.

Liberal Wants CBC Divorced From Govt.

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has been told by one of its supporters to divorce the CBC from the function of issuing the 25 licensing of private radio and television stations.

The departure from government policy was proposed in the Commons by Liberal Pat Nodeau, Liberal member for Montreal' Dollard.

Mr. Rouleau said most people he has met "are opposed to the fact that this organization which competes directly with private enterprise should be at the same time the organization that controls and grants permits to private stations.

"We know that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation . . . renders a great service to our country, but we would prefer that it be treated on an equal footing or nearly so with stations belonging to private enterprise."

CBC RECOMMENDS

Mr. Rouleau's proposals on the CBC paralleled resolutions passed in 1952 by the National Liberal Federation and this year by the Young Liberal Federation. They also paralleled a report by broadcasting licences be handed over to an independent body.

The CBC said such a move would be "more consistent with the democratic practices of liberalism."

The CBC has said that it merely makes recommendations on whether private radio and television licences be granted and that the transport department actually grants licences. However, recommendations CBC usually are altered by the government.

Mr. P. G. Robertson (Al—North-umberland, Ont.) said provincial and municipal governments would be interested in any that is weaken, their civil defence programs once they appreciated the full power of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

CAMPBELLFORD

Oldest Resident Celebrates 98th Birthday

CAMPBELLFORD — One of Campbellford's oldest residents, Mrs. Phoebe Bedford, celebrated 98th birthday on Friday at the Beaver Hall convalescent home.

Mrs. Bedford is the daughter of the late John Snarr and Esther Drury. Her father came to Canada from Yorkshire, England, and literally rowed a home out of the wilderness. She recalls the time when her parents drove a yoke of oxen from here to Belleville to obtain supplies.

She was married at the age of 21 at Christ Anglican church in Campbellford by the Rev. Wm. Hinds, to Thomas Bedford, who passed away about 40 years ago. The two sons, Bert of Stirling and William of Montreal.

FAVORITE POEM

While Mrs. Bedford has no actual prescription for a long life she has a favorite poem on the subject that goes, "Come live along with me-the best is yet to be-the last of life for which the first was made."

Her eyesight and hearing are failing somewhat but her reading her stay in Beaver Hall she has done some beautiful crocheting and says she is happy there and is "just one of the family."

Many friends and relatives called on her on Friday to extend their best wishes and she received a number of gifts and cards as well as two birthday cakes and flowers.

Voss Would Like Farm System For Officials

MONTREAL (CP)—Carl Voss, referee-in-chief of the National Hockey League, would like to see a farm system for officials not unlike that used by the league's club for development of players.

Instructive, but promising officials isn't new, says Voss, but never in the game's history has so much emphasis been put on proper training and schooling.

In recent weeks Voss has arranged schools at Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Melville, Sask., and at Charlottetown.

REAL TRAVELLER

Voss travels 35,000 miles a year to watch referees work in small amateur leagues and the minor pro circuits as well as the NHL.

He gives them personal suggestions, the proper way of checking pets and how to keep up with play.

The most important phase of the teaching program embraces interpretation of playing rules.

"Knowing the rule book isn't the whole story," he says, "the way I see it you can have a man know the rules without too much trouble. But when it comes to skating ability, judgment and handling a game under pressure—that's something else. It's a profession hasn't those he might as well look elsewhere for a job."

Voss is particularly high on one young official—a four-year-old Morrison, who was recommended by Al Leader, president of the Western Hockey League.

Morrison has had assignments both as referee and linesman in the NHL this season. "I've never seen him excited or flustered," says Voss.

Morrison is Montreal-born. He had a brief fling at junior hockey before deciding he wanted to become an official.

Y's Men Vote To Continue Scholarships

At this week's meeting the attendance was larger than usual and the club welcomed two visitors, Fred Bradley and Chas. Duncan.

Arrangements were made for the annual meeting of YMCA to be held here February 10th. This year the district conference will be held in Peterborough, under District Governor Gerald Hyde.

There was considerable discussion concerning scholarships led by Linton Read and president Robbie Clarke. After serious consideration the club members voted to continue a fifty dollar scholarship in both the history and English departments. Should the winner also be an active member of YMCA such scholarship fund will be increased by twenty-five dollars.

Mr. Bruce Kerr, supt. of Children's Aid Society, very capably explained to the club the work of his office. All learned something of the aims and objectives which were briefly carried out to assist those needy children. Mr. Kerr was introduced to the club by Scott Denton and thanked by McKinley Rankin.

May Simplify Methods Of Collecting Money

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A simplified method of collecting unemployment insurance contributions will be considered by the government this year. But officials expect it won't change materially the amount going into the $800,000,000 insurance fund.

The government is planning to have Parliament substitute a system of straight percentage payroll deductions for the present complicating procedure of deducting a certain number of cents per week from the pay envelopes of workers in seven wage categories.

Employers match this amount. The federal government contributes one-fifth the combined total and pays for administering the insurance plan.

Government actuaries, it was learned Friday, have figured that a one-per-cent payroll deduction matched by employers will just about equal the present rate of inflow to the fund.

ON ERHAUL ACT

The government plans to embody this in legislation for a general overhaul of the 14-year-old Unemployment Insurance Act to be introduced at this session of Parliament. Its own contribution will continue on the one-fifth basis.

The new percentage basis of contributions, officials said, will provide somewhat of a break for workers in the higher wage categories. Their contributions will be down moderately while their benefit rates will remain unchanged.

Those in the higher brackets will likely be hit harder. The additional top category also will be created to provide higher benefits for those making around $3,000 a year.

Hydro Workers Accept Increase Of 4 Per Cent

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro's 18,000 office, operational and maintenance employees have voted overwhelmingly in favor of accepting a new contract which gives them a wage increase of four per cent it was reported Friday.

Under the agreement, the work-ers get a 10 per cent bonus retroactive to last April and another two per cent effective next April 1.

Full details of the contract have not been released but it covers a two-year period and includes several fringe benefits. It was negotiated between the commission and the independent Hydro Employees' Association.

Friday Hydro signed another labor contract establishing wage rates and conditions of employment for those who will work on the St. Lawrence power project. It was negotiated on behalf of 17 unions by the Allied Construction Council (AFL-TLC).

The contract, similar in most respects to that covering construction workers at Hydro's Niagara project, established hourly wage rates for laborers at between $1.25 and $1.65; mechanics at $1.40 and $2.35; metal workers, $2.10 and $2.22; machinists, $2.10 and $2.13; and straight wages of $2.12 for carpenters and $1.52 for hard core city finishers.

Skiing News

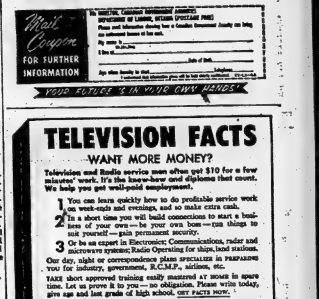
TORONTO (CP)—Excellent skiing is in prospect both on the tow hills and in the ski trails this week-end. The conditions reported Friday should prevail today as colder weather is predicted.

A Toronto Telegram survey showed conditions excellent at Barrie, Bracebridge, Cobourg, Collingwood, Dagmer (Glen Major), Deerhurst, Gravenhurst, Haileybury, Huntsville, Kirkland Lake, Lake of Bays, Minden, North Bay, Orangeville-Hockley, Peterboro-Bethany, Sinclair Town-ship, Thornbury, Uxbridge, Owen Sound, and Sundridge.

Skiing is said to be low hill and excellent in the bush at Ohsawa (Kirby).

Skiing is only fair at Bolton and Cedar Springs, and just fair on the tow hill at Kitchener.

Minor Hockey



Three pee wee games were played at the Arena this morning with the Canadiens winning their tenth game without a loss over the Rangers by a 8-1 score, the second place Black Hawks winning over the Bruins 6-1 while the third place Red Wings and the winless Maple Leafs battled to a 2-3 tie.

Doug Defoe paced the Canadiens attack with three goals and two assists while Billy Hoy notched a trio of goals and two helper. Barton Durrant tallied twice with Teddy Rowland getting one and one. Willie Billy Woods assisted on a pair, Jan McArthur was the Ranger marksman.

Dennis Sinclair and Stewart Muirhead each picked up two goals and one assist in the Hawks victory with H. Pointer and George Cox also scoring. T. Butler, J. Wilson and E. Chandler had one assist each. Robert Blaker scored for the Bruins with Bar-ley setting him up.

The scoring in the Wing-Leaf game was split with Billy Morton and Larry Brown netting a goal for the Wings while Trey Rawson had one helper, Johnny Graham and Paul Zakos hit Ste-bemp for the Leafs with Larry Campbell drawing an assist.

Workman, Larks' Co-Owner, Is Cool-Headed Business Man

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Ted Workman, one of the new owners of Montreal Alouettes, is a football-minded young businessman who calmly decided where he is going and has never found himself lost.

When Workman joined Leo Dandurand and Vic Obeck in taking over Alouettes last December, a widespread impression prevailed that a little rich boy had tossed in a wad of dough as he could back in the football sun.

The idea is as cock-eyed as green yard-stripes. Workman's baptism into business was an ordeal that would have shaken an older and more experienced man. During the illness and after the death of his father Workman straightened out an unanticipated financial crisis that beset the $1,000,000 family-named company, ran the show himself for four years, then sold out.

BORN IN MONTREAL

Ted is in his mid-30s and is the son of a Jewish father and an Irish mother. His full name is Mark Edward Workman, the first name of his grandfather and father. A native Montrealer, he speaks French and English.

Workman is a little above average height and of comparatively slender build. He has thinning brown hair, a fresh complexion and wears glasses. He dresses neatly, never flashily.

His interests and avocations range from modern music to flying. He is vice-president of the Montreal Flying Club and flies his own plane. He is a director in several companies.

He played football at Lower Canada College and was on two championship teams. He plays badminton and squash and is a ski enthusiast.

Always interested in music, young Workman was a singer in high schoolgroups and was active in organizing bands and cheering sections. He continued these interests at Lower Canada College and during his one year at McGill University in 1942.

Workman left McGill to take over the family business when the emergency arose. He became president, general manager and a few other things in the Sig. Workman Uniform Company, Ltd.

SURPRISE TO FANS

Two months after he stepped into the firm his father died. Young Ted sold out after four years.

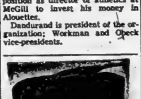
The change in ownership of the Alouettes last December was a surprise to the Canadian football world. But shrewd young Workman had long before seriously considered becoming an owner in the organization.

Three years ago he picked up a few shares in the club and became a member of the advisory board.

"What I have invested in Alouettes is my own money—money I worked hard for," he says. "It is backed by other money I haven't touched."

Presumably the "other money" includes his part of the Workman estate as the result of the sale of the family business.

HARD WORKER



Workman is at the Alouette offices at 9 a.m. and sometimes doesn't quit work until 11 p.m. The new Alouette organization has already moved its headquarters from semi-basement rooms to the entire second floor of the same building on Mountain street.

In the new quarters are separate offices for the owners and for coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker and assistant coach Jimmy Dunn. One big room has been set aside for the players, where they may read or chat or join the coaches and executive in discussing football problems.

Dandurand is a veteran had at professional sports—professional hockey, horse racing and, as a former part owner of Alouettes, football itself.

Obeck played college and professional football in the United States and gave up a high-salaried position as director of athletics at McGill to invest his money in Alouettes.

Dandurand is president of the organization; Workman and Obeck vice-presidents.

Belleville Flyer, Paul K. Bradley, Is Lost in B.C.

RCAF Searches for Jet, Believed Down in Rockies

Tired Texan, 6, Borrows Truck, Drives Away

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Two policemen Sunday pulled alongside a truck, moving down the street with no visible driver.

When they saw a tuft of hair sticking up where a driver usually sits, one officer jumped from the squad car to the slowly-moving truck.

The six-year-old driver said he was tired of walking so had climbed into the parked truck and driven off.

He was released to his parents, who scolded him away so fast the officers didn't have time to find out how he learned to drive.

A brave mother clung to hope here today that her flyer son, believed lost in the British Columbia mountains, with a fellow pilot on Saturday, was alive and would be rescued.

She is Mrs. Fred Bradley, 224 Ann Street. The missing flyer is one of her two pilot sons. Flying Officer Paul Kirkfield Bradley, a veteran of World War II and now a member of the RCAF stationed at Cold Lake, Alberta, some 60 miles north of Winnipeg.

The two-seater jet, which FO. Bradley and FO. J. L. Nelson, of Gimli, were flying to Vancouver from Gimli, vanished Saturday afternoon after radar had tracked her over a provincial park area, far off course.

The plane left Calgary after a brief stop at 2.30 p.m., and was due in Vancouver 75 minutes later.

The Silver Star jet was on radar screens in Vancouver when operators lost contact while placing the craft over an area of 9,000-foot peaks and wide white snowfields.

A Lancaster and two Dakotas swept the area after another jet had made a preliminary run. They found nothing.

However RCAF officials in Vancouver said today they believed the trainer went down in the mountains, despite having two hours' fuel left when contact was lost. They said they didn't believe it had reached the open sea.

Mrs. Bradley said this morning that her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Bradley, who resides with her family in Gimli had told her by phone that everything was being done in an effort to locate the missing flyers. She said that she had been told rescue planes had believed they had pinpointed the missing craft and were trying to make radio contact.

Flying Officer Bradley was in Belleville a few days ago having flown here to pick up two pilots who had been involved in a Trans-Air Force crash. He had planned to attend a wedding here in the near future.

He is well known in this city and did extensive flying both in Canada and Britain during the last World War.

Mrs. Bradley's only brother, Flying Officer John D. Bradley, has a permanent commission in the Royal Air Force. He is an instructor in a Sabre jet squadron in Germany. Both Person, Douglas, and, is one of the better known jet pilots of the RAF.

Another officer Paul Bradley has two sons, Jimmy, 12, and Donald, 9.

Gananoque Man, Unnamed Soldier Killed in Crash

KINGSTON (CP) — Two men were killed early today when a transport truck crashed into the rear of a sports car which had been pushing another car in zero weather, police said. Killed were John R. Fidler, 42, of Gananoque, and a soldier who had been riding with Fidler in the sports car.

Authorities withheld the soldier's name pending notification of next-of-kin.

Fidler was manager of the King's Inn Wiltshire Standard engraving service.

Police said the crash occurred at the bottom of Eastview hill, six miles east of Kingston.

Car Jumps Hill

Police said Fidler lost his life in what was apparently a friendly attempt to assist a stranded fellow motorist.

They said his English-type MG sports car, a 1946-model automobile driven by John Albert Mitchell of Belleville, who is stationed at suburban Barriefield with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

A Kingsway transport truck, driven by Paul Lehman of Montreal, crashed into the rear of the open sports car and ran over the top of it, police said. The sports car was crushed.

No one besides the occupants of the sports car was injured.

John Albert Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell, 149 Yeomans street, Belleville. Mitchell, 23, was recently moved to Kingston area only two weeks ago and had rented a cottage at Barriefield.

In a telephone conversation with his father following the accident Mitchell said he had been on his way to Barriefield when his car had stopped. Mr. Fidler who was driving to work at Kingston volunteered to push the car to get it started and was just commencing to push the car when his own auto was struck from the rear by the transport.

Mr. Mitchell said his son's car had been struck on the shoulder of the road but the transport in attempting to pass had failed to turn out in time enough. Fidler's car and that owned by Mitchell were demolished.

Mitchell escaped injury.

PRIME MINISTERS EAGER TO STOP FORMOSA FIGHTING

Meet Behind Closed Doors in London

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP) — Commonwealth prime ministers opened a 10-day conference today under the shadow of the Formosa crisis and urgent talks began immediately on ways to head off the danger of a major Far East war.

Prime Minister Churchill opened the review of East-West relations shortly after the seven visiting prime ministers and their deputy premier assembled in the cabinet room of the official residence of Commonwealth Secretary Gen. Arthur Bryan Norman Gaitskell.

Aides said the 81-year-old statesman considered the need for a quick China cease-fire to avert a possible collision in the Formosa straits between Red China and the U. S. 7th Fleet.

Churchill's declaration was intended to muster the vast influence of the Commonwealth behind the United Nations in the United Nations Security Council for a China cease-fire, the Commonwealth premiers speak for 575,000,000 people, one-fourth of the world's population.

Attending the conference are: Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada; Nehru, India; Robert G. Menzies, Australia; Sidney Holland, New Zealand; Mohammed Ali, Pakistan; Sir John Kotelawala, Ceylon; Sir Godfrey Huggins, New Central African Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland; and Deputy Premier Charles R. Swart, South Africa.

APT TO NEGOTIATE

Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson, also here for the talks, met with Sir Laurent, Holland and Foreign Secretary Eden at luncheon Sunday.

Diplomatic informants said Churchill and Eden already have discussed in Nehru by telephone his influence with Red China's premier Chou Enelai on behalf of the UN cease-fire resolution.

The Indian leader was said to have given Chou the impression in a report on his recent meeting in New Delhi with Red China's envoy Chou Yang-shien.

But British informants said Eden had not given up hope that China would at least send delegates to participate in the security council meetings; Britain's charge d'affaires in Peiping, Humphrey Trevelyan, delivered a signed Royal Privilege to the Chinese Communists to attend cease-fire talks.

Pilot Not Injured

KITCHENER (CP) — FO. Pat Hamilton, Hamilton, flying with two other Mustang pilots from 424 City of Hamilton fighter squadron, had an anxious minutes Saturday when the motor of his aircraft failed at 8,000 feet. Luckily he was flying about six miles south of Kitchener.

He coasted his Mustang to Waterloo-Wellington airport, near Breslau, and the craft down safely. The plane's propeller was damaged when the Mustang first crashed through a fence at the end of the runway, but FO. Lloyd was not injured.

Princess Margaret Leaves For Canada and West Indies

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret left today for the Strath-cruiser Canopus for a one-month tour of the West Indies. It was her farewell to the old city on Via Montreal.

This was the first trans-Atlantic flight for the 24-year-old Princess and the first Commonwealth tour she has made on her own.

The big plane was airborne at 3:09 p. m. (10:09 a. m. EST).

The Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and Queen Mother Elizabeth greeted goodby at London airport.

Once she reaches the Caribbean, Princess Margaret will transfer to the royal yacht Britannia and visit Tobago, Grenada, St. Vincent, Barbados and Antigua, St. Kitts, Jamaica and the Bahamas. She will return home by plane March 2.

Just before the plane departed it was announced that the first stop would be Goose Bay, Labrador, rather than Gander, Nfld., because snow was forecast at Gander.

Atlantic weather was forecast as stable.

If fair winds prevail, however, the aircraft may ever fly either place and land at Montreal," a BOAC spokesman said.

Princess Margaret's personal standard was broken at the nose of the airliner as she went aboard. The Queen, the duke and the Queen Mother went aboard with her for last farewells and then left the plane. Moments later Princess smiled and blew a kiss to them.

In the party with the Princess are two ladies in waiting, Miss Iris Peake and Lady Elizabeth Cavendish, the Queen Mother's private secretary, Capt. Oliver Dunlap, and Group Sig Norman Gwatkin, assistant comptroller in the Lord Chamberlain's office.

Pilot of the Canopus is Capt. Peter Dingwall of Montreal.

Despite a gusty wintry wind several hundred people waited in the public enclosure to see the Princess leave.

Margaret spent the morning at Clarence House with her mother. Later she and the Queen Mother joined with the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh at Buckingham Palace before the party left for the airport.

More than 1,000 persons outside Buckingham Palace waved goodbye to Margaret as she left for the airport. They were more lined the route along the length of Constitution Hill.

Her sister, Princess Anne said their goodbyes at the palace and did not accompany the other members of the royal family.

Short Lull in Cold Wave Is Predicted for Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Weather experts predict a lull in the cold wave which hangs motionless over southern Ontario, but not for long.

Tuesday temperatures will rise from the zero level up to 25 above, but are expected to drop again the same night, forecasters said today. Light snowflurries will accompany the milder weather.

Meanwhile, western Canada still is shuddering from a severe cold wave. Spring-like breezes waft in over southern Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

Saturday night below-freezing temperatures were recorded as far south as northern Florida. Dore Lake in northern Quebec registered 51 below and Churchill, Man., at 52 below Sunday was the coldest spot in Canada.

It was 20 below at Winnipeg and 31 below at Sudbury, the coldest spot in Ontario. The city White River was 42 below, Ottawa 13 below and Fredericton registered six below.

Fredericton was the coldest spot in the Maritimes as generally mild weather prevailed over the area.

U.S. 7th Fleet Awaits Order To Evacuate Tachen Islands

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The combatworthy U. S. 7th Fleet needed only a "go ahead" today to evacuate the Communist-threatened Tachen Islands, a Reader's Digest by Red fire bombs.

However, Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the U.S. Pacific fleet, said after a visit to Red China Nationalist capital Sunday that an evacuation had not been ordered.

Unconfirmed Chinese press reports said the garrison of 15,000 men was under defence ministry orders to fight to the last man instead if the Communists should attack before the evacuation began. Nationalist observers here expect them to do.

Stump made his surprise flying back to his Pearl Harbor headquarters after a quick trip to Taipeh and an unheralded conference with top American commanders in Tokyo. While here he told a press conference that "any citizen American forces are attacked anywhere they will defend themselves."

"I came down to say that my commanders have everything they need if the job is ordered," Stump said. "We have a plan to assist in the evacuation if it is ordered in the event it is ordered."

The defence ministry said five Communist MIG jet fighters escorted by eight jet fighters, dropped five bombs on Red-held Quemoy Island Sunday and destroyed many homes. Nationalist fighter planes patrolled the Quemoy area and islands to the north and south. Communist shore batteries and Nationalist bombers hit Red targets on Yikiangshan island and Nanchi village near the Tachen Islands and chained hits on oil and ammunition dumps.

Seriously hurt were: Jack Calcutt, 15, Strathroy, broken right arm, face and back injuries; Jack Shock; James Murphy, 21, Strathroy, fractured right leg, face cuts and undetermined internal injuries. Hospital authorities here said their conditions were "satisfactory."

Suffering minor injuries were Robert Cushman, 20, Jack Beckham, 18, Donald Hill, all of Sarnia, Mrs. Betty McKay, 16, Oil Springs, and Elaine Smith, 11, Brigden. Their conditions were reported "not too serious."

FOOD FOR YEARS

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Ernest Lake was hauling 28,000 pounds of macaroni from a Full River macaroni factory to an Indianapolis firm Saturday when the motor of his big tractor-trailer rig overheated. Lake, unfamiliar with the Providence area, pulled over to the side of the road and called a mechanic.

FORD AND UNION ARE BOTH HAPPY OVER AGREEMENT

Settlement 'Fair Trade' Says Firm's President

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Ford of Canada workers start back to work today, in a trickle at Windsor and Oakville but in full force at Etobicoke.

If all goes well, says Ford president Hays M. Sale, the first 185 passenger models will be rolling off assembly lines by the end of the week.

Ford employees, members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), formally ended their 109-day strike during the weekend, accepting an agreement worked out between company and union after the initial often-bitter negotiations.

Following ratification of the agreement by the three locals, which voted at separate meetings, Mr. Sale said the settlement was a fair trade, brought about when negotiations became a "two-way street."

UNION VICTORY?

Emil Mazey, UAW international secretary-treasurer and member of the union negotiating committee, said he considered the settlement a "definite victory" for the union.

Employees accepted the settlement overwhelmingly, Mr. Mazey said, 92 per cent in favor at Windsor, 2,000 at Oakville 80 per cent in favor and at Etobicoke 85 per cent for.

The strike, which affected 9,000 Ford workers, began last Oct. 19 after a year of unsuccessful talks between the Henry Ford Lodge plant Oct. 14 and to Etobicoke Nov. 15.

Terms of settlement gave employees a four-cent-an-hour wage increase, seniority revisions, increased medical, hospital and surgical insurance to be paid by the company, an extra statutory holiday with pay, increased vacations and life insurance for pensioners.

Of the negotiations which finally cracked the long deadlock, Mr. Sale said:

"The heart and soul of these negotiations, and certainly the most important pattern-setting feature, was that for the first time in our 13 years of union-company relationship, there was true bargaining.

"We have always said that collective bargaining must be a two-way street, if it is to be made to work effectively. There has to be a willingness on both sides to trade concessions when the circumstances dictate."

BEST IN CANADA

In Windsor Sunday night, Mr. Mazey said the new contract gives Ford of Canada workers the best agreement in the automotive industry in Canada or the United States.

"It is particularly gratifying to us to win the province-wide contract we were fighting for."

Five Jump to Safety

WINGHAM (CP)—A family of five jumped to safety from a two-storey frame house here early Saturday when a flash fire in a wood stove enveloped the kitchen.

Mrs. Jack Jamieson, 58, suffered a fractured back after a 15-foot leap to the ground. Her condition was reported satisfactory.

Mrs. Jamieson's husband and three sons, Tom, 22, William, 20, and Robert, 18, escaped unhurt. The family is 40 miles northeast of Stratford.

Adventure Starts Before Exploration Party to North Leaves Civilization

WINNIPEG (CP) — A colorful troupe of Arctic explorers from New York limped into Winnipeg Sunday night, their adventures started even before they left civilization.

The party—it includes a concert pianist, a Hollywood scenario writer, a cameraman, a cosmic ray physicist, an engineer and a photographer—landed in their crippled DC-3 here after a perilous 1,500-mile flight from New York. The plane became coated with red-haired wife, Peggy, was sporting a fire-engine red outfit with polka dots.

Mrs. Stanwell - Fletcher, who is the only woman member of the land and the north pole, is a concert pianist under the name of Peggy Stanwell.

The cameraman is Victor Jurgens, Hollywood cameraman, who starred in the movie "March of Time" documentary films and now is an independent film producer in New York. Emmett Murphy will write the script for a movie to be made of the expedition. Hugo Neuburg is the cosmic ray physicist.

A former newspaper cartoonist, Mel Casmir, will paint scientific [illegible] of the expedition, and engineer Ralph Flood will do [illegible] conditions and depth diagrams.

then set out again March 1 for the north pole where experiments will be made with a secret ice-testing device developed by Stanwell-Fletcher.

The scientist said in an interview he first got the idea for a device to test whether ice is strong enough to land a plane when he made a rescue flight years ago at Fort Smith, Somerset Island.

The expedition members stopped today for repairs to their specially-designed xylon parkas and heavy fleece-lined boots. Stanwell-Fletcher's red-haired wife, Peggy, was sporting a fire-engine red outfit with polka dots.

St. Laurent Has 'Interesting' Talk With Nehru

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India today called on Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada and had a two-hour talk on international situation.

St. Laurent told a reporter the conversations were "very interesting."

"Once again," he said, "I was impressed with the importance of the great format that is going on among all the Asian peoples.

"Once again I was given an insight into the fact that it is impossible to consider more than one view on international affairs, depending upon your geographical position. The world looks different when you are sitting, let us say, at the north pole than if you happen to be elsewhere."

St. Laurent, who arrived Saturday by air to attend the Commonwealth conference which opened today, said the differences of viewpoint on world affairs is to be welcomed, even often as much psychological as physical.

Gananoque Man, Unnamed Soldier Killed in Crash

KINGSTON (CP) — Two men were killed early today when a transport truck crashed into the rear of a sports car which had been pushing another car in zero weather, police said. Killed were John E. Fidler, 42, of Gananoque, and a soldier who had been riding with Fidler in the sports car.

Authorities withheld the soldier's name pending notification of next-of-kin.

Fidler was manager of the Kingston Wire-Standard engraving service.

Police said the crash occurred at the bottom of Eastview hill, six miles east of Kingston.

Police said Fidler lost his life in what was apparently a friendly attempt to assist a stranded fellow-motorist.

They said his English-type MG sports car was pushing a 1946-model automobile driven by John Albert Mitchell of Belleville, who is stationed at suburban Barriefield with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

A Kingway transport truck, driven by Joseph Lafleur of Montreal, crashed into the rear of the open sports car and ran over the top of it, police said. The sports car was crushed.

PRIME MINISTERS EAGER TO STOP FORMOSA FIGHTING

Meet Behind Closed Doors in London

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP) — Commonwealth prime ministers opened a 10-day conference today under the shadow of the Formosa crisis and urgent talks began immediately on ways to head off the danger of a major Far East war.

Prime Minister Churchill gave the opening review of East-West relations shortly after the seven visiting prime ministers and their deputy premier assembled in the cabinet room of the official residence at Downing street.

Aides said the 80-year-old statesman summoned the meeting for quick China cease-fire to avert a possible conflict with the Formosa straits between Red China and the U. S. 7th Fleet.

Churchill's declaration was intended to muster the vast influence of the Commonwealth behind Britain's move in the United Nations Security Council for a cease-fire. The Commonwealth premiers speak for 575,000,000 people — one-fourth of the world's population.

Attending the conference were: Sir Winston Churchill, London; Robert Gordon Menzies, Australia; Sir Godfrey Huggins, New Central African Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland; and Deputy Premier Charles R. Swart, South Africa.

LEAVE ON NEHRU

Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson, also here for the talks, met with Cabinet, Holland and Foreign Secretary Eden at luncheon Sunday.

Meanwhile informants said Churchill and Eden already have consulted to Nehru in the influence with Red China's premier Chou En-lai, on behalf of the U.N. mediation effort.

The Indian leader was said to have given Peking a favorable report on his recent meeting in New Delhi with China's envoy Chou Chung-hsien.

But British informants said Eden did not given the word Red China would at least send delegates to participate in the Security Council hearings. British's charge d'affairs in Peiping, Humphrey Trevelyan, delivered a formal appeal Friday to the Chinese Communists to attend cease-fire talks.

Princess Margaret Leaves For Canada and West Indies

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret left today in the Britannia cruiser Canopus for a one-month tour of the West Indies. Winds are favorable she will go via Montreal.

This was the first trans-Atlantic flight for the 24-year-old Princess and the first Commonwealth tour she has made on her own.

The big plane was airborne at 3:09 p. m. (10:09 a. m. EST).

The Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and Queen Mother Elizabeth favored goodbye ceremonies.

Once she reaches the Caribbean, Princess Margaret will transfer to the royal yacht Britannia and visit Tobago, Grenada, St. Vincent, Barbados and Antigua, St. Kitts, Jamaica and the Bahamas. She will return home by plane March 2.

Just before the plane departed it was announced that the first stop would be Goose Bay, Labrador, rather than Gander, Nfld., because snow was forecast at Gander.

Atlantic weather was forecast as stable.

If fair winds prevailed, however, the aircraft may over fly either place and land at Montreal, BOAC spokesman said.

The Queen, the duke and the Queen Mother went aboard with her for last farewells and then left for Clarence Terrace. The Princess smiled and blew a kiss to them.

In the party with the Princess are two ladies in waiting, Mistress Peake and Lady Elizabeth Cavendish, the Queen Mother's private secretary, Capt. Oliver Dawnay, and Brig. Sir Norman Gwatkin, assistant comptroller in the Lord Chamberlain's office.

Pilot of the Canopus is Capt. Peter Fair, city of Montreal native.

Despite a gusty wintry wind several hundred people walked in the public enclosure to see the Princess leave.

Margaret spent the morning at Clarence House with her mother. Later she and the Queen Mother rode with the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh at Buckingham Palace before their party left for the airport.

More than 1,000 persons outside Buckingham Palace waved goodbye to Margaret as she left for the airport. Hundreds more lined the route along the length of Constitution Hill.

Prince Charles and Princess Anne said their goodbyes at the palace and did not accompany the other members of the Royal Family.

Short Lull in Cold Wave Is Predicted for Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Weather experts predict a lull in the cold wave which hangs motionless over southern Ontario, but not for long.

Tuesday temperatures will rise from the zero right down to 25 above, but are expected to drop again the same night, forecasters said today. Light snowflurries will accompany the milder weather.

Meanwhile, eastern Canada still is shuddering from a severe cold snap while spring-like breezes waft over southern Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

Saturday night below-freezing temperatures were reported as far south as northern Florida. Dore Lake in northern Quebec registered 51 below and Churchill, Man., at 52 below Sunday was the coldest spot in Canada.

It was 20 below at Winnipeg and 31 below at Sudbury, the coldest in the city since 1936. White River was 42 below, Ottawa 12 below and Fredericton reported 16 below.

Fredericton was the coldest spot in the Maritimes as generally mild weather prevailed over the area.

U.S. 7th Fleet Awaits Order To Evacuate Tachen Islands

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The combat-ready U. S. 7th Fleet needed only a "go ahead" today to evacuate the Communist-threatened Tachen Islands, it's ready blasted by Red fire bombs.

However, Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the U.S. Pacific fleet, said on a visit to the Chinese Nationalist capital Sunday that an evacuation had not been ordered.

Unconfirmed Chinese press reports said the garrison of 15,000 men was under defence ministry orders to prepare for a last stand if the Communists should attack before the evacuation takes place, so many observers here expect them to do.

Stump meanwhile was flying back to his Pearl Harbor headquarters after a quick trip to Taipeh and an unheralded conference with top American commanders in Tokyo. While here he told a press conference that "the American forces are attacked anywhere they will defend themselves."

He came here to see that my commanders have everything they need if the time arrives," Stump said. "We have a plan to assist in the event the Tachens can't be hasn't been ordered."

The defence ministry said five Communist jet fighters, bombers escorted by eight jet fighters, dropped five bombs on Dawchen Island Sunday and destroyed many homes. Nationalist fighters and bombers fired shipping and islands to the north and Communist gunners on the mainland. Nationalist bombers hit Red targets on Yikiangshan Island and Tachen Island and claimed hits on oil and ammunition dumps.

He coasted his Mustang to Waterloo-Wellington airport, and made a safe landing with no down safely. The plane's propeller was damaged when PO. Mustang crashed through a fence at the end of the runway, but PO. Lloyd was not injured.

Adventure Starts Before Exploration Party to North Leaves Civilization

WINNIPEG (CP) — A colorful troupe of Arctic explorers from New York limped into Winnipeg Sunday night, their adventures starting even before they left civilization.

The party—it includes a concert pianist, a Hollywood scenario writer, a cameraman, a cosmic ray physicist, as well as a still photographer—landed in their crippled DC3 plane after a perilous 1,500-mile flight from New York. The plane lurched and skidded to a halt after the de-frosting equipment broke down.

The pilot and navigator, Capt. Marvin Griggs, said he was forced by the ice to stick his head out the window to chisel ice from the windshield.

The group, headed by Lt.-Col. John F. Stanwell-Fletcher, a former member of the RCMP, stopped overnight for repairs to the plane. They were scheduled to take off this morning for Churchill, 910 miles north, on the second leg of the journey.

From there they will fly to Chesterfield Inlet, 200 miles further north on Hudson bay, where for three weeks they will study the Eskimos. The party will then fly to New York to evaluate findings.

The cameraman is Victor Jurgens, who photographed the film "March of Time" documentary films and now is an independent film producer in New York. Emmett Murphy will write the script for a movie to be made of the expedition. Hugo Neuburg is the concert pianist.

A former newspaper cartoonist, Ted Cammin, will paint scientific data on the ice. Dr. Stanwell-Fletcher will conduct experiments and collect depth diagrams.

St. Laurent Has 'Interesting' Talk With Nehru

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India today called on Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada and had a one-hour talk on the international situation.

St. Laurent told a reporter the conversations were "very interesting."

"Once again," he said, "I was impressed with the importance of the great ferment that is going on among all the Asian peoples.

"Once again I was given an insight into the way it is impossible to have more than one view on international affairs, depending upon your geographical position. The world looks different when you are sitting, let us say, at the north pole than if you happen to be elsewhere."

St. Laurent, who arrived Saturday by air to attend the Commonwealth conference which opened today, said the differences of viewpoint in the world's affairs should be referred, were often as much by geographical position.

FORD AND UNION ARE BOTH HAPPY OVER AGREEMENT

Settlement 'Fair Trade' Says Firm's President

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Ford of Canada workers went back to work today, in a trickle at Windsor and Oakville but in full force at Etobicoke.

If all goes well, says Ford president Rhys M. Sale, the first 1955 passenger models will be rolling off assembly lines by the end of the week.

Ford employees, members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), formally ended their 109-day ouring the weekend, accepting an agreement worked out between company and union after long and often-bitter negotiations.

Following ratification of the agreement by the union local, which voted at separate meetings, Mr. Sale said the settlement was a fair trade, terms about which negotiations became a "two-way street."

UNION VICTORY?

Emil Mazey, UAW international secretary-treasurer and member of the union negotiating committee, said he considered the settlement a "definite victory" for the union.

Employees accepted the settlement overwhelmingly, with 92 voting 92 per cent in favor at Windsor, 2,000 at Oakville 98 per cent in favor and 90 at Etobicoke 86 per cent for.

The strike, which affected 9,000 Ford workers, began last Oct. 19 after a year of contract negotiations. It spread to the Oakville plant Oct. 14 and to Etobicoke Oct. 17.

Terms of settlement gave employees a general wage package increase, seniority revisions, increased medical, hospital and surgical insurance to be paid by the company, an extra statutory holiday with pay, increased vacations and life nuarance for pensioners.

Of the negotiations which finally cracked the long deadlock, Mr. Sale said:

"The heart and soul of these negotiations, and certainly the most important pattern-setting feature, was that for the first time in our 31 years of union-company negotiations we have had bargaining.

"We have always said that collective bargaining must be a two-way street, if it is to be made to serve a purpose. There has to be a willingness on both sides to trade concessions when the circumstances dictate."

BEST IN CANADA

In London Sunday night, Mr. Mazey said the new contract gives Ford of Canada workers "the best agreement in Canada or the United States."

"The bargaining package we have won on the province-wide contract we were fighting for."

Pothead Whales Dying on Beaches Promise Newfoundland Prosperity

By STEWART MacLEOD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Unless the pothead whale quits Newfoundland beaches pretty soon the province will become a mink ranching centre.

And there is little doubt about the future of the whales. Hundreds of them have been dying on the beaches of Newfoundland for generations.

Mink ranchers can have them cut up and ready for delivery for 25 cents a pound. Because of this and the gradual price increase of island mink food, ranchers are moving here with everything they own, including their mink.

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland who personally invited ranchers to move here, refuses to say how many are coming but has closed the invitation until the ones moving here "have been digested."

Two ranchers who have already moved here, one from British Columbia, the other from Vermont, have had successful seasons. Their catches are moving here with everything they own, including their mink.

Premier Smallwood says that the whales are a menace. They lie in the "tens of thousands."

Fishermen who kill whales for bait and oil, trap the big underwater mammals by circling them in small boats and driving them close to shore where they eventually run aground and die on the beaches.

Then it's only a matter of chopping them up. The meat can be hauled to nearby ranches by truck.

UN Council Opens Debate On Motion On Formosa Crisis

Rejects Russian Proposal To Bar Nationalist China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Sir Leslie Knox Munro of New Zealand, president of the UN Security Council, proposed today that Red China be invited to send a representative here to take part in the debate on a Formosan cease-fire.

Munro made his proposal immediately after the council refused to consider a Soviet demand that Nationalist China be barred from the debate.

The New Zealand diplomat suggested that the council suspend its discussions until the Chinese Communists can get a representative here.

He said UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold already had established contact with the Peiping regime. Hammarskjold, he said, should urge the Communists to accept the invitation.

ZEALAND BAR

The council ran into its first controversy when the Soviet delegate tossed in his demand that the Chinese Nationalists.

Their vote was 10 to 1, with only the Soviet Union voting to consider excluding Nationalist China. Jr. and quickly drew support of the other big Western powers thus won the Western powers thus won the first round test as the 11-nation council voted to seek an end to the fighting between Chinese Nationalists and Communist forces.

The council then began a procedural debate on the form of its agenda.

CHARGE AGAINST U. S.

The issue was complicated by a Soviet move to include on the agenda a charge of aggression against the United States and a demand that all U. S. forces be withdrawn from the Formosa area. The Soviet proposal was that the Chinese Nationalists was made by Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev immediately after the Security Council met.

Sobolev said:

"The great Chinese people have on their own land, in the republic of China, created by their own efforts, a powerful army which has been recognized by the Security Council and other bodies of the United Nations. There is no reason to go back on that recognition previously given to the Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang called the Soviet move "another instance of Soviet aggression and imperialism against my country."

The Soviet proposal for a new Formosan cease-fire, but they added a demand for withdrawal of all U.S. armed forces from the area and called on the council to condemn "acts of aggression by the United States against the people's Republic of China" in the Straits of Formosa.

C of C Members at 90th Annual Meeting Hear Splendid Talk On 'Building for Tomorrow'

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce celebrated a birthday Saturday evening when members of the local business service organization gathered at the Hotel Quinte for the 90th annual meeting of the local Chamber.

It was back in 1864, when Belleville was still a dozen years away from incorporation as a city that the Board of Trade of Commerce was formed.

Saturday evening members reflected on what the chamber had accomplished for Belleville in the past nine decades and at the same time were called upon for greater efforts in future community service. Guest speaker for the occasion was W. J. Sheridan of Montreal, assistant general manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce who spoke on "Building for Tomorrow".

Mr. Sheridan noted that the Belleville Chamber had seen Canada grow from a tiny nation to one of the more important countries of the world. Its present members could take pride in their association with an organization which for 90 years had contributed to the growth and prosperity of the community, the province and the country.

Like every other effective Board of Chamber, the Belleville organization had been one of the golden threads woven into the fabric of our democracy.

Freeman E. Burrows, 1954 president, called the dinner meeting to order and in his president's address noted that during the past year the Belleville Chamber had been active in many phases of business and community life. Membership interest had resulted in 86 new members being enrolled, bringing the Chamber membership to an all-time high of 330 at the year's end.

PLEASANT YEAR

Mr. Burrows expressed his appreciation, both as president of service as president during the past year, to the directors and to the co-operation received from the directors, committees and secretary manager Don Kingston who made the year a pleasant one.

Members were complimented on their wise choice for board of directors for 1955 and with the continued interest and support of the members much would be accomplished and the success of the Chamber would be secure for the year ahead.

A printed report of the year's activities of the Chamber was available to members attending the dinner, Mr. Burrows noted the auditor's report would be presented later.

Following his report Mr. Burrows turned over the office of president to president-elect P. C. McGuire.

On taking over the office, President McGuire, assured his listeners he appreciated the honor but at the same time accepted the presidency with a feeling of responsibility, "I trust that the confidence of the members has not been misplaced," he said.

Mr. McGuire expressed the appreciation of members to past president Burrows "for a job well done" and noted indications were that business would continue at a high level during 1955. "I hope that Belleville can keep pace," he said.

He reminded, however, that in order for Belleville to keep pace an active chamber of commerce would be essential. During the coming year the Belleville Chamber would continue to be the voice of local business and would continue to support both the provincial and national organizations of the Chamber.

FREEDOM THREATENED

In his address Mr. Sheridan declared that never before had it been more important for men and women to give consideration to the word "democracy" and all that the term implied. Freedom was being threatened not only from abroad but also from within and the problems being raised were so great that the average individual was inclined to feel they were beyond his or her capacity to do anything about them.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," he said. "Democracy is still the best form of government of the people, by the people and for the people," and it is good for us once in a while to come back to the realization that this definition accepts the principle that the individual is all important."

On the other hand totalitarianism rejected this principle, the individual being merely a cog in the machine of the state.

The speaker noted he was frequently surprised at the lack of understanding of the nature and the operation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He assured that the Chamber was not operated by big business but was a "grass roots" organization. Big business was not big business but Canadian business of every kind and size from the hundred thousand individuals, who are members of the local chambers of commerce.

PROGRAM EXPLAINED

The function of the provincial Chamber of Commerce was to give the Chamber a strong voice at provincial government level, Mr. Sheridan explained.

The program of a community Chamber of Commerce was explained in detail. It provided the opportunity for the forward-looking citizens of a community to exchange viewpoints and ideas, to discuss problems and to arrive at satisfactory solutions to these problems.

And the value of such organizations is recognized by the council of Belleville which was indicated by a comment from Prime Minister St. Laurent at a meeting when he said: "The work of voluntary organizations such as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is essential to the success of the system of our democratic system."

Communities live by the products which they make and sell elsewhere, and the ability to compete rests on convert latent energies and talents of citizens into the production and service so that living standards are high and greater ones be made possible.

The standard of living in democratic countries, particularly those of the North American continent, was the highest in the world and above all the people of a democracy have freedom. Communism was to destroy that freedom and the communist concept that the state is more important than man who created it also destroys incentive and independence.

COMMUNISM SPREADS

Communism had spread because of the toughness of Russia and the spirit of the Russian leaders. They had set their sights on a goal and were working toward it in their way.

"The only way in which we can hope to cope with this situation today is to develop within our own people the same toughness of mind and spirit, but with a new goal, a better goal for all human beings—freedom."

Mr. Sheridan suggested that the Chamber of Commerce could be a springboard from which communism could be fought. There must be men dedicated to the idea of building for tomorrow and imbued with the ideals of freedom and democracy. A program of action might include working with the educators of the community in the holding of business-education days; in working with education in arousing in youth a greater understanding and appreciation of our economic system; of telling the story of business in terms of human relations and establishing committees to give consideration to legislative problems at all three levels of government.

"Such a program would mean study, work and effort," Mr. Sheridan stressed "but failure to re-dedicate ourselves to the cause of freedom may well mean servitude."

Education for freedom was necessary from the objective of all education was, or should be, maturity. There were three kinds of maturity, biological maturity, enabling us to think for ourselves; emotional maturity making responsible and balanced relationships, and ethical maturity enabling us to distinguish right from wrong.

QUOTES OLD TESTAMENT

Mr. Sheridan quoted the Old Testament, which tells us that "where there is no vision, people perish."

"It is your responsibility and mine to see to it that the Chamber of Commerce movement helps to provide some of that vision," he concluded. "This is not a task which can be left to someone else. The destiny of your community and of every community in Canada must play their part.

"The success of our system is not demonstrated by human helplessness, by wealth. It is demonstrated by the religious fervor of our people by their acceptance of responsibility, by their love of freedom and their desire to retain that freedom. These are the essentials of the effectiveness of our democratic way of life. These are the hallmarks of good citizenship."

Chamber vice-president Will Wills introduced the speaker with appreciation being expressed by Alderman Gerald Hyde.

Temperatures Hold Slightly Above Zero Mark

Occasional snowflurries continued to pepper the Quinte area early today as temperatures held slightly above zero.

Monday morning was the first morning the mercury showed no below-zero reading since the December took a sudden header beneath the zero line Tuesday night.

Sunday the high reached was eight above, while between eight and nine p.m., yesterday temperatures dipped to eight below. However at two a.m. Monday we were the mercury up to 1.5 degrees above while at nine a.m., it dipped slightly to 2.5 degrees below zero. Four hours later it returned to 1.5 degrees above.

Possibly the cold spell, experienced during the latter part of last week, may be over, temporarily at least. Weatherman predictions for today and Tuesday are cloudy with occasional light snow clearing Tuesday afternoon with the temperature a little milder.

Divorce Rare In India', Says Dr. Devasahayam

Victoria Avenue Baptist Church Brotherhood had as its guest speaker at the Friday evening supper meeting, the Reverend C. Devasahayam, of South India, an outstanding Christian leader and a dynamic and inspiring speaker.

Dr. Devasahayam is visiting Canada from India on deputational work and during the advanced class A university graduate, he majored in Science and took his B.D. at Serampore, India.

In his address he stated that he loved Canadian winters and found that in some respects Canadians were the same as people in India, much as they have the same faith, the same love and the same hope for the world. He stated that Canadians pray for the work in India, as the harvest is great, and the laborers few.

In 1792 William Carey went to India as a missionary.

MISSIONARIES NOW WELCOMED

The withdrawal of British protection has removed the Indians' misunderstanding that the missionaries were paid agents of the British Government, and for that reason their presence was resented. Since this had been clarified, the missionaries are welcomed and encouraged to preach and to teach.

Dr. Devasahayam said there were not afraid of communism in his country, because under the present government, the social classes were allotted two acres of land each so that they could raise their own food. If the poor are given food, clothing and constructed and they will be happy and not likely to turn to communism.

Divorces are rare in India. The custom of the East is for a wife to be absolute to her husband. A wife considers it a privilege to look on her husband as superior. Although a woman may have a college education, she still wishes it that way.

In conclusion, he stated that the campaign against illiteracy in India was not making much progress due to lack of funds. The cost of keeping a child in a high school in India is four dollars a month for food. Tuition and clothes are extra.

EDMUND FITCHETT (Toronto-Tweed)

Burial services for Edmund Fitchett, one-time Tweed resident, who died suddenly at his Toronto home, January 27, were held this Monday from the Bush Funeral Home, Tweed, to Victoria cemetery.

Rev. K. W. Pace of St. John's United Church, officiated.

Bearers were: H. M. Coulter, Thomas Emerson, Leslie Adams, Harold Ash, Lincoln Elliott and Albert Martin.

A widower, Mr. Fitchett was in his 91st year and had lived in Toronto for more than two years, after living in Tweed. He was born in Ivanhoe, son of the late Aaron Fitchett and Lucretia Fox. He had farmed in the Ledgeroom area, east of Tweed, for many years, and on retiring settled in the village. He took a keen interest in municipal affairs. When health permitted he was a regular attendant at Tweed United Church. He was a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. Aaron Anderson, and Mrs. C. H. (Cora) Post, Toronto; Mrs. Lorne (Margaret) Hall, Wolfeisano, Washington; Mrs. Ernest (Myrtle) Shirley, Bethany Mills, and one son, Elmer, Pleasant Hill, Illinois.

DANIEL HOWELL

Funeral of Daniel Howell, of Marysville, Ont., who died in Kingston, January 23, was held from the White Funeral Home, Deseronto, to the Holy Name of Mary Church, Marysville, on Friday.

Rev. J. F. Donoghue officiated at the mass. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Bearers were James McCambridge, Bernard Kirley, Peter A. Whalen, William McAuley, Jas. L. Walsh and Thomas Currie Jr.

Mr. Howell had been retired a long illness. A life resident of Marysville, he was born 67 years ago the son of Andrew Howell, and the late Elizabeth McKenzie. A contractor, he was educated in Deseronto.

Mr. Howell is survived by his father, of Marysville; three brothers, Joseph Andrew, Toronto; James, Toronto, and Donald Joseph, age 11, at home.

Also surviving are five sisters: Sister Mary Jovita, St. Mark's Convent, Prescott, Ont.; Sister Mary Florence, House of Providence, Kingston; Mrs. John Fleming, Mrs. Frank Hunter and Mrs. Alfred Broderick, all of Toronto.

T.B. Treatment Marked Success, Aim at Prevention

One of the penalties of very rapid advance is that it is likely to breed a nothing-can-stop feeling. The progress in tuberculosis has already, and prematurely, fostered that idea in a great many minds, according to Dr. G. V. Wherrett, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

In a special statement for Health Week, 1955, Dr. Wherrett said: "Mankind has never had such tools for the fight against tuberculosis as it has today, and the sense of power which these give has been accentuated by the rapidity with which they have accumulated in the last ten years. Both the public and the medical profession would have dull spirits indeed if they were not elated by the possibilities inherent in the combination of these drugs and our surgery coupled with expansion of early case finding and our case services and adequate treatment when cases are found.

"Optimism is more than justified," says Dr. Wherrett, "but the unfortunate fact is that in many quarters it has become complacency. There is an understandable tendency to jump to the conclusion that just as a matter of course tuberculosis will be eradicated if we go on as usual.

"The fact that there are still some 10,000 new cases being reported annually, about 30 a day, punctures any such idea. The falling death rate shows that treatment has unprecedented success, but the number of new cases show we should be putting more effort into early diagnosis, the base of prevention."

Dr. R.C. Wallace Former Principal Of Queen's Dies

KINGSTON (CP) — Dr. R. C. Wallace, 73, scientist and scholar who retired a year ago after 15 years as vice-chancellor and principal of Queen's University, died Saturday.

Previously he served as president of the University of Alberta for eight years.

Dr. Wallace guided the destinies of Queen's, one of Canada's leading educational institutions, during the Second World War and through the period of expansion brought on by heavy post-war enrollments.

He also exercised supervision over the university's program of extramural studies through which teachers and others can complete much of their work toward a degree by home study. A field in which Queen's pioneered in Canada.

Born in the Orkney Islands in June, 1881, Dr. Wallace obtained his degrees of master of arts, bachelor of arts and doctor of science from famous Edinburgh University.

He came to Canada in 1910 as a lecturer in geology and mineralogy at the University of Manitoba.

He served as chairman of the former Ontario research commission and as president of the research council of Ontario.

20-Foot Thick Ice Bridge Spans Base of Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A 20-foot-thick ice bridge spanned the base of Niagara Falls Sunday night stretching about 500 yards from Horseshoe Falls to Rainbow Bridge.

Heavy spray from the turbulent waters plunging over the falls began freezing last week when Ontario was caught in a mid-winter cold snap.

By Saturday, the ice bridge had grown so that it spanned the distance from Horseshoe Falls to the Rainbow. Near zero temperatures overnight and Sunday increased the bridge's thickness slightly.

Niagara parks police officials said there is no danger of any damage from the ice bridge.

OTHERS BIGGER

This year's ice bridge is nothing like those of 1912 and 1938, one oldtimer here said.

The ice bridge that formed in 1912 was a winterland midway. Enterprising vendors set up hot dog stands, fake exhibits stacked, skidded or casually strolled across the international border.

The ice bridge collapsed at 11:20 a.m. Feb. 4, as the angry waters, swirling beneath the ice, began to churn their bonds. Three persons were trapped on the ice when they they failed in desperate leaps from the bridge to safety.

In 1938, the bridge cracked up Jan. 27 in late afternoon, pitching 50,000 tons of ice against the Horseshoe Falls. The steel span bridge was destroyed.

Rainbow Bridge, built since then, is constructed with its abutments high on the river bank and is in no danger now.

18-Year-Old BCI Marksmen, Bob Owen, Registers a '99'

When Bob Owen, 18-year-old marksman of Belleville Collegiate Institute, draws a bead in the school range, the targets curl their corners. They feel sorry for the bull's-eye.

For that is where young Mr. Owen generally parks the bullets from his 22-bore standard service rifle whether in exhibition or competition.

Bob, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Owen, 219 Albert Street, is being rated as the "Dead-Eye Dick" of the school shooting corps since a remarkable performance recently that saw him register 99 out of a 100 possible.

Bob's rifle is not a "pet". It has no gadgets nor special sights and everybody must shoot the ranges used it.

Mr. Bob Phillips, musketry instructor at the Collegiate, rates Owen as one of the three best marksmen in the school. His record-breaking 99 score gives the young student three wins in the weekly competitive shoots, where some 2,000 rounds of ammunition are expended.

Bob has scored wins with marks of 96 on two other occasions, but it's his 99 sent Mr. Phillips and others scurrying for the record books. But they came up with nothing that resembled a 99 score. "It could have been done in past years," they said, "but at that, there is nothing on the record to show it."

NEARLY HAD PERFECT

At that, Bob missed a perfect score by the width of the proverbial gnat's whisker. He fired nine perfect bull's-eyes. The tenth bullet passed cleanly through one of the bull's-eye holes in the target but ever so slightly to the side, clearing it so the official scorers were forced to award him a "9" instead of the conventional bull's-eye "10."

Had he been shooting a deer, the animal would not have bothered with such a minor difference.

The Collegiate weekly rifle competitions have brought out and are developing some excellent shots in the student body.

Topping the shooting corps with wins is John Hunter, who has registered three 98's and a 97. Allen Daniel has a 96-97 to his credit, while Bill Guthridge has registered a 96 and 97. Bob Phillips, no relation to the instructor, Jim Wambolt and Gerald Wallbridge each have 96's to their credit.

Owen is second in the number of wins registered thus far but his top of 99 has established a record for his fellows to "shoot at".

A ten-man team from the Collegiate will shoot in various competitions during the year. Included are those of the Department of Education, Royal Military College, the Dominion Rifle Association (three competitions) and the "Youth of the Empire" in which 250 cadet teams from all parts of the Commonwealth will compete.

Ten Meet Death In Ontario Accidents

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twelve persons died violently in eastern Canada during the weekend, 10 of them in Ontario.

A Canadian Press survey today showed nine persons died in traffic accidents, one in a hunting accident, one person was drowned and another was killed by a train.

Quebec and New Brunswick each reported one fatality, while Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland reported none.

TWO DIE AT BARRIE

At Barrie, two persons were killed and seven injured Saturday night in a head-on collision on a gravel road and overturned in a ditch.

Killed were Mrs. Myrtle Cooper, 31, and Mrs. Ethel Bell, 35, both from Strathroy.

Pte. Raymond Bedard, 17, of Ottawa, was killed and two others severely injured Saturday six miles south of Barrie when their car collided with a Canadian National Railways passenger train.

William MacDonald, 16, was fatally injured in Toronto Saturday night when struck by a car as he walked along a road. In the Toronto suburb of Richmond Hill, Thomas Harvey, 53, died after being struck by a car as he returned from a store near his home.

At Hamilton, William A. Covert, 21, Stoney Creek, was fatally injured Sunday when his automobile left the road and crashed into a light standard. Michael G. Costa, 19, of Hamilton, was killed Saturday when a snowplough shot in the chest while hunting rabbits.

All 47 Sailors Are 'Doing Well'

HALIFAX (CP)—The first of 47 naval ratings poisoned by methyl alcohol will leave hospital this week but the remainder must remain ca how, or if, they will be discupline for their shipboard drinking spree.

A naval spokesman Sunday said the victims will be released by "twos and threes" from the Stadacona base hospital where they were taken after the clandestine bout with cupleating machine fluid on the aircraft carrier Magnificent that nearly meant death for some of them.

Board Refuses Wage Increase To CBC Union

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal conciliation board has rejected outright a union demand for wage increases for radio and television technicians of the CBC.

The majority report of the three-man board, made public today, also largely turned down other requests of the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians (CIO-CCL) on behalf of 775 employees in stations across Canada.

The union, which received the report last week, announced Friday a strike vote of its CBC membership has been called for this week, and officials said an attempt-ive vote on acceptance of them to call a strike unless a satisfactory agreement is reached by Feb. 16.

A three-man board with Prof. C. H. Curtis of Queen's University, Kingston, as chairman, heard the dispute. The CBC nominee was H. Brooke Hall of Toronto, and the union's representative was Miller Stewart, Toronto.

Japs Cautious About Russia's Offer of Talks

TOKYO (AP) — Russia during the week offered to discuss resumption of normal relations with Japan and the Japanese government cautiously considered the idea.

"I want the Soviet Union to declare first the state of war existing with Japan is ended, after which we can advance talk of normalizing relations," said Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama.

"There is no reason for the United States to oppose this," he said, contendly that a Japan friendly to both Russia and America can help relieve tension between the two great powers.

The unsigned Russian note was made public in Moscow and Tokyo Sunday.

Andrei Dominitsky, head of the unrecognized Russian mission here, handed the note to Hatoyama last Tuesday after the foreign office had refused to see him. Of the highly unorthodox method of its transmittal and the fact it was neither signed nor dated, Hatoyama said merely that if Dominitsky "had acted without the intentions of the Soviet government, there is no doubt he would be punished."

The foreign ministry, however, insisted upon confirming the gist of contents of the note, and it was reported that Renzo Sawada, Japanese delegate to the United Nations, would ask Soviet delegate Jacob Malik to explain it. It also was reported that Sawada was instructed to ask Russian support for Japanese membership in the UN as another condition for negotiations to end the technical state of war with Russia.

Acrobatic Thieves Rob Post Office

TORONTO (CP) — Acrobatic thieves broke a night robber's safe at post office of $23,600.

The thieves climbed a fire escape to the roof, smashed a sky light, and lowered themselves by rope to the floor, police said.

They smashed two doors to get in the post office and rolled a three foot square safe on wheels out the back door.

The loot included $800 in cash, $17,800 in unemployment insurance stamps, $3,000 in money orders, and $2,000 in postage stamps. They would have had no trouble converting the stamps into cash, police said.

Last November three post offices in the Toronto area were broken into during the week-end.

Iron Workers Will Call Strike On February 7

TORONTO (CP)—Local 721 of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers (AFL) has authorized its executive to call a strike Feb. 7, it was reported Sunday night.

If the international sanction of the strike date is obtained, several hundred workers in Toronto and elsewhere in Ontario will strike in back wage demands if international sanction is considered here as merely a formality.

The union is asking a wage increase of 25 cents an hour. A conciliation board some time ago recommended a five-cent increase and the company agreed. The union rejected the offer. The current basic wage was not available.

Construction on several hospital here and at the International Nickel Company Works in Sudbury would be among projects affected by a strike of association members.

Safecrackers Take $700 Cash From Trenton Creameries Safe

TRENTON (Special) — Safecrackers made off with $700 in cash from the office of the Trenton Creameries Ltd., on Front Street during the week-end.

Using tools available on the premises they smashed the door off the safe and removing the money and a few cheques. Heavily frosted office windows gave them adequate protection against discovery from the outside.

The robbers gained entry to the office through the furnace room after forcing the lock off the door frans in the garage section of the building. Constables J. A. Graham and R. E. Miller doing a property check at 11:30 a.m. found the safe open and the smashed safe.

Constable F. J. Taylor noted that the robbery was apparently the work of unskilled safecrackers because of the crude way they punched the door in to get at the controls. Police are investigating with several clues to work on.

Police believe the same gang went to a lot of trouble to find an empty garage in the River Road beside Dairy office Saturday night. Constables Graham and Miller, property at 11.50 p.m., noticed the boiler room door at the back of the dairy had been forced and the building entered.

CALL WAS FALSE

Firemen received only one call and that was a false alarm during the week-end.

Ending the spectacular Quinte Machine blaze Tuesday fire of little consequence on Friday night caused $150 damage to Ross Gunter's garage on Sidney Street. The flames which caught in the roof from either overheated pipes of at the chimney connection were almost extinguished by the time the fire engines reached the scene. The proprietor and a number of men standing around the premises at the time of the outbreak formed a bucket brigade and doused the source before the fire could spread.

CASE ADJOURNED

At the request of crown counsel B. Thompson hearing of a case of criminal negligence against Wallace Hills of R. R. 2 Trenton was adjourned until Wednesday, February 9. The case was before Magistrate R. H. Baxter in the police court at 10 a.m. on January 26, the outcome of the accident which killed Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Scotland and of which a member was injured.

May Postpone Coffin's Appeal Until March 1

QUEBEC (CP)—The appeal of a murder conviction by Wilbert Coffin, acquitted in New Brunswick, before the Quebec Court of Appeals, may be postponed to March 1.

The 43-year-old Gaspe prospector was convicted Feb. 5, 1954, in Percé, Que., of the murder of Richard Lindsey, 17, one of three U.S. holidaymakers whose mutilated remains were found in the Gaspe wilderness in July, 1953.

His execution is set for March 12.

Chief crown prosecutor Noel Dorion said the appeal will be heard before the five-judge court Friday but he would oppose a defence petition to have the hearing postponed one month. Mr. Dorion said there is a multiplicity of other cases to be heard.

EXECUTION DELAYED

Coffin was sentenced to be hanged Nov. 26 but was given a stay of execution by Mr. Justice Gerald Lacroix, presiding over the appeal hearing.

He was arrested after his companion-in-law Mrs. Evelyn Ferris, police to articles in a Montreal apartment owned by Coffin and had taken them. They were identified as property of the three dead hunters.

Coffin's counsel, Francois B. Gravel, said he will appeal the admissibility of Miss Petrie's testimony at Coffin's trial on grounds spouses cannot testify against each law to testify against each other.

He said he will also contend that the presiding judge, Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix, erred on rules of evidence and that the verdict should have been ordered because of insufficient evidence.

No murder weapon was introduced in court. Jean Guy Chamberland, Que., was charged with perjury after he denied at Coffin's trial he told two provincial police officers he helped dispose of a rifle allegedly owned by Coffin, while employed by the prospector's defence counsel.

He was sentenced to five years in penitentiary and is scheduled to appeal his conviction this month.

DEBATE ON DEATH

Mrs. Violet McCarthy, reeve of Port Stanley, has precipitated a debate of vast dimensions by a statement, "I simply do not believe in keeping alive the critically ill in cases where they have gone beyond all hope."

Mrs. McCarthy, only woman member of Elgin county council, made the statement in a discussion of hospital costs and the responsibility of the county in meeting indigent patients' costs.

She explained that she did not believe in "mercy killing" but that allowing nature to take its course was a different matter.

"I abhor suffering and I know if any of my family came to the end of the road and the doctor told me death was imminent that I would not want them to suffer. Instead of keeping people alive by artificial means with heart stimulants and oxygen . . . it would be better if they were made as comfortable as possible, given mild sedatives and nature allowed to take its course."

The council cut off payments to county hospitals for extra treatments and drugs for indigent patients after the discussion concluded. The three hospitals affected will continue to provide all available services and seek the necessary revenue elsewhere.

There are several points at issue with Mrs. McCarthy's stated opinion and none of them can be treated lightly.

Doctors, as human beings, are not infallible. They can make mistakes. No opinion can truthfully pronounce a death sentence on critically ill or injured persons. They should not be asked for such an opinion.

By training and practice medical personnel are committed to the preservation of health and prolonging life. Allowing nature to take its course is the last, not the first, resort of medical practice in the treatment of the ill and injured. While there is life, there is hope for recovery.

Medicine is, too, a belief in reality. It does not accept the gospel of fatalism. If people must die before their "three score years and ten" then they die and all the efforts medical men can make to prevent death. Nature's inevitable victory over life is opposed with total resistance from the moment of birth.

Suffering is a very form, is unpleasant. Suffering, however, is not abhorrent. Suffering, properly understood, can produce good effects on the sufferer as well as providing the stimulus for courage, grace and resignation. Christ himself, "suffered that ye might live."

Mrs. McCarthy said she did not believe in keeping alive the critically ill "in cases where they have gone beyond all hope." If they have gone beyond all hope nothing will keep them alive. As long as they live they are not beyond hope.

The question of Elgin county council in cutting costs of treatment and drugs for indigent patients is discrimination against the poor and helpless, who, because they cannot speak for themselves should have their rights spoken for them by their council, not taken from them. Every individual has his worth. Poverty is the best of yardsticks for measuring human rights. When the rights of the poor are in jeopardy then there are no rights at all.

Death is the unsolvable mystery in the drama of life. Nothing is known of death but finality.

One does not earn the right to live. One has his life from others. Life is a gift bestowed by the Author of Life and it is His to give and to take away. When He chose to dispose of their lives in ways other than those which harmonize with His plans is their personal tragedy, not an indictment of life or of its Author. That men should endeavor to end the life of another by refusing the means of its preservation is their indictment.

NATURE'S SPACE SHIPS

Recently there has been a noticeable scarcity of cloomers singing the praises of "A Slow Boat to China." This is one of those minor blessings which help us to endure major curses. In the China trade today, jet planes have quieted down to such its one-time top spot on the traveller's hit parade.

It may come as a surprise to some oil fogies, therefore, to learn that the latest thing in the universal mania that their big brothers, the rockets, have already been discarded by one expert as a suitable vehicle in a field in which they have not yet even attempted their maiden flight.

Andrew G. Haley says that asteroids are much to be preferred to rockets as a means of space travel. As Mr. Haley is president of the American Rocket Society his preference may be regarded as close to treason. But Mr. Haley does not propose to put the rocket out to pasture with Dobbin and the prop planes of yesteryear. He would use rockets and jet-driven spaceships travellers on the short jaunt from the earth to the nearest asteroids, 400,000 miles away.

Mr. Haley's aversion to rockets as space ships is based on more than whimsy. Present rocket fuels, he says, are so weak that it would take us 130,000 years to reach our nearest stellar neighbor, Alpha Centauri. Five thousand generations of men him as a trifle too long between take-off and landing. It does seem possible that, on reaching Alpha Centauri, the reason for the trip would have slipped the minds of some of the passengers. Using atomic energy, fission reaction would make possible a journey in 250 years, while fusion reaction would reduce it to 175 years, but Mr. Haley, who is evidently a man in a hurry, insists that the asteroids offer a much more convenient mode of travel. They are making the trip, anyway, and there is no reason why they should not carry a few hitchhikers.

ON NAMING DIESELS

Five diesel locomotives presented by Canada to Ceylon under the Colombo Plan bear the names Vancouver, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Quebec and Montreal. The Ottawa Journal comments that "it should have occurred to somebody that the first one should carry the name of Ottawa, the capital."

It is a logical suggestion. What city could better lend its name to a diesel engine than Ottawa where oiling government machinery produces a lot of pull.

At this advanced age Mrs. Fahey is hale and hearty and takes a keen enjoyment in life. The intelligencer, which came into being ten years before the birth of Mrs. Fahey, extends to her hearty congratulations.

The fifth annual get-together banquet tendered to the members of the county council by the city council and the chamber of commerce took place last evening at the Hotel Quinte. Mayor W. C. Mikel was toastmaster and the usual toasts were honored and brief speeches made in response. One hundred leading men in the city and county were present and the event was most enjoyable.

On Friday night, January 22, the members of the Belleville Club to Winslow's pond tobogganing on the big new slide in that city. "Belleville Ribbons" were supplied by the secretary of the club, H. F. Coulson. After enjoying the sport for some time the party went to the club house, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Shanks, former Belleville residents, were present. Refreshments were served and a very happy evening was spent.

Last evening a party of Belleville young people got together for a sleigh driving party and went across the bay to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ackerman at Massassaga where they were made very welcome and a most enjoyable time was spent in playing games, singing and listening to instrumental music. It was a very happy ouling.

The members of the "All Round Girls' Club" held their initial meeting last evening. About fifty young girls were present. An excellent musical program was given and some of the voices which were heard for the first time in public, showed fine quality and possibilities of development.

Inflation is Worse

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Inflation will continue to menace the value of every private and social security check as long as the government has to borrow billions every year to pay its bills. Taxes are hard to bear, but they are a lesser evil than a further decrease in the value of the dollar, which picks pockets cleaner, than do taxes.

RE-BUILDER

That houses die there's not a doubt,
We see them everywhere we go,
But years of stress and strain leave not a mark
Left-to all the winds that blow.
The rooms, where once was laughter say,
Are silent, empty now and cold.
And those who pass them day by day
See only houses that are old.

A young wife to her husband said:
"If we replaced each broken board
And put a new roof overhead
That home to life might be restored.

Though memories we can't replace,
And to attempt it would be vain,
But we can add a touch of grace
And make that dwelling proud again.

"Though dead the building seems to be,
With just a little thoughtful care
There will be beauty there to see
And children scampering the stair.
There will be love and laughter, too,
And faith the sorrowing to sustain.
This house, abandoned through and through,
Can be brought back to life again."

Farmers Do Not Get All of Food Dollars

Onitario Intelligencer:

As one of your readers who, as nicely phrased by your fellow contemporary "was brung up on buckwheat pancakes and sausages," I was a natural for that editorial page feature "Buckwheat Flour Secrets."

On the other hand the statement which has impelled this letter and in turn and by "may my say" is to be credited to your columnist Mary Moore, and runs as follows: "The marketing for food is not only time-consuming, it is a headache and highly constantly soaring prices."

On the surface, I would be surprised if the rank-and-file reader, who is gainfully employed in town and city, would not come to the conclusion that, as one of them tersely put the matter: "Those pesky farmers are always complaining that they get a lot; but I'm thinking they're in clover."

With my farm background, however, I have other ideas and am well aware that the final consumer's food dollar does not accrue entirely to the people at the producing end of the food pipeline. In my efforts to convince my neighbors of this fact and across the following brace of revealing data. They silenced him as effectively that I felt the urge to bring them to the spotlight; so I quote from the latest, official, recent figures from U.S. Department of Agriculture, reveal that the farmer's share of the nation's food dollar has dipped to 42 cents, a drop of 11 cents since May 15, and the lowest it's been since the depression days of the 1930's" (C.D. Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, Minn.)" and (b)—"Agriculture's share of the national income is diminishing. Farmers represented 17 per cent of Canada's labor force in 1953. In 1951, farm income formed over 12 per cent of the national total; in 1952, nearly 10 per cent, and in 1953, only 8.7 per cent." (Ft. William Daily Times-Journal, Western Producer, Saskatoon, Sask.)

As one of the sages says it: "Facts are stubborn things".

Libraries' Scope Grows

(Windsor Star)

The range of usefulness of public libraries has increased tremendously in the past two or three decades. Developing technology, the ever-increasing leisure and the expanding science; the pace of modern living and its requirements all ready, call for information on a wide variety of topics—these and many others needs an up-to-date library must serve.

Here this week, Miss Elizabeth Morton, executive secretary of the Canadian Library Association, called attention to the other side of the library's usefulness. Service. It calls for more librarians having specialized knowledge, at once to meet the new demands made on them, if not provided with the means.

There is no need to argue this point. It has been discussed again and again. But it will bear repeating at a time when specialized budgets are in process of preparation. Public libraries can't reasonably be expected to meet the new demands made on them, if not provided with the means.

Land Reform In Egypt

(Christian Science Monitor)

Those who have traveled a good deal say that few places in the world are there such contrasts of luxurious wealth and abject poverty as those which existed until a few years ago in Egypt. An Egyptian royal family and the fellaheen or peasantry represented the two extremes.

The revolutionary Egyptian Government which overthrew King Farouk has only begun to change the situation. Its efforts to bring about reforms are not without opposition, as an article by Colonel Nasser in Foreign Affairs and a pamphlet, "Liberated Egypt," published by the Egyptian Embassy in Washington.

The basic reforms that when Mohammed Ali, founder of the present dynasty, assumed power around 1805, "he began the wholesale confiscation of the grandiose thousands of acres of rich, arable land." Those who received the land, however, were was no pretense of payment.

Under this system land-grabbing tactics were refined. There were threats of physical violence. If the owner refused, he was jailed, perhaps repeatedly, on trumped-up charges. If that did not work, the water was cut off from his land, or he was deported to Sudan. "He usually sold—at Farouk's price."

As a result, in 1947 more than one-third of the farm land of Egypt was owned by 2,000 persons in holdings of 50 acres or more, all of them running high in the thousands. A little less than a third was in medium-size holdings. The rest was divided among 2½ million peasant families, less than an acre to an owner.

Notwithstanding the origin of this inequity, the new government did not resort to confiscation. Instead it decreed that royal family broke one of their laws by smuggling money out of the country. By redistribution it may encounter "many pitfalls," but there will be wide sympathy with its purpose as phrased by Colonel Nasser: "To liberate the bulk of the peasants from the feudalism which was a by-product of the system of land tenure."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Two of the most startling thinkers of our time, Bertrand Russell, O.M., and J. Robert Oppenheimer, have, within the past few weeks, by radio, TV and the press, offered as grave warnings as the human race has ever heard from its wisest men since Noah.

Russell spoke over the BBC's home service, the Oppenheimer addressed the centenary of Columbia University alumni as a guest of honored R. Murrow an unforgettable TV interview at Princeton.

Both men quietly pointed up the fact that if there is an atomic attack in war, there will be in the middle of the blast will be the lucky ones. For there will be active fallout from the blast scatters itself over the earth. It will be the most unfortunate and most atrocious death not only to man but to all living things, animal and vegetable.

Yet in their warnings, both these great men seemed worried for man, and did not capitalize on the fact that all nature would suffer for man's act.

It may seem rude to me at this time to suggest that man is hardly the largest factor to take into consideration, under the circumstances. With every human being on the face of the earth exterminated, the earth would still be an extremely interesting and delightful and exciting ball, rolling through heaven. It would need no redistribution of incredible variety. With man gone, its beauty would increase. Surely it has taken a lady slipper orchid just as long to evolve as man. And a buffalo lily aspect as such a tiny thing as beauty as compared with the sea lion. Or the mountain sheep against the might of a bull or the glory of a sunset; and the tuna racing through the Atlantic against the white swans floating north in air in March; and the mountain pines against the stormy sky; and the loon running on the water and singing. And the prairie grass bright with June, the deserts glowing with cactus flowers, the night skies with stars.

If man were extinct, all these would remain.

The only thing is, man would not be here to see them.

—It is that thought which might take the pressure out of the physicists hands and give it to the man on the street.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

GIVE THE CHILDREN A BREAK

Perhaps the most frequent queries in the mail every day in winter and spring seasons are from mothers of young children who, the doctor says, will continue to have one "cold" after another until those bad colds are out. The trouble is, the subjecting children to a major operation which even a quack like myself considers unnecessary equals a mother, sometimes a father, too.

In Archives of Otolaryngology (a medical journal of ear and throat diseases) Drs. Hansel and Chang calculated that 15% of the annual total of a million and a quarter tonsillectomies are unnecessary. That would be 160,000 unwarranted tonsillectomies. To the trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer who hates to see the knife in a newspaper, I say: "Don't blast me, little man—if you think the setback is wrong I'll be subject to three or more colds a year. As Dr. Kaiser observed, these 160,000 unnecessary group—for physicians had advised removal of their tonsils and adenoids, for various reasons. The tonsils of 2,000 of the children were removed. The tonsils of the other 2,300 children were not removed.

The health of the 4,400 children was observed for the next ten years. The frequency of colds after ten years of age declined more rapidly in the children whose tonsils had not been removed than in children of similar ages whose tonsils had been removed.

It is beyond my comprehension, but at the conclusion of the observation of ten years old Dr. Kaiser disregarded the evidence, as it seems to me, and said:

"Even though the ethiological factor in colds is still unclear, there is evidence to show that unhealthy lymphoid tissue in the nasopharynx does predispose to colds and should be removed."

As nearly as I can learn (and I don't spend all my time bowling on the green) (1) any lymphoid (adenoid, round cell, tonsil) tissue an operator removes is unhealthy.

What I'd like to know is how in the—does the removal of obstructing portion of tonsil, electro-coagulation (diathermy) for infected tonsils, X-ray or radon (radium emanation) for shrinking adenoid masses which cause middle ear infection or impairment of hearing.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

COURTESY

How often it is that the simple, (some say old-fashioned) enactment of courtesy often makes all the difference! I experienced it recently at a drive southward. We were just leaving the city of Richmond, Virginia, and needed to ask a direction from a passing car. The information was given with a smile. Then a little way ahead I noticed that we were to stop for the payment of a ten-cent toll. Our change was just ahead of us, but when we stopped to pay, we were informed that the stranger ahead had paid for us!

It was a most unexpected thing to do but one that rated far above the mere paying of the 10-cent toll. It was a courtesy and a delightful thing in these southern states, for it is the custom, so on, it is said, that southern hospitality is so mere expression. It is a fact and is most elsewhere you go in the south. How much it is that we learn from others!

There is no greater salesman than silent Courtesy. A kind act is remembered for a long long time. "Please," "Thank you," "I'm sorry," are familar words but they come right out of the nest of courtesy as I have often proved up they can well become expressions of the "Abraham Lincoln" era of our early life. I shall never drive through Richmond without recalling the courtesy and courtesy of that Virginian. His 10 cent courtesy income has grown to be the Empire State Building in New York City, my home!

One of the most inspiring plays I ever witnessed was John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln," the one thing that stood out so strikingly was Lincoln's courtesy. It was the same to both rich and poor. In fact, the poorer one was, the tenderer and more courteous was the President. He must have kept in mind the memory of his own early life of poverty and struggle. None of us should ever forget the courtesy. It's an investment in good feeling!

DON'T ADMIT DEFEAT

There used to be a practical joke at a certain scientific laboratory which was played on all young scientists. As soon as they were accepted they were first of all assigned the task of frosting the inside of an electric light bulb. They would work until they were exhausted and discouraged and admit defeat. Whereupon there was a big laugh. Of course an electric light bulb could not be frosted on the inside. It was a leg-pull.

But one day they employed a young scientist who was so stupid that he did not know that an electric light bulb could not be frosted on the inside—so he proceeded to do it. And since his time, all light bulb manufacturers have profited by his discovery, defeat.

The young fellow was too stupid to learn he was licked.

There have been a lot of people in the world who were not stupid history. Columbus was one. So was Washington, whom Irvine Cobb Forge got down to a mere handful. There have been military commanders who looked on an overwhelming enemy and, because they were too stupid to realize that victory was impossible, they went right ahead and won a victory.

All of which, of course, is just another way of saying that we are never defeated until we admit defeat. There appears to be no limit to what resourceful and energetic people can do if they stick to it and refuse to entertain any thought of defeat.

Humane Society Will Double Number of Bush Inspectors

OAKVILLE (CP)—The Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will launch a campaign to double the number of bush inspectors and conduct a year-long society to animals, vice-president Herbert Merry of the OSPCA said Sunday.

Merry, who has just returned from a 60-mile bush camp inspection tour along the Ottawa river, will visit all of the society's 33 branches to map plans for the campaign.

He described the cruelty to horses in some of the camps as "almost unbelievable." In one camp, he said, only two of 12 horses were fit for work; two were diseased and one had a festering sore as large as a man's hand. The hoof of another horse had overgrown its shoe.

In another camp, he said, 17 of 28 horses he saw were in need of immediate veterinary treatment. The other horse was so far gone that treatment also had to be shot.

"I saw horses being forced to haul logs weighing as much as three-quarters of a ton," Merry said.

He said camp bosses flaunt the society's authority because of the shortage of inspectors and added that magistrates are too lenient with persons convicted of cruelty to bush camp horses.

He made the statement following an address Thursday when he appealed to Kitchener - Waterloo and North Waterloo humane society for double its 1954 contribution to a special "bush horse" fund. No action was taken.

Merry said he accompanied a regular inspector for one day to the Bissett area, south of North Bay.

He described harness patched up with failing wire and collars old and out of shape. One horse had a sore a hand-breath in diameter, he said.

"Horses used in the bush are bought up cheap and worked until they are no more good," Mr. Merry said. "Then they haven't even the decency to kill them. They just turn them loose."

In Kitchener, he said horses in some lumber camps are under-weight, undered and ill-treated through neglect, beatings and overwork. One logger kept balls of wire, especially to beat the animals, he added.

Dr. W. R. Manchester, a veterinarian for 20 years in the Sudbury district, said Saturday he is skeptical of the tale.

Dr. Manchester said regular lumber companies in the Sudbury district look after their horses "very well."

Foremen watch horses closely and if they detect any cruelty toward the animals "that man goes" the doctor said.

He said Mr. Merry may have been in some far places where he is difficult to exercise proper control.

Time Publisher Says Welfare Agencies Are Neglecting Public

TORONTO (CP)—The social welfare set-up in Canada took a beating last week at a two-day midwinter conference of the Community Chests and Councils of Canada which ended Saturday.

Delegates decided they needed more publicity, more planning and more money.

No decisions were reached by the 150 delegates who came from across Canada but they launched out ideas on attaining the three goals.

James A. Linen, publisher of Time magazine and vice-president of the Community Chests and Councils of America, said welfare agencies are neglecting the public.

"Welfare agencies are not making enough use of press, radio and television in putting their work across," he said in a luncheon address.

Budgeting sessions brought all the ills of low salaries and staff shortages to the doorstep of "little funds."

Anne Du Moulin, executive director of greater Winnipeg welfare council, said one way to overcome shortages of staff and money is better use of existing workers.

Delegates were told that approximately $1,000,000 could be raised for charitable purposes by increased contributions on charitable donations.

The federal government has been asked to increase income tax exemptions on charitable donations to 20 per cent from 10 per cent for individuals and to 10 per cent from five per cent corporations.

Arthur A. Pigott, chairman of the central planning committee of the Toronto welfare council, criticized social workers for not doing enough work in mental hospitals.

"This area of mental health is a special one and needs strengthening from a social welfare aspect," he said.

During a discussion on public relations Mrs. M. D. L. McLellan, head of the Brantford community social service council, criticized social workers for not doing enough work in mental hospitals.

Weddings

BARRETT—MACDONALD

St. Joseph's church, Belleville, was the scene of a pretty winter wedding on Wednesday, December 29, at 10.00 a.m., when the Rev. John J. V. Buckley united in marriage Mary Agnes Jeannette MacDonald, of Point Anne, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacDonald, to Patrick Charles Barrett, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barrett. White and yellow pom mums interspersed with ferns formed a lovely setting for the ceremony.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. W. Grant who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. H. Gaffney in her selection of "The Wedding Hymn," "Ave Maria," "Mother, At Thy Feet is Kneeling", and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was resident in an ankle-length wedding gown, of white nylon net over satin, featuring a molded, strapless bodice with lace bolero having long sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. The bouffant skirt was adorned with seed pearl trim. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a seed encrusted tiara, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses mingled with fern and tied with lacelon ribbon.

Miss Betty MacDonald of Point Anne, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Rose, and Miss Kathryn Barrett, sister of the bridegroom. All were attired alike in ankle-length, strapless gowns having lace boleros of nylon net with skirts enhanced with rows of ruffles. The maid of honor was in shrimp color, and the bridesmaids in turquoise blue. All wore matching feather

Mrs. Ida Brood, Madoc, District Deputy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Ontario, O.E.S., was the guest of honor at Minerva Chapter 138, on her official visit of inspection, Friday.

Despite the bad weather and roads, there was a large number of visitors from the district chapters present.

Sister Brood complimented the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Meta Williams, and Worthy Patron Mr. Windsor Bushell and their officers, on the efficient way they conducted the work of the chapter.

The meeting was concluded early giving the members of the various chapters a chance to visit with each other and enjoy the refreshments which were served by the January group and the special refreshment committee, before leaving for their various destinations.

headdresses, white gloves, and carried bouquets of white pom 'mums and fern, tied with lacelon ribbon.

Mr. Edward Barrett, of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Ray Carey and Mr. John De Genova, both of Belleville.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Point Hall, where the bride's mother, wearing green lace and crepe with winter white accessories, and corsage of pink roses, received the guests. The bridegroom's mother assisted, gowned in grey crepe with black accessories and for necklace, with pink rose corsage.

The bride's table was prettily adorned for the with white damask and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by pink tapers in silver candelabra. The hall was also decorated with streamers of pink and white, with white wedding bells.

For the wedding trip to Toronto and points west, the bride travelled in navy bengaline ensemble with navy and pink accessories, shortie muskrat topcoat and corsage of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Barrett are residing at 56 Cathcart Street, Belleville.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE AGE-OLD SAYINGS ARE RIGHT!

The longer one lives, and the more one learns by personal experience and by observation of the experiences of other people, the more clearly one sees that the age-old sayings, however hackneyed they may sometimes seem, actually represent the best and safest rules of conduct we have.

The fact that we get sick and tired of hearing them, that we so often tell ourselves that "times have changed," and the old conventions and standards don't hold, in this fast-moving modern world, doesn't somehow seem to affect the basic working principles of life at all. Flout them or ignore them as we may, the day comes when we're forced right up against them again, and have to realize that they've been there all the time; that they never ceased to exist just because we insisted on looking the other way.

Take, for instance, the familiar saying: "You should have thought of that before." We've all had it said to us at one time or another, and thought, no doubt: "That old cliche!"

Yet the principle for which that cliche stands—the fact that it's wise to consider the consequences of an act before going ahead and doing it—is one that people are forever thinking they can disregard or outwit, and then—Whamt All of a sudden, they're met the iceberg principle, in a head-on collision that sometimes leaves them crippled in one way or another all the rest of their lives.

All this is what I am thinking after reading a letter from a young woman who failed to follow this marvelously basic principle, who is facing the inevitable collision with it, and, as a result, is slacing herself in danger of lifelong emotional cripplin.

She tells me that, at 30 she has been married five years, and that, during the last couple of years, her husband's job has required him to travel a good deal.

"I love my husband very much," she says. "But I do get very lonesome when he is away on these trips of his.

"That's how it happened that, for the past six months, I have been seeing another man rather often, and have grown very fond of him. I knew it was wrong to see him, but, to have him around and to go out with him on evenings I would otherwise have to spend alone, seemed to help me keep from getting depressed when my husband was away.

"Now, however, I realize how wrong I have been, and I want very much to start over again and let nothing come between me and my husband.

"Do you think I should tell him about this other man or what? I am afraid that he might hear about what I did in his absence by someone who saw me out with this other man."

Well, obviously, since this wife seems to think it possible that her husband may hear of her foolishness from others, she had better tell him herself immediately. She will have to do this, knowing that the least that can happen will be that, for a time any way, he can hardly help having doubts about her every time he has to take a trip away. She will have to realize, also, that he may even feel so insecurely about what she did that it may bring about a serious crisis between them. It will certainly take a while, and a great deal of love and understanding on both sides, to renew the trust and confidence that no doubt previously characterized their relationship.

If this husband has a generous nature, however, so that she can convince him that it was pure thoughtlessness, and not disloyalty or lack of love, that made her act as she did, things, will, I am sure, eventually work out. But she must be prepared to take the impact of her husband's shock, resentment and unhappiness without anger, and without permitting herself to be drawn into quarreling. Otherwise, bitterness may result that could, eventually, mean the ruin of their marriage.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHEN NOT TO "STAND ON CEREMONY"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I've been a faithful reader of your column for several years, and I remember your practically begging the parents of the fiance to do what they should do—go at once, after the couple has become engaged, to call on their son's fiancee and welcome her into their family." Before I myself was engaged, this seemed to me such a natural gesture that I thought everyone should know it. But now I'm learning the hard way that apparently it isn't so "natural"!

My fiance and his parents live in a suburb quite near to us. I have never met them. They have never invited me to come with my fiance to see them. They have made no move to come to see my family. However, last evening my fiance asked me to go with him on a Sunday afternoon soon to meet his parents, who, he said, are most eager to meet me, and had suggested he bring me to see them. Do you think I should make a point of insisting that his parents make the first call, the welcoming-to-the-family call? Or shall should I do Mrs. Beeckman? — Anne D.

Please don't stand on ceremony with your fiance's parents . . . they are your prospective in-laws, and this is a perfect time to begin a happy relationship with them. You know they should make the first social move, should come to call on you and your mother, to welcome you into their family. . . but obviously they don't realize this. Therefore wisely and gracefully accept the situation. After all, your fiance knows his parents, and you should cooperate with his suggestion about going with him to "meet the family." After this impotant meeting, you can bring about the meeting of the two families.

THE GUEST OF HONOR . . . IN THE SEAT OF HONOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our organization is planning our first banquet, to be given in honor of a man who has done a very great deal for the organization. My brother is to be master of ceremonies, and he and I have been assigned the job of making the seating-arrangements for the speakers' table. Where should the guest of honor be seated?

— M and J

The guest of honor is assigned the seat at the right of the master of ceremonies.

A Pan of Hot Rolls

By Mary Moore

Your devoted slave has been baking.

My sister was having a dinner party for fourteen people and since I was going to be one of them I wanted to be of some help to her but was short of time. I asked if a batch of butterhorns would be welcome. She liked the idea and crossed the potato puffs that she had planned to have from her menu.

Early in the morning on the day of the dinner party I set the dough to rise for

HALF 'N HALF BUTTERHORNS

One-half cup whole milk scalded, 1-2 cup butter (or margarine), 1-4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 package granular yeast, 1-2 cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 eggs, 3 1-2 cups sifted bread or all-purpose flour and 2 1-2 cups sifted but not sifted whole wheat flour. The hot milk add the butter, sugar and salt and cool to lukewarm. Add the 1 teaspoon sugar to the lukewarm water, sprinkle yeast over surface and let rise for 10 minutes. When milk is cooled to lukewarm stir the beaten eggs into it then the yeast when it is risen. Stir in flour until it is too stiff to stir, then kneed in bowl with the hands until it is well blended and soft and smooth. Cut dough down from sides of bowl, butter top of dough, cover with towel then with plate and stand to rise in warm place until light and doubled. (If desired this dough may be made and immediately placed in refrigerator if you wish to stay the rising—and may be shaped and baked on the following day.) Roll one-quarter of dough at a time into long strips 1-4 inch thick. Cut through into wedge-shaped pieces about the size and shape of a piece of pie, and roll each wedge up, starting at wide end. Moisten the point and seal and place on buttered pan with point underneath. Brush with melted butter. Let rise until light and doubled. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes. These amounts make 30 to 36 rolls.

I guess I don't need to tell you that all 35 of those rolls disappeared at one sitting despite the fact that there were also turkey, turkey gravy, apple jelly, creole corn, creamed cauliflower, cheese-stuffed celery, hot ripe olives, bread and butter pickles, deep mince pie with whipped cream, coffee.

Dear Mary: What brings this letter? Well to tell you first of all how much I enjoy your column. It is a must, to be read first. . . I used your "Heavenly Pie" for dessert on Christmas day and it is all the name implies—also had a mince pie just in case . . . however it wasn't used. . . .

I made your chocolate recipe but the chocolate dip is much better with only 1-3 cake wax. . . I used your turkey soup recipe of 1953 and it is just as good as the turkey itself. . . . Santa left me 6 lbs. which I do not appreciate . . . if I wall again until summer to send this recipe I may not do it.—Chris.

PEACH CRUMBLE PIE

Unbaked pie shell. Combine 1-2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Add 1-4 cup water, 1-2 cup corn syrup. Blend well. Add 4 cups sliced fresh peaches. Boil 1 min. Let cool. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice, pour in shell. Sprinkle on top crumbs: 6 tablespoons brown sugar, 1-4 cup flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Bake 10 minutes at 425, reduce heat and continue about 30 minutes. Serve cold or dressed up with whipped cream.

I believe your Pete will say "scrumptious"—Chris.

ANSWER:

Thanks for telling me about the wax in chocolate. It was a printing error, I'll try the scrumptious sounding pie on Pete next time he comes home for the week-end.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

EVERYONE NEEDS EXERCISE

Strange thing! Few women in their thirties or forties can run a short distance to catch a bus or car without causing smiles on the faces of spectators. Sorry at that time of life, the female of the species should not be clumsy. Men of thirty are agile of movement. They are ashamed to confess they get no exercise.

We women are so accustomed to having transportation that we fancy a mile walk is more than our delicate constitutions can endure. As a result, more and more women are in the overweight bracket.

Many college girls have lost the ease and grace of motion they had in the teen-age period. Teachers of physical education in high schools report that most girls regard gym classes as a bore and a bother.

A slender figure and unlined face go far in producing an effect of youthfulness, but that is not enough if a woman is to retain the beauty grade. She must be light of step. Not to exercise means the body will lose lovely lines.

Members of the medical profession tell us that muscle play is necessary all through life, that even the aged must not be inactive because inactivity brings sluggish circulation and tissue disintegration.

The woman who has taken on weight is doing herself an injustice by not correcting this condition. It can be done by paying a little attention to the diet, cutting down on fats, sweets and starches. It also helps to devote ten or fifteen minutes a day to muscle toning.

CAMPBELLFORD

Citizens' Band Elects Officers

Campbellford—The Campbellford Citizen's Band held its annual meeting in the Legion Hall and elected the following officers: bandmasters, Donald D. Bennett and Peter Bateman; band president, Harold W. Pierce; secretary-treasurer, Ernest Archer; instrument custodian, Allan Jones; librarian, Kenneth Kingston; assistant librarian, Dennes Bell; attendance secretary, Ewart Steele.

The financial report showed the largest expenditure was $2,200 for uniforms. Most of this was offset by a special grant from the town of $1,800. Other expenditures were for repairs and maintenance on instruments and the purchase of new instruments when required.

It was decided to ask Eldon M. Percy, town treasurer, to audit the books of the band for the year. A letter of thanks was sent to the IODE for their interest and assistance to the band.

Wellington on the Lake

WELLINGTON — The snow began to fall Sunday morning and prevented our church attendance. It continued through the night and Monday followed with steady storm. Fortunately there was little wind and the snow remained where it fell, rendering very beautiful the plum tree in its dress of white, while the row of spruce trees, their green branches decked in ermine made an artistic picture; in fact the entire avenue in its winter garb of white was a veritable fairyland.

And how the school boys enjoyed the noon hour on Monday! Wading through the deepest drifts, then plunging into the yielding snow, they tirelessly enjoyed the noon intermission. And now Wellington is digging itself out and trucks are carrying away loads of snow from the streets, while residents, shut in for a while, are enjoying their freedom.

In looking over the snow-covered roads and noticing how the wheels of the motor cars turn laboriously in the snow, I am reminded of the days before the automobile, when the music of the sleigh bells gave warning of the winter traffic. In the early pioneer days of Ontario, Susanna Moodie, who with her husband settled near Peterborough, Ontario, wrote the following lines while waiting for her husband's return home in the evening:

It is merry to hear at evening time
By the blazing hearth, the sleigh-bell's chime,
To know the bounding steed brings near
The loved one to our bosom dear;
Oh! lightly we spring the fire to raise
While the rafters glow with the ruddy blaze;
The merry sleigh-bells with soothing power
Shed gladness on the evening hour;
Ding-dong! Ding-dong! o'er ice and snow
A voice of gladness on they go.

On Thursday last Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ellis were guests of the Redenerville Women's Institute at its banquet in Albury church. At the meeting seven members of the local W.I. were presented with life membership pins. Mrs. Harris gave an interesting address, telling of her visit in company with Mr. Harris to Labrador.

Mrs. E. Durant is recovering from a recent fall when she suffered several fractured ribs.

Mrs. J. N. Sword passed away in Belleville hospital after a prolonged illness. Surviving are her husband, Mr. J. N. Sword, a son, Norman of Amelianburg, and a daughter, Mrs. C. Adams of Trenton. The funeral service was held in the Ainsworth Funeral Home on Monday with interment in Wellington vault.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wannamaker are enjoying a new television set, making the twelfth set on Maple Avenue.

Mr. Clifford Carley and Miss M. Gordon, Melville, were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carley.

Posters are now on display advertising the New England supper to be held under the auspices of the Evening Auxiliary on the evening of February 2nd.

Miss Anne Dorland, Queen's University, Kingston, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dorland.

The many friends of Mrs. Jack Root, Consecon Lake, will be pleased to hear that she is on the road to recovery after a serious operation in the Belleville hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Sanders, Toronto, spent the week-end with friends in Wellington.

CAMPBELLFORD

Public Relations Secret Simple Rotarians Told

CAMPBELLFORD — "Public Relations in Business," was the subject of a talk delivered by Frank Popplatt at the Van Dusen Company, who was the speaker at the Campbellford Rotary Club luncheon.

Mr. Popplatt has been a lecturer at the University of Toronto and University of Western Ontario, where he offered guidance and advice to many executive men and others who were ambitious enough to attend night classes for the purpose of learning something of business and salesmanship.

"There is nothing wrong with the youth of Canada today," said Mr. Popplatt. Basically, he said, they are as good as they have been at any time.

Public relations, as such, is a full time job, necessary to the prosperity of any enterprise. The very simplicity of the secret of good public relations is remarkable, said the speaker. It is something our parents tried to impress on each of us as a child, and is wholly contained in the 23rd Psalm and the golden rule. "To realize the best in accord with the general public, we must be just plain good folk, and constitute the habit of being careful of word and deed," he said.

Churches should go out of their way to promote their work through good public relations, he said, as they, like other organizations, depend on the people to spread the gospel of good living through their representation in the community.

Rotarian C. H. Davidson introduced the speaker and President William McIntosh expressed the appreciation of the club members to Mr. Popplatt.

Canadiens Emerge One Point Ahead Of Wings After Week-End Scramble

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

FAMILIAR STOT

With the Doran-Dugan-Peter-Moon line again in the spotlight the Maroons raced to a 7-4 victory over the Clinton Comets Saturday night in the American arena. The Boucher men spotted the Comets a 4-3 lead going into the third period and then took over the job, hitting the hemp for four goals while holding the American club off the scoreboard. Red Doran accounted for two goals with Peter Jones drawing two assists. Dugan assisted on another.

A couple of flights broke out with "Nobber" Day the storm centre of the Memos. He drew two majors for tossing left hooks and mixing matters with Steele and Porcelus of the Comets.

The Cornwall Colts cut the Whitby Wrens' top-spot margin to two points, whipping the Wrens 6-4 in Cornwall. The Brockville Magedomas gave evidence they are still in the hunt for a play-off berth by turning back the Peics on Saturday and edging the Clinton Comets in a Sunday game. The Magedomas now trail the Kingston Goodyears by fifth spot by eight points. The Peics are practically out of the running, although they have an impossible mathematical chance of reaching the play-offs.

Bob Taylor, Belleville hockey player, is now on the Clinton roster and is playing a centre position. Bob came up with a good exhibition against his old teammates Saturday, scoring the first Clinton goal midway through the first period after Jones had lone-handed his way through for the opening Memos' marker.

GOOD SHOW

Belleville bowlers made a highly creditable showing at the Molson Bowling Classic regional playoffs in Kingston Saturday with four finishing in the first fourteen.

John Train of Kingston, won the men's singles championship with a score of 2707, an average of 270 for the ten games, but one of the highlights was the showing of a Belleville youngster, Leo Labelle, who finished in second place with 2611. Jim McKenzie, last year's champion, finished in fifth spot with 2240 while Cec Hardwick with 2296 and Bill Bateman with 2283 ended up in tenth and 13th spots respectively.

McKenzie and Labelle, by virtue of their finishing in the first six spots, will join the regional all-star team which with the singles champion will compete in the Ontario championships at the Toronto Sportsmen's Show in March.

Labelle's showing is all the more creditable since it is stated this is only his second year at the bowling. A youngster, Leo bowled like a veteran and showed none of the nervousness usually exhibited by a tyro in championship tournaments. The regional playoffs were another big success with regional director Joe Cosby of the Circle Bowl, Kingston, proving a fine host and organizer.

GOOD AS EVER!

National Hockey League Oldtimers revelled in familiar scenes Saturday night in Kingston as aging joints protested to no avail, and the greybeards came up with an outstanding display of hockey "as she was played" before a delighted crowd of over 2,500. They tell us that our esteemed contemporary, one Michael J. Rodden, thought he was refereeing a pro tennis match, the goals were whizzing so fast the referee's pate, No less than 31 pucks were tacked away by the driving sticks of the "never-has-beens." It was a great night, with no casualties.

The Kingston like of Gus Marker, George Patterson and Butch Keeling stole the scoring honors, scoring seven goals and three assists. Marker and Patterson each got three goals and Keeling one.

Charlie Conacher carried the scoring burden for the old Toronto kid line, counting three goals for Reds, while Harvey Jackson and Joe Primeau, his linemates, picked up an assist each.

PEACE, AIN'T IT WONDERFUL

With four clubs rounding into the turn from the far circles it would appear the entire season willy-nilly dispensation of sin-bin sentences is showing some results. It could be the whistle-and-sweater bookies are developing crooked thumbs and permanent grimaces, but on the whole it has been definitely apparent in the last two or three games that the gladiators are concentrating their attention on puck-handling rather than punch-bunching.

Take Friday night's game here, between those "ever-loving" clubs, Kingston and Belleville. Why those guys were actually talking with one another after a sizzling seventy-minute battle, while a number of the Goodyears hovered over Erwin Duncan like a Mother Biddy over her miniature "southern fried" after he was accidentally struck by a farmer's stick.

The first thing you know they'll be going steady. But the mere or less peaceful atmosphere, while it gave the official thumbs and mugs a rest, did not depreciate the calibre of the sport. No, sirree, these perennial enemies of the sports arenas, who usually fly at one another's throats at the slightest provocation, were victory-bent. They disdained the usual digs and pokes, trips and clips, and applied themselves strictly to the business of puck-checking. And as a result the powsters paid and otherwise, were treated to one of the "sizzlingest" senior "B" exhibitions seen here this season.

And the peace feeling is apparent in other group centres. Down in Cornwall where they call you names in two languages, then interpret for you, the Colts and Clinton Comets battled for sixty minutes with nary a sinner in the penalty box. The refs, called time occasionally to thaw out frozen whistles, and rub the surprise out of their eyes. And, incidentally, the Colts came up with a brilliant three man effort. Their new line of Connolly, Savard and Hatten scored all six Colt goals, Connelly getting five and Hatten the other, while Savard was credited with six assists. How about that!

Drop Big One to Detroit 7-1 After Blanking Boston 4-0; Leafs and Lumley Lose Pair

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The run for the National Hockey League's goaltending award, a Lumley-Sawchuk duel for three years, is shaping up as another of those who'll-get-it dramas.

As usual, durable Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings, the fellow who was supposed to have failing eyesight, and Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs are the big names for the Vezina Trophy and its $1,000 bonus.

Lumley and the Leafs were dumped in two straight games, 3-1 by the fifth-place New York Rangers Saturday and 3-0 by the upstart Boston Bruins Sunday. The defeats didn't jeopardize Leafs' hold on third place but they put big Harry back in hot water.

Meanwhile, Red Wings battled the last-place Chicago Black Hawks to a 2-2 deadlock Saturday and humbled the league-leading Montreal Canadiens 7-1 in Detroit Sunday night.

SLIM MARGIN

The results left the 28-year-old Lumley with a scant three-goal margin over Sawchuk. He has allowed 93 goals in 51 games. The race could go right down to the last few eag nemoget,aheisemeas last few cagey,ones,the same as last year when Lumley beat out Sawchuk on the first time in three seasons with an average of 1.85 goals a game.

In two other weekend games, Canadiens shut out the Bruins 4-0 in Montreal Saturday and the Rangers were defeated 4-2 by the last-place Hawks in Chicago Sunday night.

The Montrealers remained in first place, Their 29 victories and eight ties in 50 games give them 66 points, one ahead of the Wings. The Leafs have 55, nine up on the Bruins.

Sawchuk, 25-year-old native of Winnipeg who was said to have been just about washed up as a big-timer because of poor eyesight, picked out 30 Chicago shots at St. Louis Saturday. Vic Stasiuk and Bill Dineen scored for Detroit. Ed Litzenberger, the former Montrealer,andMetro Prystal, the one-time Red Wing, tallied for Hawks.

SPOILS SHUTOUT

Glen Skov and Marcel Bonin led the rout against Canadiens Sunday with two goals apiece. Marty Pavelich, Johnny Wilson and Gord Howe scored one each.

Rightwinger Maurice Richard saved Canadiens from a shutout in the first period.

The Leafs bumped into some tremendous goaltending against New York's Gump Worsley. They had 41 shots at him but cashed in on only one before 12,457 Toronto fans.

Andy Bathgate, Dean Prentice and Ron Murphy were the Ranger marksmen. Eric Nesterenko scored the Leaf goal.

Boston goalie Johnny Henderson achieved the fifth shutout of his career in the NHL career when Bruins blanked Leafs at Boston Garden. Ed Sandford, Lorne Ferguson and Leo Labine scored for the Bruins.

FOURTH SHUTOUT

Canadiens were sharp against Bruins Saturday. They helped Plante chalk up his fourth shutout of the season to the delight of 14,376 Montreal Forum customers.

The Montrealers made the second period their big one when they scored three goals—by Richard, Dickie Moore and Jackie Leclair. Bernie Geoffrion ended a six-game goal famine by scoring his 28th of the season.

Red Sullivan and veteran Bill Mosienko came up with third-period goals to pace the Hawks to their Sunday victory over Rangers. Nick Mickoski gave Hawks an early lead at 2:06 of the first period but Fryzal increased it to 2-0 before the session ended.

Defenceman Bill Gadsby and Murphy evened the count by 2:54 of the third.

No games are cheduled until Hawks tangle at Chicago.

LONDON (AP)—Wolverhampton Wanderers, favorites to win the Football Association Cup, defeated Arsenal 1-0 Saturday to move into the round of 16 in the sudden-death competition.

Argos, Lions, Giants Protest Peace-Making Player Clause

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Dissent in the ranks is distracting officials of Canadian and American professional football leagues from their objective of reaching an amicable settlement of the outbreaks of border-raiding that have troubled them for the last five years.

The National Football League and its two Canadian counterparts, the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union and the Western Interprovincial Football Union, will face the same problem in reaching agreemnt to respect each other's contract and option agreements with players.

The proposed settlement includes a retroactivity clause, forcing the return to their original club of all players under contract or option signed by a club in another league since last June.

The NFL's New York Giants, the IRFU's Toronto Argonauts and the WIFU's British Columbia Lions, all of whom admit to such activities in the proposed period of retroactivity, have protested against the clause.

ANOTHER VOICE

Tim Mara, the founder of the Giants, whose sons now are president and vice-president of the club, backed the proposal Saturday.

The Giants have picked up high scoring Alex Webster, a Montreal Alouette halfback and Tex Coulter, a guard who played in Ottawa and grabbed from New York two years ago. And the elder Mara says Montreal will get them back over his dead body.

The B.C. Lions tore a big hole in the Giant line last year when they made off with Annis Weinmeister, an NFL all-star. The Argonauts currently are waving the signed contracts of Sully Shipp and Bill Albright, both Giants of 1954.

REPORT UNCONFIRMED

There have been reports the Toronto franchise would be taken away from Argos "unless they" agreed to abide by the retroactivity clause but president Ralph Cooper of the IRFU has denied saying this might be done. There was an unconfirmed report from Montreal Saturday that a powerful syndicate of Toronto businessmen is ready to take over.

The report, in the Montreal Star, named Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League; Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Maple Leafs of the International Basketball League; Eric Cradock, former owner of Montreal Alouettes; John Stuart, a former Argo director, and E. P. Taylor, owner of Canada's leading race-horse stable.

Harry Sonshine, manager of the Argonauts, arranged an interview with NFL commissioner Bert Bell in Philadelphia Thursday to represent the Toronto case. The Argos say they have signed seven NFL players since the close of the season and plan to honor their contracts.

Victory Over Clinton, Week-End Games See Memos In Third Position

Score Four in Third Period In 7-4 Defeat of Comets; Brocks Win Two; Whitby Loses

CLINTON, N.Y. — Scoring four goals in the third period to overcome a 4-3 deficit, the Belleville Memos hopped back into third place on Saturday night with a 7-4 defeat of the Clinton Comets here.

Cornwall Colts' defeats of the group leading Whitby Wrens Wrens' margin to two points, and Kingston is in fourth place, one point behind the Memos. The Brockville Magedomas defeated Clinton, and Peterborough in week-end games to come within eight points of the leaders.

The Memos and Comets battled to a first-period one-all tie in a fast, close-checking tilt with the Comets outscoring the visitors 3-2 in the second period. The Memos took over in the third beat, scoring four goals without a return, to clinch the verdict.

The game while rugged at times was productive of ten penalties four of them majors given for fighting. The teams split the sentences, "Robbed" Day became involved in two of the fisticuffing melees drawing "fives" on each occasion with Steele and Porteous of the Comets also getting majors.

OPENS SCORING

Davy Jones gave the Memos a one goal lead after seven minutes of play in the first period. Two minutes later Day and Steele got majors for fighting and a minute later "Red" Doran went off for hooking. The Comets playing with a one man advantage surged to the attack and Bob Taylor, Clinton defenceplayer who played centre for the Comets slipped the puck past Barclay at the three minute mark with Wiebe and Jamieson. The period ended even terms.

Edwin Duncan again put the Memos in the lead after three minutes of play in the second period scoring from close-in on a pass from Doug Price. Murdoch also drew an assist on the play.

The lead, however, was short-lived as Wiebe, diving down, ice with Porteous and Timmons blasted a hard drive past Barclay to knot the count.

Two minutes later the Memos' "production line" of the past two or three games, Doran, Peter Jones and Arnie Dugnan were up to their old tricks with "old pro" hilting the hemp to give the Memos an advantage.

NAKE LEAD

Bob Wilson went off for a rest for hooking but the Comets failed to get the Memos' defence. Then Menchini and Breen swhipped down the ice for a power play scramble for the Comets, with the former beating the Memos' goalie to the the screen for the third time in the tussle. And two minutes later the Comets took the lead for the first time when Wiebe scored his second goal of the night on a pass from Andy Defelice.

Timmons drew a holding penalty at 18.44 and while this was going on Day and Porteous started to sling their fists at both the goals for five minutes and the Memos took a one-man advantage. The Comet defence, however, hurled back every goalward effort and held the two-goal lead with the homesters leading 4-3.

The Memos had the attack when the third period opened and the clock read 23 seconds when Jake Steele, Doran and Peter Jones ripped goalward, Jake took the pass and his bullet-like drive beat Corzon to once more tie the count.

The Memos maintained their offensive and again took the play after four minutes of play when Duncan fired home Ted Degrey's pass from the centre ice spot. Then Frank Bettiol, Davy Jones drew a tripping penalty a minute later but no damage was done.

Wiebe flopped down on the puck without the goalie's protest and got the gate but the Memos were unable to beat Corzon in the Comets nets. With less than three minutes to go Keith MacDonald gave the Memos a two-goal lead, scoring from an angle from Davy Jones' point.

With time running out, "Red" Doran fired his second goal of the night on an unassisted play in front of the goalmouth.

Edwin Duncan who suffered a severe cut over an eye in the Memos-Kingston game last Friday, had to have a dozen stitches inserted in the wound and was not in uniform.

'Oldtimers' Revel in Familiar Scene, Reds Beat Whites Before 2500 Fans

KINGSTON — Storied hockey stars of the past, skating those glory lanes again in the interests of charity, went over the top in notable fashion Saturday night when 2,561 fans saw them in spirited action in the community memorial game at the Memorial Centre.

Packed in condition and durability they offset by keen competitive spirit, passing skill and the allaround ability that had made them national league aces in those years that will never come again. Even the moment that Jim Sutherland, father of the international hockey clan, dropped the puck for the first face-off there wasn't a dull moment. It was on from the opening second, when yet another added her hampered by modern rules and mark manship was so accurate that the goalkeepers "fanned" on the first of the shots fired at them by the enthusiastic attackers.

CHUCK ESSEMAN

The Reds, sparked by the famous Charlie Conacher, made it a 5-5 duel during the first twenty minutes but the Whites, featuring the "Kingston Line" composed of Georgs Patterson, Gus Marker and the "adopted" Butch Keeling outscored the Reds 4-2 in the last 5 to 5 during the final session and skated away with a 9-7 victory.

Keeling, who scored three goals and added an assist, teamed perfectly with Patterson and Charlie Conacher, provided the real thrill when it was learned that the Whites would have turned the "Battle of the Veterans" into a hollow rout if Bill Cook had been in action. Of Cook he said "He's the best hockey player I've ever seen. He could do more things well than could any player I've ever seen, active or inactive," and he was the greatest New York Ranger of them all. What a man . . .

Other than twenty-two former major leaguers were on parade and in that gathering were Nelson Stewart, who held the NHL scoring record of 324 goals before Maurice Richard became the new "Rocket"; Charlie Conacher, the Maple Leaf immortal; Joe Primeau, Toronto Leaf star; Harvey Jackson, brilliant left winger, who formed the dynamic "Kid Line" of Toronto fame; "Dit" Clapper, who has been admitted to the international hockey hall of fame; "Flash" Hollett, skilful rushing defenceman; Wally Stanowski, the wearer of the memory "Turk" Broda, long-time goal keeper with the Leafs; Gus Marker, Toronto, "Butch" Keeling, former Ranger and NHL referee; Jim Marker, who skated "miles" in behalf of the Montreal Maroons, Toronto Leafs, New York Americans and Detroit Red Wings; "Red" Heron of the Leafs; Doc Romnes, Detroit and Chicago star who wouldn't be out of place in the NHL right now; "Hank" Goldup, Leafs and Rangers; "Scotty" Mair, Montreal Maroons, Leafs and Americans, and last, but not least, George Patterson of the Leafs and Americans.

KINGSTON "LOSE" TOP

It was perhaps fitting that on Kingston line the Patterson-Marker-Keeling trio should be the high scorers. Marker led Whites with a goal and three assists, Patterson followed with two goals, Charlie Conacher, while Patterson, skating with his former graceful style and displaying flashes of distinction, each racked up three goals and took runner-up honors.

The old timers will appear in four more games elsewhere this year, the next in Kitchener-Waterloo as had been announced.

In all probability they will strut their stuff in Madison Square Garden late in the season and if they are there we hazard that Bill Cook will be one of the participants.

Santee Smashes Indoor Mile Record, Negotiating Distance in 4:03.8

BOSTON (AP) — Wes Santee smashed the world indoor mile record Saturday night, negotiating the distance in 4:03.8 in the Hunter Mile at the Boston Arena.

Santee, leading U.S. hope for the four-minute mile, broke Gil Dodds' mark of 4:05.3 by more than a second. Dodds' previous record in 1948.

Santee, former University of Kansas track star, won by 30 yards over Gunnar Nielsen, the Dane who beat him last week at Washington.

He had a big assist from Dick Ollen of Northeastern University, who acted as his mechanical rabbit. Ollen paced the pack out at the start. He intended to hit the half in 2:02, but he did even better—almost dead flat.

All the while, Santee was loping along in cadence with Ollen. The laps to go, Santee took over and there never was any doubt as to the winner.

"I knew I could break the record all right," said Santee after the end of the race. "But I wasn't so certain that tonight would be it.

"I just got out of a week of examinations and wasn't sure just what I could do. But I wanted to set my own pace if I could. That's why I asked Ollen to pace to help out."

For all his fine work for the half mile, Ollen finished last in the field of five.

The five bowlers who will form the regular all-star team are LaBelle, Charlie Batty, Kingston (2364); Gerry Thornton, Kingston (2350); Jim McKenzie, Belleville (2340) and Clare Wilkinson, Kingston (2324).

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Major Baseball Loops 'Play Possum', Each Wait for Other to Make Move

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—What once promised to develop into a bitter, down-to-the-wire race between the major leagues for the week-end Herrlacy has slowed to a turtle-like crawl.

Both the American and National Leagues appear determined that the other make the first move toward expansion.

"Expansion would seem to be two or three years away, from what we have learned so far," said Frank Lane of Chicago White Sox, chairman of a four - man American League group which has been exploring the possibility of realignment.

This was more definite than the National League statement, which Saturday ruled out any expansion for the present. The American League group finished its business Sunday and Lane, acting as spokesman, said the League had an "open mind."

EXAMINED SAMPLE

Lane said that at least "six or seven" cities had made overtures with four showing distinct possibilities. He said the group of San Francisco and Los Angeles were almost unanimous in recommending those discussed.

Lane said the committee examined a sample 10-club schedule including the 154-game one.

The schedule involving the two west-coast cities would cut down the time of travel for the league. At $1.25 a mile, which Lane figured, it would take $60,000 or $12,000 to transportation costs for each team.

Other cities under discussion were St. Paul-Minneapolis, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and Portland, Toronto. Schedules including combination of these teams also were discussed.

Asked whether a report Bill Veeck might buy the National League, and which was made available to the baseball writers, indicated that the majors might be working hand-in-hand, Lane replied:

"No, I can't speak for the National League, but president, Warren Giles, speaks very well for those fellows. We're not working with them on this thing. We just used some of their coast information which we felt was available to us. Also, they took their action at an official league meeting."

Ballet to Play In Toronto

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The National Ballet Company left for Toronto Sunday after winding up its most successful London engagement yet.

Manager Ken Baskelfe of the Grand Theatre said the week-long stand grossed nearly $20,000, about 10 per cent over last year's week-long run.

Two young Ontario dancers became regular members of the group last week. They were Robert Christie of London and Colleen Kenney of St. Thomas.

The company starts a two-week stand in Toronto tonight. The ballet goes next to Chicago and Detroit, then returns to Canada for performances at Montreal, Ottawa and Kingston. It will wind up its winter tour in five other United States cities.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Like we non, bridge is very much entertainment. If you avoid the game, somebody has been giving you a bum steer. And it is not necessarily referring to a stubborn ox.

Let you assume for awhile that you have played a little bridge or have watched others working at it. When things turn out wrong with the simplest kind of hands, where is the trouble?

Take an example hand that comes up frequently enough to look familiar. Let me ask you some questions about it and give you the answers. It may be just what the doctor ordered to make you well.

You are dealer and hold the south hand shown here:

♠ A K 3
♥ K 7 3 2
♦ Q 7 6
♣ K 9 4

From such a hand can come some of your biggest grins and beefs. As dealer you must either bid or pass? Which do you do? And if so, why? Surely you have a good reason for doing what you do.

If you open with a bid, what will it be? One club or diamond or a heart or a spade or one no-trump? When you open the bidding you must promise your partner something. What do you promise?

Your bid or one will have to take seven tricks. Your bid in a suit may require you to play the contract with that as trumps. Your bid in no-trump will require enough tricks without trumping.

Until you hear from partner you must not assume he can take more than two tricks. If so, where will your pair get the seven tricks your bid of one will require? From the government?

This alone should tell you not to open the bidding. Even if some expert told you to open such a hand you should not. This is a hand you should pass and wait to see what others do. It anything.

Your opening bid is the foundation for your pair. If it is a sound foundation your partner can have confidence that your pair has its feet firmly planted on the ground, not in the sky.

AT THE CAPITOL — Brutal-realism is depicted in Columbia Pictures' "On the Waterfront", opening tonight at the Capitol Theatre for its first district showing, starring Marlon Brando, centre, and also starring Karl Malden, left and Lee J. Cobb. Lovely blonde Eva Marie Saint makes her screen bow in the film, which was produced and directed by Elia Kazan.

Groucho Marx Is Called One Of World's Famous Cynics

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When you talk to Groucho Marx, you get the picture of a parsimonious cynic.

Here is one of the world's most famous cynics, yet he is also an idealist. He has made millions from getting people to laugh and his conversation is sprinkled with ad lib gags. Yet he'll pause for a deadly serious comment on world affairs from a British philosopher who said: "It's better not to be born at all; but if you are born, you're lucky if you die early."

He is capable of scathing observations. Still, he talks with more than a casual acquaintance with intellectual matters. He commented on NBC's "Living Masters" interviews with Robert Frost, Bertrand Russell, Carl Sandburg (but complained because "such good shows are put on TV late at night or on Sunday afternoon). He also mentioned that he was going to ask his friend Ed Murrow for a kinescope of his interview with J. Robert Oppenheimer.

These are the impressions you get from a half hour chatfest with Groucho. You also get a variety of pithy comments on such matters as:

New Comics: "A few years ago, a bunch of old comics were sitting around the lunch table at the Hillcrest Country Club and moaning about the lack of new talent. They could have saved their crocodile tears. Give young people enough incentive, and they'll develop into stars.

We Look at the great news stars we have come along. George Gobel, for instance, who I tagged as a comer when he appeared on 'This Show Business' four years ago. Donald O'Connor. Mitzi Gaynor. Herb Shriner. Sammy Davis. Wally Cox. Lots of others."

On TV: "In the long run, it won't mean a thing. The important thing is still not how it looks, but what is said. A dull show will still be dull in color."

Himself: "I'm very happy about the success of Fred Allen's book. I feel personally responsible. I kept after Fred for years urging him to write it. He write? Nope. There's nothing I have to say that hasn't already been said far better by greater men than I.

"No, I don't write a book. I'd have to think. That's the hardest work there is. I don't think for more than 10 minutes out of every 24 hours. Hardly anybody does these days. People will go to great extremes not to think."

MARMORA

Marmora Edges Campbellford 5-3

MARMORA — Marmora Millionaires playing Campbellford at home on Friday evening, pleased their supporters which comprised the greater percentage of a crowd numbering 300 in winning one of the hardest battles they ever fought by 5-3. Stevenson opened the scoring for the visitors at 2:35 in the first period, beating Killian on Free's assist. It was ten minutes later when Brute successfully tested Nelson on Brown's pass. Then K. Trundle, Marmora captain made it 2-1 for Marmora in the closing seconds of that frame.

Back came Campbellford to the attack as the second frame opened, Hewitt scoring in 22 seconds on a hot shot with Wilson in on the assist. Blake got one of the nicest goals of his career as he put Campbellford ahead with a stiff shot five minutes later. Receiving from Mantle, Jones soon brought the teams even again and that ended the scoring in the second.

It was anybody's guess who would again take the lead in the third, but Marmora was destined to keep their opponents at bay while in quick succession after three minutes of play, Leonard scored on Lavender's assist and Jones sent in the final goal on Mantle's assist.

The game was clean on the whole and the little roughness indulged in kept under control by the referees.

The teams:

Campbellford — Nelson, Free, Louth, Stevenson, Jeffs, Payne, Eady, Herrington, Wilson, Hay, Blake, Doober, Fields, Pace.

Marmora — Killian, Darrah, Brown, Maynes, Leonard, Trumble, Jones, Mantle, Blute, Smith, C. Trundle, Maloney, Lavender, Naylor, Sweet.

Referees — P. W. McIntosh, Campbellford; H. Hunter, Havelock.

Snowshoers Give Colorful Show In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—It was no weekend for the weak in Ottawa.

Upwards of 3,000 energetic delegates to the annual international snowshoe convention roared into the capital for a giant square dance Friday night. They raced each other through deep snow most of Saturday, or watched in near-zero weather, then went to church Sunday morning, still exhibiting as much energy as on the night they arrived.

After the races in Lansdowne Park, they blended the color of day loques and bright sashes with the music of many bands and the flicker of torches in Saturday night march to Parliament Hill, where Postmaster - General Colley greeted them.

But their church procession Sunday morning likely was the gayest of the convention, which officially ended Saturday. The 85 clubs from eastern Canada and the United States represented here marched to the stirring music of 28 bands.

BROTHERS WIN FIVE

Five-mile racing, opened by Governor - General Massey, who won the traditional toque, sash and moccasins of the snowshoer, brothers James and Thomas Denslo of Beauharnois, Que., Canadian Union Nationals Club swept five events for victories in the 100-, 440-, and 880-yard races.

Thomas Denslo ran a close second to his brother in the 880-yard race and won the one- and three-mile events.

Jean Paul Gosselin of Toque Rouge Club, Sherbrooke, Que., won the five-mile forced march in the world record time of 44 minutes, 12.2 seconds. His time cut almost a minute off the former record of 45 minutes, 10 seconds, which he set himself in 1952.

Louise Rust of Montreal's National Club was two of the three women's races.

'BAMBOO PRISON' STARS EX-MARINE

It took Hollywood more than 35 years to make up its mind about Brian Keith. But, from all indications, the husky young blond actor and the motion picture industry will be "going steady." He is currently starred at the McCarthy Theatre in Columbia Pictures' "The Bamboo Prison," also starring Robert Francis and Dianne Foster.

Brian Keith's father, Robert, is a veteran screen performer and former leading man who recently launched a new career as a character actor on the screen; his mother is the former Helena Shipman who retired from the stage several years ago.

Young Keith enlisted in the Marines in 1942 and was discharged, a sergeant, in 1945. He played stock in Clinton, Conn., and subsequently worked in New York on radio and commercial films for television. He understudied one of the sailors in the long-run "Mr. Roberts," in which his father played the part of the doctor, and then became understudy for five other roles before being cast in the Chicago company of the play, which subsequently rejoined the New York cast in the same part.

After more stage and radio work Hollywood beckoned and Keith appeared in such films as "Arrowhead," "Lost Treasure of the Amazons," "Alaska Seas" and "The Bamboo Prison," the Columbia shock-drama of a Yank prisoner of war who collaborates with the enemy.

The added feature is The Mad Magician with Vincent Price and Eva Gabor.

Little Benny's Note Book

Mrs. Hows's father and mother are going to celebrate their golden wedding, and pop and ma are going to be there on account of ma saying it's their duty, and she said to pop, Now William, I hope you understand it will be a dress affair. Boot worry, pop said, I will be dressed on time, pop said, and ma said, I hope you mean you'll be dressed in your white tie and dress clothes.

Yee gods, certainly not, pop said, and ma said, But for land sakes how will we look with me in my silk evening gown and you in a business suit?

Well look like Mr. and Mrs. Potts, and it will be a perfect resemblants, pop said, and ma said, William Potts, would look absolute unnatural and you know it.

On the contrary, my dear, we would look quite natural, pop said. Natural means according to nature, and according to nature the female of the species has the fine feathers and the brite colors, while the male has the sober coloring, or street clothes, he said, and ma said, Now you're flying directly in the face of facts. Look at the male peacock with his brilliant plumage. Look at the male lion with bewtiful mane, she said.

Now you're speeking of the lower animals, where the male is the head of the family, pop said. We happen to belong to the higher brackets where the female rules the roost, so why not be natural about it? he said, and ma said, Now William, is this the beginning of a long and paneful argument?

No my dear, it's the end of a short and sweet one, and you will, pop said.

Meening he surrendered.

Woman in Brown Seen in Home On Murder Night

NEW YORK (CAP)—A mysterious girl, dressed like Brown's bride, reported seen wandering about Sam Rubinstein's lavish home some hours before he was murdered.

Both Rubinstein's mother and aunt told of seeing the girl, police disclosed Sunday, but so far they have turned up no hint as to who she might be.

Today's investigation of the four-day-old murder will include questioning of Lee Brooks, a dealer in Canadian securities, police said.

Brooks had clashed with the slain draft-dodger in a complex oil deal, police reported. In 1947 Brooks was questioned about the unsolved murder of business man Albert E. Langford.

While police have been following up all possible angles of Rubinstein's social and business life, the slain man's body has been on view for two days at a Manhattan funeral home.

HEARD VOICES

He is to be buried today after several funeral services.

It was at the funera' home that Rubinstein's mother disclosed she had heard angry voices arguing in her son's rooms early Thursday, shortly before he was killed. Mrs. Stella Rubinstein lived on the fourth floor of her son's Fifth avenue mansion, one floor above the bedroom in which he was strangled to death.

The "girl in brown" was seen by Mrs. Rubinstein some time prior to the noisy quarreling, police said.

Mrs. Rubinstein had gone into the hallway to check on a noise, and had seen the girl on the stairway.

Since Rubinstein often entertained during the la't hours, neither Mrs. Rubinstein, who is 78, nor his aunt, Mrs. Eugenia Forester, 82, paid much attention to the presence of the girl.

Orfuns Lose To Tamworth

MARMORA — Marmora Orfuns hockey team proved no match for Tamworth in their game at the latter's rink on Friday evening, netted beaten by 11-1. Marmora's solitary goal was scored by Deering in the first period after Tamworth's opening score. The Marmora boys have yet to register their first win but are optimistic the tide will turn shortly.

3RD HILLIER—In many times past, Prince Edward county, northern tip, netted beaten by mixed many storms. The tide turned on Monday. The Picton Wellingtonians has been caught in heavy snow fall probably nearly as deep as Picton Peak. High winds drifted the snow until late Thursday, making work for snow plows, trying to keep roads open for school buses and mail carriers.

PICTON RESIDENTS ON TV

For Prince Edward county residents greatest interest was centred on the TV Anne Rogers show WHAM on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. The town of Picton was made famous. Picton Rotary club president, Mr. Mackie, and chairman of "Talent Search", Mr. A. Stonebridge, were pictured being interviewed by Anne Rogers. The winners of Rotary Talent Search were introduced, Miss Dorothy Alexander, Hillier; Joan Wood, Roblins Mills; and the "sextet" from Picton, who were trained by Mr. Cheyne. Each played her part splendidly bringing much credit to their sponsors.

At the close of the program Mr. Mackie presented Anne Rogers with gifts of packaged cheese made in the county.

Hearty thanks to the famous Picton mayor, Mr. H. McFarland who was instrumental in securing for presentation of this program on Rochester TV. The Rochester police met the Picton party and escorted them to their destination which warranted their safe arrival.

Rubinstein's Murder Puzzles New York Police

New York Police Commissioner Francis P. Adams, top right, is shown arriving at the Fifth Avenue mansion of Serge Rubinstein (left), 46, whose slaying has presented Manhattan with one of its most baffling murder mysteries. Rubinstein, flamboyant "wheel and financier" and draft dodger who had been fighting deportation for the past 11 years, was found by his butler lying on the floor of his bedroom, clad in silk pyjamas, with his mouth taped and his hands and feet bound tightly. At bottom is shown the ornate stairway leading from the entrance. Arrows point to the spot where the body was found on the multi-millionaire's body, although his room had been "upset" and subjected to the usual "ransacking by a gang of robbery." A business associate described his strangulation as a mob killing. (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

Expect Manitoba Will Change Voting System

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba's 24th legislature opens its second session Tuesday.

Lt.-Gov. Errick Willis from the throne to be read by Lieutenant-Governor J. S. McDiarmid is expected to show that the province is in for a body-building program. Provincial Treasurer Ron Turner has already indicated that Manitoba will have to wear a financial belt set to cover up the effects of sagging revenues and building expenditures.

It has been speculated this support will come in the form of a gasoline tax increase to compensate for the loss in liquor profits and tax rental payments and the heavy outlays in education, pensions, hospital grants and other welfare payments.

A new shape is wanted for the province's electoral system. The legislative committee will present a report that is expected to call for an end to the proportional representation system of voting in favor of the simple-majority ballot.

The committee has also tentatively decided to discard the alternative vote and restore the simple ballot in all constituencies.

It has been forecast that Premier D. L. Campbell will call for a special sitting after the legislature prorogues, perhaps in about six weeks, to receive the report of the Brooker-Gliquor inquiry commission and to draft new liquor laws for the province.

Nine Captive Deer May Decide What Livestock to Eat in Future

By GRAHAM McMULLIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nine deer in captivity at the University of British Columbia may decide what livestock will eat in the future.

The experiments, conducted for five years, have proved to date that a 3½-year-old buck with antlers in velvet will weigh most.

Zoologist Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan and the staff and students of the animal husbandry department have been experimenting with the diet of about 20 deer in the last five years, testing and measuring the animals' progress in relation to the food they eat.

By increasing the protein content of the diet, the experimenters have been able to produce deer which reach maturity at the age of seven months instead of the normal 14 months.

The 3½-year-old buck weighs 235 pounds. It has 13-point antlers and a spread Dr. Cowan claims is close to the world record in size.

Many of the principles of animal nutrition learned in the experiments are now being tried out by the UBC department of animal husbandry in handling of cattle.

P. J. Brandy, a graduate student in zoology at UBC, described two deer, each 17 months old, but on different diets since they were six months old.

One fed a high protein diet has sprouted four-point antlers usually found only in an animal two or three years old, he explained.

The other deer, on a low-protein diet, was only two-thirds the weight of the other and had produced only small two-point antlers.

He now has switched the smaller deer to the high protein diet to find out if it can now catch up to the larger animal in size.

Ghost of Another Sensational Case Marks 50th Anniversary

By NATE SILVERMAN

CLEVELAND (AP)—As the case of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard takes its place in the annals of American crime, the 50th anniversary of another sensational Cleveland case is marking its 50th anniversary.

It has been a half century now since Canadian-born Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, one of the city's social leaders, was returned from New York for trial in what still stands as one of the country's most colossal swindles.

The audacious manner in which Mrs. Chadwick used the name of Industrial baron Andrew Carnegie as an "open sesame" to separate bankers here and elsewhere from hundreds of thousands of dollars earned her notoriety.

FATHER A LAUNDRER

Estimates of the amount she obtained by hinting she was Carnegie's illegitimate daughter and beneficiary of a multi-million-dollar trust fund ranged from $818,000 to $1,200,000.

Born Elizabeth Bigley in 1857 at Eastwood, Ont., where her father was a railroad section hand, the woman's first swindle was put over when she was 21.

As a self-styled heiress to a "large Irish estate," she met and married Dr. W. S. Springsteen. He turned her out 11 days later, after testimony she demanded payment for rich wedding "gifts."

As Madame Devere, she turned up in Toledo in 1890 as a clairvoyant. She gave $40,000 in worthless notes to an expressman to negotiate. Both were arrested.

Madame Devere was sentenced to nine years in the Ohio penitentiary. Paroled in 1893, she returned to Cleveland and four years later secretly was married to Dr. Leroy S. Chadwick. He thought she came from a wealthy, aristocratic New York family.

The doctor's wife became a familiar figure in Cleveland stores She thought nothing of spending $10,000 in a single shopping day. She ordered eight grand pianos sent to as many friends as tokens of her regard.

BANK CLOSED

On Nov. 22, 1904, while Dr. Chadwick was in Europe, Herbert B. Newton, a Boston banker, filed suit in Cleveland federal court for collection of $190,000 from Mrs. Chadwick.

Asserting "everything will be settled in a few days," Mrs. Chadwick left for New York. Meanwhile a newspaper "tip" tied her to Madame Devere.

The disclosure of Mrs. Chadwick's past caused the Citizens National Bank in Oberlin to close its doors. The bank's president, F. T. Beckwith, confessed to its directors he had lent Mrs. Chadwick $240,000, four times the bank's capital stock.

Beckwith also had loaned the woman $102,000 of his own funds.

The bank president said the loans were backed by a $500,000 note signed by a man "who can pay it as easily as you or I could pay a nickel." But he said he was under oath not to name the man.

A similar $500,000 note turned up in Boston, and the banker who had filed the suit, Newton, also refused to name the man who signed it. But one of Newton's lawyers said the note was purported to have been made by Andrew Carnegie.

Carnegie said h e had never heard of Mrs. Chadwick.

Mrs. Chadwick was sentenced to 10 years but died while in prison in October, 1907.

Cannifton

CANNIFTON — Mr. and Mrs. Percy Myers and Mr. G. Edwards of Trenton, were Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Bedell.

Mrs. Alden Boyd and family were Thursday supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Bedell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Simpson and Mr. Tom Simpson, of Belleville; Mr. Walter Simpson, of Saskatchewan; Mrs. Frank Windsor, Mrs. A. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. G. Sharpe were guests on Sunday night of Mr. and Mrs. Art De Mille.

The Cannifton - Corbyville Euchre Club held its weekly euchre at Mrs. Frank Windsor's with seven tables playing. Prizes were won by Mrs. Windsor, Edra Jones, Doreen Litchford, Mert Barb Lyon, Gertie McKay and Mrs. Dafoe. Lone hand by Annie DeMille. The draw: Mrs. Morgan; the monthly aggregate, Mrs. Windsor.

MADOC
Trinity United W.A. Elects 1955 Officers

MADOC — Trinity United Women's Association held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Albert Empey on Thursday afternoon with a fine attendance. After the opening exercises conducted by the president, Mrs. R. Jackson, the minister, Rev. J. F. Lane, took charge for the installation of the officers, speaking briefly on the duties of the officers and their work pertaining to the church. Reminding the members present that with co-operation with the members in charge a successful year could be expected.

Mrs. Jackson read "The Aim" of the W.A.; minutes and business, also the annual reports of the different committees of committees were given, showing that 1954 had been a most successful year. Plans were made for many activities for the new year.

Mrs. E. Moore took charge of the worship period. The theme for the new year, "Jesus, the Hope of the World." The read a poem, "Hope of the World" and commented on the Bible story as told in Revelation 3: 8-13, John 9: 8-19, and Matthew 8: 13-14, which was read by Mrs. Lawson, concluding with the hymn "Take My Life" and a beautiful prayer offered by Miss Annie Holmes.

Mrs. Jesse Reid was in charge of the program and gave a reading "A New Year's Resolve." Assisting were: Mrs. Moore with a reading "A New Year Thought"; a piano solo by Mrs. A. Empey, and a reading "Thoughts by the Way" by Mrs. Tanner.

LONDON LIFE REACHES ALL-TIME RECORD FOR CANADA
$391 million of life insurance issued in 1954 for the protection of Canadian families

Life insurance in force now exceeds $3 billion...
Once again the life insurance purchased from this Company by the people of Canada set a new record. For the protection of homes and provision for the future, Canadians acquired a total of $391 million through the representatives of the London Life—an increase of approximately $20 million over last year's total, which constituted the previous high mark.
Life policies accounted for 67 per cent of the insurance bought by individuals, Term plans 26 per cent. Purchases of Ordinary insurance—through both Ordinary and Industrial field men—represented nearly 80 per cent of the Company's total.
The life insurance in force increased during the year by $243 million, and well over a million Canadians now have over $3 billion of life insurance with this Company.
The total of the amounts paid to or set aside for policyholders and annuitants and their beneficiaries in the Life Insurance Branch exceeded $60 million for the year, $5½ million more than for 1953. A large number of policyholders and beneficiaries have chosen to leave policy proceeds on deposit with the Company at interest, and these funds, together with policy dividends left to accumulate, amount to $52 million.
In the Group Sickness and Accident Branch, the insurance on Canadian employees and dependents increased by over 10 per cent. Benefit payments reached a new high mark of $6½ million—about a million dollars higher than for 1953. Over 145,000 separate payments were made during the year to help compensate for time lost through illness or injuries, or for hospital, surgical and related expenses.
In the investment of policyholders' funds to meet future needs, the major proportion was applied to mortgage loans, principally effected to provide new, dwellings for families across Canada. A total of $55 million was invested in this way—by far the largest amount in the Company's experience. Total mortgage loans are now over $221 million, and account for 47 per cent of the Company's investments. The London Life has been one of the leading institutions of Canada in the arranging of National Housing Act mortgage loans.
As in past years, training schools were conducted at the head office for all new field representatives, and specialized courses were held for more experienced men.
The London Life enters its 81st year well prepared to carry on its traditions of service, to present and new clients, through its 1500 field men and its 76 branch offices across Canada.

New Features for 1955...
New Jubilee Policies
Jubilee Whole Life policies with annual dividends to policyholders have been an outstanding feature of London Life service since 1874, providing low cost permanent protection in amounts of $3,000 and over.
Now, for amounts of $10,000 and over, a new class of policies has been introduced in the Jubilee Life Series, at even more attractive premium rates. In addition, the Jubilee Term Plan policy is being extended to Endowment plans.
New Scale of Policy Dividends
The London Life's long record of low net cost to policyholders will be enhanced and safeguarded by the new and higher scale of policyholders' dividends effective for 1955.
New Income Disability Benefits
Since 1910, without interruption, the London Life has offered income disability coverage in connection with life insurance policies. The Company's wide experience with this benefit now enables it to introduce a new income disability provision which extends coverage to disabilities commencing up to age 65 for men and up to age 55 for women.
